TACOMA WASHINGTON

Spring

Marvin M. Walters.

Her cloak is specked with violets,
Her bonnet, 'tis of blue,
With buskins green, She tripped between
The jonquils and the yew.

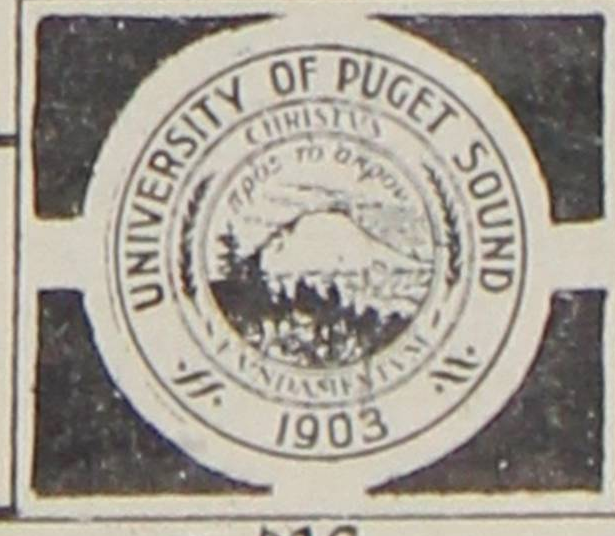

Sweet music from the frog-pond near,
A symphony sublime;
The half-full moon, slides into tune
With daffodil and thyme.

'Tis many a day since nut-brown maid
Has danced her autumn fling;
But now 'tis clear, that all the year
Would promenade with Spring.

Senior Breakfast

One of the most successful society affairs of the past week was the Breakfast given by the Domestic Science girls in honor of the Seniors.

During the last week of April the Domestic Science girls very mysteriously handed each member of the Senior Class a little card bearing the following inscription:

"The time is at Seven A. M.
on May Day;
The place is the D. S. Hall;
The event is the Senior Breakfast so gay;
We invite you to come at our call."

The seniors, being of a very investigative type of mind, decided to see just what would happen if they heeded the call. Promptly at seven o'clock on Thursday morning of May the First the Seniors, with the exception of Mr. Riley wandered into the Domestic Science Hall.

There, a very pretty and most welcome sight greeted their eyes. The breakfast table all laid as only Domestic Science girls can arrange it! Pretty may-baskets, attached to the chandelier by blue and white ribbons, served as place cards and favors. When everyone had arrived, Miss Rees, who was acting as hostess, gave the invitation to "come to breakfast." And what a Breakfast.

Orange Baskets
Fried Chicken, Giblet sauce
Potato rosettes
Potato muffins Cranberry jelly
Waffles, Maple Syrup

But even this menu so sumptuously served could not prevent the serious minded Seniors from considering plans for the future. "What are you going to do next year?" was the question of the day.

After each and everyone had satisfied themselves that the Domestic Science girls meant what they said, they departed eagerly for their classes.

But what had the cooks put into the food. The Seniors could neither be dignified nor scholarly. They were possessed by the desire of serenading the different Professors. The good natured Professors did not seem to appreciate the effort and so the Seniors decided to play ball. The campus in front of the chapel made a splendid place for a diamond. The skill exhibited by the Seniors spells defeat for the Faculty in the Faculty-Senior game.

Relation of Y. M. C. A. to the College Man

Geo. R. Thompson.

The college man is brought face to face with problems, which concern his own life, and the life of country as a whole. These come to him in greater numbers and with stronger force than, perhaps any other class of men. It is not necessary to mention in this article for College men know them. But let us ask what is the college man to do in order to adjust himself to meet the demands of the commercialism of the age? What attitude is he to take toward the strife between capital and labor? What will he do to assist in eradicating the wrong and suffering which results from vice? How will the college man work to help the Church win in its present trial before the world? These are only a few questions suggesting responsibilities to be taken by college men.

The Young Men's Christian Association is established in the University of Puget Sound to assist men, through its various departments, to arrive at a sane, rational view of life, and to get them to see in a measure what they as individuals should do.

Let us take one of the above mentioned questions—the Church. In our own city, why are two First churches without Pastors? Why is another making a desperate struggle for funds to continue work on a new building? Why are two smaller churches without pastors and nearly every church working against odds, which seem to threaten their very existence? Is the church in its present manner of functioning enlisting young people in vital service? It is discouraging to the young man, especially the college man, who has an honest desire to work, to find that avenue—the Church—unsympathetic toward his efforts. His zeal is quenched when he hears a Sunday morning sermon on that little understood doctrine of "Sanctification," or the "Theological Origin of the Devil," while his mind is set upon helping humanity. His zeal is almost frozen when he sits through an evening service rebutting, in his mind the old arguments which are being poorly reiterated by the preacher, against that scientific enemy "Evolution." Young men, who believe the Church should be studying and teaching live, vital issues are tempted to leave the ranks in which their fathers fought, but the Y. M. C. A. tries to teach that to quit the job is cowardly.

Men, of the University of Puget Sound, let us rally to the support of this institution which is trying to serve as intermediary between the man and the solution of man's problems.

For the past three years the Y. W. C. A. has been growing along every line until now we feel that almost every girl in school is deeply interested in all the work of the association. Out of an enrollment of 91 girls, the Y. W. claims 75 as members. 25 of these give systematically every week. Money enough was raised from the May Day election to send six girls to the Summer Conference at Gearhart.

Devotional meetings are held every Wednesday at 11:45. These meetings are so well attended that there are not chairs enough to accommodate the girls and several must sit on the floor.

The following program is a fair sample of our jolly, good times.

- Sept. 20—Y. W. and Y. M. Feed and Booster.
- Sept. 25—Luncheon for Whitworth Cabinet.
- Oct. 18—Y. W. Track Meet.
- Oct. 20—Cabinet entertained at Whitworth.
- Nov. 28—Y. W. and Y. M. Thanksgiving Party.
- Jan. 15—Luncheon for Miss Fox.
- Feb. 26—Luncheon for Dean Austin.
- March 12—New Cabinet installed.
- March 14-16—Cabinet Conference at Whitworth.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

In a short time all the feminine members of the Associated Student Body, will have a chance to use the power of the vote. The question of the U. P. S. men wearing mustaches will come up soon. It seems that the gentlemen have been so encouraged by Mr. Arnold Warren's attempt that a large number wish to try their luck.

Most of the ladies object strenuously, saying that it is a ticklish proposition and ought not to be allowed.

Miss Fry and Miss Baker are busy urging the uninterested ones to vote against the measure. The girls are sure of one masculine vote. George Thompson has already signed.

HEART TO HEART TALKS

By Cousin Jane

Dear Cousin Jane,

I am a young lady of over 20 and am about to graduate from college. I have made a speciality of Art, but as I near the close of my senior year I have a sudden Long-ing to go to the country to hear the blue-Jays sing.

Would you advise me to give up my Art for this Long-ing?

M. C.

Ans.—Art is Long and time is fleeting, so I would advise you to go to the country, even though your Art Suffers.

Dear Cousin Jane,

I wish you would tell me what is the matter with my hair, within the last few weeks it has grown so fast that I have great difficulty in arranging it properly. The new hair seems to be coming in rather wavy, what can I do to make it all look alike.

M. S.

Ans.—It is a common thing for the hair to make a sudden growth in the spring and the cause is always apparent. A simple arrangement of the new hair over the old is always in good taste. Probably the old hair will soon drop out, then it will all look alike.

Dear Cousin Jane,

I have been keeping company with a young man for several months, now he has left town. Would it be proper for me to write oftener than every other day?

E. K.

Ans.—No, do not write oftener than that. Paper and stamps are no small item and a college girl should not spend all her time writing, even to intimate friends.

Cousin Jane,

I am exceedingly troubled with the habit of blushing. What is the cause and can you tell me a remedy?

A. K.

Ans.—A blush is a temporary erythema and colorify effulgence of the physiognomy, actologized by the perceptiveness of the sensorium hence becoming infused with radiance emanating from an intimidated praccordia. There is no remedy.

AUNT MARY'S TRIED AND TESTED

RECIPES

Canning

Canning is becoming more general as the art is being more thoroughly studied. To successfully can a student the Professor should be red-hot and the student should be placed on the "carpet". After the student is well beaten the lid is slammed on tightly and he is put aside until he loses his heat. Only green students are used for canning.

A Kiss

To one piece of dark piazza add a little moonlight. Take for granted two people. Press in two strong hands, two small ones. Lift lightly two ounces of attraction, one of romance. Add a large measure of jollification and stir in a floating ruffle or two and a few whispers. Dissolve half a dozen glances in a well of silence, dust in a small quantity of hesitation, one ounces of resistance and two of yielding. Place the kisses upon a half flushed cheek or upon two ruby lips, flavor with a slight scream and set aside to cool.

EDITORIALS

Every student should pay his dues as a member of the Associated Students at once. The election of Student officers comes May 14th. This is one of the really important events of the school year. We should choose our officers with our best skill and judgment. We cannot expect our officers to work enthusiastically and consistently if they are elected by an indifferent body of students.

We often emphasize the maxim that example is stronger than precept to such an extent that we feel ourselves absolved from listening to the counsel of anyone who does not closely approximate our ideal of conduct. More than that, we sometimes disregard the advice of one in whose conduct we find no fault, simply because he has not the personality as we say, to inspire us to imitate him.

This attitude is unworthy of a college student. In childhood, such an attitude is natural and proper, but in a student in later adolescence it shows that arrested development has left him a spiritual child. If formal education should do anything for one, it should enable him to evaluate counsel upon its own merits.

We should maintain an open-mindedness which will permit us to listen attentively to a person for whom we may have a lively aversion, without allowing that aversion to color our judgment upon his words. Too often, if we do not happen to like a person, we will listen to him with an under-current of mental protest which effectively negatives the effect of his words.

It is only by overlooking disprecept that we are able to use the good which Rousseau gave to the world. Any other attitude on the part of a man trained to recognize values is cowardly.

We are not justified in disregarding the warnings of a drunkard on the ground that he does not practice what he preaches. It is rather comforting to dodge moral obligations which deep down in our hearts we know to be valid, on the score that those who advocate such duties do not themselves fulfill them. Such a position, however, is inconsistent. We ought to shoulder our responsibility and take our position as judges of our own conduct and accept willingly any aid from whatever source.

AN EXPRESSION OF APPRECIATION

Some expression of appreciation is due all those who in any way helped to make the recent debate with Washington University a success—and of course we should view the event itself as a success in spite of the fact that the decision of the Judges happened not to be in our favor.

The debaters themselves worked dilligently in spite of the fact that they were seriously handicapped by the presence of a multitude of other duties as well as by illness; others who deserve special mention for having volunteered their services in order to give the team the much needed opposition in working out the question are Messrs. Brix, Waldron and Elerding; and last but not least the Student Body is to be highly commended not only for the spirit with which the matter of boosting was entered into before the contest, but particularly for the way in which this boosting spirit was manifested on the evening of the contest. The speeches given at the booster meeting had in them the proper ring and the heartiness of the support given the debaters on the evening of the contest, from the standpoint of quality especially was all that could be deserved.

With such spirit of unity of purpose, loyalty and co-operation as was evident upon this occasion U. P. S. can do things that count in any of the fields of activity in which the institution is concerned.

Long live this spirit at U. P. S.!

ONE OF THE WORKERS.

ATHLETICS

The football outlook for next fall is not so promising as it has been in former years. Only four of the regulars who played on the 1912 team will be in school next year; namely, Benadom, Wright, Webb and Beck. With these men as a nucleus and the men who played on the second team will undoubtedly be built up that will make any of the non-conference teams in this section of the country get up and hustle.

There is little need of reviewing last seasons successes and failures at this time, except to remind the students that the University of Puget Sound had one of the best teams in the history of the institution. In all, six games were played, of which we won three and lost three.

In order to obtain a team that will fitly represent the University upon the gridiron next fall, it will be up to the students to do a little missionary work this summer when upon their vacations, and induce any likely looking football material that they may see or hear of to attend "Our University."

MAY DAY

"Hear ye! Hear ye! The King and Queen approach!" shouted the crier and all the loyal subjects looked toward the door of the gymnasium and saw the King and Queen, the Master of Ceremony, the two little crown bearers, and the attendants coming toward the royal throne.

When all were seated Alice Goulder sang "May Morning" after which Arthur Hungerford crowned Miss Thrina Baker the Queen of the May and Mr. Ingomar Hostetter King of the May. Then each attendant took a streamer which were fastened over the throne and gave a beautiful dance for the King and Queen. The following acted as attendants: The Misses Becket, Ford, Lafferty, McLean, Bullock, and Webb; the Messrs. Wright, Hawk, Beck, Benadom, Southerland and Warren.

Six little girls under the direction of Mrs. Hudson gave a very charming umbrella drill and then ten of the University girls gave a hoop drill, which was done with unusual grace.

The regular May Pole Dance was exceptionally well done. The King and Queen then received the congratulations of their many loyal subjects and the exercises closed with every prospect for a happy and successful year in the kingdom of the University of Puget Sound.

A Young Peoples Store

WE HAVE more than the usual pride in the developing of this business along lines that will appeal to young people.

Young folks are particular—many times even fastidious and finicky—and in keeping pace with their needs we can fulfil the wants and requirements of all.

Young Men, we have some of the smartest new Spring Suits you ever set eyes on, in both Norfolks and regulars. The patterns are such as will appeal to discriminating dressers. The tailoring is the finest, they fit splendidly, and they don't cost a fortune, either; not even a small one—ask and see them.

Young Ladies, we have some smart new Jackets for Spring and Summer outing and school wear. They are in Norfolk styles and may be had either with or without collar. You will fall in love with them the moment you see them. They come in exclusive styles in golf red, emerald green, etc. They aren't expensive, either. Ask to see them.

"Flirting," says one of Harvard's distinguished professors, "is the surest road toward the proper knowledge of social life. I think the girls of Radcliffe and the boys of Harvard devote too much time to study. They actually bury themselves in their books and the result is that when they get through college they don't know a thing about social life. They should mingle frivolity with their studies; in other words they should flirt a little. If all could see the tired out boys and girls that I see, all would, I know, admit that a little flirting now and then would be a real vacation." —Ex.

Here's the Job You Want

35,000

GOVERNMENT POSITIONS

NEW PARCEL POST WILL REQUIRE THOUSANDS
MORE EMPLOYEES

The United States Civil Service will require the appointment of approximately 35,000 employes during the present year. The opportunities for positions in the Civil Service were never better.

Thousands of post-office clerks, mail carriers, railway mail clerks, rural free delivery carriers, etc., will be added to the service. The working force of the postal branch will be augmented as never before.

Civil Service positions are desirable because the hours for work are not too long, salaries are good and certain, and promotions are frequent.

PAY AS HIGH AS $1,000

The greater number of appointments will be made in the Post-Office Service, paying from $600 to $1,700 and more per year; the R. F. D. Service, paying $1,100 per year to standard routes; and the Railway Mail Service, paying from $900 to $1,800 per year.

If you are an American over 18 years old and can read and write you can make sure of appointment to one of these positions by study of an I. C. S. Civil Service Course.
