COLLEGE BANQUET IS HUGE SUCCESS

Herbert Little of U. of W. Speaks On Student Government

The annual College Banquet which was held in the Banquet Hall of the First M. E. church last Friday evening, was the largest and without doubt, the most successful affair of its kind ever given by the college. Nearly four hundred were present, including students, faculty and guests.

The room was beautifully decorated with evergreens and poinsettias in huge baskets, garlands and lattice work interwoven with greenery and poinsettias.

The students were seated according to classes and each table was artistically decorated with flowers corresponding to the colors of the respective classes.

As is customary on these occasions, stunts were given by the Freshmen and Sophomore classes. Mary Donahue of the Sophomore class came in dressed as Santa Claus and read a list of gifts that the good Freshmen might expect for Christmas. The Freshmen, however, proved themselves equal to the occasion by showing that they had the Sophomore's "goat" after all. Eldon Chinnard was the speaker for the Freshman class.

The main speech of the evening was given by Mr. Herbert Little, president of the student body of the University of Washington, who spoke on Student Government and its responsibilities. Mr. Little spoke first of the friendly attitude which the University holds toward C. P. S. and in his interest of the success of our last campaign.

In regard to the Honor System Mr. Little believes that it is not only possible to enforce the Honor System, but that we owe it to ourselves as individuals and as a student body, to adopt and enforce this system; that it is the first step in the advancement of the strength and democracy of our student body. It is nothing more or less than a high school attitude he says, to call it snitching when one student reports another for cheating in exams. If every student would fight this attitude, would take an interest and an active part in all student activities, stand back of the president and other officials of the student body in upholding the Honor System, C. P. S. would be a bigger, finer and better school than she is at the present time and would be carrying out the real purpose of the system which is to better the

STATE MANUAL CLASS STARTS

Two divisions of the class in State Manual were organized Thursday by Senator Davis, one meeting Monday and Wednesday at the third period and the other at 12:05 on Tuesday and Wednesday. The course being given in anticipation of the state examination in March which is compulsory for all students expecting to teach in the State of Washington.

FROSH CHAMPS IN BASKETBALL

The Freshman won the Class Basketball Championship Monday afternoon when the Seniors forfeited the game to them. The Frosh won from the Juniors in a game earlier in the afternoon. This left the Frosh and Seniors tied for the Championship. The Seniors were unable to get a team together so forfeited.

A mixed group of students played the Frosh and won by a 42 to 16 score.

Result of Class games:

Frosh 26; Seniors 10.
Sophs 31; Juniors 42.
Seniors 28; Juniors 12.
Sophs 23; Frosh 2.
Seniors 22; Sophs 8.
Juniors 16; Frosh 25.
Seniors 0; Frosh 2. Forfeit.

ONLY 50% OF WASHINGTON TEACHERS HAVE NORMAL EDUCATION

"Only fifty percent of the teachers in the state of Washington have a normal school education". This statement was made by Prof. Slater in his talk to the students in the college chapel Friday morning.

There are other states which have a smaller percentage of teachers who have a normal school education. This fact accounts largely for the small salary paid to teachers because those who have not finished their education will teach for low salaries. It is encouraging to note that salaries are on the increase.

souls of men.

Tom Swayze, who was toastmaster, made a few fitting remarks of appreciation in behalf of the student body at the close of Mr. Little's speech. Much credit is due the banquet committee for obtaining a speaker such as Mr. Little for this occasion and for accomplishing so much toward making the banquet a success.

MASQUERADE PARTY DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR

Mrs. H. N. Tinker entertained a group of the college students at a delightful masquerade party at her home on Saturday evening, December 17th.

Some of the guests were so cleverly disguised that a great deal of merriment resulted from the attempt to guess who they were. Miss Esther Johnson received a prize of a large box of candy for the best disguise. After the guests had been identified they were allowed to unmasque.

A number of interesting contest games followed in which the winners each received a prize. A unique feature of the candle contest was that those on the losing side were each presented with a red cap on the tip of which was a tiny bell.

Late in the evening each guest was given a red stocking and told to go to the 10-cent store in the dining room to fill it. There he found a large assortment of nuts and candy, which was so tempting that he found it necessary to sample it as soon as his stockings were filled.

Sandwiches, chocolate and cake were served late in the evening, after which the guests departed. All agreed that Mrs. Tinker was a delightful hostess.

The house was beautifully decorated with evergreen, Christmas bells and poinsettias. A small Christmas tree decorated with colored lights occupied one corner of the room.

The guests were, Mrs. Gulick, Senator Davis, the Misses Evelyn Ahnquist, Vera Baker, Grace Brown, Myrtle Dalke, Irma Eagen, Dorothy Newell, Phoebe Nicholson, Esther Johnson, Nan Tuel, Dorothy Wallace, and Ermine Warren and the Messrs. Ed. Newell and Frank Brooks.

GREAT OUTLOOK FOR ATHLETICS

C. P. S. Coming Into Limelight Of Athletic World

Washington's offer to play the College a football game in Tacoma has created considerable attention from the public as well as the Student Body. A new spirit is being created all over Tacoma and those that favor sports are beginning to look to Puget Sound

EDUCATIONAL WEEK OBSERVED AT C. P. S.

In observance of Educational Week Miss Budd of the English Department, gave an interesting talk to the students in chapel Monday morning. She pointed out that as a result of the reconstruction movement, European countries are looking to America for guidance in educational matters. This fact, she said, places a responsibility on us as College students of seeing that those who come to us receive Christian ideals.

COACH ENFORCES FACULTY RULING

The football teams of this year hold the record for having the highest scholastic record of any team turned out of the college. While there has always been a scholastic standard for athletes representing the college in athletic sports, this is the first year it has been enforced. Every man taking part in any contest must be doing passing work in the twelve semester hours of work. Every man on the team this year has come up to the above ruling.

When the scholastic ruling was first put into effect, it ruled off some fine players from the team. At the beginning of the season things looked blue to those connected with the team and its supporters when these men were declared ineligible. But everything is working out fine. Because of the fact that the athletic teams of the college are playing under rulings as strict and in some cases stricter than Conference rules, the chances of getting into the Pacific Northwest Conference are very encouraging.

to furnish it. Never in the history of the College has athletics had such a bright outlook.

The scheduling of the U. of W. game means the making of C. P. S. athletics. In the first place it will bring many prominent athletes to the school who would not come, if they thought they could not compete against Conference teams. Some believe that one should get the athletes first and then schedule the big games. But this does not work out, at any rate it did not for Whitworth when they were in Tacoma. When Whitworth was playing the U. of W. they had a team equal to their rivals. As soon as Washington dropped off their relations with Whitworth, the athletes left school and went to other colleges that played the large games.

In the second place it will mean

PHILOS WIN 3 TO 0 IN SOCIETY DEBATE

Esther Osborne and Harley Notter Win Newbegin Cup for Society

The Newbegin Trophy, a large silver loving cup, was captured by the Philomathean Literary Society for the second time in its history with a 3-0 score in a debate with the Amphictyon Literary Society, taking place in the chapel on Monday evening. The cup originally was won by the Macedonian Society, from which the Philos took it; then it remained the Sigma Zeta's for two years until last year when the Thetas won it. The Philomathean's have to win it for the next two years before it can remain in the society permanently.

The question debated was: The United States should cancel the allied war debt. The affirmative was upheld by Esther Osborne and Harley Notter, for the Philos, while the negative side was composed of Marjory Anderson and Ralph Brown, representative the Amphics. Three well known Tacoma men, Attorney Bone, Reverend Rhodes and Attorney Burmeister, were the judges. In addition to the awarding of the Newbegin prize, announcement was made of the best individual men debaters. Harley Notter winning first place and Ralph Brown second place.

The debate was closed by two of the college songs and a few rousing yells. Harold Hong acted as chairman.

the renewal of the interest of the public in C. P. S. football.

The Tacoma people like football but they for many reasons have not felt the college could give a class of game worth seeing. As a result they go to Seattle.

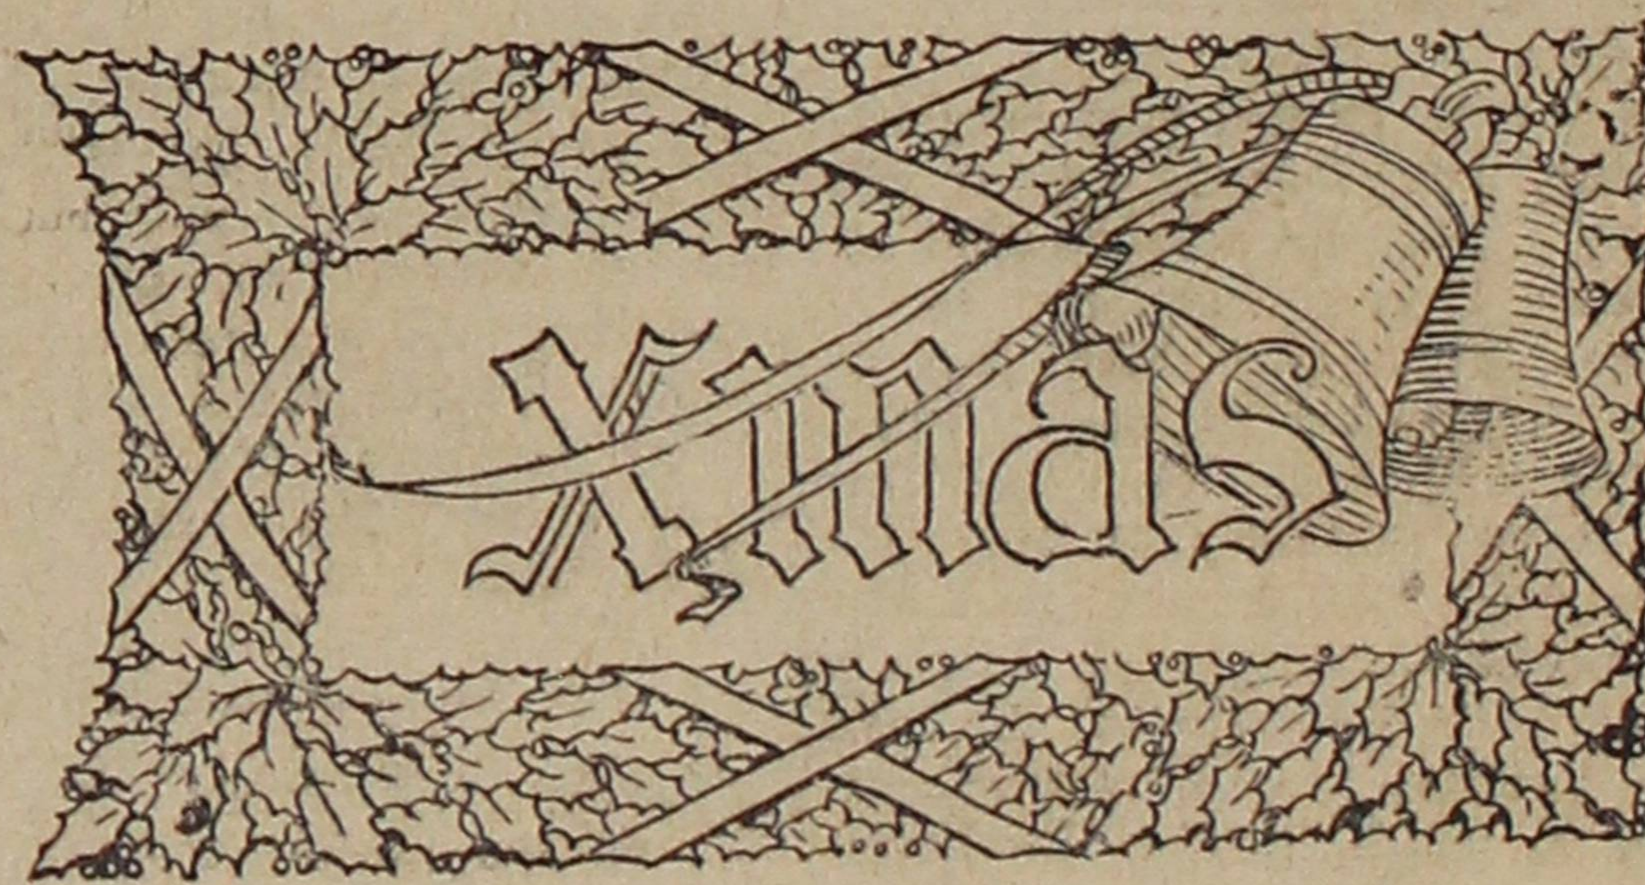

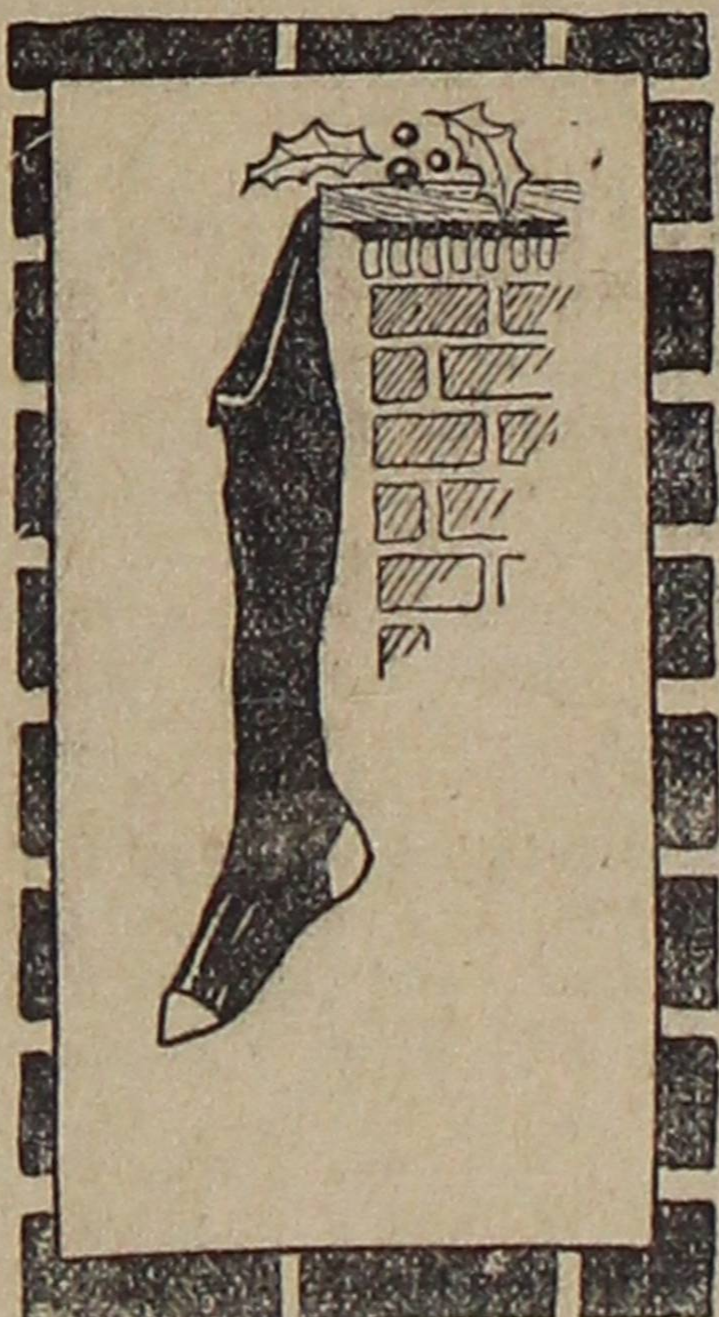

In the third place the U. of W.—C. P. S. game offers a solution to the financial question which has been a great hindrance to the progress of athletics.

Lastly, this proposed game will give C. P. S. prestige and bearing that will help to get into the Pacific Northwest Conference. Next year C. P. S. will be playing three conference teams. It will almost be the natural thing for the College to belong to the Conference.

IN THE HOLIDAY SEASON

Today the college closes its doors until after New Years. Many of the students will leave this afternoon for their homes in other parts of the state.

To be sure, it is the vacation season and we should, for the time being, forget our books, and relax during our two weeks of relief from scholastic burdens, but our good times, themselves, will give us a chance to be of service to old C. P. S.

We naturally will be thrown in contact with young people who do not attend the college. Talk C. P. S. to them. Point out reasons why they should come here; show them that they could be of service to C. P. S., and C. P. S. would certainly be of service to them!

CHAPEL BEHAVIOR

A failure among a certain group of students to maintain a dignified and respectful attitude during chapel services has been extremely noticeable lately.

There has been considerable whispering going on which annoys not only the speakers and faculty, but also the rest of the Student Body.

It is needless to point out that good breeding requires one to remain quiet, even if one is not interested, and that it is selfish and inconsiderate to cause the audience and speaker to be annoyed.

We should remember also that the casual visitor to our chapel services judges the whole student body by the thoughtless actions of a few.

INTERESTING ATHLETIC CODE POSTED IN WOMEN'S GYM AT U. OF O.

Effort Made to Stimulate Good Sportsmanship

The following code, written by Henry Van Dyke, is being posted in the entrance to the women's gymnasium at the University of Oregon in an effort to stimulate good sportsmanship:

1. Thou shalt not quit.
2. Thou shalt not alibi.
3. Thou shalt not gloat over winning.
4. Thou shalt not be a rotten loser.
5. Thou shalt not take unfair advantage.
6. Thou shalt not ask odds thou art unwilling to give.
7. Thou shalt always be ready to give thy opponent the shade.
8. Thou shalt not underestimate an opponent nor overestimate thyself.
9. Remember that the game is the thing and that he that thinketh otherwise is a mucker and not a true sportsman.
10. Honor the game thou playest for he who playest the game straight wins, even if he loses.

SERMONETTES FROM THE OXFORD CLUB

What Does Science Say of God?

Men have failed to find God by scientific methods. This has led many men to deny the existence of God.

Yet science itself is limited in its field.

Men have studied electricity until they know exactly how it will behave. They have constructed ingenious theories about how it behaves. They have been able to find the mysterious power which causes it to act. When men find out what electricity is they will have found God, from whom comes all power.

Scientists have studied life, and the intricate process of reproduction in which life has its beginning and of digestion and assimilation, by which life is sustained, but they have failed to find out what life is. When they do find out what life is, they will have found God, for God is life.

God is like the ether of scientists: in all and through all—in all material and all space. But men have not been able by science to go deeply enough into things. They have not been able to go to the foundation of things, and so have not been able to find God by scientific methods.

—D. W.

Is There a God?

It has been said that science ignores the existence of God. But of recent years there has come into greater prominence, a new science, that of comparative theology.

A group of Ph. D.'s in a prominent eastern university prepared a series of lectures on the great religions of the world. Their aim was to classify and discover the distinguishing characteristics of each.

What did they find to distinguish the Christian religions from all others? It was not the miracle nor virgin birth, nor the resurrection. Neither was it the high ethical standard. Other religions made claim to miracles and enjoyed pure conduct.

This was the one thing wherein Christian religion differed from all others: the great change which Christ wrought in the individual.

The sins which had given pleasure before were no longer attractive, but rather, repulsive. With this, there was a conscious inflowing of wonderful new life, from Christ.

Other things the philosophers could explain away, but this they could neither explain nor deny. Through Christ men have been made new, and are made new.

What further proof is needed of the existence of God?—The Great Spirit, Who created and rules over all?

—D. W.

Miracles still occur! We met Ella on the campus without Clinton!

THE HONOR SYSTEM

No honor system can succeed unless it has a powerful public opinion back of it, which says, "That is wrong."

Would this work? When you see someone cheating, go to him yourself, tell him you saw him cheating, and that you consider him unfair. Then no one could accuse you of tattling.

Though we may not cheat in exams, probably most of us feel that in some other point we are just as guilty as are the others, and just as deserving of criticism. But if we are as willing to set on others' criticism of us, as we are desirous that they should set upon our criticism of them, then we should welcome their remarks and profit by them. Fair exchange is no robbery.

Douglas Wight.

U. OF W. DAY FOR TACOMA

The students of the U. are planning to pull off a U. of W. day in Tacoma on Oct. 27th, the day they play C. P. S. a football game. All alumni and former students are to take part in it. It is to be about the same as a Home Coming Day. As this game, is an advertisement for Tacoma as well as for the college, efforts are being made to get the civic organizations behind the game. All indications point to the fact that it will be a money-maker both for the U. of W. and C. P. S.

STUDENT VOLUNTEER DEPUTATION GOES TO ORTING

The Student Volunteer band, under the leadership of Miss Katherine Fuller, Miss Ruby Davis, Mr. Eldon Chuinard, and Mr. Henry Ernst, took charge of the Epworth League meeting at Orting, Sunday evening, December 17.

STUDENT VOLUNTEERS DISCUSS CHRISTMAS

"What Christmas Should Mean to Student Volunteers" was the topic ably handled by Miss Ellena Hart at the meeting, 12:40 yesterday in the Amphic Room.

The Sophomore class of the University of Washington has set one day aside for "Hello" day. Each member of the class will have identification and the day will start just after a class meeting at noon.

"Student life is too strenuous. There are too many outside activities. Meetings of various organizations take up too much of the students' time. The report of the faculty committee which has been appointed to submit a possible solution will be watched with interest.

It must not be construed that the Emerald does not wish to encourage outside activities. Such is not the case. But it does believe that there are too many things asking student support and the quickest way to remedy the condition is to let those die which can't meet the competition.

Idaho Has No Captain

University of Idaho football players have voted against electing a captain for next season. At a meeting of the players held to decide what action would be taken in the matter, they decided it would be best to do without a team captain for the season.

However, since it is necessary for some player to bear the title of captain when the team is in actual competition, since the captain is the only player authorized to represent the team with officials handling the game, the players voted that the coach should have power to designate one player as captain before each game.

Big Deficit Wiped Out

Due to the most successful football season in the history of the U. of W. from a financial standpoint, $13,000 deficit carried over from last year's budget has been wiped out, leaving a profit of over $1,000.00.

New "Tramp" Rule in N. W. Conference

The Northwest Conference, in its meeting on Dec. 2 in Seattle, passed a ruling that deals with "tramp" athletes. No athlete will be allowed to play in any contests the first season who travels from one school to another. This prevents a practice that is becoming common in many of the colleges.

WHAT OTHER SCHOOLS ARE DOING

An amendment providing for quarterly elections was voted down by the Associated Students of Ellensburg Normal last week. A new president will be appointed by the executive board, owing to the resignation of President Anderson, who will teach next quarter.

THE FIRST EXAMS

Only 1 wk. more & it will be Xmas & we will be standing around looking like we were tickled to death and our ant gave us that red and purple necktie & we liked the shirt which our friend sent us even if it was about 3 sizes too big for you and we can use the doz. colored handkerchiefs from grandpa. Also we can sail the kid bro's' submarine in the bathtub and use some of the stationery which your mother got from a friend which lives in New York.

Maybe a great deal of the ignorant readers of this paper for inst. Dick Wasson and Rip Revelle & etc. ain't never heard how it came to be called Xmas.

Well, way back in 1831 Columbus was steaming around on the Atlantic O. looking for America but he didn't seem to be having no luck & the deck hands were getting nasty on acct. they never knew they was so much ocean when they booked up for this little tour. Well, it went along like that for quite a little while until the 25th of Dec. about M.

"Land's off your starboard", yells Miles Standish viciously from the crow's nest.

"No!" says Columbus.

"Sure, and if it ain't land, it's a mighty dirty lookin' piece of ocean," remarks Miles.

& sure enough when they got a little closer who do they see but the statue of liberty herself? Columbus was so happy that he up and slung a axe at Oliver Cromwell, witch same was standing on the deck eating a cheese sandwich & it killed him. (The axe did.) Right then the men started calling that day AXemus witch was later simplified to Xmas.

Then along comes a bird witch he thinks he nos what X equals & he changes it to Christmas and that's how Christmas came to be started.

This is the time of the yr. when all sensible people get sore at their female friends.

If any college girls or boys wants a doll baby or a train or a set of bldg. blocks or etc. will they please write a letter to S. Claus, care of me, and see if they get them?

"Piece on earth, good will to men" as Henry Ford says to Geo. Washington when they was celebrating the second Xmas. & happy noo yr.

PHYSIOLOGY CLASS TAKES INTERESTING TRIP

The Physiology class, under the supervision of Professor Slater, visited St. Helen's Clinic Friday morning and made a thorough examination of all the X-Ray apparatus there. Due to the courtesy of Dr. Crow, who is in charge at the Clinic the students were told "to consider the laboratory as their own." "Midge" Eaton bravely swallowed barium for a demonstration, while Mildred Blair and Percy James had their X-Rays taken. The mystery of the trip, according to the students is whom Micki meant when she cried out as the lights switched off, "Is this your hand I am holding?" On the whole, the trip was decided success and all the students have decided to accept Dr. Crow's invitation to return when he has some radium at hand to show them.

While heredity plays a large part in making good citizens, education also plays a large part. Education may even play an important part in determining heredity. The place of education in training for citizenship is very important and if we would help pay the debt which we owe for our education, we can find no better way to do so than by teaching and passing it on.

LAMBDA SIGMA CHI

Last week we held our meeting at the home of Mrs. Joe Crews (formerly Miss Helen VanLoon). We had a lovely time and after dainty refreshments were served we went home agreed that Helen was a most charming hostess.

This week our pledges are giving us a dinner in the Home Economic room and knowing of their capabilities we are assured of something unusual and altogether enjoyable.

the car cannot be won by the Student Body.

Many students have the impression that the car is to be used by the athletic manager and coach for riding around. But this is not the plan. As a result of a small attendance at the football games there is a deficit in the athletic Dept. If the car is won, it will be sold and the money will be used in paying off the debts of the Department.

THE HIGH CLASS GIRLS

Dedicated to Cleo, Digby, Rip and Danny.
Apologies to F. Downey.

There is the ordeal of dancing with the tall girl. It seems to be visited principally upon men of small stature and less foresight—men who have failed to realize what dire events of obligation might occur at a ball following their dining at the home of a damsel standing nineteen hands on the hoof, or subsequent to their borrowing money from the father of a maiden fully four cubits in length.

Thus a short gentlemen arrives at a dance to find a lady looming high and duty whispering low. There is nothing to do but to tread a measure. He and she will do the treading and everybody else in the room the measuring.

The unfortunate debtor advances reluctantly. He utters a distinct invitation to dance, to be sure of the fact the lady understands he is about to encircle her waist, rather than tackle her. He prepares to toe dance, she to dip. They spar for an opening in the music. They're off!

The lady has long graceful lines and speed, but the cruise is a rough one. The short gentleman, though he sticks valiantly to the helm, and furnishes the motive power, has difficulty in making any observations over the lady's shoulder, whereby to lay his course. Entering into the spirit of the occasion she could act as look-out, calling, "Ahoj down there! Whirling-dervish couple off the starboard bow. Hard aport!" or "Couple of heavy tonnage dead ahead! Full speed astern!" But the lady does not assist. She sails about serene in the knowledge that she has a partner somewhere about her, and that's more than every girl has.

Meanwhile caustic persons in the stag line are asking audibly who is the tall one, Mutt or Jeff, and giving out that in their opinion she is a better man than he is, Gunga Din.

Brave and intrepid spirits undergo the ordeal of the dance, giving proof to the old saying: "You cannot measure a man by the length of his legs." But a tall girl should not tempt providence too far. In the midst of a dance some evening she may venture a remark on the floor or the music, Glancing down, she may find that her short partner, taking cover under her corsage bouquet, has Moral: Never attend a dance where all the girls are not known to the extent of evasion. Or dance with one girl as Schilpp says, to the exclusion of all others.

In one group were observed Dr. Weir, Dean Henry, Prof. and Mrs. Hedley, Mrs. Hovious, Prof. each year, the college is only a mass of individuals, but with the long yell that greets the new boys from the different schools as they cheered their different teams on school campus we have no room for courts so I leave our tennis net on the porch nights so the boys can their spirit of the exclusion of all others. c. 1

Lighting the Pathway of Human Life

Life's shadows lengthen, Twilight is at hand and man's senses falter. Nature, calling for help, must be heeded or happiness is threatened.

Particularly true is this of the sense of sight. When eyes grow dim, optical service must come to their rescue. Supplementary lenses, expertly ground glass and skillfully applied must re-enforce those provided by nature. Again, many a defective child has been placed on an equal footing with his school fellows by a right application of glasses, has been given the opportunities and pleasurable sensations which life owes him. Many a workman has been transformed from inefficient to efficient.

While immediate responsibility for this service rests with the eye specialist, he must be given suitable lenses with which to work or his skill is helpless. To provide such lenses is one of our endeavors, scientifically developing the various types required for the correction of any kind of eye error.
