Stanton Washburn and Allison Wetmore will represent the College of Puget Sound on this occasion.

LOGGERS DEFEAT DUSTY'S QUINTET

The College of Puget Sound Loggers Saturday night romped away with the Dusty's basketball team by a score of 27 to 18 in the Stadium gym. Harry Enochs for the winners, played a hard, fast game, and managed the tip-off job easily. Daniel was high point man with a total of 13 points. He dropped in 9 out of 11 baskets from the foul line.

For the losers, Sidney Smith, of tennis fame, was the outstanding figure, making 12 points.

The lineups were as follows:

C. P. S. (27)	Pos.	DUSTY'S (18)

SENATOR METCALF SPEAKS IN CHAPEL

Senator Metcalf, as a representative of the International Trade Commission in the college chapel, read a report in chapel Monday concerning the economic conditions of the nations today and some possible solutions of world problems.

Mr. Metcalf said that the policy of the United States has been a splendid isolation. He, himself, was in favor of this policy before he went to France but changed soon after he got there.

At a meeting in Tacoma in 1908 Mr. Hill said that in ten years there would not be a ship sailing out of this harbor, that the United States would be facing a wheat famine. This, however, is not the economic problem of today. The United States has a surplus of agricultural and manufactured products which must be disposed of. The problem is to find a satisfactory market. Mr. Metcalf thinks we should make an effort toward

PRES. AND MRS. TODD LEAVE FOR HAWAIIAN ISLES

President and Mrs. E. H. Todd left Friday evening by train for Frisco, planning to sail for Honolulu Wednesday morning. Dr. Todd has been granted a three months leave and he and Mrs. Todd will spend six weeks in the Hawaiian Islands.

"LOVE" IS THEME OF FAREWELL SPEECH

President Todd, in his farewell speech to the students, before leaving for a trip to Honolulu, took as his topic "Love," which he said is basic.

Dr. Todd said that one of the things which a student should do while he is in college is to train his emotions, and principally the emotion of love. The secret of good manners according to Dr. Todd is a great heart. It does not matter much what kind of clothes a person wears or how much money he has. If he loves God and his fellow men, if he always tries to be kind he has found the rule for good manners.

A man or woman's greatness is measured by his or her love. Lincoln was greater than other men because he loved more. Dr. Todd expressed it as his wish that in the tasks which the students were facing and were going to face they be fearless. It takes a big person to be fearless and bigness can be attained only through association with God and his love. With God all things are possible.

Word has been received that Lyle Lemley, who is attending Ohio Wesleyan, is seriously ill with pneumonia. Mrs. Lemley left last week to go to her son.

Mr. Lemley was a popular student at C. P. S. last year and active in debating and music and a member of the Philomathean Literary Society.

A bill has been presented to the Washington legislature to prohibit the manufacture, sale, and possession of cigarettes in this state. The bill is similar to the state law for prohibition.

STUDENT TO ENTERTAIN

Invitations have been extended by Mary Donahue to attend a housewarming on Wednesday evening, February 21, the occasion for the affair being her transfer from the Girls' Dorm to Mrs. Clark's.

After several of us had been to the office we concluded that the Germans weren't the only ones who had low marks.

STUDENT BODY FINANCES

Various rumors are current concerning the curtailing of student activities at the College of Puget Sound this semester. Unofficial and unauthorized statements have been made. We therefore present the following facts which will explain the condition.

This debt, while incurred by the Athletic Management, is a debt against the Athletic Management this year has incurred a debt of $1,336.16. The Associated Students of the College of Puget Sound. Therefore the Associated Students must pay it, and all other activities—forensics, dramatics, music, The Trail, etc., must suffer because of this debt. In addition to this debt incurred this year, there is a debt of $300.00 carried over from former years by the Athletic Department. The total indebtedness by this department of student activities is, therefore, $1,636.16 of which we have strict account. These debts, many of them, are due. The Associated Students' credit is in jeopardy and reflection is being cast on the College of Puget Sound.

In consultation with the College Administration the officers of the Associated Students have arranged to pay the debt as far as possible from this semester's fees which approximate $1,300.00. The most pressing bills will be paid first. A comprehensive plan of funding has been arranged.

The statement has been made, without authorization, that there will be no activities this semester. We have contracts for debates with Simpson College, Indianola, Iowa, and Pacific University, and these debates will be held as scheduled. The Trail will be published to the end of the year if possible, and such other activities will be undertaken as circumstances will permit.

We realize that our credit in all respects in these activities depends ultimately upon our financial credit. No more of this debt will be left for next year than is necessary.

In order that the students would not be too greatly inconvenienced the College Administration has generously offered to bear the expense of the telephone to the end of the year. Otherwise the telephone would have been removed.

We greatly regret the curtailing of activities in other departments which the Athletic indebtedness has necessitated. We know that it is not fair to other departments. But we also know that our obligations must be met.

SPORTSMANSHIP

The term sportsmanship has been and is widely discussed among amateur as well as professional athletes, among college presidents as well as among college students. The American citizen is proud of his ideas of fair play. This last term "fair play" sums up the entire meaning of good sportsmanship. According to this idea then it is not good sportsmanship to take any unfair advantage over an opponent. This idea of good sportsmanship CANNOT be carried to the extreme, notwithstanding the many statements to the contrary. Good sportsmanship is the most valuable asset the college athlete can have. There are many things greater in the world than winning of games, again the many statements to the contrary notwithstanding. Can you imagine a college man, supposedly the highest type of young man today, "tealing" an unfair advantage over an individual opponent for the sake of winning from him? Would this college man prefer a victory, only temporary at best, to the everlasting friendship and admiration of this opponent, which he certainly forfeit in exposing his dishonest attempt to wrest an unfair victory?

Now, if the idea of good sportsmanship can be applied to an individual it should most certainly be applicable to institutions made up of these individuals. If a college agrees to abide by a certain rule and then violates that rule, even though it does no harm to any other college, it is guilty of unsportsmanlike conduct. Now the college, as an institution, is not to be held guilty of this but the men in charge of athletics are individually guilty. Usually these men excuse themselves on the grounds that all other colleges do it. Does this make them any the less guilty? If it is true that all the colleges are doing it then it is just as true that all the men in charge are guilty of gross dishonesty. Better far that a rule be discarded that is useful only in deceiving some opponent. If men of honest principles and high integrity are employed as coaches, do not expect them to answer the demand for winning teams by hiring athletes. You would not perjure yourself; do not expect others to do so for the sake of winning.

Spectators are frequently gross violators of the principles of good sportsmanship. If this were not true it would be unnecessary for rules to be made guaranteeing visiting athletes opportunity to play under the same conditions as home athletes. It should be the main object of the home team and their supporters to see that the visitors are made to feel at home and go back home with the highest opinion of the individuals against whom they have been playing. This will always pay, even though you do not realize its full meaning to the visitors until you have exchanged places with them. Ask any athlete whether or not he would rather visit one college than another. Then ask why. You will find if he has any preference it can in almost every case be traced to the fact that in some colleges he never finds anything but the highest form of sportsmanship. A man who has perhaps the greatest acquaintance among college men of any individual in America recently said, "I find that there is only one thing universally required of the college men of America. This is sportsmanship. They may have almost any shortcoming and be well thought of, except that of poor sportsmanship."

Let us build up a reputation for good sportsmanship at C. P. S. Let us be extremely careful that we shall not leave the impression on any visitor that we are not good sports. Let us cheer the visitors for excellent playing just as loudly as we cheer our own men. Let us cast bread upon the waters. It will return a thousand-fold.

SPEAKING OF MUSIC

Mr. Deems Taylor, music critic of "The New York World" bemoans the lack of an ideal American college songbook. He says "We are beginning to believe that when it does appear it will represent no one college or university for the simple reason that no one American college or university seems to have been able to inspire enough good songs about itself to make a respectable sized volume."

All of which reminds us that the time for the Annual Glee is rapidly approaching. Let's get busy and produce some really fine songs this year, C. P. S.!

POPULARITY CONTEST

There has been much discussion on the campus concerning the question as to who is the most popular man and woman in the College of Puget Sound. The dignified Seniors claim that they have those said personages, but the Juniors do not agree with their elders, maintaining that they have those worthies in their camp. The Sophies cannot feature any member of the "teething ring" class carrying off such an honor. However, the Frosh are standing their ground, determined to fight for their colors. So that is how the situation stands at present, each class pinning their hopes to carry off the victory next Thursday and Friday on their respective candidates.

The Seniors are presenting Miss Esther Graham and Mr. Wilbur Daniel; the Juniors are featuring Miss Helen Pangborn and Mr. Richard Wasson; Miss Ella Miller and Mr. Ed Amende are the popular Sophs; and the Frosh are proclaiming to the world that Miss Elizabeth Reynolds and Mr. Kenneth Warner will be the winners when the votes declare the decision. These candidates will be voted on next Thursday and Friday. The rolls will be in the hall of the administration building. The count of the votes cast on Thursday will

IN OTHER COLLEGES

A recent report of the fall grades at the University of Oregon showed that for all campus groups, the women's average was 3.25 and the men's average was 3.71. Wonder how the men and women at C. P. S. would compare?

On March 2, the Universities of Washington, Oregon and Stanford will have their triangular debates, one being held at each campus.

C. P. S. Hoopsters Show Greatly Improved Form in Contest

The College of Puget Sound swung wicked axes Friday night, taking the much touted 6th Engineers basketball quintet down the line by a 37-to-10 count.

The game was a fast one from start to finish, with the Collegians in possession of the ball most of the time. The flashy floor work and basket shooting of Danny Daniels for the winners was the feature of the mix. He was high point man; his shots connecting with the hoop for a total of 15 points.

The first half ended 18 to 6. The Loggers increased their lead in the second stanza and at no time were the soldiers threatening. Brown, running guard for the Engineers, managed to drop in three field baskets from the foul line. Towards the end of the game, Coach McNeal sent in three substitutes in a row who kept up the good work in first class fashion.

The college players as a whole, showed the effect of real coaching; their floor work being marked by smoothness and finish. Aggressiveness was another pleasing feature to the C. P. S. supporters.

The lineups were as follows:
C. P. S. (37) 6th Engineers (10)
Daniels (15) F Baringham (2)
Wellman (8) F Scott
Enochs (8) C Temple
McArthur G Brown (8)
Blevins (2) G Reed
Substitutions: Olene (2) for Daniels; Amende for Enochs; Van de Vander (2) for Daniels.
Referee—Jensen.

FACULTIES OF OUR FACULTY

On Saturday, February 17, 1923, A. D., Professor James R. Slater of the College of Puget Sound, captured more fish in the teeming waters of Puget Sound than he could carry home. The specie in such abundance as known as Mustelus canis (consult encyclopedia).
Note: Professor Slater very considerably returned to the already overburdened bay those Mustelus canis which he could not carry.

An order dated February 12, from the Headquarters of the 192nd Infantry Brigade, 96th Division, U. S. Army, assigned Captain James R. Slater to duty as Brigade Intelligence Officer, by order of Colonel Wetherill.

At last we have sympathy! Miss Crasper declares she is "mad 'cause we don't have vacation Thursday." Can you blame her?

The Faculty met Monday evening at the apartment of Mrs. Hovious at the Woodstock. The Faculty Club was formed last year by a group of the women of the Faculty to read the latest literature.
