COLLEGE BASKETBALL MEN WIN IN THREE GAMES

Ellensburg Normal Is Defeated 27-17 In Fast Game

Speed was the feature of the College of Puget Sound basketball victory over the fast-going Ellensburg Normal School tilters Wednesday night on the college floor, when the Loggers won by a 27 to 17 score. The game was one of those fast, rough contests that keep the fans on their feet.

Many spectacular shots were made by both teams. Some good work was done under the basket by the locals, and in this way they were able to drop through many of their shots. Stansel, for the Loggers, used his height to good advantage, when it came to getting the ball off the backboard.

The Loggers played a good passing game during the second half. Their teamwork was one of the big factors in their win, and all of the college players worked together. The Puget Sound men worked a good defensive game at all times during the contest. The normal school outfit was able to get very few easy shots at the basket and they had to rely on long tries for most of their points.

Stansel was high-point man of the game, with a total of 10 points. He worked also well at defensive work. Chowning made eight tallies for the Loggers. He did not seem to get going in the first half, but in the second period he played a good all-around game. He is one of the fastest men on the college team.

Enochs did not try for many baskets, but he was doing great work at the defense. Olene and Allerdice worked well together at the guard positions. They are both fast, and it is hard to get by either. Olene dropped through a couple of long shots.

Lineup:
Loggers: Stansel 10, Chowning 8, Enochs 5, Olene 4, Allerdice
Ellensburg Normal: Matheny 7, Simpson 3, Dimick 1, Heinrich, Duke 3
Substitutes: Ellensburg—Kettleman 1 for Dimick. Loggers—none.
Referee—P. L. Jensen of Lincoln High School.

Loggers Win

Good defensive basketball on the part of the Loggers enabled them to take a 29 to 12 score from the fast Special Troop tilters of Camp Lewis Friday night on the soldiers' floor. The game was fast at all times, and it developed into a rough affair before the final whistle blew.

The Logger tilters started out strong. Stansel started the going for the college team by making a field goal soon after the game got under way. At the end of the first half the score stood 14 to 4 in favor of the college five.

Those in the picture are: No. 1—Don Wellman, forward, No. 2—Coach R. W. "Mac" McNeal, No. 3—"Dutch" Allerdice, guard, No. 4—Claire Guest, forward and sub-center, No. 5—Melvin "Vas" Olene, guard, No. 8—Captain Harry Enochs, center, No. 9—Noble Chowning, forward, No. 10—"Ginger" Stansel, forward, No. 11—Edson Brown, forward, No. 12—Aaron Van Devanter, basketball manager and forward, No. 13—Bruce "Horse" Blevins, guard.

For the locals Blevins and Allerdice did good guarding. Both of these men have ability that works in well. They did some good checking and as a result most of the soldiers' points were made by long shots. Stansel was high point man with a total of 12 points. He played a good all-around game, besides. Chowning made a strong showing as a floor man and he managed to drop the ball through for eight tallies.

Temple was the mainstay of the soldier outfit. He was their best shot, and the team played under his directions at all times.

The same teams met on the college floor Saturday at 8 p. m.

Lineup:
Loggers: Chowning 8, Wellman 5, Stansel 12, Blevins 2, Olene
Special Troop: Starr 2, Howard 2, Temple 6, Kotch, Stevens
Substitutes: C. P. S.—Allerdice, Guest, Enochs 2, Brady; Special Troop—Yeaton 2.

Special Troops Defeated

Too much one-sidedness spoiled the Loggers' 36 to 9 win over the Special Troop outfit on the college floor, for the spectators. The defense put up by the college players was more than the soldiers could get by, and as a result they were only able to get 9 points out of their efforts. The College of Puget Sound men got around the five man defense of the soldiers with ease.

Stansel was high point man of the game with a total of 15 points.

Enochs did some nice shooting and played a good floor game. Blevins, Olene and Allerdice showed well at guarding. The Loggers used some team work that pleased their backers. If they would have had to exert themselves their work would have shown to better advantage.

Lineup:
Loggers: Chowning 3, Stansel 15, Enochs 13, Blevins 2, Olene
Special Troop: Starr, Dwyer 5, Temple 3, Koch, Howard 1

Substitutes: C. P. S.—Wellman 1 for Chowning, Van Devanter 2 for Stansel, Allerdice for Olene, Brady for Allerdice, Allerdice for Brady, Chowning for Wellman, Stansel for Van Devanter. Special Troop: Yeaton for Starr.

Referee: P. L. Jensen.

DEBATE TRYOUTS ARE THIS WEEK

The Man Who Does the Best Work Will Receive the $50 Prize.

The debate season is here, a fine schedule with other schools has been arranged, and the men who have turned out for the activity are busily engaged in preparation. The men's try-outs were held on Monday and Tuesday of this week with eight men on the program. Among these are three of the varsity debaters of last year, namely, Harley Notter, Ralph Brown, and Harold Nelson. The other five are a scrappy bunch in the persons of Eugene Avarientos, Roy Owen, Dennis Shenk, Arthur Erickson and Bronson Smith. Several of these have had previous experience in the field of debate and the old debate men had no snap job in overcoming the opposition.

The try-outs have no insignificant meaning in that the annual prize of $50.00 offered by the Puget Sound Bank goes to the man who does the best work and ranks first in the minds of the judges. The judges were Professor Lynette Hovious, Dean Henry, and Senator Davis. In case no definite conclusion can be arrived at, the debates proper will disclose the lucky man.

It is only a short time until our big debates are staged. Before that time comes, the student body must make a consistent effort to see that as large a part as possible of the Tacoma citizens are aware of the fact that we meet the University of Wyoming on March 17th, the question for debate being the World Court, and Michigan Agricultural College on April 4, the question in this instance being the League of Nations. It will be well worth every student's time to obtain this up-to-the-minute information.

Remember the dates. Tell every one you know our program.

dale Crosby and Dick Weir. This play received much favorable comment and the actors certainly deserved it.

"Triumph of Instincts" was a clever comedy and very well worked out by the following: Joyce Hazelton, Grisdale Crosby, Katherine Fuller, and Hilda Rasmussen and Ruth Hoage as the negro villains. Dick Weir and Lyle Lemley showed up well as policemen.

"Jezebel," a different type of a play than the others was taken from the Bible story of the famous heathen Queen, Queen Jezebel. This play was very acceptable to the audience if one can judge by the applause accorded to it. The actors were: Florence Wittenberg, Gladys Anderson, Wendell Brown, Dick Weir, and Grisdale Crosby.

"White Dresses," a semi-comedy with a touch of tragedy, was cleverly portrayed by Katherine Fuller, Mrs. Richards, Archie Ohiser, Pat Terry. Taking the plays as a whole they were very much to the credit of the Drama class and to Mrs. Hovious. We will be very glad to see more in the future.

CHESTER BEISON IS PRESIDENT FOR NEXT YEAR

Student Body Officers Are Named at the Regular Election

Student officers for the following school year were elected at the regular student election held last Thursday, Feb. 8.

Chester Beison was elected president; Frances Clinton, vice president; Margery Davison, secretary; Eldon Churnard was elected Athletic Manager; Katherine Fuller Manager of Dramatics; Clinton Hart, Music Manager.

Elmer Carlson was chosen as editor of the Trail and Miss Norma Huseby the Trail's business manager. Bob Weisel was elected Yell King.

The new officers are to be installed on the second Assembly day in May following their election. The officers elect meet with the officers now in office several times so that they may get well acquainted with the business of the Associated Students.

The officers elect will be the first to hold office in the new college.

play who sees that the members of the cast come to practice.

The plays presented were in the following order: "Rain," "Triumph of Instincts," "Jezebel" and "White Dresses."

"Rain" was a tragedy after the fashion of O'Neil and was very well worked out by Carolyn Somers, Wendell Brown, Archie Ohiser, Gris-

DRAMA CLASS PLAYS PLEASE

On the evening of Feb. 7, the Drama class of the College presented, in the College auditorium, a group of four One Act Plays. A large crowd filled the auditorium to capacity and the plays were well received and accorded much praise by all who attended. The Harvard plan of criticism was used and some very good and helpful criticisms were received. This plan was used for the first time last year and it was so successful that it was decided to use it again this year.

The members of the class work out the problems of staging and costuming for these plays themselves with the help of Mrs. Lynette Hovious. There is a captain for each

COLLEGE SONGS

We wish to register a plea for the singing of more of the college songs. In Student Assembly we sing the same two or three over and over again. We have no fault to find with these songs, but we would like to have more of the songs used. There are several more that are just as appropriate and just as pretty as those we use all the time. We ask, "Why not sing those other songs, too?"

There is one other thing we have wanted to ask for some time. Why is it that in a school where there are so many who play the piano, there are so few who can play the college songs? This is a question that concerns us all and we would like to see something done along this line, soon.

OUR "THANK YOU"

With the beginning of the new semester, it is well to pause and look over what was done last semester. Seventeen issues of the Trail were published, each one of which meant a great deal of work from many people, some of whom receive no credit at all. We are taking this opportunity to offer our very deep gratitude to all who have helped in the Trail work. A few of the members of the staff have been forced to resign because of other work—we are sorry to lose them and we are very grateful for their past services. We wish especially to thank Miss Budd and her Journalism class for their faithful and efficient help. We are more than sorry to learn that the class has been disbanded.

We wish to thank each and everyone who has given or it still giving his services to the Trail.

EVERYDAY MANNERS

"The fundamentals of good behavior," the clothes of a gentleman and "good taste in dress," are some of the topics discussed at chapel gatherings every week at the Athens School, Athens, Tennessee. Students are instructed that "best society is not a fellowship of the wealthy, nor does it seek to exclude those who are not of exalted birth; but is an association of gentlefolk in which good form in speech, charm of manner, knowledge of the social amenities and instinctive consideration for the feelings of others are the credentials by which the world over recognizes its members."

President James H. Morgan of Dickinson College was elected temporary head of the Dickinson Summer School of religious education at the school's annual meeting which has just convened in Harrisburg. Dr. H. C. Wilson, superintendent of the department of Institutes and School Administration of the Board of Sunday Schools of the Methodist Episcopal Church will again be dean of the school. The Rev. E. C. Keboch of Harrisburg was elected registrar.

The session will open on July 7 and close on the 18th of that month. A special course for ministers will be given by Dr. F. Watson Hannon, who was on the summer faculty of Dickinson College several years ago. The regular standard teachers' training courses will be offered in addition.

Registration fee was fixed at $4 per student. Board and room rent at $16 or a total of $20 for the term.

"Education is not a social amenity, a Chesterfeldian accomplishment, nor an elective in the course of life; it is a vital necessity—the soul of progress. It is civilization's anchor to the windward, to keep it off the rocks."—President Eugene M. Antrim Oklahoma City College.

Chaperones for the house party were Mrs. Brown and Mrs. E. H. Shanks. Several faculty members were invited but owing to the many exams to be corrected they were unable to come out. The Amphictyons missed them and hope they will be able to attend another house party.

Miss Thelma Bestler entertained at her home at bridge Saturday evening, honoring Miss Marjorie Anderson of Mt. Vernon, who has recently returned to Tacoma to resume her studies at the College. The favors and decorations were carried out in the Valentine motif in a charming manner. At a late hour delicious refreshments were served. Assisting the hostess were Miss Helen Pangborn and Miss Eleanore Kenrick.

ORGANIZATIONS

AMPHICTYON

"There's romance in the air." Such was the prevailing spirit permeating our Amphic meeting last Monday evening. Our program was entitled "Valentines," and included the following numbers:

My First Valentine ..... Stephena Lunzer
My First Valentine Love, ..... Maynard Falcoher

Saxophone Solo ..... Ronald Graham
Say it with Hearts ..... Mildred Hawksworth

Xylophone Solo ..... Mary Lou Bechaud
A Russian Valentine ..... Boris Dakserhof

Valentine Reading ..... Mr. Brooks
Vocal Solo ..... Ruth Bitney

After the program we had the thrill which always accompanies a "Valentine Box."

DELTA ALPHA GAMMA

We certainly enjoyed a multitude of blessings at the joint meeting of Lambda Sigma Chi and Delta Alpha Gamma at the Delta Alpha Gamma House last week—everything from perturbed fathers, old maids, flappers, vamps, and frosh to angel children. We were all immensely interested in the awful debate between Winifred (more accurately known as Giggles, short for Gigglewick. For further information see Carol Hovious) Longstreth and a poor canine by the name of Bobby. The decision in favor of sausage was awarded amid tears and laughter. We were serious a little bit—at least Frances Clinton represented us in that line.

Last but not least of the day's blessings, Dr. Snow talked to us. We were glad of an opportunity to meet her thus informally and to get a chance to know her better.

This afternoon we are entertaining the Kappa Sigma Theta girls. But more of that later. The story is yet young.

KAPPA SIGMA THETA PROGRAM

The Kappa Sigma Theta program for February 6 proved to be very "Candid" indeed.

My Candid Opinion of "Modernism" ..... Ruth Wheeler
Of "Movies" ..... Jean Van Zante
Candidly—My Favorite Solo ..... Billy Vanden Steen

Of Jazz ..... Agnes Hauge
Of Men ..... Joyce Glasgow
Of Flappers, ..... Constance Clark
"Candor in Practice" Erma Eagan,
Evelyn Miller, Maud Whitmore.

The concluding "Extempo" number was exceptionally rare. Resolved: "That It Pays to be Candid."

Affirmative, Amy Dolgrin, Billy Vanden Steen.
Negative, Gertrude Mackey, Mae Shanks.

AMPHIC HOUSE PARTY

Nearly forty Amphics spent a most wonderful week-end between semesters at Myajama Lodge on Fox Island.

As soon as exams were over on Friday the crowd went out, many of them not returning until the following Monday.

Cheer up, gang! There aint no Santa Claus. The Amphics do not need to be told to cheer up when Mr. Brooks is with them for he far surpasses any childhood dreams of good Saint Nic. His sack is always so full of candy, nuts, apples, pears, chickens and loads of other goodies that he could not begin to get down the chimney but had to come thru the door.

Boating, hiking, snipe hunting and base ball games were the main outdoor diversions.

The latest game, a dago sister to Ma Jongg popularly known as "Macaretti" reigned supreme within doors. High scores as well as the most macaroni were taken by Wendel Brown and Ernest Miller.

Chaperones for the house party were Mrs. Brown and Mrs. E. H. Shanks. Several faculty members were invited but owing to the many exams to be corrected they were unable to come out. The Amphictyons missed them and hope they will be able to attend another house party.

Miss Thelma Bestler entertained at her home at bridge Saturday evening, honoring Miss Marjorie Anderson of Mt. Vernon, who has recently returned to Tacoma to resume her studies at the College. The favors and decorations were carried out in the Valentine motif in a charming manner. At a late hour delicious refreshments were served. Assisting the hostess were Miss Helen Pangborn and Miss Eleanore Kenrick.

OXFORD CLUB

Tuesday, February 5, the Oxford Club held its first meeting of the new year, at which the following officers were elected:

Richard Yost, President
Forrest Tibbitts, Vice President
Ernest Miller, Secretary
Lorin Lindstrom, Treasurer.

The past semester the Oxford Club has been rather quiet as an organization, but the plans are now to carry on some active program during the coming semester.

The second meeting was held Monday, February 11. A paper entitled "Pastoral Evangelism" was given by Mr. Harold Nelson, one of the members.

The following Resolution, drafted by the president of the Y. M. C. A. and the Oxford Club, was adopted by the members:

Whereas: The faculty is endeavoring to enforce scholastic requirements for students participating in collegiate activities; and in that such standards are in keeping with the Pacific Athletic Conference requirements for intercollegiate activities—tho not as high as the requirements fixed by colleges of the Middle West, and

Whereas: We all realize that the merits of such requirements lie not in the ease with which one may slip thru college, but rather in the thoroughness of preparation for life work; and

Whereas: We further realize that it is of mutual benefit to both faculty member and student to be a representative of a college possessing scholastic requirements and ideals that are on a par with those of other colleges; therefore

Be it Resolved: That we, the members of the Oxford Club—individually and collectively—express our approval of, and lend our co-operation in upholding the action taken by the faculty in enforcing said requirements.

Copies of this resolution have been given to the other Christian organizations for discussion.

LAMBDA SIGMA CHI

The Delta Alpha Gamma girls were hostesses Wednesday at a charming party to which the Lambda Chi girls were invited. The afternoon was spent informally in talk, tea was served and an interesting program was given. The Lambda Chi girls all say that they had a heavenly time and appreciate greatly the chance offered to meet and know better the girls in the other sorority.

Alumni of the University of Denver gave a dinner in honor of Chancellor Heber R. Harper at the Faculty Club, New York City on January 11. Dr. Eugene M. Antrim, president of Oklahoma City College, an alumnus of the class of '97 was one of the principal speakers. He mentioned the fact that when he was in school there were only six students besides himself in the class.

Dr. Harper related the growth of the University within recent years and said last year all the schools in Colorado with the exception of the University of Denver had experienced a decrease in enrollment. The new chapel which has been in use only a few terms, has proved inadequate to the needs of the University, and unless some provision is made, chapel attendance will be further restricted.

The recent change in the administration policy, Dr. Harper declared, made the professional schools an organic part of the University, placing a greater responsibility upon the Chancellor. The vice-chancellor now holds the same relation to the College of Liberal Arts that the heads of the various professional schools hold to their own departments.

The pressing needs of the University of Denver are a physics building, a modern language building, a quadrangle of dormitories and the enlargement of the library. Dr. Harper prophesied a brilliant future for the University which, "like Northwestern University, had in John Evans, a greater founder than any other college in America."

Mr. Ralph G. Brooks, a junior at Nebraska Wesleyan University, who won the Nebraska Peace Oratorical Contest last year, has been notified that his essay has won first prize in the national contest. A check for $60.00 was enclosed. The selection was made from two hundred manuscripts, which included all those eliminated in the various state contests.

Two years ago, Mr. H. J. Sheirik, a Syrian, then a Senior at Nebraska Wesleyan University, won the national Pi Kappa Delta Oratorical Contest.

WILLAMETTE U. DEFEATS LOGGER BASKETBALL MEN

C. P. S. Team Defeats Castle Rock In Practice Game On Trip

Strong opposition was afforded the Loggers when they met the fast going Castle Rock high school tossers at Castle Rock in a practice game. The game was played when the College of Puget Sound tossers were on their way to Salem, and the final score stood 32 to 28 in favor of the collegians.

The Castle Rock outfit sprung a surprise on the local team by their strong work, and the Loggers had to step out and exert themselves before the game was over. The college team worked well together, and they were able to convert some pretty shots into scores. Stansel and Chowning starred at the forward positions. Enochs did his good work from the pivot job, and Allerdice and Olene went at guards. The combination worked well.

Loggers Lose 22-15

In their first game at Salem against the strong Willamette University tossers, the College of Puget Sound outfit lost a hard fought game by a 22 to 15 score. The Loggers were off on their shooting game and they were not able to drop the ball through the basket on most of their tries.

The Willamette tossers played a good brand of team work, and their scrap was strong at all times. Enochs received much praise by the papers around Salem for his good work, and it was around him that what little of the fight in the Loggers, was centered. The strange floor bothered the Puget Sounders some, but most of the fault was in their poor going.

Line-up—

Loggers	Willamette
Stansel	Fasnicht
Chowning	Robertson
Enochs	Logan
Allerdice	Erickson
Olene	Patton

Loggers Lose Again

Poor shooting and guarding on the part of the College of Puget Sound basket shooters were the causes of their 39 to 25 defeat Saturday night at the hands of the speedy Willamette University tossers at Salem. This was the local's second loss to the Willamette outfit in two days.

Willamette started the game out with a rush and by the middle of the first half the score stood 12 to 2. The Loggers' guards were not staying back, and the opposing forwards kept getting in behind them. This cost the locals many baskets. Soon after the Loggers started a rally, but the going was too much for them, and they were not able to even the score. The first half ended 28 to 16 in favor of the Oregon collegians.

Chowning was the only man on the Puget Sound outfit who was able to shoot. He made 10 points for his team. Some of his baskets were made from the middle of the floor. Enochs played his regular hard game, and he managed to get a couple of long shots through.

Fasnicht was high point man with a total of 19 points to his credit. TRAIL—AA . . . . .

He dropped the ball through for some spectacular shots. Logan did good work at shooting. He had a score of 12 in his favor at the end of the game. The Willamette outfit used good team work, and their passing game was working well.

Frank Brooks '23, now teaching in Port Townsend High School and coaching athletics, reports having won four games so far this season and up to the time of writing.

To achieve elegance a lady ordered a pair of smart boots from an expensive shop. Some days after their delivery she returned them.

"Your boots don't fit. I can't walk in them," she said.

"Madam," replied the clerk, "people who have to walk, don't shop here."

LOGGERS TO MEET ELLENSBURG TEAM FRIDAY, FEB. 15

Basket Ball Men Will Go to Play Normals; They Will Play Y. M. Team on Saturday.

One of the hardest contests left on the Loggers' schedule will probably come Friday night when they make their trip to Ellensburg to meet the fast Ellensburg Normal School outfit in a return game. Last week the two teams played a hard game on the local floor and the Loggers came out on the long end of a 27 to 17 score.

The Normal tossers are of the opinion that they will be able to even things up when they get the Loggers away from Tacoma. If they are capable of doing this remains to be seen, but the Puget Sound team is not going to let their opponents have an easy time in their return game, is the opinion of the local bunch. The strange floor will handicap the Loggers some, but they believe that the game will not be one-sided at least for the Ellensburg team.

This week the college team will be able to rest up after their four games in that many days in succession last week, and with some practice during this time it will fit them for a strong battle. Saturday night the Loggers will meet one of the strongest teams when they meet the Ellensburg Y.M.C.A. team. The Y. M. team has not met defeat in the last six years. They have four ex-college stars and one of the most promising basketball players developed around their city.

They are rated as a fast good shooting outfit, and it will be a tough proposition for the Loggers to get over a win on this combination. The Ellensburg Y team won from the W. S. C. varsity and the W.S.C. yearlings already this season, and this alone is enough to show that they have strength. It is the opinion at their home town that the College of Puget Sound men will receive a trimming, but the Loggers will be out to make them work for victory if they are able to get it.

FACULTY

Miss Doris Budd entertained on Thursday afternoon Feb. 7 for the women of the faculty. Dr. Glenadine Snow was also present.

Miss Veryl Robinson has recently left for the U. of Minnesota, where she will take Master's degree work. Miss Crasper had as her guests recently, Prof. and Mrs. Abert Bushnell Hart, whom she met last summer in France. Prof. Hart is professor of Gov't and History at Harvard.

Sen. Davis spoke before the Parent Teacher's Association of Enumclaw on Wednesday evening, Jan. 31. His present schedule includes speeches at Everett on the Smith Towner bill on the 26th, and a lecture on the Character of Washington before the Uthlo Christae Club of the First M. E. church on the 29th.

Dear Senator Davis:

I consider myself very fortunate indeed. You have read, of course, of the mysterious disappearance of the Reverend Arthur De Jacoby and that he was teaching at Fife. I will finish this year at Fife. This is fine because I can live at home and have the use of our own library and have my parents to consult. Mr. Fisher, the County Superintendent told me to apply.

The school is very interesting, especially because of the different races. In the primary room the children are about three-fifths Japanese.

One surprise I received was that I knew so many of the teachers already. Miss Gladys Moe is there and so are Elton Garrett and Myrtle Dahlke whom you will remember. One of the teachers was in our district in Lewis County, Miss Ella Norling.

My subjects are Latin 11, Medieval and Modern History, U. S. History, and Sociology, and I also have two periods of study hall duty.

I was much interested in the student election you have just had. Congratulate the new officers for me. Pretty fine for Bieson.

Thanking you for your splendid help and hoping to see you soon, I am

Very sincerely yours,

Alfred W. Matthews.

AMERICAN SCIENTISTS IN CHINA

James Maxon Yard
China is hungry for better methods. She wants to improve her agriculture and her manufactures.

I have just come across a new kind of missionary report. It is entitled: 1) "Report of Three Years Cotton Improvement Work." 2) "Observations of the Behavior of Cotton Plants." That may sound dry if you do not happen to be a scientist but it does not sound as dry as the titles on some missionary reports you may have seen.

That report is one of a series from the University of Nanking, a missionary institution supported by several different denominations. The report was written by Professor J. B. Griffing, B.S., formerly cotton expert at the University of Arizona.

The modern missionary is interested not only in saving the souls of the Chinese but also in improving the conditions under which they live in this world. Poverty is one of the greatest curses in China. If we can improve the cotton crop we can relieve some of the poverty. This man Griffing, out in the wilds of Arizona, would probably never have been influenced by a call to go to China as a preacher, but he was stirred when they asked him to go out to work as a missionary scientist.

He is having a thrilling time improving the Chinese cotton, introducing American varieties, hunting down bugs that destroy the crop, finding great unplowed tracts that were laid waste more than fifty years ago by the Taiping Rebellion, making friends with farmers in summer institutes, and through student's plays.

In his survey of the cotton situation he travelled through eight provinces studying their seed supply, the product, etc.

He had great fun in working out a cultivator for cotton. It has one shovel or sweep which can be used for marking, furrowing for fertilizer, making rows for planting and all the cultivating operations. This can be made locally at a cost of about $2.50 and can quickly pay for itself in the labor saved by cutting down the hoeing operations.

Silk Too

One of the great crops of China is silk. There are hundreds of thousands of acres given up to mulberry growing and many million people, men, women, and children, are engaged in rearing silkworms and in spinning and weaving silk. The manufacturers in America could use, they tell us, twice as much raw silk as they can now obtain. If, therefore, the silk crop in China can be doubled there is a market already at hand and the wealth of the Chinese farmer can be greatly increased.

This missionary University at Nanking has naturally, therefore, undertaken to do something in sericulture. They are at work in building which was contributed by the Silk Association of America and which cost $21,000. It is a fine modern fireproof building, 47 x 118 feet.

Let me quote from their report that you may know what a perfectly thrilling piece of missionary work they are engaged in: "The work of the year is chiefly centered around the production of disease-free eggs; grafting last year's transplanted mulberries; transplanting seedlings for grafting next spring; the extension of the mulberry orchard; adding to our already large collection of mulberry varieties both foreign and Chinese; carrying on a large amount of educational work, including a special short course in sericulture; doing extension work with a selected group of farmers near Nanking; and silkworm breeding for purification of varieties and increasing silk yields.

On their mulberry farm they have 330 different varieties, Chinese, American and Japanese. This collection is undoubtedly the largest and best in China and will serve as a basis for scientific study and classification. A young American botanist, A. N. Steward, head of the department in the College of Arts at Nanking, has undertaken the difficult but extremely interesting task of classifying these mulberries. He has already secured dried specimens of each variety and will study their botanical characters very carefully.

Steward and Griffing are both missionaries and are having fine contacts with Chinese boys, helping them to be decent and manly and are at the same time tackling one of the great problems of China, the improvement of her agriculture and the alleviation of her poverty.

"Do you like cold weather, Tony?"
"Don't like too cold, don't like too warm, but we gotta have weather."

HOW DO ATHLETICS AFFECT SCHOLARSHIP?

The Answers of Five College Presidents

Too Much Attention to football, at the expense of scholarship standards resulted in a ruling issued by the athletic board of the University of Southern California restricting students to participation in two sports a year. An inquiry addressed to five presidents of Methodist colleges to ascertain whether this problem was a common one in the denominational institutions, brought the following replies:

Gooding College
President Charles W. Tenney, Gooding College. "Yes, as it is done now, football is overdone and the small college is the one that is trying to overdo it. We found it too expensive to maintain the heavy schedule of the larger schools and so this year we dropped it. But I have no objection to the game itself. I think it keeps up college spirit."

Ohio Northern University
President Albert E. Smith, Ohio Northern University. "It is not being overdone. I am very much in favor of all kinds of athletics, especially football. It provides a wholesome outlet for the animal spirits of the student body. I don't know of anything that makes for unity, loyalty and college spirit more than football does."

College of the Pacific
President Tully C. Knoles, College of the Pacific. "I am very much in favor of the continuance of football, both as an institution and as a sport. Having played football for seven years in my younger days, I am rather a prejudiced person to be asked that question."

Willamette University
President Car D. Doney, Willamette University. "Generally, yes. Perhaps one way to avoid the present tendency to professionalism would be to restrict the football season to intra-mural games. At Willamette we try to have the entire student body represented in our athletic games. The freshmen and sophomores are required to undergo some form of physical exercise and practically all the upperclassmen take it voluntarily."

Kansas Wesleyan University
President Larkin B. Bowers, Kansas Wesleyan University. "I deplore the tendency toward professionalism in athletic sports in our denominational colleges. The situation at Kansas Wesleyan University is, however, somewhat encouraging. Last year the average grade of class work done by those students who participated in inter-collegiate athletic contests was a fraction of a per cent higher than the average grade of the rest of the student group. We do not seek outside for athletics, but endeavor to develop those in the University. I believe the solution of the problem lies in placing a greater emphasis on intra-mural activities."

From University President to sales manager of a real estate corporation is but a transition from one phase of salesmanship to another, according to Dr. William Arnold Shanklin, formerly president of Wesleyan University, who was quoted recently in the New York "Evening Mail" as saying, "What's business but a form of applied psychology; the employment of your faculties in trade; the selling of ideas? Your modern college president must be a financier, a sort of fiscal agent. Raising money is one of his important duties. Now, if he can show a man why he should put money into a college he should put money into something else—real estate for instance. It is not hard for a college man to learn the practical end of business. But it is hard for a man with scant education to get far in a business of profession."

Referring to Wesleyan University, he said with pride and affection, "I love Wesleyan. But my health would not stand up under the strain of travel and responsibility. I tried to make it a 'young college,' practical and forward looking, forty-five of the fifty-eight members of the faculty are men I put there—men with young, alert minds. If my judgment is right, the future Wesleyan for the next three college generations will be influenced for good."

"Anyhow, there is a long waiting list at the college now. And there is that $5,000,000 endowment fund. I'm proud of that even if it did reduce my weight thirty pounds getting it! A change is often as good as a rest. Better, sometimes. It stimulates. I'm not an old fellow, but I'm no longer young."

"What street is this?"
"Lafayette."
"We are here."

The girl had been sent down to the brook to get a pail of water but she stood gazing at the flowing stream apparently lost in thought.
"What is she waiting for?" asked her mistress who was watching.
"Dunno," wearily replied Hubby.
"Perhaps she hasn't seen a painful she likes yet."
—C-P-S—

"When I kissed her, if you'll believe me, I smelled tobacco."
"But surely you don't object to a woman smoking?"
"Not a bit, but that's just it, she doesn't smoke."

"What part did your wife play in the amateur theatricals?"
"She was the book."
"Really, I didn't know it was a tragedy."
—C-P-S—

"I think Jack is horrid. I asked him if he had to choose between me and a million which he would take, and he said the million."
"That's all right. He knew if he had the million you would be easy."
—C-P-S—

"Do you believe that awful story about Miss Footlight?"
"Yes, what is it?"
—C-P-S—

"My wife waits for the least little thing on my part to start trouble."
"You're lucky. My wife's a self-starter."
