

FIRST OF VARSITY DEBATES WILL BE MONDAY, MAR. 17

College Debaters Will Meet Wyoming for the First Time

The debate season at C. P. S. will officially open next Monday, March 17 when the men debaters meet the representatives from the Wyoming University at the Scottish Rite Cathedral, on the question: Resolved that the United States should adopt the World Court Plan as outlined by President Harding. C. P. S. will be represented by Dennis Schenk and Harley Notter who will uphold the negative side of the argument.

We will soon debate the Michigan Aggies who come to the Coast with a long string of victories to their credit. Last year they unanimously won every debate on both sides of the same question, receiving 13 out of 13 possible votes.

Our own debate season last year was the most successful one in the history of the school and culminated in the defeat of Simpson College, Iowa. This year a bigger program has been arranged and it deserves the undivided support of the entire student body in order that success may be assured. Formerly the debates have been held in the College Chapel but because of the limited seating capacity, the Scottish Rite Cathedral has been secured for this year.

The coming debate is attracting considerable attention because of the nature of the problem of a world court will be one of the vital issues in the next presidential campaign and the average citizen cannot intelligently answer such questions as: Is the World Court the best means of eliminating war? Will it entangle us with foreign nations? Is it better than the proposed League of Nations plan? The debate will furnish an opportunity for becoming acquainted with the question from every angle as the men made a thorough study of it in their preparation.

Sale of season tickets is being handled by the Knights of the Log and the Splinters, and according to all reports, is progressing nicely. Let's all boost and make this the best debate year in history.

CHUNARD IS ELECTED FOR ATHLETIC HEAD

At Special Election Everett Buckley Is Elected Duke; Candidates For Queen Must Be Voted On Again

Special elections were held Friday for the unexpired term of Harold Fretz as athletic manager, for May Queen, Duke and Herald of the May Fete.

Eldon Chuinard was the only one up for the athletic manager job. There were three nominees for the May Queen honors. Thelma Bestler and Evelyn Ahnquist received the highest number of votes and they will have to be voted on again. The winner will be the May Queen and the other along with Ardis Fox will take the part of the attendants to the Queen in the May exercises.

Everett Buckley won the position of Duke for the May Fete. The heralds who received the greatest number of votes were Chester Bison and Ed Amende. There was a light vote cast, which was in accordance to the usual run on these elections each year.

A survey of school finances in the State of Texas, similar to the surveys he conducted in Pennsylvania and New York while Professor of Educational Administration at the University of Pennsylvania will be made by President Harlan Updegraff of Cornell College, with the assistance of two local educators.

FRESHMAN STUNT

The Freshman class had charge of student assembly Thursday when they presented a short and entertaining skit for the enlightenment of their friends the sophomores, and for the amusement of the upperclassmen. The curtains went up on the supposedly dead body of a sophomore. The freshman class then swarmed over the platform. A small freshman, swathed in swaddling clothes then took the floor on the tall end of a huge box. Amid the rumblings from his fellowclassmen the spokesman then delivered, without apologies to Shakespeare, a funeral oration for the sophomore. Following this, the audience was informed that a funeral pyre was in the process of construction. Several valuable contributions were made to the fire before the body of the worthy sophomore was at last laid to rest. The curtain fell as the freshmen wept tears of stone from their hard-hearted hearts.

DEMOLAY ORDER TO MEET IN EAST

Kansas City, Mo.—The grand council, Order of DeMolay, will meet in its fourth annual session in this city, March 3, 4 and 5.

Every state in the Union will be represented at this gathering, when the business and problems of the order will be discussed and a broader program of activity outlined.

Within five years it has grown from a club of nine members to an organization with 1167 chapters and a membership in excess of 125,000.

WOMEN DEBATERS MEET WILLAMETTE WEDNESDAY NIGHT

In the Dual Debate, the Question for Discussion is: Resolved That the French Immediately Evacuate the Ruhr

Wednesday night will see the girls' debating teams of the College of Puget Sound engaged in a dual debate with two teams of Willamette University. The question for debate is, "Resolved: That the French immediately evacuate the Ruhr." Marion Gynn as first speaker and Dorothy Wallace as second are leaving for Oregon tonight to uphold the negative of the question at the Salem institution. They will be accompanied on the trip by Mrs. Hedley of the C. P. S. faculty. Miss Wallace, in her fourth year of debating, is regarded as the best woman debater at the college.

The local engagement of the dual meet will be held in the College of Puget Sound chapel at 8 o'clock sharp. Mary Ellen Painter and Helen Olsen will speak in the order named in taking the burden of proof by endeavoring to show the visitors why the French should evacuate the Ruhr. Miss Painter was one of the freshmen girl debaters this year, and Miss Olsen was a member of both last year's varsity and freshman debate teams.

The dual debates between the teams of Willamette University and C. P. S. is a traditional and annual occasion. Keen rivalry and competition are shown among the women of the college to make the varsity team so they can represent their alma mater against the Willamette debaters. Mrs. Hovious, debate coach at C. P. S., is expressing confidence that her teams will win the honors.

The Willamette team will be entertained here before leaving for the completion of their tour, which will include a debate against the University of British Columbia. Coach Professor Emmons and Mrs. Ebsby of the Willamette faculty will be with the Oregon girls.

In the last correspondence with Willamette University, the final details were given. The women representing them here tonight are Miss Esther Moyer and Miss Elaine Oberg. Mrs. Ebsen will accompany the girls as chaperone and Mr. Emmons will have charge of the arrangements for the debate as far as their interests are concerned.

Tamanawas Notes

Some changes have been made in the last week. The most important are the following: The Seniors, Junior, and Senior Normals will pay for their cuts, but the Tamanawas will pay for those of the athletic department. If there are any funds left, the Seniors will be refunded the money spent on cuts.

While this seems unfair in one respect it is plain to be seen that no person wants an annual without athletics or Seniors. Now students you must support us in carrying this additional burden.

Pictures that were not taken last week or before must be left out, unless special arrangements are made with the manager. We fear that many organizations will be about half represented.

Subscriptions are coming in very slow now that the 150 mark has been passed, but we want to see them speed up until 250 have subscribed.

Altho we do not worry about subscriptions from organizations, that is, we should not have to worry, we certainly look with favor upon the 100% subscribed organizations. The potential power that lies in the students that are not affiliated with any organization is great and we wish that it would get into action. Give us your support, managerial and editorial.

DEBATE TICKET CAMPAIGN IS PROGRESSING

Knights of the Log and Ladies of the Splinter Are in Charge of the Sale

"How many tickets have you sold?" The one question that is holding the interest of all loyal College of Puget Sound students the last week is, "How many tickets have you sold?"

There are two live organizations of the college backing the sale, and these two are putting life and pep into their work. The Knights of the Log and the Ladies of the Splinter are out to put the debates across, and we can not give too much credit to these groups. But they can not do all of the selling alone, and it is up to the student body of the college to get behind them and push.

Monday noon the two groups met at the Olympus Cafe. It is rumored that they had a good feed and then discussed their campaign. Here they decided that the help and support of the whole student body was needed to put the debates across. They feel certain that the whole student body will do everything in their power to help the Knights of the Log and Ladies of the Splinter make a great success of the campaign to sell the fifteen hundred debate tickets.

There are fifteen hundred seats in the Scottish Rite Cathedral, and it is the wish of the college that every seat shall be sold out before Monday. This means that we all will have to get out and at least try to sell the tickets. If we try, all of the students not only a few of them, we can put debate across for the College of Puget Sound. At the present time our debate teams are recognized as first class, and this season's endeavors will give us recognition of the highest kind.

Last year we met Simpson College in the biggest debate of the year, and won. Now we have a chance to meet three of the strongest debate teams of the country, and we can not afford to fail. By selling all of the tickets we will give our masters of argumentation their opportunity to uphold the honor of the college.

We are not quitters. But it is up to us as individual students to show the public what we are. We've got the stuff, but it's up to us to show them that we have it. Let's go.

The enrollment for the second semester at Evansville College shows an increase of 76 over the same period last year. This year the total has reached the 300 mark. Several new courses are being offered, including one on "The Teaching of English" by Professor Alfred B. Cope for those who intend to teach in high schools. For primary and elementary teachers two courses are offered, "The Teaching of Arithmetic" and "Reading and Phonetics." A course in scouting is proving of special interest to young men.

DEBATE PLANS ARE BIG FOR THIS SEASON

The debate program is on! This evening the College of Puget Sound begins the first Varsity debate of the 1924 season. We have renewed our forensic relationship with Willamette University, and two of our women are now in Salem, Oregon, where they are to do their best in upholding the honor of our College. Dorothy Wallace and Marion Gynn, in company with Mrs. G. Percy Hedley, left Tacoma last night on the 12:40 train in order that they might be at their best for the contest. Tonight in our chapel, Helen Olsen and Mary Ellen Painter represent us here. Be sure and turn out in support of the activity this evening at 8 o'clock.

We are proud of the program which confronts this year. It has been no small task to bring our city the big debates we have on our schedule. Last spring we had the opportunity of meeting one of the eastern colleges, Simpson, over whom we won a two to one decision. This year we face two eastern colleges, both of whom have an excellent record in debate, having won a large majority of those in which they participated. We hope to win the greater part of the decisions this year. Why not? We have the men and women capable of doing it. All we want is the student body behind them to give the support necessary to spur them on to victory.

The questions for debate are those in which our country has manifested a decided interest. The one used this evening stirred up considerable opposition both in the United States and Europe. It is stated to the effect that the French forces of occupation immediately evacuate the Ruhr valley. Was France right in assuming this authority to enter? Have the French been justified in the action? These questions will be answered before the evening is past.

Wyoming Debate on Monday
Next Monday night, a team from Wyoming University of Laramie, Wyoming will do their very worst to endeavor to prove that the United States should enter the World Court with the reservations as given by the late President Harding. We hope, represented as we are by Dennis Schenk and Harley Notter, to convince them that they are quite mistaken in their conception that the United States should do any such thing when there are other things to be done which have a greater bearing upon the future peace of the world. If you are not convinced as to what course Uncle Sam should take, be sure and be present at the Scottish Rite Cathedral on the evening of March 17. If you are convinced, come and see if you cannot change your mind, when fresh information is given.

There will surely be a treat in store for those who plan to attend the debate with the Michigan "Aggies". There is no doubt but that these eastern men come here quite convinced that they are to defeat the College of Puget Sound. This contest will be fought from first to last. To go down to defeat before a smaller college is the very thing they expect to avoid. This expectation on their part is the spur which is to drive our team on to a victory over them. If you have never seen Bronson Smith, Arthur Erickson and Ralph Brown in action together you will enjoy this debate. None of these men know what it is to give in.

Last Varsity Debate

The last Varsity debate of this season will be one staged on April 21. Of all the numbers on our program this one with Willamette University has been the most difficult to arrange. To overlook, however, our old-time opponent on the Pacific Coast would be a serious mistake. To be defeated will be very nearly a tragedy, and a tragedy we shall avoid, if the student body secures a capacity house on that evening. The question for discussion is one which many people deem to be of vital importance for a progressive program in our country. The Supreme Court is a part of the Federal Government. What decision on its part can be a valid proof of un-constitutionality? The debate will hold a worth-while public opinion on the matter. Plan to hear it.

What is gained when the program is finished? In the first place our College will be better known both in our own city and in the cities of the states represented by the debate teams we meet. An advertisement of this kind will do much toward awakening interest in students who may plan to come to us when they see we have a worthwhile debate record. In the next place, we shall have demonstrated that when it comes to forensic endeavor we can hold our own, even against the men of eastern schools.

BASEBALL SEASON IS UNCERTAIN THIS YEAR

What will be done at baseball this season at the College of Puget Sound is very much "up in the air". At the present time it is not known whether the Logger diamond artists will have a place to practice.

For a time it was thought that the college stars would have the Athletic Park to do their stuff in, but the financial end of this deal has made it such that the proposition has been dropped for the time.

With the coming of spring weather the players are getting uneasy, and want to get out on the diamond. The material this year looks more promising than it did last year, and it would be too bad if the sport would have to be given up for the season. Many of the last year's stars are back in college and some players of reputation have entered college this year.

ACTION IS TAKEN TO CURB ILLNESS

University of California—(By P. I. N. S.)—Action is to be taken by the university infirmary and administrative offices to apprehend and protect students from ill health resulting from overwork of any kind. This action is said to have been brought about by the recent disappearance of two university students, which was caused by these students laboring under excess academic burdens.

It is now the aim of the infirmary assisted by the office of the recorder and the dean of men, to give careful attention to all students carrying work of any kind that would tend to undermine their health.

The new measure is not being taken to scare anyone out of carrying the work he wishes, but rather to encourage and protect the student who undertakes extra work in the pursuit of knowledge.

Harvard University—A blue shirt club has been formed at Harvard. The purpose of the organization is to boycott the laundries. Only one shirt may be worn during the week.

C. P. S. ORATORICAL CONTEST WILL BE HELD HERE SOON

Contest Will Be Held in Connection With Annual Glee Contest; Date Will Be Set Later

The annual Oratorical Contest at C. P. S. will occur within the next month, no date having been definitely decided upon as yet, but in all probability it will be held in connection with the Annual Glee. At the present time six manuscripts are in the hands of the faculty committee who will grade them on their style, composition and subject matter. If there are more orations submitted, the six receiving the highest ratings will be allowed to compete at the time of the contest. A time limit of fifteen minutes has been placed on each oration and anyone taking up more time will be automatically eliminated.

Those who have written orations and their titles are: Can the League of Nations Succeed, Harold Nelson; Progressive Democracy, Avarientos; The Citadel of Peace, Chester Beison; The Great American, Allison Wetmore; The Soul of America, Eldon Chuinard.

CORNELL SCIENCE HALL BURNS

A special meeting of the executive committee of the Trustees of Cornell College was held last week to consider plans for the erection of a building to replace Science Hall, which was destroyed by fire of unknown origin on February 16th, involving a loss of about $50,000. The hall and its contents were only moderately insured, but it is possible that the remaining walls may be found strong enough to support a new structure.

While a large amount of apparatus was lost, some of the greatest losses were the personal property of the professors of chemistry, physics, biology, art and home economics whose departments were housed in the top floors of the Hall. All of the material of intrinsic value from the biology department was saved with the exception of an unusually fine collection of specimens which Prof. Harry M. Kelly had spent years in collecting from many countries.

Prof. Nichols Knight of the Chemistry department, is mourning the loss of his notes made in Germany some years ago when he was doing some research work, and over a thousand dollars worth of chemical apparatus which took him two summers to buy. On the fourth floor everything in the physical chemistry and bacteriology laboratories was lost. The apparatus alone in these two departments was valued at five thousand dollars.

SQUARE DANCE IS STAGED AT NEBRASKA UNIVERSITY

University of Nebraska—An old-fashioned country square dance, with men dressed in overalls and blue shirts and the girls in gingham aprons, was held here, sponsored by the college of agriculture. About 300 students appeared in this costume, and several men wore genuine cowboy outfits.

BOOST DEBATE

The paramount thing in school right now is debate. This is as it should be. Our principal aim in college is to learn to use our brains. We have many kinds of physical contests, but debate is the only intellectual activity in which we compete with other schools. C. P. S. is trying to build up a debate tradition. We can do it if we all boost instead of leaving it to the debaters and Mrs. Hovious. Our debaters in the past have made records that must be maintained. We have the men to do it. All they need is the backing that the student body promised them.

Last fall C. P. S. made an enviable record in football. Our men backed up against one of the strongest teams in the West, and gave them a terrific battle. What is more to the point, we as a student body got behind the team and boosted. We sold tickets, we advertised, we showed the town we had some pep.

Now we have a series of big debates coming up. Does Tacoma know, or care about it? If we were going to have a football game with Wyoming U. down in the Stadium, we wouldn't be slow to tell the world about it. Yet a football game should not be more important than a debate. If we get busy and sell tickets with the spirit that put the U. of W. game across, the Scottish Rite Cathedral won't be big enough.

Come on, gang! Talk it up!

PREPARATION!

We were much interested to find the other day that Socrates had written some ideas many years ago that we believe very firmly today. He said something like this: Politicians should prepare themselves in every way for their offices. We believe that this is more true of student officers. Forgive us, if we seem to harp on this subject, but we believe very firmly in this preparation idea. If we wait until the responsibilities rest on our shoulders we are apt to be so weighed down that we cannot put forth our best efforts. Of course, theoretical notions will and should be changed by practical experience, but how can the Student Body hope to progress if the student officers do not bring in fresh ideas, no matter how impossible of accomplishment they may seem? Once again we beg the recently elected officers to avail themselves of the opportunities offered to know the ins and outs of their job in advance. You still have two months, so make the best of your opportunities.

CHAPEL NOTES

One of the outstanding chapel services of the past month occurred March 5 when Mr. Blanchard, Secretary of the League for Industrial Democracy spoke on the Labor Movement in England. He held the interest of the entire group with his straightforward presentation of the facts.

The League which he represents aims to enlist the sympathy of the college people for Labor, or at least to give them a clear idea of the labor situation. He seems to have accomplished his purpose for his talk is still being discussed among the students.

Friday, March 7, Rev. Black, a representative of the Methodist Church from the east, spoke on personal evangelism. He outlined a new method that is being used by the church in place of the old fashioned revival meeting.

LAMBDA SIGMA CHI

The program was extemporaneous. After the program refreshments were served by Esther Peterson, Helen Kennedy, Sylvia Smaby and Edith Mort, hostesses for the day. Saturday night the sorority entertained by Sigma Mu Chi fraternity with a theatre party and supper afterwards at the home of Miss Ruth Bitney.

DELTA ALPHA GAMMA

Miss Margery Davison was pledged at a special meeting last week. Delta Alpha Gamma announces two new patronesses; Mrs. Villiere S. Fryer and Mrs. W. W. Battson. The meeting last week honored several guests. The following program was given.

Love and the Love-Lorn
"Modern Love" ..... C. Hovious
"Love Poems" ..... Helen Small
Debate: "Resolved: That it is better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all"

The guests included Mrs. W. W. Mattson, Miss Wesner, Mrs. Fryer, Mrs. L. Hovious, Miss Georgia Reneau, Miss Gladys Water, Miss Gertrude Hogdahl and Miss Hilda Johnson.

AMPHICTYON

"H<sub>2</sub>O, NaCl, Ag and Au," so say we all. Our chemistry sharks taught us those famous expressions last Monday evening at 8 o'clock. The program was entitled "Chemist's Night," and with the aid of two of our talented musicians, we enjoyed the following number:
Our Debt to Chemistry ..... Thelma Bestler
H<sub>2</sub>O ..... Percy James
Violin Solo ..... Hilda Melin
NaCl ..... Bronson Smith
Ag and Au ..... Barbara Shanks
Vocal Solo ..... Betty Reynolds
Chemistry Lab ..... Harold Wade

KAPPA SIGMA THETA

Our program for last Wednesday was on Percy Mackaye, and before the sun had set that afternoon, we felt quite well acquainted with him and his style of writing. The following numbers were rendered:
Biographical Study ..... Joyce Hazelton
Tomorrow ..... Carolyn Wellman
The Scarecrow ..... Amy Dahlgren
Piano Solo ..... Roma Schmid

Alumni and Former Students

Mr. and Mrs. Newel Stone moved last Monday, March 10, to 4816 North Ferdinand St., Tacoma, Wash. For the last couple of months Mrs. Stone has conducted a small store opposite the Lincoln High, known as The Stone House, while Newell works in the sampling room at the Tacoma Smelter. At their new home Mr. and Mrs. Stone have a beautiful small apartment and will be more convenient to Newell's work.

Rev. C. C. James, formerly a student at C. P. S. is now pastor of the Methodist church at Randel, Wash. Word comes that James is winning a large place in the hearts of the young folks of his charge and that both pastor and people are enjoying a splendid work together.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Cruser were made happy on the morning of Feb. 7 by the arrival of Lewis Thomas Jr. Mr. Lewis Thomas Cruser Jr. weighed a good seven pounds and made his first appearance at 7.30 a. m. Lewis says that he sure ought to be a lucky chap if the traditions of 7 being a perfect number are correct. Feb. 7, 7 pounds, and at 7.30. Lewis is teaching in the upper grades at the Oakland School.

Roy Cruser is principal of the North East Tacoma School this year. We are giving here a few of the more recent Alumni with their address and occupation where known. Watch this section for the address of some of the old associates, then write them a letter.

FACULTY

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Cochran entertained at dinner recently for some of their College of Puget Sound friends. The table was beautifully decorated in gold and white. Informal music was enjoyed. Guests were Mrs. Valliere Fryer, head of the home economics department, Miss Eleanor Wesner, dean of women, and Mrs. G. P. Hedley.

Friends of Prof. and Mrs. R. Lester Kelley are congratulating them on the arrival of their second child, a son, at the Tacoma General Hospital, March 9. The boy has been named Robert Lester for his father and his grandfather.

The Trustees of Wesley Memorial Hospital, Chicago, announce plans for constructing on the McKinlock campus of Northwestern University one of the greatest hospitalization centers in the world. At present costs, the total expenditure on the plant will be in the neighborhood of $20,000,000.

The plans call for the relinquishing of the present hospital site at South Dearborn and Twenty-Fifth Streets and for the construction on or adjacent to the Northwestern campus in Chicago, a teaching wing as a unit of the Montgomery Ward Medical-Dental center, and adjoining that a hospital for private patients. Later special hospitals for children, for orthopedic and related investigation and treatment, for a special neurological hospital and another for mild contagious diseases will be constructed. In addition there will be a home for nurses and for hospital employees. Three hundred beds will be put in the teaching hospital and from 1,000 to 1,500 in the private hospital.

An active campaign to finance this entire project is being launched by the trustees with a $1,000,000 gift from Mr. James Deering as a starter. Mr. Deering has had thru his father, Mr. William Deering, who was first president of the Board of Trustees of the University, a lifelong connection and active interest in this institution.

Mr. Deering made provisions for the linking of the hospital and University by specifying that the president of the University, the dean of its medical department and an additional member of the Board of Trustees, selected by its executive committee, all of whom shall also be members of such executive committee, shall always be members of the hospital board. Also the president of the hospital, its superintendent and an additional member of its board of trustees selected by the executive committee, all of whom are likewise to be members of that committee shall be members of the trustees of Northwestern.

A MORAL EQUIVALENT FOR WAR

Countless ages ago, before the dawn of civilization, man was a beast of prey. He was a hunter, and in turn, he was often the hunted. In this game of matching wits, he was frequently outwitted, backed into some close corner where, snarling and growling in fear, he was forced to fight for his very life. These first attempts of combatting strange foes must have been very crude and often times futile. But as time passed and the mind of man developed, he learned better means of protecting himself. This sense of combativeness became a second nature to him. There must have been a feeling akin to thrill as he engaged in mortal combat with some living creature.

Primitive man was compelled to resort to force and combat if he was to remain in existence. But there came a time when he became antagonistic toward his fellow tribesmen, and one tribe toward another. Then it was but a short step to that period when it was looked upon by each tribe as its sole profession to war upon its neighbor, from whence it was a mere lapse of time to the point when these tribal conflicts evolved into national wars of conquest. During the more peaceful times of this period knight-hood sprang into existence, and it was participated in for the sake of valor and honor. Coming down to comparatively modern times we find that duels were resorted to in order to settle any questions involving disputative differences, honor, or reputation.

Under the conditions of modern social life the primitive expression of pugnacity in physical combat has been outlawed and made unnecessary by law and custom. Thru fear and training individuals are prevented from settling disputes by force. But as the instinct itself remains strong it must find some outlet. This it finds in more refined forms of rivalry such as business, sports, fighting between groups, and modern methods of warfare.

When uncontrolled this persistent trait proves a menace to society. The fighting instinct is aroused by agitators and foments to add a sense of pugnacity and violent anger to the genuine friction that does exist between conflicting groups in the same society.

On the other hand, the instinct of pugnacity is an indispensable source of social progress. It has been the predominant element in modeling Europe, and in the extension of its culture. These tribes or nations which survived were those which displayed marked qualities of superiority in allegiance, fidelity and social cooperation.

Recognizing the enormous value of the fighting instinct, and the stimulating result of its arousal, there has been proposed a "moral equivalent for war"—an army devoted to constructive enterprises, reclaiming of waste lands, warring against poverty, disease, and the like. All this pent-up energy vented in a great "crusade for righteousness" has accomplished much in instituting more favorable social conditions. It has bound people together in great social progress revolving at an ever increasing rate. It has supplied the world with energy. Nine-tenths of the world's work has been done by it. It is not inconceivable that if all the power and energy, lying at the command of this instinct, were directed more intensely toward the alleviating of social ills, rather than used as a means of furthering those ills, society in general would be elevated to a higher standard of morals and ethics.

Dick Yost.

Registration for the second semester at Illinois Wesleyan University in the College of Liberal Arts will exceed 450, making the total for the year in this department well over the thousand mark. In the department of music two hundred students registered the first day set aside for registration. One of the new courses to be offered in this department is a course in conducting a band or orchestra. Professor George W. Marton, instructor in band and voice will give this course twice a week.

EXPERIENCE OF AN ARMENIAN STUDENT

Graphic word pictures of what it means to be a Christian in Turkey were presented to the Student Volunteer Movement Convention at Indianapolis by J. Kingsley Birge thru means of a letter received from an Armenian student. Dr. Birge of the International College, Smyrna, was there during the disaster. He is known as one of the heroes of that dreadful time.

The letter will give Americans a better idea of the spirit of the Armenians and the things which they suffer, than most anything that could be written. Dr. Birge spoke on the Moslem world and in closing presented the letter, as follows: "I think I can not describe better to you the meaning of what it is to be a Christian in Turkey and to carry there the message of the Christ than to read a letter that was sent to me by a young Armenian boy, a boy who had been driven out of Silesia when the French withdrew from and the Turks entered, who came to our college in Smyrna and when the Turks came into the city last summer was driven forth with the others, the city being burned, 300,000 of its Christian population being sent off to an alien land, the young men of eighteen to forty-five all being taken away, their clothes largely stripped from them, to face the hard ordeal of a winter in the far interior."

"This boy, after he was sent off there and after he was freed in response to a petition that we sent in to the general commanding the western front wrote me this letter describing his own experience: "On the third day of our captivity in a place called Burnabasha the Turkish soldiers robbed us of all our clothing and money. They left us half naked and barefooted. We all, terrified tears in our eyes, waited in fear the hour on which we thought they would kill us. "Just 24 hours later the soldiers came and they took whatever we had—shoes, shirts, coats, combs, looking glasses. They led us to a mountain where on our left and our right we saw corpses swollen and stinking, others buried in pits, their arms being left out of the pit, black and putrified.

"While climbing the mountain the soldiers shot and killed three prisoners in our group. The peasants rushed on us and asked the soldiers to sell us to them for from twenty to fifty piasters that they might kill us on that mountain. "We all began to run forward on the sharp stones, barefooted, fearing the soldiers who killed the three prisoners behind us. That night we 52 prisoners—32 college students and servants and 20 others were crowded into stable where took place an inexplicable, an unimaginable crime which my mouth and my pen are constrained not to tell and not to write. Oh! The horror of that cursed night, to see the Christian young men seventeen to eighteen years old being made victims to the brutal lust of the Turkish officers and soldiers.

"The next day we reached Manassa. There in the barracks officers from Silesia, knowing that we were 20 Armenian students, beat us with iron rods. A little later they undressed us altogether and began to scourge us naked. "Then they turned us over to the Fourteenth Battalion of the civil prisoners in Manassa, all barefooted and in rags, one and one-half months exposed to the severe cold and stormy weather of winter, lice swarming over us, bread and horse beans our daily food. We suffered very much, working all day long at various kinds of hard labor.

"Knowing the Turkish language pretty well I became the secretary to our regiment and only myself had been exempted from work. Thank God, after one and one-half months, sweaters and money and later on shoes were sent for us, so that our conditions began to be bettered, but the other prisoners, hopeless and faithless, many even denying the existence of God, suffered more than we suffered. "And for this very reason I am glad, even though I suffered much, that I was prisoner as a Christian young man to comfort and exhort those poor prisoners, that I could show them the loving spirit of Jesus by which they were strengthened to bear the strain of life, that as their secretary I could show them the spirit of prayer and helpfulness. "Moreover, I am glad that I could work among the Turkish guards, whose hands were tinged with the innocent blood of our Christian brothers. I wrote their letters and their applications. I read their newspapers and their letters. I ate with them, blessing the tables by the Lord's prayer in Turkish. I exhorted them, told them that they, being liars, immoral men and drunkards, were not even true Moslems, and I am glad that they confessed their sins and accepted what I told them as the truth.

"Thank God, Jesus worked thru me and his spirit was loved and honored both by the Christian prisoners and by the Moslem guards."

"It is the task of the missionary to go forth in the spirit of that Armenian boy. I submit to you that we go forth in vain unless we believe with all our hearts in a living, a loving, a life-giving Christ."

Graduates of the University of Denver have shown a decided preference for literature as a profession. Their efforts embrace practically every branch of literary work—the novel, short story, drama, poetry text books and journalism.

At the head of the list stands Wilbur Daniel Steele, whose short stories have placed him among the leading modern writers. Since his graduation in 1907 his work has been published in the leading fiction magazines and have been frequently selected for O'Brien's "Best Short Stories of the Year" series. Steele is a son of Dr. Wilbur Fletcher Steele, professor of English Bible and Religion at the University of Denver.

Dr. Granville Sturgis, who received his Ph. D. in 1913 is another graduate who is becoming known in the literary world. He has written several one-act plays but is noted chiefly for his studies of Shakespeare. His interest in the English poet has led him into original research study, the results of which have been placed in the University library.

Miss Lindsay Barbee, '99 has several plays and numerous poems to her credit and is the author of "A History of Gamma Phi Beta."

Lowell Thomas, '14, is at present touring Europe with his pictorial travelogue, "Through Romantic India." He has written extensively about the Orient, and has acted as correspondent for various American newspapers. Neal Wayne Northey, a recent graduate is now associate editor of "Outlook Life," a Denver publication. A number of others are doing reportorial work.

Marjorie Reed Mayo received recognition a few years ago for her volume of futuristic stories. Marie Melzer is coming to the front as a poetess, and A. J. Pierce's feature articles have won a ready market. Cleo Woods, a member of this year's student body recently won a $1000 prize for the best moving picture scenario submitted by a college student.

Among the faculty whose works have been published are professors H. A. Davidson, Ida Kruse McFarlane, L. J. Davidson, D. E. Phillips, Frank Roberts, E. E. Renaud, T. H. Garth, G. S. Dow and S. M. Coulter.

Fulfilling an intention expressed at the time of his retirement from the presidency of Albion College, Dr. Samuel Dickie, for fifty-five years actively associated with this mid-west Methodist institution has announced his retirement as a member of the Board of Trustees.

His decision became known on the publication of a letter written by him to W. W. Tefft, president of the Board on January 26th. Mr. Tefft presented Dr. Dickie's resignation to the trustees who accepted it with expressions of regret.

Dr. Dickie enrolled as a student in Albion College in 1869, graduating four years later with a B.S. degree. He continued his studies there, working for the degree of Master of Science. On completing his schooling accepted a professorship in astronomy at Albion, remaining in that until 1887. The next few years he was engaged in the manufacturing business but gave it up to accept the presidency of the College in 1901. From then until 1921 he guided the destiny of the school with the success that is now a matter of history.

Aside from his duties as a college president, Dr. Dickie was active in politics. He twice served as chairman of the National Prohibition Convention and since 1900 has been vice-chairman of that organization. In 1886 he ran for the governorship of Michigan on the prohibition ticket but was defeated. He was mayor of Albion from 1896-97 and has been a lay delegate to seven General Conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

The Board of Education of the Methodist Episcopal Church is in receipt of a card of thanks from the trustees, teachers, and students of Gooding College for helping the school last year. The card entitles the Board to membership in the "Go-Giver's Club" for one year. Congratulations are mutual.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Wheeler at Steilacoom Lake was the scene of a birthday party given by a number of college students Saturday night honoring Everett Buckley. Following an evening of entertainment, a birthday supper was served. Guests for the evening were the Misses Amy Dahlgren, Nadine and Ella Purkey, Maud Mitmore, Carolyn Wellman, Ruth Wheeler, Evelyn Miller, Lorene Bonds, Gertrude Mackey, Aileen and Carolyn Somers, Marie Peterson, Alberta Shipley, Jane Little, Willabelle Hoage, Olive Hatfield, Miss Hedburg, and Richard Wasson, Harry Enochs, Clinton Hart, Russell Anderson, Allison Wetmore, Charles Brady, Fordyce Johnson, Edson Brown, Melvin Olene, Leonard Olene, Robert Schmid, Donald Wellman, Ronald Graham, Bruce Blevins, Everett Buckley, Ray Fisher and Edward Amende.

The wedding of Miss Dorothy Du Boisson, former C. P. S. student and member of the Delta Alpha Gamma sorority, to Lieut. Maurice Eugene Knowles, was solemnized in the amy chapel of the Vancouver Barracks last Wednesday evening. Miss Du Boisson was well known among the college students and the news of her marriage was of much interest to her many friends and acquaintances.

A number of the bride's sorority sisters drove down to Vancouver to attend the bride at the marriage ceremony. They were the Misses Helen Small, Beatrice Wahlgren, Helen Brix, Katherine Chester, Norma Lawrence, Dorothy Floberg, Carol Hovious and Willabelle Hoage. Miss Helen Miller, also a sorority sister of the bride was maid of honor.

"Will you be my guest at the Lambda Chi theater party next Saturday evening?" was the strange question that many embarrassed girls asked of many equally embarrassed and astonished members of the Sigma Mu Chi fraternity last wee. It seems that every girl received not only a favorable, but an enthusiastic answer.

The young men who had so gallantly, if blushing, accepted these strange invitations were fittingly and properly called for and escorted to the theater.

During the first intermission the words "Greetings to Lambda Sigma Chi of C. P. S." were flashed upon the screen and loud and hearty applause came from the section reserved for the Leap Year Party.

The Mu Chi's were helped into their coats, and taken to the mirrors where they were told to powder their noses or do any such necessary and becoming trifles.

Then the gallant maids of Lambda Chi escorted their fair (mostly brunette) guests to the home of Ruth Bitney.

The house was decorated in peacock blue and silver, the fraternity colors, and mongol and silver, the Lambda Chi colors. Card tables were set for fifty people. The favors for men were coy, demure, little onions tied with mongol and silver ribbons. The girls' favors were peanuts with blue and silver ribbons. A delightful supper was served to the hostesses and their guests. Intellectual questions such as the "Teapot Dome Scandal," "Dr. Abrams Mental Suicide" and others of equal importance were discussed.

The guests were escorted to their homes in autos, Fords, taxicabs and various other vehicles.

Professors Budd and Seward chaperoned the party and they may be misquoted as saying "We have never seen such a handsome and intelligent group of well-behaved men and women."

President J. W. Simmons of Clark University, one of the schools sponsored by the Board of Education for Negroes of the Methodist Episcopal Church, inaugurated the second semester of the school year with a program unique in the annals of chapel services.

The opening number was the singing of the Negro national anthem, followed by scripture reading by the president. Dr. J. W. E. Bowen then offered prayer. The principal address was delivered by Dr. H. E. Archer who chose as his topic "Loyalty." The students took the Scout allegiance to the flag, joining in at the end with, "I pledge allegiance to my Alma Mater, and to the ideals for which she stands, and I promise her the best I have of head and heart and soul."

After the new students were informally introduced to the other students, all sang that old Negro song, "Jacob's Ladder."

JOKES

First Maid—How did you like to work for that college professor?
Second Maid—It was a fierce job, they quarreled all the time and it kept me busy running from the key-hole to the dictionary.
—C-P-S—
The doctors haven't any hope for mountain climber Jerry Jide, He started up without a rope and with his conscience for his guide.
—C-P-S—
Father—Your conversation is just like the musical scale.
Daughter—Why like the musical scale?
Father—Well, it starts with dough and ends with dough.
—C-P-S—
"Necessity is the mother of invention."
"Why not the mother-in-law?"
"Necessity knows no law."
—C-P-S—
Patient (dashing madly into the infirmary holding tightly to his head)—Give me something for my head quick, Doc. Give me something for it.
Busy Doctor—I wouldn't take it as a gift.
—C-P-S—
He—You looked so absent minded when I spoke to you this morning.
She—I was probably wrapped in thought.
He—It's a wonder you didn't take cold.
—C-P-S—
Wife—Dear, I've been to a doctor today.
Dear—What did he say?
Wife—He said I had better travel for my health. Where would you advise me to go?
Dear—To another doctor.
—C-P-S—
Sue—I hear she married a run-down nobleman.
May—She had a lively race for a husband.
—C-P-S—
"Hey waiter, how did this piece of steel get in the bacon?"
Waiter—Well, sir, it was a razor back hog.
—C-P-S—
So beautiful she seemed to me
I wished that we might wed;
Her neck was a pillar of ivory,
But, alas, so was her head.
—C-P-S—
Hank—My brother was sure a dumb guy.
Frank—How's that?
Hank—They had to burn down the school house to get him out of the first grade.
—C-P-S—
"Son, where have you been?"
asked the anxious mother as her boy came in at one a. m.
"I've been out on a date," was the answer.
"What with that dirty shirt?"
"No, with a girl."
—C-P-S—
Babe—Jones has a horse he calls imagination.
Ruth—How come?
Babe—Because it runs away with him.
—C-P-S—
English Prof.—What was the occasion for the quotation, "Why don't you speak for yourself, John?"
Sophomore—John Alden was trying to fix up a blind date for his roommate Miles Standish.
—C-P-S—
"My good fellow, how do you happen to be lying in the gutter?"
"Sall ri, brother, I just saw two lamp posts and leaned against the wrong one."
—C-P-S—
"So he's a vegetarian?"
"Yes, he even has a cauliflower ear."
—C-P-S—
Dope—What would you do if a girl dared you to carry her upstairs?
Mope—I'd be inclined to take her up.
—C-P-S—
"Shall I brain him?" cried the Hazer
And the victim's courage fled.
"You can't, it is a freshman;
Just hit him on the head."
—C-P-S—
Musician (to pupil)—Marvelous, Mademoiselle. I will make you a diva.
Pupil—But, Monsieur, you forget I don't swim.
—C-P-S—
A woman recently returning from Europe was detained by the authorities because she was found to be wearing three undeclared overcoats. She should have known that wearing three fur overcoats is contrary to custom.
—C-P-S—
Words of preachers oft remind us
We will live again sometime,
And departing know we'll journey
To a dryer, warmer clime.

An old negro minister was making a visit to a revenue warehouse.
Revenue officer—Well, what will it be, Erasmus?
Erasmus—Boss, Ah wants some sacrilegious wine.
Revenue officer—You mean sacramental wine, don't you? What kind do you want?
Erasmus—Well, Boss, at last Sunday's meetin' we done took a vote and it was unanimous for gin.
—C-P-S—
"How long does an engine last?"
asked the inquisitive old lady.
"Oh, about thirty years," the engineer answered patiently.
"Oh, I should think a tough looking thing like that should last longer than thirty years."
"Maybe it would if it didn't smoke so much."
—C-P-S—
"Why is your face so red, little girl?"
"Cause, Ma'am."
"Cause why?"
"Cosmetic."
—C-P-S—
Pat was on board an ocean liner bound for America. It was his first trip on the water and every event on the boat was new to him. One day the ship burst into flames. The fire was soon consuming the huge boat. All passengers were grabbing life preservers and life boats. Pat stood for a few minutes watching the mad rush. Finally, perplexed and disgusted, he said: "Well, if every body is going to steal on this boat I'll do a little myself."
So he grabbed a crow bar and jumped overboard.
—C-P-S—
"Are you taking care of your cold?"
"You bet I am, I've had it six weeks and it's as good as new."
—C-P-S—
Professor—Your last paper was poorly written and difficult to read. Your work should be so written that the most ignorant could understand it.
Student—Yes, sir; what part didn't you understand.
—C-P-S—
"You Seniors aren't what you used to be."
"How's that?"
"You were a Junior last year, weren't you?"

The Random Shot
I shot an arrow into the air
It fell into the distance, I knew not where,
Till a neighbor said that it killed his calf
And I had to pay 6 and 1/2.
I bought some poison to slay some rats,
And a neighbor swore it killed his cats,
And rather than argue across the fence,
I paid him four dollars and 50 cents.
One night I set sailing a toy balloon,
And hoped it would soar till it reached the moon,
But the candle fell out on a farmer's straw,
And he said I must settle or go to law.
And that is the way with the random shot—
It never hits in the proper spot,
And the joke you spring, that you think so smart,
May leave a wound in some fellow's heart.—Hamline Graele.

The New York State College of Forestry at Syracuse University offers $25 in prizes to sportsman, campers, boy scouts and all lovers of the woods for the best set of rules written in the form of a pledge on the duties of those who have occasion to burn matches in the woods.
Nearly 70 per cent of forest fires are due to human carelessness, the bulletin says. Lighted cigarette stubs, cigar butts and pipe tobacco left burning cause great destruction to forest recreation places and wild life in addition to timber losses running into millions of dollars annually. Contestants are asked to frame such rules as they think proper for the guidance of careless smokers. The contest closed on March 3rd.
