

DRAMA CLASS WILL PRESENT ONE-ACT PLAYS

Friday Evening, April 25, the Drama Class Will Stage Four One-Act Plays in the Chapel

The class in educational dramatics will present their second group of four one-act plays in the college chapel Friday evening, April 25, under the direction of Mrs. Lynette Hovious. The plays to be presented are: "The Flittermouse," "The Flight of The Herons," and "Caleb Stone's Death Watch."

The cast for the "Flittermouse" is as follows: "Maud," Alberta Shipley; "Prissy," Carolyn Wellman; "Mrs. Ellis," Hilda Rasmussen; "Gerald," Dick Wasson. The scene of the action is laid in a summer camp in northern Wisconsin, and the action centers around an innocent flittermouse who unconsciously brings a romance to a climax.

"The Revolt," by Ellis Parker Butler, is a comedy, the scene for which is laid in a school where girls are taught the rudiments of domesticity. An uprising occurs when a "militant suffragette" is introduced as a professor of matrimony. The leads are taken by Carol Hovious, Therese Lundquist and Loretta Grass. Other members of the cast are: Patty Hazleton, Carolyn Wellman, Hilda Rasmussen, Betty Reynolds and Florence Wittenburg.

"The Flight of the Herons," written by Mrs. Hunter Kneard of Tacoma, is a tragedy, the setting for which is a Russian prison. Betty Reynolds has the lead in this play, and is supported by Loretta Grass, Richard Weir, Robert Schmid, and Ernest Miller.

The last play to be presented, "Caleb Stone's Death Watch," pictures the scene about a death bed. Those in the cast are: Robert Schmid, Ronald Graham, Hilda Rasmussen, Carolyn Somers, Mrs. A. R. Richards, Gladys Anderson, Ernest Miller and Richard Weir.

TRACK SCHEDULE FOR THIS YEAR IS OUTLINED

Prospects for This Year's Track Season Look Fair Now

The Loggers have the biggest track schedule in the history of their college, made for this season. There are to be three big meets this year for our track and field athletes.

The first of these will be the University of Washington Relay Meet at the University. This event will be held May 3. The next date on the schedule is May 24, when our team will meet the University of Washington frosh team in a dual meet at Seattle. The Northwest Conference track and field meet will be the last contest the Logger team will participate in.

The prospects for the College of Puget Sound putting out a successful team is a subject that has been receiving much comment around the college. There are two of the team that won the class B college's relay meet at the University of Washington last year, and some of the new men are showing up fairly well. The time has not been anything to cause much of a disturbance among any of the track enthusiasts, but better time is expected.

The main trouble is that the Loggers have no place to train regularly. They go down on the Stadium track, but these work-outs are not regular enough to give them the necessary work. Most of the men have to do the greater part of their training individually. By this method they do not receive the necessary coaching. Despite these handicaps our cinder artists are doing their best and this is something that we have to admire them for.

There has been some keen competition for places on the relay team, and so far the team has not been chosen. The two old runners, Wiesel for the half and Upton for the three-quarters, are showing that it will take some fast men to get their old places away from them.

BASEBALL TEAM FEELS NEED OF MORE SUPPORT

The Outlook for This Season Is Fair and the Team Deserves Boosting from the Students

We still have a baseball team at the College of Puget Sound—not a still baseball team, but a real live one, and it would be greatly strengthened if the student body in general would take a live interest in it.

Not many of the students realize that their team can boast of a real infield—one that would get by in any college. Ed. Swartz, "Ink," Hagans, "Pete" Peterson and Pete Carli are reliable men.

The pitching staff has been weakened by the loss of "Horse" Blevins, but Clare Guests and Lee Leak are doing their best, and that's more than can be said for most of us. "Dutch" Allerdice has been showing some good work behind the bat, but he has proven a little weak at his hitting. With some good coaching it is expected that he will develop this part of his work.

Some good outfielders are out for places on the team. "Rabbit" Enoch, "Gard" Schuler, Chowning and Van Deventer look good.

The team, as a whole, looks good except for the stick work of some of the men. This weakness can probably be strengthened before the season is far advanced.

The team feels the lack of support from the students of their college, and they would put up a snapper brand of ball if the students would get out and boost.

DEBATE SEASON ENDS FOR THE PRESENT YEAR

Willamette U. Wins From Varsity Debaters in the Last Contest of This Year

The College of Puget Sound may congratulate itself upon the excellent caliber of the debate program which has been put on this year. From start to finish, our debaters have departed themselves in a sportsmanlike manner, and have exhibited a fine spirit in the taking of defeat. With the debate season now over, although we have lost every Varsity debate, we may renew our strength. We may rest assured that with the number of experienced men and women we have available for the coming year, our next season will be one in which victory shall come to us in reward for our efforts.

The debate with Willamette on the evening of April 21, was one of keen competition. We may be proud of the good work done by Roy Owen and Allison Wetmore, even though the decision was three to nothing against us. However, our spirit is far from broken. In fact, our determination to reverse the order of the decisions of this season in coming days is even greater than after the first adverse judgment of the program.

Let us remind ourselves that the splendid series of debates which we have fostered this year owe their success in the way of attendance and financial welfare, to the untiring efforts of the Knights of the Log, with the co-operation of the sister organization, the Ladies of the Splinter.

Our College is proud of its men and women. Their spirit of "fight" will yet show the Pacific that we are undefeated in heart.

The Annual Glee and the Oratorical Contest will be held on Thursday evening of this week, at seven thirty.

COLLEGE CLASS WILL PRESENT "ILL STEVEDORES"

Saturday, April 26, the College Sunday School Class of Epworth Will Put On "Grand Opera"

Not often does Tacoma have a chance to hear Grand Opera at all. Seldom in the history of these United States has admission to an operatic performance been offered at the price of 25c. Never before has opera been sung within the immediate vicinity of the College of Puget Sound. For these reasons, ladies and gentlemen, (do you notice the influence of debating technique on prevalent literary fashions?) a number of us uphold the affirmative of the proposition, "Resolved, that no person in this neighborhood can afford to miss the Western premiere of 'Ill Stevedores,' Saturday evening at 8 o'clock."

The seating capacity of the Opera House (temporarily located in the basement of Epworth Church) is extremely limited, and it will be necessary to secure your tickets early. They may be obtained from members of the cast, and from other members of the College Class of that Church, at two-bits each, two for fifty cents, or four for one dollar.

The best kind of publicity consists of facts. Cast your eye over the following lists of singers and musical numbers, and judge for yourself whether you can afford to stay away!

CAP AND GOWN DAY WAS HELD LAST MONDAY

The Seniors Appeared for the First Time in Cap and Gown

The Cap and Gown Day exercises for the graduating class of 1924 were held Monday morning at the regular Chapel period.

Rev. Ralph Magee of the First Methodist Church at Seattle was the principal speaker and emphasized the cultural development to be obtained from a college education. "This can best be gained," said he, "by brushing up against the minds of your professors in the class room and by personal contact with fellow students. The untrained mind is like an uncultivated plant. Both have possibilities of becoming something bigger and better but unless given proper care and attention they are apt to run wild."

Following the custom of previous years the Seniors will wear their caps and gowns every Monday until Commencement.

To the rear and South is lofty snow crowned Mt. Hood and in front and to the North over in Washington stands Mt. Adams, both standing like two sentinels guarding the Hood River Valley. Between the two are the fine orchards, with the pear and cherry trees in bloom. From the mountain to the Columbia River like a silver thread runs the Hood River. Among the orchards, one of the best known is that of the evangelist, Billy Sunday.

Mr. Brooks apparently knows everybody in the valley and all seem to know him. He enjoys their highest respect. Some of them speak of him as "the preacher."

He is always glad to welcome any

SENATOR DAVIS MAKES A VISIT TO MR. BROOKS' FARM IN OREGON

Friday morning, April 11, a ride of sixty miles along the far famed Columbia Highway, with its sublime and ever changing wonders, "Where rolls the Oregon," brought me to a town of Hood River.

This is the chief town of the Hood River valley, which in Oregon is as well known for its fruit as are the Wenatchee and Yakima valleys in our own state.

The Hood River is formed from a melting glacier on Mt. Hood, forty miles to the south and flows north, emptying into the Columbia at the town of Hood River. The Hood River valley is only forty miles long and eight miles wide and may well claim to be one of the richest and most beautiful river valleys in America.

From the town of Hood River I journeyed out into the valley, eight miles to the town of Odell. Here resides Mr. Alexander Brooks, whose choice apples and fruits so many of our students and Faculty have enjoyed the last few years.

Mr. Brooks makes his home at the Odell hotel and early each morning goes out to his three orchards, returning about six P. M. These three orchards are all visible from the town of Odell, being only one and one half miles distant.

Mr. Brooks takes his visitors through his orchards and gives thorough explanation of the fruit industry.

His orchards are all on high ground, so he has escaped the killing frosts and freezes that have destroyed the apple trees of some of his less fortunate neighbors. In many places in the valley may be seen trees killed by the severe cold of 1919-20.

Mr. Brooks does not use as much water in irrigation as some of his neighbors. He thinks this is one cause of his good fortune.

Throughout the valley the orchardists were complaining of the low prices of apples. Here again Mr. Brooks has been fortunate. For between his apple rows, he has planted a row of pear trees. While prices of apples are very low, pears bring a good price.

Standing at the height of Mr. Brooks' orchards, there is spread out before the beholder's vision one of the grandest panoramas in Amer-

The men of the Science Club will entertain the women of the Scientists' Club at a banquet at De Kovan Inn Saturday night. Mrs. Valliere Fryers, Dean George F. Henry, and Prof. and Mrs. James R. Slater will be guests of honor. Places will be laid for the Misses Thelma Bestler, Berenice Olson, Alice Morgan, Ruth Wheeler, Helen Pangborn, Agnes Hauge, Manie Swanson, Frances Clinton, Florence Meador, Margery Davission, Ardis Fox, Helen Small, and Harold Fretz, Everett Buckley, Ed Amende, Elmer Carlson, Chester Beisen, Wendell Brown, Harold Wade, Arthur Erickson, Percy James, Harold Rector and Charles Brady.

An invitation has been extended the Kappa Sigma Theta sorority by the Lambda Sigma Chi sorority for tea to be given at the home of their president, Miss Ellena Hart, Wednesday afternoon, April 23.

The Sigma Zeta Epsilon fraternity put on the stunt in student assembly Thursday. The skit was in the form of a play, written by Robert Schmid, and was entitled, "The Styx Houseboat Club." The latest thing in sporting costumes were displayed, the most striking perhaps being that worn by Bruce Blevins, the "King Arthur."

William F. Raney, professor of English and European history at Lawrence College has written an article on "Recruiting and Crimping in Canada for the Northern Forces," 1861-65, "which is strong in condemnation of the methods adopted by recruiting officers during the Civil War. It describes the illegal measures used in detail, and should prove of both interest and value to historians."

CAMPUS DAY IS SPENT IN WORK ON NEW CAMPUS

On Campus day, Tuesday, April 22, classes were adjourned at eleven o'clock and the students of the college journeyed to the athletic field on the new campus to begin clearing it. A picnic lunch was served at noon by the Seniors.

The committee in charge of the Campus day activities was made up of: Ted Upton, Wendell Brown, Fete Carli, Mabel Swanson, Hazel Olson, and Haroldine Searle.

ANNUAL GLEE WILL BE HELD THURS. APR. 24

The Oratorical Contest Will Be In Connection With the Glee

One of the biggest events of the college year will be held Thursday evening in the chapel, when the annual College Glee will be held.

Every year each class meets in the glee and sings its own song, that has been written by some member or members of their class. This year Melvin Olene and Helen Brix are writing the music and Nan Tuell has written the words for the senior's song. Willabelle Hoage has written the music and Roma Schmidt wrote the words for the juniors. The sophs' song has been written by Lorene Bonds and Eldon Chuiard. Evalyn Miller, Mary Lou Bechaud and Barbara Shanks are writing the frosh song.

These songs will be sung by the members of their respective classes. There will be a committee of judges to decide on the best song. The judging will be based not only on the merits of the song but also on the presentation. There is some good natured rivalry each year, and some excellent work has been done by some of the classes.

The winning class will have numerales placed on the Annual Glee pennant in the chapel. The winning class will be announced after the glee is over. From the work that has been put on some of the songs, one would be led to believe that some very good results should come of the efforts.

The judges will probably be Miss Reneau, Mr. Johnson and Mr. Klopper. Student body tickets will admit. Last year the sophomore class won the honor of having their numerales placed on the pennant, but all classes will have an equal opportunity, because each class must have a new song each year.

The student body is urged to show a real live interest in the Annual Glee, and a large crowd is wanted at the affair. The evening's entertainment will be well worth the effort required of any student to drag him or herself out of his or her respective homes or some other's home.

YWCA FASHION SHOW PLEASURES

Many Clever Costumes Were Shown for Every Occasion

"Wasn't that a wonderful dress"—"O, see that perfectly adorable gown?" were just a couple of the awe inspiring remarks uttered in a stage whisper, at the Y. W. C. A. fashion show in the chapel Monday noon.

The show was a huge success, according to all those who attended. Some very clever creations were shown, and the work done by the girls who did the modeling was equal to many in the big "down-town" fashion shows.

The models were Y. W. girls. The costumes were loaned by Lou Johnson and the People's Store. Some very clever creations were among them. They varied from sport suits of the latest styles to a charming bridal costume. The Y. W. girls feel very appreciative towards the Lou Johnson, and People's Store Companies for the costumes.

The show was put on to raise money to help defray the expenses of sending the president of the Y. W. to the National Convention of the Y. W. C. A. at New York. Elemore Kenrick has been chosen to represent the College of Puget Sound. She left Tuesday night and expects to be away for about three weeks.

SUBSCRIPTION RATE—50¢ A YEAR.

The efforts of the Y. M. C. A. to interest the students graduating this year from the high schools of this city and neighboring towns is very commendable and deserving of support from every student who is interested in the welfare of his college. The co-operation of each of us will be necessary to put the plans over successfully, and of course, if this picnic is not done up right it would be better not to have it at all. Each department of student activities, it is planned, will be represented in some way during the afternoon and evening. This program can be made of very great advantage to the college and so it behooves every one of us to back all the work to the limit. When you are asked to serve on a committee or to furnish something, respond as cheerfully as you can and get in the swing of the plan and there is no doubt that a great service will be done for the college.

SPRING IS HERE

With the coming of Cap and Gown Day the beginning of the Commencement season draws near with its multitudinous activities. The Seniors begin to feel that college days are really almost over, and such an odd little feeling creeps in that is very hard to describe. The coming of the warm spring days brings these attacks of spring fever that often are well nigh fatal to the poor hard working students. It makes it so difficult to keep awake and interested looking for it is so much more pleasant to watch the fleecy white clouds floating around the blue of the heavens with the mind as near a blank as is possible for it to be. Another thing we have noticed is the proof of that old saying, "In the spring, a young man's fancy" —we forbear the finishing of that old and worn quotation that in spite of its age is so very true that it will ever continue to come up anew every spring.

IT ISN'T YOUR SCHOOL, IT'S YOU!

If you want to have the kind of school
Like the kind of school you like
You needn't slip your toys in a grip
And start on a long, long hike.
You'll only find what you left behind
For there's nothing that's really new.

It's a knock at yourself when you knock your school
It isn't the school—it's you!
Real schools are not made by people afraid
Lest somebody else get ahead.
When everyone works and nobody shirks
You can raise a school from the dead.
And if while you gain your personal aim,
Your neighbor can gain his too,
Your school will be what you want to see—
It isn't your school—it's you!

IS A LIE EVER JUSTIFIABLE?

Since it was first a possibility to discuss questions the question of whether or not a lie is justifiable has been discussed. For our purpose it is unnecessary to go into the definition of a lie—only suffice it to say that to affirm by word or action, of that which is not true with a purpose of deceiving is to lie. But the question is "Is a lie ever justifiable?"

Among primitive peoples we find this ideal of truthfulness held very high. To them a lie was detestable, and a man who uttered a lie even to save the life of another was not a man in every sense of the word. The old Scandinavian heroes were valiant in war, but they held that a lie was not justifiable under any pressure of an emergency. Their Valhalla heaven was the home of those who fought bravely; but there was no place for liars in it. A fine illustration of their unvarying duty to truthfulness is given in the saga of Frithjof. Frithjof, heroic son of Thoretien, loved Ingeborg, daughter of his father's friend, king Bel. Hilge, Ingeborg's brother, and successor to his father's throne, opposed the match and shut her up in the sacred enclosure of the god Balder. Frithjof ventured within the forbidden ground to betroth his manly love.

The motives of the lovers were pure, but a rumor of their meetings was circulated, and Frithjof was summoned before the council of heroes to answer the charge. If ever a lie was justifiable, it would seem to be when a pure woman's honor was at stake, and when a hero's happiness and power for good pivoted on it. Frithjof was tempted to lie, but he scorned to do it.

"Say, Frithjof, Balder's peace hast thou not broken,
Not seen my sister in his house while Day
Concealed himself, abashed, before your meeting?
Speak! yea or nay! Then echoed from the ring
Of crowded warriors, 'Say but nay, say nay!
Thy simple word we'll trust, we'll court for thee—
Thou, Thorsten's son, art good as any king's.
Say nay! say nay! and thine is Ingeborg!"
'The happiness,' I answered, 'of my life
On one word hangs; but fear not therefore, Hilge!
I would not lie to gain the joys of Valhall,
Much less this earth's delight. I've seen thy sister,
Have spoken with her in the temples'

ORGANIZATIONS

DELTA KAPPA PHI

The monthly social affair of the fraternity was held last Thursday evening in the form of a dinner party at Canyon Lodge followed by a trip through the Legrande Power Plant.

The party left Tacoma about six-thirty and arrived at the Lodge about eight, most of the members in a humor that boded ill for any stray chicken dinners that should happen along. The next hour was filled, not with "wailing and gnashing of teeth," but with "calls for more chicken and the crunching of teeth." Two members of the party even devoured the onions.

After dinner the party enjoyed some Scotch songs by Lyle Lemley and a piano solo by Ella Miller.

Then the expedition to the power plant was started. One of the honorable members who is acquainted with the territory volunteered to act as guide, but in the dark, he got mixed in his directions and instinct prevailed over reason when he found night,

But have not therefore broken Balder's peace!
More none would hear. A murmur of deep horror

The diet traversed; they who nearest stood
Drew back, as I with plague had been smitten."

And so because Frithjof would not lie, he lost his bride, and became a wanderer from his land, and Ingeborg became the wife of another. And so it is that numerous instances of this loyalty to truth might be cited.

Again comes the question, "Is not a lie justifiable in some cases?" Let us turn to the Bible and see what it has to say. In the O. T. and in the New, God is represented as himself the Truth, to whom, by his very nature, the doing or a speaking of a lie is impossible, while Satan is represented as a liar and as the "father of lies." Altho the human representatives of God are in many instances guilty of lying, it is clearly evident that lying is contrary to the principle, in the light of which the Bible itself is written; that a lie is always wrong, and that it cannot be justifiable in God's sight. God is opposed to lies, and a lie in his sight is spoken of as a lie unto him, and against him. "It is impossible for God to lie." (Heb. 1:2. 6:18.) Just as a lie is inconsistent with the character of God, so is it inconsistent with the character of man. God, who cannot lie, cannot have provided a place for lies in the lives of men. A lie is a sin against the plan of God's universe. There can be no such thing as a "white lie," an innocent lie. Lying is a sin. Lying a little is not possible. The man who lies tells the whole lie. A lie is not sanctioned by God, but it comes from the "father of lies"—from Satan. He who says that some lies are just, must be judged to say no other than that some sins are just, and that therefore some things are just which are not just.

Having thus seen how the Bible deals with this question we will see how it works out in the supposition that a lie is justifiable in war, in life saving, etc. War has an ethics of its own. It is deemed honorable and permissible to conceal facts from the enemy with the purpose of purely concealing and not deceiving. An honorable soldier will not lie in war. A flag of truce is sacred. Every brave and honorable man scorns a falsehood, and will not tolerate it in friend nor foe.

A favorite example of the justifiableness of a lie is the case of a physician. It is held by some that a doctor is justified in telling his patient an untruth about his condition. Yet when the doctor tells an untruth he is doing an act which is undermining his social standing, and other people's faith in him. If he can conceal the facts without falsifying he is justified in doing so. But if he does lie to the patient and the patient gets well there can be no proof that the lie made him well. And if he tells the truth and the patient dies neither can there be proof that the truth killed him. But why should a doctor lie? He is the one man above all others who should tell the truth. There should be no exceptions, for explicit faith is put in his profession, and the moment people learn of him being untruthful they lose faith in him.

Over against this statement that a lie is not merely justifiable to save life, is the statement that men need to live. "But men do not need to live. A moral code which rests upon this idea for its foundation is rotten, and to surrender the truth which is divine and eternal for the his bearings he was in a chicken yard.

The trip through the plant was greatly enjoyed in spite of the noise of the huge generators, which made it almost impossible to hear the explanation of the engineer.

The long drive home capped the evening, or rather, Delta Kapped it, and the affair was voted a huge success by everyone present.

KAPPA SIGMA THETA

Wednesday afternoon the Kappa Sigma Thetas met with Miss Crapser at the Chelmsa. The regular program was dispensed with and the afternoon was spent in a jolly social way. The cheery atmosphere of the rooms was enhanced by lovely bright tulips. Pert little Easter bunnies acted as sentinels on the mantel shelf, which were later taken away as favors:

We liked the games and music
And the sweets with a popcorn ball

But bein' honest—we'll just say
Its Miss Crapser—we like best of all,

sake of a life, our own or another's, is to choose the devil instead of God and to pollute the springs of the life that is saved at such a cost."

A lie is the opposite of truth, and a being who will lie stands opposed to God, who by his very nature cannot lie. Hence he who lies takes a stand, by that very act, in opposition to God.

PENN STATE STUDENTS HAVE COURTESY WEEK

University of Pennsylvania—Penn State students will have to watch their p's and q's when dating for the latest stunt of the women students is a campaign for courtesy.

Under the direction of the Y. W. C. A., this week and last, were officially designated as "courtesy weeks." Short talks by leaders of the women's student government, discussion on aids to courtesy and pamphlets on etiquette are means by which co-eds are brushing up on fine points. An illustrated talk was given in which various holds such as the "stiletto" grip on the fork, the "baby grab" on the knife, the "germ carrier" on the glass and "gang planks" on the sides of dishes were illustrated.

SIXTEEN JUNIORS WILL BE AWARDED SWEATERS

University of Nevada—Sixteen Junior women are to receive their W. A. A. sweaters on Macy day and it is possible that several additional ones will be granted a little later in the year to juniors who can earn the required number of points in track, baseball, tennis and spring hiking. This year the required number of points for the sweater is 575, 100 points having been given for a place on a class team the first year, 50 the second, and 75 the third. The present freshmen and sophomores, however, will have to total 1,000 points in order to win the coveted award.

WELLESLEY WOMEN HAVE SPECIAL MAIL SERVICE

Wellesley College—Wellesley college girls received 2,969 special delivery letters in a period of two weeks last month. The post office at times received as many as 250 special delivery letters in a single day, and the post office officials state that one Wellesley girl requires as much service as "10 ordinary citizens." Three frantic post-office carriers owning and operating their own cars deliver the mail each day.
