'ON TO LINFIELD' BECOMES LOGGER SLOGAN TODAY

HOME COMING PLANS ANNOUNCED EXTENSIVE PROGRAM ARRANGED

Willamette Game, Bonfire, Theater Party and All-College Dance Are Features of Alumni Celebration; Dates Will Be October 30 and 31; Pep Meetings Planned

Starting with a bonfire next Friday night, to be followed by a show, the big game, and finally an all-college dance will be features of the Homecoming program on Friday and Saturday, October 30 and 31.

C. P. S. students will take charge of the vaudeville performance at the R. K. O. for 20 minutes as one of the special features of the program.

Freshmen Plan Bonfire

On Friday evening, the freshmen will take charge of a bonfire to be built on the campus. Following the bonfire, the students will go down town, stopping at the intersection of Ninth and Broadway to give yells. Then everyone will attend the show at the R. K. O., where the vaudeville program, in charge of Ed House, will be given.

Tickets for the show will cost 60 cents.

"It is essential that everyone buy his ticket beforehand from the students selling them," said Bob Strobel, who is in charge of Homecoming plans. "The school will receive a commission of 25 per cent on all advance sales."

Saturday morning a truck will carry Betsy and the band around town to help advertise the game. Seth Innis is in charge of this.

Bob Scott will head the committee to meet the Willamette team at the train, and to take them to the Stadium in cars. Morris Summers will take charge of the program to be given between halves.

Saturday evening there will be an all-college dance, with a Hallowe'en motif. Elsie Korpela and Carol Hanson are in charge of the dance. Dick Adams' orchestra will provide the music.

BETSY ORIGINALLY FOUND AT SHOPS

Do you know that in 1928 Freshman Floyd Sommers was prowling around South Tacoma looking for bigger and better methods of creating a noise at the games. Some report that young Sommers was parked on the other side of South Tacoma viewing a red red sunset. At any length he discovered our dear old Betsy in the N. P. Shops. When discovered Betsy was nothing but a very ordinary train bell, and now due to college associations her standing has risen high above that of other train bells.

Puget Sound Students Stage Pep Riot Enthusiastic Scholars Parade Streets

The College of Puget Sound rioted in Tacoma last Thursday and Friday with a demonstration of pep and enthusiasm for the Whitman game Friday night.

Thursday evening a procession of be-night-shirted and otherwise wildly-dressed men from the college paraded up and down the streets of the business section, equipped with megaphones and cowbells. "Betsy" was in her usual high spirits, and the parade was reinforced by the women students who raced alongside and joined in the cheering.

Many a talkie failed to fade into the sunset at the proper moment as the pep riot poured into each downtown theater. There the yell king and his duked led yells and advertised the game.

But the big part of the evening came at 10 o'clock, when the Goodrich Silvertown people turned over the microphone of station KVI to Ed House, and for half an hour C. P. S. was on the air. Listeners heard the College Band, Coach Roy Sandberg, football songs and yells. There was many a sprained tonsil that night but it certainly went over big.

Then along came Friday and the middle of second period. Unrest

"Capitalism" Is Debate Topic

National Forensic Fraternity
Chooses Subject

"Capitalism" proved the most popular subject for debate at the national headquarters of Pi Kappa Delta, national forensic fraternity. The exact wording of the topic, which will be a discussion of the present economic system, will be announced in about two weeks. The statement probably will be so worded as to draw the issue between some form of centralized control of industry and our present individualistic system.

The local chapter, Washington Alpha, sent in "Cancellation of War Debts" as its first choice. In the national vote this placed third with "The Recognition of Russia" second.

There is to be one official question, since the proposal for two questions, one for men and one for women, was voted down.

Wilbur Goss has appointed Richard Zehnder as manager pro tem since Jim Owens, elected debate manager last spring, did not return to school this semester.

ROSTER POSTED FOR GLEE CLUB

Von Zanner Is Chosen As Accompanist

The roster of the College of Puget Sound men's Glee Club was announced today by Director John Paul Bennett. Tryouts for the organization have been held during the past two weeks.

The club includes seven first tenors, nine second tenors, nine students singing first bass, and eight students as second bass. Accompanist will be Von Zanner.

In addition to the home concerts the men's glee plans several trips to nearby cities. Preston Onstad is manager of the music department and will make the arrangements. Following is the roster of the club: First tenors: Barton Dahl, Marvin Carter, Orville Weeks, Wilbur Crothers, Dean Smith, Jack Sprenger, Donald H. Cooper.

First bass: Harold Johnson, Ray Wall, Horton Wilcox, Dick Elwood, Fred Brown, Ralph Cummings, Bob Wilson, Ed Burroughs, Gerald Hanson.

Second tenors: Donald MacLean, Helmut Juelling, Harold Bowers, Err Ellis, Charles Jerault, Art Robbins, Preston Onstad, Russell Kasselman, Morris Summers.

Second bass: Harry Burpee, Mark Whitman, Ray Kinley, Herbert Phenicie, Delwen Jones, Norman Gilbert, Jack Evans, George Weiss.

Former Student Dies at Home

Friends of Katherine Larson are grieved to learn of her death early Sunday morning. She had many friends, both as a member of Kappa Sigma Theta, and as an active participant in other school activities. She attended the College of Puget Sound for three years, and was finishing as a senior at the University of Washington, at the time of her untimely decease.

Miss Larson was born in Tacoma and graduated from Stadium High School in 1927. She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Larson, and by a brother, Herbert.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at 1 p. m. at the Tuell funeral chapel, with Rev. Thomas Acheson, her own pastor, officiating. Sorority sisters acted as honorary pallbearers.

The result of all these riots was the generation of good old-fashioned pep, which even Friday's rain could scarcely dampen.

Weir to Speak At Homecoming Alumni Dinner

Annual Banquet Will Be Held
At Bonneville Hotel,
October 31

With Dr. Samuel Weir as principal speaker, the Alumni Homecoming Banquet will be held on Saturday, October 31, at the Bonneville Hotel. Amos Booth, president of the Alumni Association, will be toastmaster for the dinner which will begin at 6:30 in the evening.

Thelma Bestler is in charge of the program to be given at the banquet. Leonard Jacobson, of the music department of the college, will play the piano, and Mrs. Edward Arthur will sing. Dean Raymond G. Drewry and Mrs. L. E. Drushel will be introduced and will give short talks.

Tapestry Pieces Will Be Shown

Exhibit Can Be Seen in Science Hall

A very extraordinary collection of tapestry weaving will be on exhibit next week in the show-case of Miss Blanche Stevens' room in Science Hall. The pieces have been loaned to Miss Stevens by Mrs. Vlademar Holm, a native of Norway, now living in Seattle. She spent a year in the Scandinavian country learning the art.

The science of tapestry weaving is very ancient. The Peruvians were skilled at it about 3000 B. C., and the Egyptians and the Chinese were expert weavers before the Christian Era. It has been said that the French and the Italians were the first in the European continent to do tapestry weaving. Facts have proved, however, that the Scandinavians were the first to introduce weaving of that kind.

During the year 1903 the ship Oesberg in which Queen Aasa was buried about 850 A. D. was found in the region of Tonsberg in Norway. As it was the custom of those days to bury the members of the royal family in their ships together with all their possessions many ancient things were found in the death chamber. There was the queen's work basket, spinning wheel, yarn, bees' wax and a loom containing some unfinished tapestry. On the walls were hung pictorial weaving and tapestry. Quilts and pillows from her bed were filled with down. Grain, flour, wild apples, walnuts, decanters of wine, dishes, clothing and even the hand carved carriage were buried on the ship. The ship was set out on the sea to go wherever the winds and tide drove it. It was not until the last century that it was heard of again.

While digging on their land some farmers came across it buried in the earth. It was probably driven ashore by the tide and buried by the sand. Archeologists from the University of Oslo have finished uncovering the boat. They dismantled it, being very careful to number each piece and later put it together again. It now stands at the museum at Oslo.

One hundred and fifty are expected to attend.

CHANGING WORLD IS TOPIC OF TALK

"Since the World War, nations are enlarging their economic boundaries until they shall become a community of nations. The aim of nations in the future will be to be a good citizen of a community of nations," said Rev. Charles McCaughey of the Mason Methodist Church in his talk "This Changing World of Ours," in Monday's chapel. "One of the most important reasons for this," he said further, "is the fact that the economic boundaries of the nations no longer coincide with their political boundaries." Rev. McCaughey closed his address with a personal appeal to the students to work for this community of nations and the new internationalism, which, he said, was the only alternative to world wide chaos.

Economic Standards Lowered by Women

New York—(IP)—A lowering of economic standards in the teaching profession has been caused by "over-feminization and a lack of adequate publicity in the school system," Dr. Willard S. THINKERS

There are three kinds of thinkers—goose-step thinkers, wool-gatherers, and real thinkers. Goose-step thinkers are people who let others do their thinking for them; they think only mechanically. Wool-gatherers are persons who suffer mental delusions about themselves, and imagine themselves into impossibilities. Thinkers are people who actually think for themselves.

Everyone has his classification. Do you ever wonder what your is?—Cheney Normal.

Virginia Marvin played and sang popular blues songs.

For some time tapestry weaving was practically extinct until Madame Freda Hansen revived it. She was a pastor's wife who could not find a satisfactory way to mend an altar cloth. She found an old woman in the mountains of Norway who taught her the loom stitch. From a collection of old discarded materials she took a 400 year old loom and repaired it. With these things she worked out the secret of tapestry weaving. She was willing to teach only a very few people the art because it was so tedious. She made tapestries which now hang in the government buildings and the king's palace in Norway. She died about three years ago.

At the Scandinavian village of Aasleund a very old woman uses the best vegetable dyes in the world. No one has been able to discover her secrets. If she does not reveal them soon it is feared they will be lost to the world. Several pieces of her beautiful dyed stuffs have been sold to Kaiser Wilhelm.

The next oldest piece known is a Baldishol tapestry measuring one and one fourth by two yards. When the old Baldishol church was torn down this remnant was found between two floors. It had formerly hung in the choir room of the church. The American Norwegian women wanted to express their appreciation to the American women at the Norse-American centennial; so they presented Mrs. Calvin Coolidge with a copy of the ancient tapestry. The copy now hangs in the White House.

At C. P. S. there are about 20 pieces of weaving made the same as the old Peruvian tapestries.

Facts in New Book Reveal Mud Pies Sometimes Edible

Chicago (IP)—The mud pies that children often make could be eaten with enjoyment by many adults in various parts of the world, according to facts revealed in "Geophagy," a book published recently by Dr. Berthold Laufer, curator of anthropology at the Field Museum of Natural History.

Dr. Laufer has made extensive research in geophagy, which is the practice of eating clay, loam and other types of soil, and has published the results of his studies throughout many countries in both ancient and modern times. His investigations began with records of earth eating in China.

Traces of the custom have been found in Indo-China, Malaysia, Polynesia, Melanesia, Australia, India, Burma, Siam, Central Asia, Siberia, Persia, Arabia, Africa, Europe, North America, Mexico, Central America and South America.

As a rule not every kind of earth is eaten, according to Dr. Laufer, but only those kinds which recommend themselves through certain qualities of color, odor, flavor, softness and plasticity.

Geophagy occurs among the most civilized nations as well as among primitive tribes. It bears no relation to climate, race, creed or culture. It is a habit that occurs among individuals and not among any particular tribal or social group.

The women of Spain, says Dr. Laufer, "once believed the eating of earth was an aid to a delicate complexion and the ladies of the Spanish aristocracy in the 17th century had such a passion for geophagy that the ecclesiastic and secular authorities took steps to combat the evil."

Second Dad's Day Planned at W. S. C.

"A thousand fathers!" is the campaign at Washington State College as the students launch plans for the second annual all-college Dads' Day, to be celebrated November 7.

Dads' Day was instituted on the Pullman campus last year, more than 600 fathers attending the festivities. The day is planned to bring students and parents closer together in their feeling of friendliness and understanding concerning the college.

The fathers will be entertained in dormitories and group houses and will be guests of honor at the Washington State-University of Idaho grid clash on Rogers Field.

La Mesa Redonda Announces Two New Pledges

La Mesa Redonda, C. P. S. Spanish society, pledged two new members, Anne Pomerl and Dorothy Rashbam, last week. The last meeting of the club was held at the home of Mrs. C. A. Robbins, who is advisor to the group. A song-fest was featured on the program. Several guitar duets were played by two visitors who sang in Spanish. Ian Gordon sang in English for the students. Group singing in Spanish was led by Miss Dorothy Jones of Fife High School.

Mrs. Robbins displayed a number of curiosities which she had collected in South America.

Marion James, president, invites interested students to visit the meetings of the organization. "Membership is limited to those who have at least six hours of B in Spanish from either high school or college," said Miss James in extending the invitation to local students.

SEASON'S SCENES SEEN BY SUE

This fall the higher the neckline, the higher the fashion score.

Blouses are made of satin, taffeta or laces and are worn either inside or outside the skirt.

The biggest innovation in clothes for winter is the evening gowns. The couturiers have drawn their inspiration from 1860 to 1890 clothes. They are using light materials the way they used heavy ones in the 60's. There are lots of bustles—but they are modified to be wearable today.

There are two types of silhouettes for evening—one is long and slim, flaring at the knees; the other is full-skirted, of tulle or satin. Detached puff sleeves are prominent.

Evening wraps vary from short jackets to full-length coats in velvet, satin, or lame, made with princess curves.

Fashion's hats—shallower—tilted over the right eye—good to look at and fine for those who wear them.

Every smart Parisian head shows the importance of a coiffure defining the outline of the head. Curls, waves and puffs are of secondary importance to the shape of the head itself. With the basic contour of the head smooth, add the other details as they become you.

Long coats have no belts—only straight fitted lines. Some have no collars and are worn with scarf or fur. Many look like suits with fur on flares around the hips.

Very new—a draped baret in Rembrandt manner made in navy felt with double quills, one white and one navy.

Velvet has indeed come into its own this season. Velvet and courduroy suits in the daytime, velvet brouche afternoon gowns and transparent velvet for evening.

CAMPUS GROUPS HEAR PROGRAMS

Musical Numbers and Business Sessions Are Features

Pledge programs were the features of the afternoon meetings of Delta Alpha Gamma and Kappa Sigma Theta sororities, Wednesday, while evening business meetings interested the two other groups.

At the meeting of the Delta Alpha Gamma group, musical and dancing numbers were presented. These included tap dances by Mary Agnes Ferrier, a banjo solo by Sally Lawson, songs by Mary Heaton and Esther Glew, and a trumpet solo by Lorraine Sanders accompanied by Lola Sanders. Members of the refreshment committee were Mary Elizabeth Von Boecklin, Betty Smallridge, Jewell Morris, Vivian Larson and Adelyn Sylvester. A business meeting followed at which plans were made for a dance to be held in the middle of November.

The program given at the Kappa Sigma Theta meeting included a group of songs by Martha Forsythe, a reading by Ruth Moline, a song by Dorothy York and a short talk by Miriam Cohen. Group singing completed the program which was followed by a short business meeting at which Thelma Gander presided.

A short business meeting was held by members of the Lambda Sigma Chi group at the home of Evelyn Frank at 3339 South Fawcett Street. President Carol Hansen presided over the meeting.

Members of Alpha Beta Upsilon held their meeting at their sorority house at 2106 North 19th Street.

A statistical report from Oregon State College reveals "some 2300 odd men registered as compared to approximately 900 women." Those poor girls! Obviously the odds are against them.

WHITMAN COLLEGE DEFEATS LOGGERS IN FAST NORTHWEST CONFERENCE FRAY

Puget Sound Squad Leads Invaders at End of First Quarter By 8-0 Count; Missionaries Use Varied Running and Passing Attack to Win on Sloppy Field

After outplaying their opponents during most of the first half, the C. P. S. Loggers yielded to a determined running and passing attack of the Whitman College Missionaries and went down to defeat in their second conference game Friday evening in the rain-soaked Stadium Bowl by an 18-8 score.

C. P. S. Scores

Puget Sound hung up 8 points before their opponents could get started, the first two of which came as a result of Anderson of Whitman being tackled behind his own goal, while recovering a pass from center, Baker's beautiful punt, which went outside on Whitman's one-foot line, was instrumental in bringing the other 6 points. Anderson was forced to punt from behind his own goal line. Upon receiving the punt the Loggers started their march to the goal. Three nice gains brought the oval to the Whitman 20-yard line from where Jimmy Ennis carried the pigskin over on a run around right end. The try-four-point failed.

Puget Sound Track Aspirants Slate 3 Cross Country Runs

That a series of three cross country runs would be staged again this year was decided last Tuesday at a meeting of track men. Dr. Raymond Seward, varsity track coach, will have charge of the races.

The first race will be run off October 31. The course has not yet been determined, but it is planned to have this first race end in the Stadium Bowl between the halves of the Willamette game.

The second in the series of runs will be held just before the Christmas holidays and the third near the end of the fall semester.

Two trophies will be presented—one to the class having the winning team and one to the individual winner.

Ed McCoy will take charge of the upperclassmen, Ray Amey, the sophomores and Mark Whitman, the freshmen.

Prof. Hanawalt: "When is the season for shooting stars?"

Mary Sifton: "I can't say. I'm not acquainted with the game laws."

although Whitman came within a few yards of scoring on two occasions but were repulsed by a valiant Logger line that held like a stone wall in the shadow of their goal. Applegate and Louderback were again in the limelight by their long runs and line plunging.

Coach Nig Borleske's men forged ahead early in the final quarter by scoring on a spectacular end run by Applegate. Whitman again failed to convert. Paul Anderson, former Stadium luminary, was responsible for Whitman's final touchdown when he intercepted one of Sterling's long passes and ran 25 yards before he was downed on the C. P. S. 20-yard marker. Again it was Applegate that sprinted across to add another 6 points to the score, which remained 18 to 8 when the try-for-point failed again. Neither team was able to make good a single attempt at conversion.

Just as in previous games, the Loggers launched their last-minute passing threat but the Whitman backs were equal to the occasion and the attempts were unsuccessful.

Opposing Captains Star

As was expected, Applegate, Missionary quarter, showed himself to be a brilliant runner although he was handicapped to some extent by the slippery field. Louderback and Anderson in the backfield also stood out with consistent work. Drew at center starred on the line.

Capt. Pettibone was the outstanding performer on the Logger line while Baker's punting and the running of Ennis and Bagley was the bright spot of the backfield.

What would have been an exceptionally large crowd was held down by the rain that fell just before the game and at times during the encounter. However, the largest turnout of the season was on hand to see the rival schools battle in the mud.

The lineup:

Whitman	Puget Sound
DeVangi LER	Pettibone
Nelson LTR	Carlson
Crow LGR	Hurworth
Drew C	Gagnon
Asher RGL	Hickcox
Voris RTL	Mura
Staines REL	Brush
Applegate Q	Sterling
Wooten LHR	Ennis
Anderson RHL	Newell
West F	Baker

Class Teams In Women's Hockey

After five weeks of preliminary practice, the class hockey teams for the women are to be chosen next week.

Everyone is asked to be out on the day designated for her class, so that no one will miss the final try-out. The schedule of days on which the class teams will be picked is as follows: Monday, October 26, freshmen; Wednesday, October 28, sophomores; Thursday, October 29, senior-fresh, and Friday, October 30, juniors.

As the senior women lack enough players to complete a full team, freshmen will be selected for the other positions. They will also receive first team points for this. Practice games will be held for one week, November 1-7, while the actual class games will be run off over a period of three weeks, from November 9 to November 26, inclusive.

Schedule First Hike For Women Athletes

Tuesday afternoon, October 27, the first organized hike of the year for C. P. S. women will start at 4 P. M. from the gymnasium, the route following the road to the Narrows. Hikers are requested to bring a light lunch. Those wishing to go must meet in the gym Monday noon to sign up. A discussion of hiking records will be held at that time.

BASKETBALL MEN START PRACTICE

Basket ball turnouts are now being held every Tuesday and Thursday at 3:30 P. M. in the gym. Under the coaching of Lou Grant, the men will take up a few of the fundamentals. As soon as the football season is over, the turnouts will be in charge of Coach Roy Sandberg.

The second week of intermural indoor baseball play saw three teams still remaining in the undefeated column. The Delta Pi Omicrons, Peter Pugets and the Sigma Zeta Epsilon teams are still unbeaten. The Independents, formerly undefeated, lost to the Peter Pugets. Three of the games this week were won by overwhelming scores, the biggest was the Peter Puget vs. Independent game, 31 to 3.

Chi Nus vs. Mu Chis
In the first game Tuesday the Sigma Mu Chis broke into the win column when they defeated the Alpha Chi Nus by the score of 11 to 7. The Chi Nus had a chance to win the game in the fifth inning when they filled the bases with no one out, but by tightening up their defense, the Mu Chis retired the side with no one scoring. Wilcox led the scoring for the winners with three counters while Van Trojan scored twice for the losers.

Score by innings:
Alpha Chi Nu 1 4 1 1 0—7
Sigma Mu Chi 3 0 5 3 0—11
Batteries—Alpha Chi Nu: Van Trojan, Carlisle and Gleva; Sigma Mu Chi: Perdue and Raleigh.

Sigma Zets vs. Delta Kaps
The second game played on Tuesday went to the Sigma Zeta Epsilon fraternity over the Delta Kappa Phi team by the one-sided score of 25 to 4. The game was fairly even until the third inning when the Zets went on a scoring spree and crossed the plate 15 times. Bates, Black, Davidson, Brown and Guilford all scored three times to lead the scoring for the winners.

Delta Kappa Phi 2 0 0 1 0 1—4
Sigma Zeta 3 2 15 0 5 0—25
Batteries—Delta Kappa Phi: Piety, Williams and Ollar; Sigma Zeta Epsilon: Brown, Welck and Bowers. Umpire, Paul Smith.

Omicron vs. Nippons
Thursday saw the Delta Pi Omicrons defeat the Nippons in a loosely played game. The contest started out as a real ball game, but in the second inning the Omicrons scored 13 runs and from then on the outcome was never in doubt. The Nippons played heads up baseball all through the game but the Omicron batting strength overcame them. Clifford, Johnson and Steele led the winners with four runs each, while Shima and Kuromoto scored three times for the losers.

Score by innings:
Delta Pi Omicron 0 13 0 6 1 7—27
Nippons 0 3 2 4 0 4—14

Peter Pugets vs. Independents
In the final game of the week the Peter Pugets overwhelmed the Independents by the score of 31 to 3. Caulk again showed his rare form in pitching when he let the losers down with only three runs. Smith led the winners with seven runs while Tripp, Hansen and Thune scored for the losers.

Score by innings:
Peter Pugets 17 2 7 3 2—31
Independents 0 0 3 0 0—3

THIRD CONFERENCE GAME TO BE PLAYED AT LINFIELD TOMORROW

Maroon and White Gridsters Leave Today for Clash at McMinnville; Locals Favored to Win by Safe Margin; Slatter and Sterling Back in Lineup After Injuries

This afternoon the Loggers leave for McMinnville, Oregon, where they will meet the Linfield Wildcats Saturday afternoon in the third conference battle of the year for the Loggers. Smarting from the defeat handed them by the Missionaries last week the locals are determined to break into the win column again after losing two conference games.

The Linfield aggregation lost to C. P. S. last year by a 12-0 score and unless the dope bucket is upset they are due to repeat the performance.

Players Recover

The Logger hopes have been bolstered with the return of Slatter, at tackle, who has been out for two weeks due to a foot injury. No other serious injuries have been reported in the squad. Sterling, quarterback, has been handicapped by a bad knee, but is expected to be in the lineup Saturday afternoon.

Coach Roy Sandberg has put the men through a strenuous week of scrimmage and fundamentals, and has worked out a pass defense that should be able to stop the Wildcats. Little is known of Linfield's power, except that they will have practically the same team that took the field against the Loggers last year. In a previous game the Wildcats dropped a decision to Pacific College in a closely fought battle. Pacific is rated as one of the leading schools in the conference race. Checking over this pre-game dope the Loggers are given a slight edge over the Oregon school.

It is likely that the team will line up much the same as they did for the Whitman game last Friday. The guard posts are still undecided as Hurworth, Sprenger, Hickox and Warwick are rated about equal. It is likely, though, that Warwick and Hickox will start.

Captain Deane Pettibone is slated for left end; Carlson, tackle; Gagnon, center; Slatter, tackle; Brusck, end. In the backfield Sterling will call the signals with Newell and Ennis as halves and either Johnson or Baker as fullbacks.

If anyone has the idea that marking a hockey field, or rather trying to make a football field into a hockey field, is fun, they are cordially invited to help. However, with the aid of the college athletic department work has been progressing favorably. We thank you.

Volleyball in the freshman gym classes has brought out some good material. In a few more months the faculty men's volleyball team will have some fine competition.

Tennis seems to be an ever popular sport with the college co-eds. Keep it up, girls. The women's tennis team may make a trip to Oregon this next year. That's something to work for.

Believe it or not, hockey turnouts are coming along fine with a great improvement already noticeable in teamwork. That's from no less an authority than Miss Collins, athletic director. Of course, the above statement isn't so terribly much, but it helps.

Emily Nightingale, women's hiking manager, announced that lunches will be brought and accepted at the first organized hike of the year. If we run out of conversation, cats can be served. A five mile walk would arouse anyone's appetite.

Freshmen at St. Benedict's College, Atchison, Kansas, are required to wear Empress Eugenie hats this year instead of the traditional green lid.

Miss Dilley: "When was the revival of learning?"
Louis Burkey: "The night before the exams."

Bill Elwell: "If you had $20 and I borrowed $5 from you, how much would you have?"
Phil Farmer: "I'd have $20."

Bill: "No, no, you don't grasp my meaning."
Phil: "Yeah, and you don't grasp my $5."

ALL ABOARD!

On to Linfield! If you haven't bought your ticket yet, do it now. We leave tomorrow morning at six o'clock; don't stay here when the rest of us are on our way to McMinnville to see our Logger gridsters clash with the Linfield team in the third conference game of the year. Our team is favored to win, and you and I want to be there to enjoy the thrill of a conference victory.

Yes, we know there is a depression, but although money may not be as easy to acquire as in former football seasons, yet to offset this we are offered the cheapest railroad rates available in recent years. Just $4.75 for a ticket, 25 cents for admission to the game and some small change for food if you want to eat.

All right, Loggers, right this way for tickets. Stand in line, and don't crowd. There is plenty of room for all. And you are coming with us to Linfield—six o'clock tomorrow morning.

A LESSON IN SERVICE

It is estimated that Thomas Alvin Edison contributed to the United States inventions equal in value to the entire American war debt. Thoughtful men and women realize, of course, that to place a cash value on the works of such a genius is impossible. Edison contributed to the world more than his inventions—he lived a life of service to others at a sacrifice of his own health.

Undoubtedly Edison is the greatest inventive genius the world has ever known. As a man and an American citizen, he will live through the ages as an example, as an ideal for successive generations.

We cannot be Edisons nor Burbanks, Lincolns nor Roosevelts, but we can study their lives, and from them we can learn lessons of service to our fellowmen. If each person would leave just one contribution for the improvement of the world, how much better a place to live in this world be.
—D. H. C.

IF THE COAT FITS—

Any slight effort towards cooperation from the departments of the college will be appreciated by the Trail. The purpose of a college newspaper is to print new information about the institution and the individuals connected with its sphere of influence.

The Puget Sound Trail is not a publicity organ for individual persons and departments of the school. However, we are glad to give as much space as possible to each group represented on the campus, provided that some measure of consideration is given to us in our work.

It does not create any overabundance of goodwill to hold out stories until the last minute before publication of the Trail and then expect a prominent position in the paper.

Another matter which rangles in our hearts is the great deference paid to the city newspapers. How about giving the Trail an even break? It is the paper of the students and professors at Puget Sound. It's your Trail for which we are asking cooperation.
—D. H. C.

STICKY FINGERS

Scientists tell us that "sticky fingers" is a disease. Kleptomania and various other manias come under this heading. But it is indeed a shame that the College of Puget Sound should be invaded by this disease. A Methodist school, only 600 students, everyone knows everyone else, and yet lockers are broken open in the gym; pockets are picked; money, pencils, pens, books, clothing—all are missing when the owners start to use them. Of course, times are hard. That is admitted, and the students who are spending money to go to school are as hard hit as anyone else. But remember that no matter how poverty stricken YOU are, your neighbor is just as badly stricken if not a little more so. In the men's cloak room pockets have been picked, several gym suits are missing from the lockers, supplies have been taken from the Trail office and every day notices appear on the bulletin board about lost pens or books.

Is it necessary in a school of this size to be on guard every minute for these sticky fingers? It is admitted that all schools have their fair share of these persons, but does it mean that this school must follow suit just because all others have this trouble?

Plans for the Alumni Homecoming program have been completed and will officially begin Thursday evening with a huge bonfire on the athletic field.

Eldon Ottenheimer, a sophomore, received notice that a story he had submitted to an eastern magazine has been accepted.

The C. P. S. varsity football squad left this morning to play the Pacific Badgers in Portland Saturday afternoon.

The famous Log of the Delta Kappa Phi house which mysteriously disappeared four years ago was returned last week by mail from the Eugene Hotel, Eugene, Oregon.

Student Letters

To the Editor of The Trail:
 If students of the college have to smoke, I wish they would refrain from using my car as a club room. In the first place smoking on the campus is forbidden, and in the second place, I don't want my automobile filled with tobacco ashes and cigarette stubs.
 Signed
 E. B.

One of the most important traditions at the College of Puget Sound is being flagrantly disregarded by a group of freshmen and transfers from other colleges. I refer to the tradition concerning the wearing of high school and other college athletic letters. Every freshman entering the college is made to understand that the wearing of such emblems is a violation of an unwritten law and yet no impression seems to have been made on a number of youthful minds.

The committee of 10 which was to have controlled the department of the freshmen have tried to handle this matter through the fraternities and they have failed. If the fraternities are not cooperating that does not throw any reflection on the committee because the independents could not be appealed to as a group, the committee could do nothing with them. The problem therefore, is up to the whole student body. Do you or don't you care to keep this tradition?

The actual labor involved in removing the offending letters would be negligible and the sweaters would be just as serviceable, and as good looking as before.

This would be a fine opportunity to show in just a small way a bit of that school spirit which has been so noisily advertised in the past. Let's have everyone cooperate and help to keep those traditions that go to make up the foundation of a real school spirit.

A GREATER LOVE STORY HAS NEVER BEEN TOLD!

The Dreyfus Case

A True Story—Startling, Inspiring, Dramatic—Of a Loyal Captain Dishonored by Injustice and Treachery—But Always a Hero to His Loved Ones!

with Cedric Hardwicke and Beatrix Thomson

NOW Playing

--Curbstone Opinions--

"The Barretts of Wimpole Street"

This play, depicting the love affair of Elizabeth Barrett and Robert Browning, is an immense success playing on the Broadway stage, with Catherine Cornell in the lead.

The play portrays in unforgettable scenes the inhuman father of the 11 Barrett children, the broken spirits of all the children except Henrietta and Elizabeth, and the sweeping power of Browning's personality. It carries Elizabeth through her improvement in health, her growing interest in the poet, her exhorting Henrietta to break away from paternal tyranny and finally the elopement of Elizabeth and Browning to Italy. The curtain falls on one of the most dramatic endings ever read.

This play is unusually interesting to read as well as witness. Rudolf Beisen is the author of this play.

Roland Hayes

With the audience growing more enthusiastic after each group of numbers, Roland Hayes, tenor, was well received when he sang at the Temple Theatre last Tuesday. He chose his numbers from the classics, Russian songs and Negro spirituals.

Mr. Hayes has good enunciation, and when he sang numbers in foreign languages, understanding of the words was unnecessary because his expression was so clear.

During the performance everyone seemed to be waiting for the group of spirituals, for which the name of Roland Hayes is famous.
—E. D.

"The Dreyfus Case"

Those collegiates and co-eds who think enough of history and of historical happenings will certainly find "The Dreyfus Case" of high interest. However, I do not recommend this picture to those who are seeking the usual entertainment of synthetic thrills and theatrical situations. "The Dreyfus Case" which took the whole world by the ears more than 30 years ago, came to prominence because some men believed truth and justice to be something more than very moral sounding words to carve on school buildings and libraries.

The story in brief concerns Captain Alfred Dreyfus, portrayed by Cedric Hardwicke, who was falsely condemned for selling information to foreign powers. He was the victim of ambitious young officers seeking promotion by downright crookedness and of a military machine which sacrificed men to protect what it termed the "honor of the army." Dreyfus was convicted and sentenced to Devil's Island—a place of punishment almost too horrible to describe. As an officer he suffered all that one can, being degraded before his fellows and able to do nothing but feebly protest his innocence. The greatest men of France during the latter part of the nineteenth century used their efforts to free him. Among these were Emil Zola portrayed most sincerely by George Merritt. Emil Zola, fiery and famed man of letters was not interested in Dreyfus, the person, but in the fact that an innocent man could be sacrificed by the military caste in violation of all those rights that modern man is sometimes told he possessed. Running through the story is the devoted love and sacrifice of Dreyfus' wife played by Beatrix Thomson. It is an epic of personalities, and what great personalities, fighting for an abstract ideal. Especially interesting are the scenes in the French law courts in which evidence was not nearly so important as oratory. There is however, one serious drawback in that a part of the conversation was lost due either to the inefficiency of the sound apparatus or of poor diction on the part of the players. All in all though it is a picture that, once seen, will not be forgotten.

In a great many books narrated in the first person, the reader's interest is liable to lag, and when he gets past the numerical center of the volume, he sometimes finishes it only through a misplaced sense of duty. This is certainly not true of this latest production of Hugh Walpole. The story takes in and out of Piccadilly Circus in London. It is an English book, written by an Englishman, for everyone. A dark tale, filled with murders and thievery, seeking out the murky depths of the soul that has become embittered, following the fantastic dreams of a man who is starving. This is "Above the Dark Tumult," by Hugh Walpole.

"Comrades at Arms"

Long-nosed Cyrano and swashbuckling D'Artagnan form a wild pair in pursuit of the Cardinal's victims. When one finishes the book he has the impression of whirling hurricane and roaring thunder that has utterly worn him out with tense excitement. There was the night when the Cardinal was trapped in the tiny village between Calais and Paris and forced to dicker with the two laughingly menacing Musketeers; and the dawn when the Man in the Iron Mask crawled down Mount Saint-Michael while D'Artagnan and Cyrano held off the entire garrison. Not to mention Cyrano's impossible loves and the wars waged on him by the weaker sex. I recommend "Comrades at Arms" by Paul Feval for satiated readers—it's like a breath of wind from the west after a sultry summer afternoon.

The flapper, in a heavy sport roadster, came to a screaming stop in front of the traffic officer on a busy street. Said she:

"What's the big idea, flat foot, of no lights here?"

Officer (annoyed): "I'm the light on this corner, lady."

Flapper: "Then turn green so I can cross!"—Wroe's Writings.
