Loggers Defeat Canadian Eleven In Final Game

Close Season With Smashing 39-0 Victory Over YBC Team At Vancouver

Winding up their 1934 grid slate, Puget Sound's Loggers overwhelmed the University of British Columbia football eleven by a 39 to 0 margin Saturday afternoon at Vancouver.

With a wet, slippery field and ball making aerial offensive all but impossible, the Lumberjacks turned to straight power play and pounded the Canadian line into submission to the tune of six touchdowns, converting after three of them. The Logger defense was functioning equally well, and the UBC attack was kept well bottled up throughout the afternoon.

Piper Stars

Emory Piper, sophomore halfback, was personally responsible for the first three Puget Sound touchdowns as he crossed the Canadian goal line in the first quarter and once in the following period.

Piper scored early in the initial canto on a line buck after a long Logger drive, and gave CPS another touchdown and a 12 to 0 lead near the middle of the quarter when he circled right end for 45 yards.

New Writers' Club Will Meet Tonight

The newly-organized Writers' club will hold its second meeting tonight at 7:30 in the home of Dr. Julius P. Jaeger, 815 North Washington street.

The officers elected at the first meeting held November 18 were Wilhelm Bakke, president; Grace Trompen, vice-president; and Marjorie Ranck, secretary-treasurer. It was tentatively decided to hold meetings the second and fourth Monday of each month. A committee consisting of Bob Burrill, Harriet Pangborn, and Eldon Billings, was appointed to determine definitely the time for gatherings. Pauline Schouw, Paul Pugh, and Janet Cook comprise the program committee. Dr. Jaeger and Miss Van Norden are the advisers.

Meetings will include round-table discussions of manuscripts submitted by members. Literary markets, work of contemporary writers, modern trends of composition, and such problems of interest to writers will occasionally be discussed.

It is the hope of club members that this club will eventually be affiliated with the Quill club, national organization for college writers.

Alumnus Convalesces After Serious Injury

Alexander B. Brooke, '32, is convalescing at his home in Odell, Oregon, after a three and a half weeks' treatment in a Hood River hospital, according to word received last week by Prof. Walter S. Davis. Brooke, while working at one of his ranches, was kicked by a horse and was also severely scalded.

A well-known figure to Puget Sound students for more than two decades, Brooke received his A.B. degree here after 24 years of spasmodic attendance. His fruit orchards in the Hood River valley permitted only short stays away from home.

Announce $67 Profit On Homecoming Hop

Total receipts of $143.25, with a net profit of $67, were taken in at the Homecoming dance, October 20, according to the report of Al Winterhouse, committee chairman, at the Central Board meeting November 9.

It was also decided by board members that 25% of the profits from all activities during the last year would be appropriated for the "sinking" fund, a reserve for emergencies.

Burmeister Oratorical Awards Again Offered

Students interested in the annual A. O. Burmeister oratorical contest are urged to attend the first lecture on preparing an essay for competition by Miss Martha Pearl Jones, professor of public speaking, Tuesday, November 27, at noon in room 212.

Contestants must have satisfactory grades and must be registered for at least 12 hours to be eligible for the contest. A 1200-word oration must be written and submitted to a faculty committee chosen by the speech department.

Two prizes of $10 each will be awarded to the winners in the men's and women's divisions, and those finishing second in the two divisions will receive $5 each. A large group is expected to compete for these awards. Last year the first prizes were won by Howard Bannister and Jeannette Amidon.

Where Was Ina Mae Fourth Period? Ask the Registrar --- He Tells All!

Do you want to find out if you have a flunk slip coming? Does Ina Mae's mother want to know where to find her child? Does the senior want to find out how many semester hours he needs to graduate? They all need only to go to Registrar Christian Miller to find out, for his office is the final resting place for all imaginable sorts of statistics about CPS students.

A study of the retention of students at CPS is the latest to be conducted by Registrar Miller and his assistant Edna W. Cheney. This report will list the number of students who have gone to school at CPS for one semester, one year or more, and how many are or have earned their masters degree which will include records extending back as far as 1921 at this institution. This survey was started early last week and will probably be finished late this week.

INR Will Discuss Swedish System Of Government

Socialist - Democratic Form One of Foremost; Dahlgren Is Speaker

To hear O. E. Dahlgren speak on "Swedish Government," the Puget Sound INR club will meet at Prof. Frank G. Williston's home, at 1505 North Alder street, at 7:30 this evening.

Mr. Dahlgren went to Sweden during the summer of 1933 and studied the socialistic-democratic government, called one of the foremost governments in the world.

Tells of Liquor Control

He will tell of their liquor control, which a United States commission is now studying, how their reciprocal trade treaties work and about some of his personal experiences there. After the meeting the members will hold an informal discussion with Mr. Dahlgren.

The constitution of the club, drawn up by Elza Dahlgren, Don Kruzner and Ted Swan, will be voted upon for adoption. Art Harkonen will give a report on the literature of the Carnegie endowment for international peace.

Dixie Tuck will give a report on the recently published book of Beverly Nichols, "Cry Havoc."

Nature of Group

The INR club is organized for students who are interested in international affairs. This interest is the only requirement. Regardless of field or major, all faculty members and students are welcome. Outside speakers, student reports and discussions are held during the meetings.

A library is owned by the club, given by the Carnegie Endowment for international peace. The club is affiliated with hundreds of like groups of the entire world, and gives a chance for contact with other students in foreign college groups. The INR is the only club with international membership on the campus.

Wider Scope for Chi Pi Sigma Discussed

The possibility of taking in students in other sciences as associate members was discussed at the meeting of Chi Pi Sigma, chemistry fraternity, November 20, and an investigation of the matter will be made. Foster Allen and William Monzingo were appointed to investigate pledge pins.

Six Groups 100 Per Cent as Annual Chest Drive Closes

Contributions Surpass Last Year's; Whitman Commends Organization on Work

Six campus groups, with 100 per cent, led the contributions in the two week Community Chest drive of CPS which closed Friday noon, collecting $63.92 in cash and $14.20 through various companies of Tacoma and surpassing their $65.51 total of last year. The groups are: of the sororities, Kappa Sigma Theta, Lambda Sigma Chi and Delta Alpha Gamma, of the fraternities, Sigma Mu Chi and Alpha Chi Nu, and the independent group, Witans.

Thetas Lead

Kappa Sigma Theta and Sigma Zeta Epsilon lead in the amount given with $9.02 and $8.15 respectively. The fraternities gave $31.83, the sororities $25.29 and the independents, $6.80. Dr. Marvin R. Schafer was director of the drive and Mark Whitman, student general.

The Witans lead with the most per person at 61 cents a member, the next closest being Sigma Zeta Epsilon with 27 cents from each member.

"The standards of education are still looking to private institutions for development of social work. We are continuing to utilize private organizations for the training of workers and the carrying on of activities in which public agencies are now prevented from doing by legal restrictions," said Dr. Schafer in commenting on the drive at CPS.

Outside Donations

Organizations who donated through different companies of the city were Sigma Mu Chi with $11.20, Delta Pi Omicrons with $1 and Delta Kappa Phi with $2.

"I want to thank the captains of the various organizations for their cooperation in making this Community Chest drive a success. Although we fell short of our goal of $150, we did much better than last year," stated Mark Whitman, in charge of the students in the drive.

Pi Gamma Mu Hears Swayze, Professor

Thomas Swayze, city comptroller, and Harold Bergeson, political science professor at the University of Washington, were the main speakers at the monthly Pi Gamma Mu meeting Wednesday afternoon. Pi Gamma Mu is the local social science fraternity.

"Finances of Tacoma" was the subject of Mr. Swayze's talk. Looking toward future needs, he suggested that $50,000 be set aside each year for several years to build a new city hall and trunk sewer system. Regarding economies, he pointed out that Tacoma has unequalled opportunities in its light and water systems, that low rates should attract factories and businesses here, and that this city should no longer issue bonds.

Mr. Bergeson spoke on trends in county control and mentioned the possibilities of merging county and city governments. As examples of this type, Mr. Bergeson named San Francisco and Chicago.

May Make Revision Of Pre-Law Course

It is quite possible that the pre-law curriculum of CPS will be revised to comply with the entrance requirements of the University Law school according to Prof. Ellery J. Capen, who visited the Dean of Law school at the University of Washington last week, in order to review the college courses.

At the University 37 different institutions of higher learning are represented in the Law school and as a result requirements are somewhat general. CPS students may in the future, while working for an A. B. degree, be able to transfer to the University after three years or meet entrance requirements after graduation.

Dr. Chapman Speaks For Mu Sigma Delta

Speaking as president of Mu Sigma Delta, local scholastic honorary society, Dr. C. O. Chapman addressed the student body during chapel period Monday on "Scholarship and The Active Life."

As examples of scholars who have distinguished themselves in life, Dr. Chapman cited Woodrow Wilson, Walter Hines Page and J. J. Jusserand. In conclusion the speaker pointed out that although most of his hearers could not take an active part in public life they all would have the qualities which distinguished these men.

Chapel Prayers

Prayers offered in Chapel have long caused considerable comment among students, and for what reasons? Certainly no one can deny the sincerity of those who have spoken the prayers, so perhaps the prayers themselves are the cause.

In Luke 18:10-13, the Lord spoke a parable of two men who went up into the temple to pray. He told of the first man, a Pharisee, who prayed, and in his prayer "informed" God of several things. Then He told of the second man, a publican, who made his prayer concisely and to the point.

Again in Matthew 6:7, 8, Christ, in His Sermon on the Mount, said: "And in praying use not vain repetitions . . . for your Father knoweth what things ye have need of, before ye ask Him." Then the Lord gave to people His Prayer which covers everything.

Surely, there are then but two prayers to be given: the Lord's prayer itself and any prayer of Thanksgiving.

One Man Was Persistent

To what extent would the average college student be willing to sacrifice for his education? Stories of handicapped men and women laboring their days through college are familiar, but the story of Alexander B. Brooke, '32, is one of a different kind of persistency.

He started his college education at the College of Puget Sound in 1908—he received his A. B. degree in 1932. Work on his fruit orchards in Oregon barred regular attendance, so he returned persistently, for a month or six weeks' period, when he could. It took him 24 years to complete a standard four-year course.

Brooke is widely known among faculty members, upperclassmen and alumni for his hospitality and his great interest in college activities.

Two Priceless Films - By Lois Twaddle

Two films which thrilled Tacoma cinema addicts during the last fortnight demonstrate the possibility of using moving pictures to enrich the student's appreciation of literature and music. Grace Moore's operatic sequences in "One Night of Love" and the tender but tempestuous love affair of Robert Browning in "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" are priceless to have among one's memory-images.

Previews play up the title theme in "One Night of Love." However, the picture is an entrancing vehicle for purely aesthetic appeal. One feels the very air of Italy blow through a cellist's hair, and listens tense with emotion as Miss Moore sings the great arias from "Carmen" and "Madame Butterfly." Tullio Carminati is a delight as the debonair maestro, who cannot succeed in separating singing-lessons and love for this rare Carmen who "weighs less than a bull."

And the Barretts—that crowd of young folk who sheltered in their old Wimpole Street house, the fragile flower, poetess Elizabeth. Never has Norma Shearer been more radiant, more bursting with joy and strength born of love. Fredric March portrays Robert Browning as a fine, shining soul who can never again be the shadowy and obscure poet of English textbooks. In Charles Laughton we see Edward Moulton-Barrett's pitiful domineering, self-righteousness that failed, however, to keep the two poets apart. Even Flush is unforgettable.

Pictures like these cannot help creating an interest in beautiful careers and that culture which enriches a purely academic education.

Gordon Alcorn Addresses Club

Former Biology Instructor Discusses Bird Habits

At the Academy of Science meeting held in Howarth Hall November 21, Gordon Alcorn, former instructor of biology at CPS, spoke on "Feeding Habits of Birds," illustrating his lecture with unmounted bird skins. Mr. Alcorn, now on his second year of leave of absence, is studying for his Ph. D. degree at the University of Washington.

The Academy meetings are held twice a month during the school year to hear and discuss scientific subjects in a manner that laymen will be able to understand and enjoy. Field trips are held during the fall and spring. The Tacoma group is a branch of the Puget Sound Academy of Science of which Dean Henry Landes of the University of Washington is president. Of the local academy, Mrs. Carl Veazie is president, Prof. Frederick A. MacMillin, secretary, and Paul T. Prentice of Stadium high school, treasurer.

The subject of the next meeting to be held December 5, is "Gold and Placer Mining." As an inducement to students, reduced membership rates are being offered.

Social Base Map Now Complete

Preparation of a social base map of Tacoma, made under the direction of John Schlarb Jr., lecturer of sociology at CPS, and Dr. Marvin R. Schafer, will be made available by the latter for the students of CPS. This foundation of social research, containing 2,000,000 items, is the basis for interpretation of all social phenomena of Tacoma.

The map shows property as to use, type, condition, whether industrial, commercial, multiple or single dwellings and whether vacant or occupied. It is a valuable index of trends of movement of Tacoma population and the condition of the buildings or land. Under the present unusual conditions, this record will be of great value. A prognosis of future real estate developments will be in the map.

Trail Reporter Misses Location of Guadelupe Mountains 2,000 Miles

This is in reply to Prof. Frederick A. McMillin's criticism of the fallacious geography of the Trail.

In describing the geological display in Howarth Hall of Science in last week's issue it was stated that certain cave formations on exhibit came from the Guadelupe mountains, which, it is stated, are on the small island of Guadaloupe in the Caribbean sea, a small piece of land, one of the West Indies, and the property of the French government.

Professor McMillin, as a good geologist, objected to our location of the mountains. He calmly asserted that the location was a cool 2,000 miles from where we thought it was. "Also," said Professor McMillin, in his criticism, "You must have been thinking of the Galapagos islands." However, professor, you are caught in your own net, the Galapagos islands are in the Pacific ocean off the coast of Ecuador, and not in the Caribbean sea.

Wishing to determine the exact trouble, our reporter consulted the Dr. Arthur W. Martin, math professor, to determine the exact location of the Guadelupe. The following mathematical solution was reached: since the island of Guadelupe is in latitude 16° north and

Freshmen Give One-Act Farce, 'The Pot Boiler'

Play Shown Friday Depicts Modern Author Directing Rehearsals

"The Pot-Boiler," melodramatic one-act farce with an all-freshman cast, regaled CPS students with laughter in Friday's chapel.

This play received five out of nine votes in competition Thursday with "The Mouse," another short play worked up by freshmen. "The Pot-Boiler" showed the effect of energetic individual acting, lines written to make the audience howl in applause, and forceful directing under Miss Martha Pearl Jones of the Dramatic Arts department. Characters drew attention by entrances through the audience and by excellent make-up.

Shows Modern Author

"The Pot-Boiler" showed a modern author directing a rehearsal of his play, in which he used all the dramatic principles. Patrick Kelly, as Playwright Sud, let a young writer, Mr. Wouldby (Robert Gebert) in on his technique of producing strong laconic scenes. Particularly uproarious scenes were the battles between Mrs. Pencil (Mildred Brown), a shrewd vampire, and Inkwel, the villain, played by Richard Dews with mustache and eyebrow gestures. Rose Mary Burke and Reuben Garnett as Miss Ivory and Mr. Ruler had the juvenile leads. Robert Forbing made a handsome father as Mr. Ivory, and Kenneth Hore appeared as a stage hand.

Ends in Deadlock

The play ended practically in a deadlock, with four guns trained around a circle of actors. Happily they decided to shoot the author, who until that moment had no idea how his play was going to end.

Assisting Miss Jones with directing were Robert Eccles and Maurice Webster. Properties were handled by Evelyn Swanson, Mae Rose Munroe, and Robert Byrd. Margaret Sines, Muriel Knapp and Dorothy Gross helped with make-up.

First Meeting of Women's League Held Thursday

Mrs. Charles Mason, Prominent Local Musician, On Program

The Women's League held its first meeting of the fall season Thursday in the Jones Hall reception room. The feature of the meeting was the pianologue by Mrs. Charles W. Mason, one of Tacoma's most prominent musicians. Mrs. Alice Spencer Weiss accompanied the talk with excerpts from Mrs. Mason's subject, the French opera "Marouf."

Mrs. Mason has given much time to the study of operas and has attended many of the operas which she described at this meeting. She attended the United States premier of "Marouf," when it opened in San Francisco three years ago. The opera was composed by Henri Raubeaud, present president of the Paris Conservatory of Music. It was first presented in Paris in 1914.

In the San Francisco presentation of the opera, Mrs. Mason had the privilege of hearing the leading roles sung by the original artists. During the World War the presentation of the opera in Europe was discontinued, but in 1928 "Marouf" was revived. It has recently been played by the Metropolitan Opera house in New York. The background of the opera is a colorful Arabian Nights story.

Following the program an informal social hour was held with Mrs. Edgar F. Dodds and Mrs. J. H. Holms presiding at the tea table. Members of the board of the Woman's League were hostesses with members of the college YWCA group assisting.

Omicron, Chi Nu Game Tops Three Intramural Ball Contests Tomorrow

With no games to be played Thursday, Thanksgiving, three intramural baseball games will be played tomorrow. The league-leading Mu Chi outfit has no games this week, nor have the Delta Kapps.

The feature game of the week's tilts seems to be the contest between the Omicrons, who are in the cellar, and the Chi Nus, who are tied for the league leadership. Independents play the other two games, with the Tahomas and the Zetes meeting in the 12 o'clock game, and the Swedes playing the Pugets in the closing game.

Chi Nus Win

The Alpha Chi Nu boys continued their undefeated march last Thursday with a nice 8 to 3 victory over Art Linn's Terrible Swedes. Valen Honeywell, who did the chucking for the Chi Nu outfit and was given good support in the field.

For the Swedes, Izzy Halfon, the only southpaw in the league, pitched, but the Chi Nus bunched their hits. Halfon was the only man in the Swede's lineup who played anywhere near heads-up ball.

The Zete ball club chalked up another win for itself by batting out a 5 to 1 victory over the Delta Kapps in the other contest. Ragen won his second game for the Zetes by blanking his opponents in every inning but the sixth, when Nick Zittel managed to get around the bases.

Mu Chis Win Again

The first place Mu Chis added another victory to their string by handing the Omicrons another loss. Clarence "Mike" Mykland made it his fourth pitching victory in as many games. The Mu Chis seem to have hit a winning stride which may be set off a little by the fact that they play no game this week. Johnny Clark again pitched for the Omicrons, getting his third straight loss. The Omicrons haven't clicked so far this season.

In a game between two independent outfits, the Peter Pugets, playing with only six men, outplayed the Tahomas to win by a score of 6 to 4. Dick Smith pitched well for the Pugets, and had fine support, considering the number of fielders. Eldon Billings tossed them up for the Tahomas.

Women's Tumbling

Women's tumbling turnouts are slated to get underway the first Wednesday after Thanksgiving according to Miss Pernina Collins, the coach of this activity. Miss Marguerite McMaster is the only four-year-letter winner in tumbling and the team will be built around her.

CPS Gridmen Win Only Two Games In Season's Play

Loggers Swamp Whitman, UBC; Eke Out Tie With Badgers

With only two victories and one tie in nine games the 1934 football season was the most disastrous since Coach Roy Sandberg took over his duties as the Puget Sound mentor. The two wins were scored over Whitman, a conference team, and the University of British Columbia, a non-conference foe.

The Loggers tied the Pacific Badgers and dropped tilts to Albany, College of Idaho and Willamette in conference play, and lost to Gonzaga, University of Washington and Bellingham normal in outside competition.

Forfeit to Albany

The Albany contest which the Loggers actually won by a score of 19 to 7, was necessarily forfeited because of the ineligibility of Chuck McMillan, Lumberjack back.

One of the reasons that the CPS team has not been as successful as it has been the past few years can be attributed to the injury jinx that has been dogging the players the entire season. In the opening tilt against Albany, Jim Ennis virtually the spark plug of the squad broke a bone in his leg and was on the sidelines for over a month.

Next, Jack Kimball and Glen Grant two veteran ball players were forced out of the game by injuries they suffered in an automobile accident. Then to top all of this bad luck, Ed Havel three-year veteran, broke his leg last Monday in scrimmage in preparation for the last game with UBC.

Numerous Minor Injuries

Besides these men who suffered major injuries there were a number of smaller hurts to players which kept them out of at least one game.

Jess Brooks was the outstanding player in the Logger ranks this season. He will be back again next year, and is expected to do even greater things. Besides Brooks, Ole Brunstad, Coke McConnell, Gene Millikan and Captain Roy Carlson proved outstanding in the

Favor Willamette For '34 Grid Title

The lowering of the curtain on Northwest conference football by the Albany-Pacific game Friday, ended a season of thrills, hard contests, and fighting teams. The final standings show Willamette and College of Idaho to be tied for first place. Willamette, however, is the popular choice due to a harder schedule and to their comparative scores.

Coach "Spec" Keene's 1934 Willamette gridiron machine has been one of the strongest in Northwest conference history. Such names as Franz, Weisgerber, Grannis, and Oravec seem destined to go down in the Willamette football book of memories, in that their playing this year has been sensational.

The College of Idaho Coyotes have had one of their best seasons on record. Besides not losing a conference game, they held the University of Idaho, a member of the Pacific Coast Conference to a 12 to 0 score.

CASABA CHATTER

A great many CPS athletes are playing basketball in outside leagues this year. Among the most prominent are Jim Ennis, Ed McCoy and Judy Davidson, who are performing for the Totem store team in the commercial league. In their first appearance last Tuesday, these three players paced their team to a 40 to 3 win over the Safeway quintet.

Playing for the Safeway squad were Leonard Moline and Os and Kerm Heggerness all of whom played on the Sigma Zeta basketball team when they were in school.

The Omicrons made their debut into city basketball play by placing a team in the Class "A" church league and winning their first game by a score of 30 to 22. Boyd Dickinson, Omicron center, led his team with 10 points. The Omicrons who were intramural champs last year have a new guard in Johnny Clark, who has had previous experience with the Gonzaga Freshmen quintet.

Henry Graham who was manager of the Logger first team five last season is himself a candidate for the team this year. If height means anything Graham should be a prominent contender for a post despite his lack of experience.

Captain Otto Smith led his Puget Sound basketball aspirants to a 50 to 26 victory over the Rhineland quintet of Seattle, in a practice game Friday night on the CPS court. Puget Sound's continual stream of substitutions gradually tired the Seattle team out, until the Maroon and White began rolling in point after point.

The Omicrons won another basketball game Thursday night defeating the Danish Lutheran squad 42 to 18. Howard Hass scored 15 points for the collegians.

Women who wish to participate in basketball are urged to go over to the fieldhouse this noon, and sign up for the sport.

The try for point was good after the second score. Piper contributed his third touchdown early in the second period, and place-kicked the extra point.

CPS Scores Again

The Loggers scored for the fourth time just before the gun ended the half, when George Nace, fullback, crashed left tackle for another six points. The attempt at conversion failed. Gene Duncan scored again for the Loggers in the third period on a brilliant 50-yard jaunt around left end after taking the pigskin on a reverse. The point was again added by place-kick.

Jess Brooks led the Loggers in a 50-yard drive to their final touchdown in the fourth quarter, and covered the last five yards to scoring territory on a line smash. The place-kick for conversion was wide by inches.

The Canadians at no time during the contest threatened the Loggers goal and were kept busy defending their own goal line during the greater part of the tilt. Coach Roy Sandberg, the Logger mentor, used his sophomores and freshmen men as much as possible during the contest in order to give them experience for next season.

Gene Duncan and Emory Piper stood out among the underclassmen who saw action for the Loggers, while Jess Brooks, who completed his third year as regular fullback again played a bang up game, on both offense and defense.

Gustafson Wins Title

Defeating Bill Sherman in a hard fought match Harold Gustafson won the school golf championship last week on the Meadow park course. Sherman advanced to the finals by winning from Harold Tollefson while Gustafson scored over Louie Staples to get into the play-off. This tournament is to be continued as an annual fall event in the CPS athletic program.

Hike to Fircrest

Eleven women hiked to the gates of the Fircrest golf course and back to the College last Tuesday under the leadership of Margaret Boen. This was one of the group of hikes held for credit toward an athletic letter.

The women who attended were: Sylvia Asp, Floramae Davis, Alice Grimes, Harriet Gartley, Jayne Hall, Annabell Norton, Evelyn Swanson, Corinne Wassell, Ruth Wheeler and Elizabeth Worden.
