Ricker Heads Frosh

Derrol Ricker was elected president of the Freshman class at a class meeting Wednesday, September 18. Other officers are, Ed Raleigh, vice president; Beverly Peters, secretary; Virginia Smyth, treasurer, and Russell Perkins, sergeant at arms. All of the newly-elected leaders are graduates of Stadium high school except Virginia Smyth, who is from Lincoln in Tacoma. The officers were introduced at Freshman stunt night.

Freshmen Score High In Aptitude Tests

Of Prof. George F. Henry's 75 freshman chemistry students who took the Iowa State University aptitude test in chemistry over three-fourths of them were above the median of some 8000 other freshmen students throughout the country.

"This has been the case for the past several years," said Professor Henry. These tests have been given at CPS for the past six or eight years. The chemistry students are also above the general scholarship average at CPS.

Winning Stunt Faculty Expose

Freshmen Give Hilarious Acts In Annual Show

Turning back the pages of time in Jones Hall, Friday evening, September 20, the freshmen participating in the prize winning act of Stunt Night depicted members of the CPS faculty when the pedagogues were young and innocent.

The prize winning pantomime was directed by Maurine Henderson. The satire of frustrated ambitions and inhibitions presented by group two was popularly received and given the judges' approval. "The Faculty Album" was the title of this act.

Franklin Larson, dramatic manager of the student body, was general chairman of the entertainment. The Freshman class was divided into four groups, with upperclassmen serving as directors.

Group 1: Orville Weeks, director; June Larsen, Augusta Dickinson, Billie Acton. Group 2: Maurine Henderson, director; Ida Larson, Izetta Hendricks, Bill Orr. Group 3: Mildred Brown, director; Jo-Ann Grant, Jane Anderson. Group 4: Betty Simpson, director; Marjorie Ranck and Bob Byrd.

Few Additions To CPS Faculty Are Announced

Pres. Edward H. Todd Appoints Four New Members to Staff

Very few changes have been made in either the CPS faculty or in the courses offered in the curriculum. In the main the prevailing policies and programs of the 1934-35 school year will be continued this fall. Pres. Edward H. Todd has announced a few additions to his teaching personnel.

Prof. Kenneth M. Hindley, new head of the journalism department, comes to CPS from Northwestern University at Evanston, Illinois, where he received his B. A. in English in the College of Liberal Arts in 1933 and his M. A. degree last spring in the School of Education. Mr. Hindley is a member of Phi Delta Kappa, national honorary educational fraternity.

Drawing upon his four years of experience in newspaper and magazine work, Mr. Hindley will lead his department and the staff of The Trail, college student publication, in a program of expansion toward a larger paper and increased advertising, with an eight column Trail replacing the present five column news sheet as the goal set for the first of the next semester.

Miss Georgia Johnson, CPS graduate in 1932, comes as an assistant instructor in the home economics department, and Miss Frances Bjorkman, '32, as an assistant in the biology department. Miss Jeanette Amidon, graduate of last spring, is an assistant instructor in the department of business administration.

Few changes have been made in the curricula of the college departments. A course in Latin has been added and will be taught by Miss Linda Van Norden. A course in shorthand is being offered by Miss Mary Louise Wortman, for which no college credit is given, according to Registrar Christian Miller.

Limited Loans Now Available

A limited number of loan funds are available to deserving students needing aid according to Pres. Edward H. Todd. All applications must be made through the President's office.

These funds include the Methodist Educational fund and are limited to students who are members of the Methodist Episcopal church. A fund is set apart by the Rotary Club of Tacoma from which male students with proper recommendation may borrow.

A similar fund from which women with satisfactory recommendation may borrow is offered by the women of Rotary.

The Knight Templars of the Jurisdiction of the State of Washington maintain a fund open only to juniors and seniors.

A permanent loan fund of $35 each year is offered by the Tacoma Alumnae chapter of Sigma Kappa, national women's fraternity. This aid is given some young woman of high scholarship who is in need of financial assistance.

'Hello' Day Friday
"Hello Day," a custom new to this campus, is to be observed at CPS this Friday, October 4, it has been announced by Charles Zittel, ASCPS president. The day will be observed by students and faculty members before the Albany-CPS football game in the stadium Friday evening.

Library Gets 500 Volumes

Since June, three important and valuable collections of about 500 books have been presented to the CPS library, raising the total to approximately 21,000 volumes.

Mrs. S. S. Sulliger, wife of the late Reverend Sulliger, presented a selection from his general collection of books to the library early in the summer. Mrs. John Wallace Kennedy and her daughters, presented a part of the library of the late John Wallace Kennedy, composed of valuable sets of literary and historical classics to the library this fall.

Adding to the Spanish literature section, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Robbins gave to the college a collection of Spanish stories, readers, grammars and anthologies.

Trail Staff Positions Open to CPS Students

Journalistically minded freshmen and upperclassmen are urged by Carl Faulk, Trail editor, to report for work on the editorial staff as soon as possible. Regular publication of the Trail will continue on Mondays.

Larry Penberthy, business manager of the Trail, has announced that freshmen and incoming students will be welcome to work on his staff. In addition to rendering service to the College, the members of the business staff will be able to earn a small income from commissions on advertising space sold.

Kruzner Laughs As Hartwick Capsizes On San Juan Cruise

High adventures on the seas among the San Juan Islands was related by Don Kruzner, president of the college ski club last year, in a radio interview over station KVI Saturday. Kruzner, who has spent the past two summers among the San Juan group gathering material for a guide book, has almost finished the manuscript for a novel which has its setting in the islands.

On one occasion as he was sailing on the straits in his sloop, the "Invictus," a sudden squall broke loose with only a moment's warning in a fluttering sail. In the heavy wind the "Invictus" bowled across the choppy water toward the safety of the nearest shore, four miles away.

Kruzner told of an amusing mishap of his companion, Craig Hartwick, off Rosario beach, Fidalgo island, on which they had spent the night. On discovering the boat full of water the next morning, Hartwick offered to bail it out. Kruzner shoved the craft into deep water and his friend stepped to one side to drop anchor. The rush of water in the boat caused it to tilt dangerously and Hartwick completed the catastrophe by grasping the mast and capsizing the sloop on himself.

Pirate Eleven Set For Battle Friday Night

Puget Sound Favored; But Invaders Have Veteran Aggregation

Coach Roy Sandberg's Puget Sound grid stalwarts will officially open their 1935 Northwest football season, this coming Friday evening under the arc lights of the Stadium, at eight o'clock. Facing the Loggers in their first real test of the season will be the Albany Pirates of Albany, Oregon.

Last year CPS defeated the Pirates 19 to 7 in a hard fought contest and with practically the same team back, Albany should prove a formidable opponent.

In two games so far this season the Loggers have broken even, winning from the Fort Lewis army team in their initial encounter and dropping the WSC tilt last weekend.

CPS will build its running attack around Alex Schwetz and Norman Mayer, freshmen sensations, at half-back posts, and Chuck McMillan, who was ineligible last year. Jess Brooks will be called upon for heavy duty such as backing up the line and smashing off tackle when a yard or two are needed. Brooks will also handle the kicking assignment.

War Is Unlikely Says Explorer

Ethiopia Merely Stake in Huge Poker Game

There is small likelihood of war between England and Italy over Ethiopia, Hugh A. Matier, explorer, explained during assembly last Wednesday morning. Matier looks upon the entire Ethiopian situation as more or less of a huge poker game so far as the European powers are concerned.

Prof. John Paul Bennett presented a part of the Adelpian Choral society in Friday's chapel with a selected group of numbers. They were "Vesper Hymn" by Stevenson, Four Chorales from "Jesus Priceless Treasure" by J. S. Bach, "An Angel said to Mary" by Makaron, "Salvation is Created" by Tschesnokoff, "In Mirth and Gladness" by Niedt, "Forest Flowers" by Arr Kibakchich., "The Post Road" by Bohm, and "Italian Street Song" by Victor Herbert. The solo part of the last number was taken by Mrs. Lela Sanders Running, and the accompaniment was by Von Zanner.

To Announce Play

Announcement of the Homecoming play, which will be presented Friday, November 1, will be made this week, according to Franklin Larson, dramatic manager. Much dramatic literature has been read, but as yet a suitable selection has not been found. Tryouts for parts in the play will be announced the latter part of the week by Miss Jones, head of the Speech department.

Freshmen who are interested in trying out for dramatics and have not as yet done so are urged to see Martha Pearl Jones or Franklin Larson, dramatics manager, for further information concerning tryouts. The cast for the first Freshman play will be announced soon.

IN BLACK AND WHITE

Here is the first endeavor of the 1935-36 Trail staff. We hope that you who looked for a scandal sheet are disappointed. Our ideas of a college paper does not embody such an idea.

Each issue of the paper is a stepping stone on the path to a successful publication. In each are errors and crudities, which, once hurdled, broaden the way for improvement and progress.

We shall try to publish news—news when it was turned in by Trail reporters—news which is simultaneously sought after by five other reporters, correspondents or publicity men.

The Trail should reflect the thinking of the best minds of the student body. The Trail invites communications from students, faculty and patrons. The Trail should evaluate and interpret events in the light of the best interests of student enlightenment. This editorial writer feels that it is within the rights of college editors to publish constructive criticism without encouraging purposeless and malicious comment.

It is, therefore, Trail editorial policy to place service before gain; to give value for value received; and to strive to exceed what is expected of us.

WALLFLOWERS

CPS has no school regulation demanding this, but something should be done about the bashful students who insist that they can't debate, play football, work on committees, or do anything else in the way of extra-curricular activities. Going to school, college especially, just for routine classes every day is like going to the fair without buying a hamburger or visiting the fairway or going on a picnic without a lunch basket.

Freshmen and sophomores by looking around can profit from the experience of upper classmen who have no interest in life from September to June. Make your school life pay big dividends; it's the chance of a lifetime to make fast friendships and get used to working with and for others.

AT OUR SERVICE

Merchants take a beating in more ways than one these days, what with sales taxes, no end. But their beating, if it ended there would be bearable. That is but the beginning. Whenever a student function is in need of material support its leaders never fail to figure some way in which to chisel.

Old students will notice a rejuvenation of Trail ad copy. It illustrates the merchant's willingness to play ball. It is no more than fair to keep up this pertinent matter, that student needs are best served by Trail advertisers.

Our office menace claims the moon causes marital strife. We've noticed that it gives the tied the ups and downs.

Puget Sound Review

This Week's Guest Commentator

"To Freshmen at CPS the three 'R's' are new—registration, rushing and rooting. The first R—registration—is something you can't do a bit about. It is in the blood of everyone who has been here for years. Registration post mortems are as good as major operations any semester. Rushing—most freshmen have sampled and it is first in the mind of all Greeks. Freshmen, take all you can get. You deserve it, for it can be one of the pleasantest methods of obtaining a favorable impression of life at CPS. The third R—rooting—is the most important pastime of loyal Loggers throughout the year. No matter what the team, root for it. If the team is losing, root for it louder. That is the approved way of showing that CPS is not mistaken in saying—"Welcome Freshmen!"

Carl "Rusty" Faulk,

Editor of the Trail.

Preface: At this time of the year it becomes conventionally necessary for a few preliminary remarks. Always when things begin there must be some sort of introduction . . . a few gradual unconcerned series of entrances must be made into the thing that is going to start. Otherwise a substance is launched without reason and an unmerciful audience will, at once, criticize the whole attempt into oblivion. The reason for this department is not exaggerated because it is true that nothing is so challenging as the defence of one's self. On the contrary, we say that there is a doubt as to the reason for "Observatory Hill" and, incidentally, we now have a much better chance because, paradoxically, nothing is so disarming as the custom of admitting everything.

College Begins: The freshmen, as usual, are keeping things rolling around here. . . They shaved off Shirley Wekell's chinful of goatee and made him look naked . . . Then they started in on Marc Miller, and the nasty people took his pants off before an enthusiastic audience . . . By the time the bag rush happens next Thursday, Derrol Ricker and Randy Rockhill will have led their two classes through plenty of commotion and high class deviltry . . . One of the rules of the annual Frosh-Soph scrap says that there should not be any kidnaping—I'll betcha' before the week is through there'll be so many students kidnaped and so many things in ruins around here that an innocent bystander will think that a cyclone has hit the place.

Headliners: Alice Hazen thinks CPS is a grand place and Wally Potucek says that those are his sentiments exactly . . . Although this is Donna Rue Teats first year here, her name and her connections with the college have been conversational topics on this location long before now . . . A freshman girl's name that I'd like to mention confides that she would very much like to meet Bruce Hetrick on accounta' she thinks he's swell! Tsk! Tsk! what strange power has that man got? . . . Evelyn Hopkins, judging from the overheard remarks of a few members of almost every fraternity on the campus, is doomed for popularity, no doubt. A Delta Kapp, who we all know, heaved a big sigh and uttered "her eyes are like the stars of a midnight sky and her mouth is just like a little rosebud!" . . . Wow! with a line like that, he could win anybody.

Dreadful Cruelty: Art Comfort unmercifully disillusioned all feminine admirers with this shocking statement—"I will positively have nothing to do with girls this year!" . . . This makes things vice versa from last year.

Letter Department: Yell Department—When we elected cheer leaders last spring we elected two yell dukes as well as a yell king. Last Thursday's pep rally would have been much more successful if flashes Gilmore and Miller had been at Keating's side . . . three working together.

Fairness Always: Two classes of people have asked me two types of questions during the last week. One asks . . . "Are you going to write the column again this year?"—this, of course, is the polite type of human. Another inquires . . . "Say, you're not going to write that column again this year, are you?"—this class is very rude and one that would steal candy from a child. They are the ones who could play the roles of villains at their hairiest on the screen (Editor's note—Here, here, now! Be careful how you sling those cutting remarks about!) However we will leave everything up to the readers. Here's all you have to do. Tear off the hide from one cow, or exact facsimile of one, dye it red and in red ink, print legibly you're name and address and vote whether I should write this column or not. And last, but not least, enclose one hundred dollars to cover mailing expenses. Results of the vote will be printed in an early issue. Of the people, for the people and by the people, always!

INR Club Schedules First Meeting Tonight

The International Relations club will meet this evening at the home of Dr. Frank G. Williston. The club, which stresses student participation and thought in social and political problems, is sponsored by the Carnegie Peace Foundation. Frank Guhr, senior, is president of the group. Anyone interested in international affairs may become an active member by partaking in the discussions. A regional conference at the University of Idaho will climax the coming club year.

Writers' Club Studies 1935 Plans at Picnic

Members of the CPS Writers' club and invited guests came Sunday evening to a potluck picnic at American Lake to discuss plans and aims of the club for this school year. The prize winning short stories of the Frank S. Baker contest sponsored last year by the club, "Tide That Heals the Wounded Sand" by Helen Billet and "Men Think Through Their Feet" by Herbert Arnston, were read. Interests of the organization were discussed for the benefit of the guests. General chairman was Fred Lane assisted by Marjorie Ranck in charge of food and Don Kruzner in charge of transportation.

Dean Says "No Scrap" While Sophs, Frosh, Chase Through Swamp

Led by the sophomore president, Randall Rockhill, alert classmen of this master mind followed him about Tacoma in search of frosh prey during the wee hours last Wednesday morning. To prove the old adage, "The early bird catches the worm" Ed Raleigh, frosh vice-president, was nabbed after a forty-five-minute chase through swamps, around bushes and over hill and dale while he was endeavoring to deliver papers. The sophs, flushed with victory, hustled their captive to a warehouse, handcuffed him securely but not enough to prevent his matching tokens with his guard!

Their enthusiasm whetted by the first capture, the marauders cruised intending to capture other important frosh, ruining the freshman chances in the Bag Rush, set for Thursday morning. Dean Drewry upset the soph appellation by announcing the Bag Rush had been postponed one week. Then Fate played her trump card—the key to the handcuffs broke!

Change Rush Rules

The outstanding change in the sorority rush rules this year is the decrease from six to four weeks of fall rushing. This will set the date of informal pledging for Oct. 12. This year rushees need not be in their homes before 7 o'clock after small parties. The change was instigated because of the lack of time necessary to get the rushees home at the former 6 o'clock hour.

Independents Honor Freshmen

Entertain Friday Evening in CPS Gym

For the first big event in the Independent social calendar, over 100 Independents came Friday to the CPS gym for an evening of games and entertainment. Independent upperclassmen entertained freshmen as guests of honor.

To acquaint freshmen with the organization of the Independents, an announcement was made of the activities planned during the coming college year by the group.

A series of group games, dances and humorous competitions in stunts and races were played. Orville Weeks, general chairman, was assisted by Gladys Harding, Glenn Ratcliff, Dick Dewes, Bob Brandt, Ralph Benson, Belden Bidwell, Cameron Wilson, Herbert Heath, Bill Burroughs, Jim Docherty, Jack Failor and Ash Walker.

Refreshments were planned by Maurine Henderson and Izetta Hendricks, tickets by Dorothy Padfield and Elizabeth Padfield and publicity by Marjorie Ranck. Prof. and Mrs. Kenneth M. Hindley were patron and patroness.

Miller at Quarter
Mel Miller who played half last year but who has been switched to the quarterback will more than likely open at that place for the lumberjacks. Miller is a fine blocking back.
On the line, John Fadness, former PLC star, will get the call at center with Russ Perkins in reserve. At guards Tuffy Martin, a new man from Raymond high school, and Jess Dawkins, two year letterman, loom as the most logical starters. Underwood, Beekman and Srsen are the reserve guards.

Veterans at Tackle
Frank Sulenes, and Guy Bowers, both one year veterans, seem to have the inside track for the tackle assignments. Berthelit, De Shaw, Millikan, and Allen are reserves.

Vaughn Stoffel and Don Wofford are the two leading end candidates. Stoffel is a two year letterman while Wofford is a freshman from Chehalis high school.

SMART SCHOOL CLOTHES FOR MEN AND WOMEN

While the 1935 grid season has just begun there has already been a couple of outstanding upsets. One of the most surprising of these games occurred when the Cheney Normal squad downed the Gonzaga Bulldogs in their opening game at Spokane. Gonzaga was picked to win by five touchdowns but they emerged on the short end of the 14 to 7 score.

Did you notice, that the Willamette Bearcats and the Loggers' outstanding Northwest conference football rivals opened their season with a 14 to 10 victory over the strong Santa Jose state teachers team.

Puget Sound meets Willamette October 26, here. The winner of this game is my choice to win the conference crown, although many of the expert pickers think that the College of Idaho is stronger than either CPS or Willamette.

The largest man on the CPS grid squad this season is tackle, Roy Allen who weighs 240 pounds. The smallest and lightest is Les Briggs, halfback, who tips the scales at 140 pounds. Both men are frosh.

Jess Brooks will be in the thick of the fight for all-conference fullback rating, from all indications. Brooks, who is playing his fourth and last year for the Loggers, is hitting harder than ever on line bucks while his kicking is also improved.

Pollock and Alskog are two basketball players, both guards, who would gladden the heart of almost any coach in the Northwest. Both played last season with the city champion Wheeler Osgood five of this city. Pollock was a regular member of the CPS team two years ago while Alskog is also an experienced college player.

Goddard Sparks WSC To Victory Over CPS Team

Puget Sound Scores On Pass From Jess Brooks To Gene Duncan

Sparked by Ed Goddard, quarterback and a leading candidate for all-American honors, the Washington state college football squad whipped the College of Puget Sound 46 to 6 at Pullman Saturday.

Although he was in the game for only a few minutes Goddard scored three touchdowns for the Cougars, the first of which he made on a 68 yard run, on the first scrimmage play of the contest.

CPS made its lone touchdown in the third quarter on a pass from Jess Brooks to Gene Duncan sub Logger wingman after Alex Schwetz of Puget Sound had intercepted a Cougar pass on the WSC 41 yard mark, and a 17 yard advance, with Schwetz doing the ball packing.

Coach Babe Hollingberry of WSC used substitutions frequently throughout the game, giving every man on his squad of 52, a chance to see action against the Lumberjacks.

Jess Brooks, Mel Miller and Alex Schwetz were outstanding players in the CPS backfield while John Fadness and Guy Bower were the mainstays of the Logger line.

Washington state rolled up 25 first downs to three for Puget Sound during the game.
