Junior College Debate Meet Will Be Held Here This Week

Bob Byrd Is Director of Third Annual Competition in Debate, Oratory, and Extemp

CPS will be host to Oregon and Washington debaters when their third annual junior college forensic meet convenes this week-end, Friday and Saturday, March 12 and 13, with Bob Byrd as director.

This tournament is open to students of junior colleges and to students of freshman and sophomore standing in four-year colleges. There will be competition in debate, extempore, and oratory. The Pi Kappa Delta question for debate this year is: "Resolved: that Congress should be empowered to fix minimum wages and maximum hours in industry." The general subject for extempore is "Inroads on Democratic Government." Any subject may be used for oratory.

Institutions expected to be represented are: from Oregon—Oregon State at Corvallis, Pacific university at Forest Grove, Willamette university at Salem, Linfield college at McMinnville, Oregon Normal at Portland; from Idaho: Lewiston State normal at Lewiston; and from Washington, Washington State at Pullman, Whitworth college at Spokane, Seattle college and Seattle Pacific at Seattle, Grays Harbor Junior college at Aberdeen, Clark Junior college at Vancouver, Lower Columbia Junior college at Longview, Mt. Vernon Junior college at Mt. Vernon, and Cheney Normal at Cheney. There will be eight CPS teams competing in debate, four speakers in extemp, and five contestants in the oratory division. Elizabeth Hardison won the oratory award at last year's tournament. Trophy awards will be made for first place in each division.

Embarrassment Results When Mac's Eel Meets Mac's Biology Teacher

Speaking of embarrassing positions, our own Prof. Frederick McMillin probably has had one of the most vivid experiences that a human being has ever encountered. One that a cartoonist would hardly imagine.

"Mac's" fourth-hour Geology class was discussing eels, as some of the students didn't seem to grasp an idea of what an eel is like. To give a vivid impression Professor "Mac" related his youthful experience with eels. (An eel is a slippery animal which looks very much like a greasy snake, about five inches long.)

While going to high school Mr. McMillin's little boy Frederick, worked in a gravel pit. At the bottom of the pit there was a pond with quite a population of eels. Mac told this to his biology instructor and she thought it would be just wonderful if he could bring a few to class. So, being a perfect little student and ambitiously working for an "A", young Mac went to the pond after a few eels.

When he brought them to class the teacher held out her hands for one of the luscious eels. Student McMillin boldly reached into his container and brought forth one of the catch and placed it into her hands. (Now this teacher had happened to wear a low-necked dress to school.) The eel being of a gymnastic nature and desiring to show off, did a back flip out of her hand and miscalculating his spring, went down the V of her dress.

Dr. Todd's Contest Will Close on Monday

The President Todd slogan contest closes next Monday, March 15, and all entrants for the $2 first prize are cautioned to hand their suggestions into the president's office on or before that date. The winning slogan, according to advice from his office, must be short, snappy and furnish advertising appeal in connection with the 50-year anniversary of the College to be commemorated in 1938.

Display of Weaving From San Francisco Comes To 'The Towers'

Colorful tapestries, pillow tops, old-fashioned wall-hangings and purses are prominent in the striking display of Swedish weaving which opened in "The Towers" last week. The exhibition was brought here by the Tacoma Art association from the Sveagard school in San Francisco and is owned by Mr. and Mrs. John Gravender. The weaving is shown in conjunction with exhibitions from schools on the Pacific coast and will remain until March 16.

The collection of prints from the American Artists group and facsimiles of paintings by Dutch artists, which has been in the studios for several weeks, left Saturday.

Work of prominent Northwest weavers will be on display and several CPS students are showing crafts in the exhibit.

Students whose work is displayed are Lydia Phelps, Adelyn Sylvester, Ethel Peterson, Regina Carrier, Annie Laurie, T. Miyasadi, Mellie Sturley, Mary Ellen Farnar and Miss Blanche Stevens, head of the Home Economics department.

Central Board to Elect First Yell Duchesses

It is requested that petitions for these positions be filed with Mr. Wesley Hunner, journalism professor, before Wednesday, March 10.

Fashions by Jayne

It's as much a woman's prerogative to be pretty as contrary! Figuratively, it hurts our teeth to see a woman with pretty possibilities hiding their lights beneath a bushel of masculine severity. If you must wear tailored suits, wear them with the fluffiest, frilliest, most feminine blouses you can find.

An important new fashion has arrived. It may at first glance be the uniform you wore at boarding school with its daringly short skirt and bolero jacket. The waist is fitted in with a wide sash and the sleeves and neckline are trimmed in rick-rack. The simplicity in lines adds to the sophistication.

Just when suits seem to be stealing the spotlight, coats stage a comeback in tremendous proportions. You've never seen such coats as the new season is bringing. Making an especially brilliant appearance are the Poiret swaggers, Chanel fitted coats which first came to light in 1920 and the magnificent massing of foxes and other large furs on smart necklines.

Hats are getting smaller and smaller. Last year they came over the eyes but this season they sit nonchalantly on the back of the head, crowned by bright flowers. You have a choice of turbans, bonnets, bretons and toques.

Everyone should be aware by this time that gaily colored silks are without doubt the smartest and most popular choice for sophisticated afternoon dresses.

Cape-suits from pre-war days for tall girls —They make one charmingly blase.

CPS Trackmen To Run Trials This Friday

Cinder Team Will Travel to Vancouver, B. C. March 19

With less than two weeks remaining before a squad of Logger cinder men will make their 1937 debut, track coaches Sandberg, Hite and Seward are still about as much in the dark about the ability of their material as they were at the first turnout of the season. Many aspirants have been out during the last week, but there have never been many candidates out at any one time, according to Coach Sandberg.

To decide who will make the trip to Vancouver March 19, a week from Friday, there will be competitive time trials in all the races and also competitive workouts in the field events this Friday noon. "Sandy" cannot take more than 15 men, and with five or six new men out for each position on the squad the coaches expect to find out just what can be expected of the 1937 track team in the coming trials.

Although it is still early to be predicting any brilliant individual stars, Coach Sandberg has been pleased with the development of Bob Russell, Logger hope in the mile event, and of Bob Gius, who has been showing steady improvement in the sprints.

Two freshmen will be called on to bear heavy responsibilities this season. They are Jim Weldon, lanky hurdler who hails from Seattle, and Bernard Remson, highly-touted pole-vaulter. These two look better at the present time than any of the other yearlings turning out.

Tennis Aspirants To Hold Tourney

Tennis enthusiasts start their all-college tournament this week. Lou Grant, athletic supervisor, paired off all men signed up and expects the first run to be finished in two weeks.

The racquet wielders are paired as follows: Swan and McCartney, Failor and Hoppers, Hite and Venn, C. Carter and Kruzner, Burgoyne and Burroughs, Cheney and E. Anderson, Kuhl and McDonlad, Venn and Carlson.

Only 8 Golfers Out For Squad

Pairings have been made in the all-college golf tournament. They should be finished by the end of this week as there are only four pairs playing, stated coach Lou Grant.

Delta Pi Omicron	5	0	1.000

Alpha Chi Nu	1	3	.250
Peter Pugets	1	4	.200
Witans	0	3	.000

Undeclared in five straight contests, Delta Pi Omicron intramural cagers have only to hurdle the Alpha Chi Nu quintet this Thursday noon, to nail down this year's fraternity title, defended by the Mu Chis. The Omicrons added their fifth victim by slaughtering the Swedes, 73 to 5, last Thursday.

The Zetes and the Mu Chis retained mathematical chances to tie for the championship by easy victories over the Delta Kapps and Peter Pugets, by scores of 46-16 and 58-3, on Tuesday and Thursday, respectively. One of the two, however, will be eliminated when they tangle this noon in the first game. In last week's other game, the Chi Nus trounced the Swedes, 31-19, but since they did it with only four men, they were forced to forfeit the contest.

Gridders Work In New Berths

Although not enough men for two full teams have reported for spring football practice, Coach Sandberg has been doing some valuable preparation for the 1937 football schedule.

Experimenting with new plays and positions of players, "Sandy" has been working out Bob Morris at both the guard post and in the backfield. Gordon Fielder has been switched from pivot man to full-back, and Red Underwood has been working out at the guard berth vacated by Jess Dawkins in place of his old end position.

Not enough gridders have reported to allow the Logger headman to work on anything but individual work. "Sandy" hopes to get more of his lettermen out in the next week. He also issues a special call to inexperienced men. Coach Sandberg announced that he will give a suit to any man with aspirations for a berth on the team and the intestinal fortitude to turnout.

The practices have been and will be light. The main purpose of these turnouts is to keep the gridders in condition and to do a little experimenting in preparation for the coming season.

This Week's Schedule

Tuesday, 12:20—Zetes vs. Mu Chis; 1:05—Chi Nus vs. Pugets.

Thursday, 12:20—Omicrons vs. Chi Nus; 1:05—Mu Chis vs. Delta Kapps.
