VOL. 17, NO. 10

THE COLLEGE OF PUGET SOUND, TACOMA, WASHINGTON

DECEMBER 9, 1938

Beef Extract

BY ED.

Academically the College of Puget Sound ranks among the top colleges of its size on the Pacific Coast. . . . When the Carnegie Foundation was considering schools in this section of the country as worthy of support of the foundation, this institution and one other in Oregon were the only ones considered. . . . But this does not mean that there is no room for improvement in the academic standing of the College. . . .

There is a part for the students now attending this institution in furthering the intellectual standing of the College. . . . Roy Lokken in "On the Trail" last week suggested student-faculty discussion groups. . . .

This column would like to go a step further by putting itself on record for furthering by student demand an experimental course for credit as a discussion group rather than a lecture group. . . . Numerous courses in the regular curriculum of the school are admirably suited for just such a set-up. . . . such as upper-divisions courses in sociology, history, political science, psychology, etc.

This is not an individual opinion. . . . Your writer firmly believes that the majority of students would be more interested in academic courses if they could feasibly take a more active part in them—witness the success of "bull-sessions" with or without faculty representation.

The idea behind this philosophy is that the course will firstly be more interesting by the nature of its presentation. . . . Secondly, that to take an active part in the proposed "bull session" type of class period, the student has to do a certain amount of outside reading of his own choice. . . . Conduct of the class would of necessity be frankly informal.

If sufficient students are interested in this type of an educative program, the administration of this college would be very glad to know about it, this writer is informed.

Hold Tournament Debate Rounds

Three of the ten rounds of the Round Robin Debate Tournament were held in the College last evening. Two teams from St. Martins' College, in Olympia, participated.

Miss Sara Louise Doub is preparing final invitations and arrangements for the annual high school debate tournament to be held here in February.

Dr. Battin has received a number of letters of appreciation from coaches and student debaters who were here to debate in the big western tournament held before Thanksgiving. The letters all speak of the friendly and cooperative spirit of the faculty and students of CPS, and of the efficient way in which the tournament, the biggest one ever held at the College, was conducted.

Elizabeth Hardison's Winning Oration Published in Yearbook of College Oratory

By John Poling

"That's rural rhythm—" sang a tall Freshie in a terpsichorean number in chapel four years ago. That was CPS's introduction to Elizabeth Hardison, and she got an encore.

This week again, highlighting a college career of brilliant achievement, Elizabeth has made news. In her collection of books is a new one, a gift of the publishers, Volume 10 of the Yearbook of College Oratory, containing "Propaganda—A Weapon of Peace," her own prize winning oration.

Was Successful Freshman

Beginning in her Freshman year to win prizes and entering every contest, Elizabeth crowned her efforts by taking the trophy in the annual Junior College forensic tournament here on the campus using the subject "Propaganda—A Weapon of Peace."

Acting as Debate Manager the following two years, Elizabeth proved her consistent ability by carrying away second prize in the Burmeister contest, and a gold medal with second place in the Pacific Coast Provincial Pi Kappa Delta tournament at Stockton, California, her sophomore year.

Won Linfield Contests

In the contests at Linfield College last spring, using her revised oration with consummate skill she was unanimously given first ranking by the five judges, receiving a silver medal and a trophy.

Reviewing the success of the College of Puget Sound in Oratory, Dr. Charles Battin of the Forensics Department notes that since 1933 four firsts in that field have been won. Without exception these have been the result of from three to four years work by each winner.

"An oration is the essence of oral expression," Dr. Battin re-

ALUMNUS HEADS NARROWS PROJECT

Word has been received that David L. Glenn, alumnus of CPS has been appointed as resident engineer for the Narrows Bridge project.

Mr. Glenn who lives at 3812 No. Madison, graduated from CPS Academy in 1910. Mrs. Glenn is also an alumnus of the College.

marks. "It should be a masterpiece of spoken English."

Elizabeth's composition is such a work, combining the form, content, organization and excellence of word usage which, in Dr. Battin's opinion, make our students the best on the Coast.

"Elizabeth writes with unusual facility and speaks very effectively," he states. "She is able to express herself before an audience with enthusiasm and dignity."

And Elizabeth? She says, "I just can't believe my speech looks that good in print."

Logger Mermen Will Turn Out After Holidays

Starting their first turnouts after Christmas vacation the college mermen will prepare for a tough schedule. They will train at the Y. M. C. A. where special memberships have been procured. All boys wishing to turn out are eligible for this Y membership. There is at present a shortage in divers and breast stroke men, all boys interested should see Charlie Carter.

Instruction in swimming and diving will be given by Kenneth Strickland, former Olympic star.

The first meet will be with the U. of Washington frosh at the end of January. The Loggers will also meet Washington State Varsity and Seattle Y. M. C. A. swimming team.

Telegraphic meets may be had with Eastern Washington School of Education and Idaho State Normal, but no definite schedule will be made till the first of January. Charlie Carter, John Boyle and Gene Hall, former Stadium stars, and Ray Kulla of Lincoln will be the mainstays of the team.

A meeting was held Wednesday noon and the plan of membership was laid before the group.

IRC Renews Radio Forum Programs

We're on the air!

No kidding, folks, CPS is going on the air regularly, to resume broadcasts started several years ago by the International Relations Club of those days. The IRC is again renewing the activity. Bud Galbraith, James Docherty, Eleanor Robison, Margaret Sines, James Burr and Professor Williston, the club adviser, participated in the first broadcast.

They held an audition last night in the studios of KMO. The program will be a discussion of contemporary affairs, to be given weekly. Presentation time is to be arranged.

Mixed Recreation Is This Afternoon

Would you like to have an hour or two of real fun and enjoyment on Friday, the last chance before next year! Then come on over to Mixed Recreation this week. The program starts at 1 o'clock and lasts until you are well ready to quit.

Badminton, ping pong, volley ball, and if you get there early enough, a little basket shooting is in order. If you would like to practice up a little on one of these sports, here is your opportunity.

Bring along a friend or come by yourself, as you please, but don't miss mixed recreation this afternoon.

ALUM WINS TOURNEY

Word has come that Bob Datin, CPS '38, won the city golf tournament at Faith, S. D., in a field of fifteen.

Central Board Votes 3 Revisions Of Constitution

Three recommendations were incorporated into the ASCPS constitution at the regular meeting of Central Board, Wednesday, December 5th.

1. That the ASCPS budget as approved by the Finance Committee and ratified by Central Board be published in the first May issue of the Trail each year.
2. That the budget be approved by Central Board in the spring semester with the proviso that it must be adopted in the following September, to make it binding for that school year.
3. In order that all members of the Board may familiarize themselves with the budget, it must be presented at least one meeting previous to the one it can be voted upon.

Current Culture

By Sonya Loftness

"The Firebird Suite" from the works of Stravinsky and the "Fifth Symphony" of Tchaikovsky are included in the all-Russian program on the NBC Saturday-nighter . . . this series makes its debut at seven o'clock under the symphonic baton of Arturo Rodjinski . . .

It has been definitely learned that outsiders may reserve seats at $1.50 for Thomas Mann's lecture in March. Mann, Nobel prize winner, author of "Buddenbrooks," "The Magic Mountain," etc., is speaking on "The Coming Victory of Democracy." Tickets are available by writing the A. W. S. at the University of Washington. Among those attending from CPS will be Dr. Tomlinson, who states that it is imperative to reserve seats as soon as possible.

The finest magazine out I have seen of Grant Wood's "notorious" painting, "Daughters of Revolution" is the reproduction in color in the December issue of Fortune. Look it up; it's a priceless bit of satire.

"Life in the U. S." as represented by twelve paintings and reproduced by a new process, forms a vital and interesting art inset in this month's "Scribner's." It should be valuable to all students of the U. S. and its characteristics.

THE BEST SELLER, "REBECCA" will be dramatized Friday night on the Campbell hour; the broadcast of the operas from Metropolitan on Saturday afternoon has been resumed; comments have been widely different on the new program "Words without Music," employing vocal orchestration for dramatization of poetry . . . early Sunday afternoon.

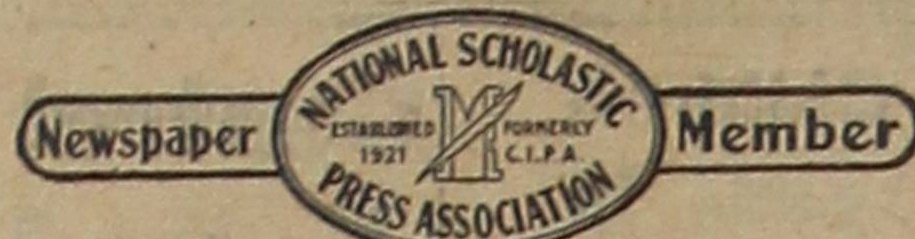

"Paintings of the Madonna," an exhibition of facsimilies of masterpieces by Renaissance artists, engravings by British artists, prints and illustrations are in the new exhibit, open until January 8th at the Seattle Art Museum.

On The TRAIL

By ROY LOKKEN

Dictators in Brimstone . . .

Scene . . . Great Chamber, Hell.
Time . . . Not soon enough.

Hitler's Shade—Hello, who are you?
Mussolini's Shade—H, Duce.
H. S.—The deuce!
M. S.—No, the dictator of Italy. Mussolini's the name. My friends would have called me Ben, if I had had any. Who are you?
H. S.—I was once worshiped as the Saviour of the Germans, the liberator of minorities. I think we have met before. My name is Hitler. My enemies call me Adolf and other things.
M. S.—Ah, yes. You once came to me for advice.
H. S.—You are mistaken. I came to give you advice, and you paid tribute to me.
M. S.—Nonsense. It is so long ago; you have forgotten—
H. S.—I never forget. My memory is as indestructible as the winds—
M. S.—As hot air! Never mind. I helped you at Munich—
H. S.—I didn't need your help. Czechoslovakia was an good as mine anyway.
M. S.—And I didn't stand in your way in Austria, which I might have had myself.
H. S.—You were afraid of me!
M. S.—It was due to my gentleness of manner and kindness of heart.
H. S.—Poof! Poof! Poof! The generosity of a hog!
M. S.—I am beginning to believe there is not room enough in Hell for the two of us.
H. S.—Well, I observe that the Germans have a minority here.
M. S.—The history of Rome gives me a historic right here! Nero, Caligula—
H. S.—But the rights of minorities always assert themselves above all things! In Sudetenland—
M. S.—We shall see about that, you dog! (Begins to grapple with H. S.)
H. S.—Goebbels! Goering!
(Goebbels appears on scene, his arm upstretched in Nazi salute.)
Goebbels (Crying out as though to a large audience)—The German people stand behind their Fuehrer as one man!
H. S.—Help!
Goebbels—Hitler shall once more be victorious!
H. S. (Getting the worst of the argument)—Ulp! Ulp!
(Exit Goebbels. Goering and Satan appear at the same time at opposite sides of the Chamber.)
Goering (Seeing Satan)—After carefully looking over the situation, the General Staff finds it advisable not to attempt any aggressive hostilities at this time. (Exits hurriedly.)
(As Satan approaches, H. S. and M. S. look up and, muttering "The Deuce!" scurry after Goering. Satan hastens after them. Bruno Mussolini, as a bat, hovers below the ceiling of the Chamber, crying, "War! War! How beautiful is war!" and flies after Satan.)
Curtain.

BLATHER

"I hope you are not afraid of microbes," apologized the teller, as he cashed a young lady's check with soiled currency.
"Don't worry," said the young lady, "a microbe couldn't live on my salary."
—North Wind.

"I'm trying to break myself of talking to myself."
"How?"

"I ask myself, questions and then refuse to answer them."
—L. A. Collegian.

A well-known analyst of retail sales points out that women spend 85 cents of every dollar. Such a wife is a jewel. So many spend $1.37.
—Detroit News.

In the trolley which transports University of Washington students between points on the campus and the town may be seen the following bits of advice scrawled on the backs of the chairs:

"Passengers are requested not to put seats out the window while the motorman is in motion."
"Five hundred dollars fine for spitting on the motorman of this car."
"Passengers are requested not to put their feet on the motorman while the car is in motion."
"Keep head and arms off the floor while the motorman is spitting."
—Foghorn.

OPEN FOR'EM

A STEP FORWARD

Dear Open For'Em:
There are times when an expression of approval and appreciation for a noteworthy improvement seems called for. The recently adopted policy of entrusting to students the conducting of a majority of our chapels has occasioned a great deal of favorable comment among students and very definitely calls for such an expression of approval.
The use of a student chairman creates an added interest in the program. We enjoy seeing one of our number conduct a chapel and are interested in his ability to do a good job.

In addition, we learn best by doing. The opportunity of conducting an assembly is extremely valuable to the chairman as a means of developing self-confidence and leadership and as training in appearing before the public. Many thanks to the administration and the chapel committee for another step forward.
CHARLES SHIREMAN.

HOW ABOUT IT?

Dear Open For'Em:
For over a year, the spotlight of student attention has been focused on our organized athletics, both varsity and intramural. So far, no specific attention has been given to unorganized recreation.

We have long recognized the need of a social center at C. P. S.—some place besides the library where students could congregate after classes. Until we complete the "horseshoe" with a fine arts building, this project must necessarily remain a dream. Therefore, I suggest that we substitute an unsupervised recreation program. Let the school keep athletic equipment which students can check out at any time for use on the campus. Then we would have an interesting and profitable way of spending those odd moments which are now chiefly occupied with basement bull-slugging.
Following is a partial list of the equipment which might be included: Soft ball equipment, baseball equipment, boxing gloves, footballs, archery sets, horseshoes, ping pong and tennis. Some of the equipment is already available, the rest is not prohibitively expensive.

This system is now being used successfully at the University of Washington. Do you want it at C. P. S.?
PAUL LANTZ.

(Note: What are your reactions? Be brief and prompt if you want them in the Christmas issue.)
The Editor.

All City College Dance

There will be an all-city college (PLC-CPS) dance this evening at the Roof Garden of the Masonic Temple, 8:30 till 12. It is to be a sport dance and everyone will be there. Why don't you come?

Observatory Hill

By CHUCK McNARY

This fall instead of Snow White and the Seven Delta Kapps, we present Snow White, who was as pure as snow 'til she went out with a Mu Chi last week. Now she's drifted. Oh! well—

NEWS OF THE WEEK:

Kay Sutherland announcing her part in "Von' With the Wind."
Helmut Juelling announcing his plans to accompany Rev. Bloomfield through California this winter in the role of the notorious "Herman."

Pat Gannon claimed that she doesn't cut glass because she can't afford to pay the 32 cents that it costs. We thought that she was Swedish.

The very obvious scarcity in the Gamma room of two well known roommates. . . . Quote Lynn, "I'm a free man." (Did we hear a certain cute Gamma pledge echo that remark?) Quote Bob, "My nature just isn't 'Pence'ive enough."

THIS WEEK'S FLOWERS:
Orchids for Celeste—She can keep her head even with a new car and a "Tommy-gun."
Gardenias to the Betas—That's swell Christmas spirit you're displaying but you can't drink that stuff. And where the heck is the Mistletoe?
Pansy-Robert Taylor. (Why, Daddy?)

THIS WEEK'S DRIVEL:
"I'm Going to Throw You Out the Window" sang Phil McElwain as he dedicated his latest song to Miss Jones in Speech. It's a case of apple polishing, or maybe romance is blooming? . . . Don't let her throw you, Phil. . . . The Delta Kapps aren't so bright either! Last week they all went down to the Music Box to see "Brother Rat." Imagine their consternation upon learning that McNary wasn't in the pic. . . . Come One! Come All! To the Delta Kapp poker party to be held at the house next Sat. eve. Bring your own cards. All Chi Nus expecting to come must have sealed decks! . . . Be careful, Ridgeway. We understand that you have "Betas in our belfry." And don't go "Haugen" your love. . . . And so—we leave you with the thought that A "Ferdinand" is worth two in the mulberry bush. Bull!

BOUQUETS . . .
Bouquet No. 1—To Miss Margaret Pence who makes many evenings more enjoyable with her singing.
No. 2—To Bob Meyers, who is now leading Lynn Leslie in the acquisition of dates by four. Experience counts. Right, Meyers?
No. 3—To the chapel committee for much improved programs.

FIRE, FIRE . . . FIRE, FIRE
This week's conflagration is blonde petite Rita Rae Morgan . . . a Theta pledge what wears her clothes classily . . . knows the score . . . isn't going steady . . . a real four-alarm fellows . . .
FIRE, FIRE . . .

Seen strolling by "Keyhole Ike": Hungerford and Judd, B. Sloat and Married Women, Meyers and all unattached C. P. S. gals.
Reports from downtown say our Yell King is well versed in the art of table manners. In a fountain the other day someone enjoyed seeing our hero evidence the fact that his drink (milkshake?) was good to the last drop by lapping that last drop up with his agile tongue. Perhaps its the animal in him.
We were asked by a little lady to ask Bertholet why he doesn't like zippers. We don't get the point either but it might be interesting to look into.

Ancient Apple-Polishing Art Accepted-Academically

Students, attention! Now that the days of tests and estimates are at hand you'd better begin to polish the apple, for apple-polishing is now officially recognized in the best college circles. Furthermore, this old and ancient sport has the distinct sanction and approval of a professor of public administration at the University of California.
Professor John M. Pffifner, that's the name, casts a very unusual light on the much-derided practice of apple polishing. Professor Pffifner believes that getting A's in school by apple-polishing is an effective stepping stone to getting A's in non-academic life. The student who has contacts with his professors and who can do a little successful apple-polishing will be able to get along better by the same method in business.
According to Professor Pffifner there are two types of apple-polishers — the successful and the obvious. It is the successful type who can fool a professor and be respected for his ability, while the less adept person muddles along and spoils his own plans.
So you see, boys and girls, that to be a success in college these days you have to have some technique in your apple-polishing. There seems to be nothing like it for getting along with the world for even the profs are admitting that apple-polishing every day will help to keep the E's away.

—The Kilikilik.
And here are the exact words of Oregon State College's dean of men, Dr. U. G. Dubach, taken from a recent speech on the subject:

"Apple polishing is an important part in a college man's education and it must be followed by diligence in class work if it is to be useful and effective.
"Anyone who isn't wise enough to do intelligent apple-polishing isn't wise enough to be in college. Apple polishing, properly defined, is making oneself known to his professors in a favorable light. More and more we are recognizing that education, aside from giving technical knowledge, must teach one how to properly sell himself. How can one sell himself to his professors unless he makes himself and his work known to them in an intelligent and agreeable manner?"
—The Beacon.

Hoop Schedule Is Announced

Pacific University Listed First on Calendar

Listing Pacific University as its first opponent, the varsity basketball team will swing into action Wednesday, January 11, playing in the Logger gym. The next night the two teams will play the second game of the two-game conference on the same floor.

With a squad of 27, mostly inexperienced freshmen, turning out Coach Grant has been working for nearly a month to develop a winning combination, and has been using the city league games as the proving ground for the players. Although the team is at the bottom of the standings, the squad has received valuable experience against the taller and more experienced players.

Among the upperclassmen turning out who have shown the most promise are Lyle Carpenter, the Logger's only returning letterman; Carl Smith, George Mitchell and Don Williams, reserves from last season's team; Bob Fewell, former Washington State player, and Bill McLaughlin and Marius Bertholet, football players.

In the freshman group Bill Moore and Jim Paulson, former Stadium high hoopsters; Jerry Kent and Myron Carr, ex-Lincoln high players, and Lawrence Munizza of Puyallup have shown the most promise.

Others turning out include Chuck Fitschen, Warren Gay, Herb Hite, Lawrence Bonneville, Stanley Burkey, Ed Granlund, Lynn Leslie, Asa Maylott, Ed Markusen, Gil Nelson, Dave Ohmer, Bus Saling and George Yamamoto.

Opening their intercollegiate hoop campaign last week at Belingham, the Loggers dropped a hard fought game to the Vikings by a 45-34 score. The game was close until the last quarter when the northern team turned on the heat to take the game.

An incomplete schedule follows:

February 6 and 7, Ellensburg there.

January 11 and 12, Pacific University, here.

February 10 and 11, Albany, there.

February 17 and 18, Willamette, here.

SKI HEEL

By Vera Healy

Sloppy, rainy, rivers of slush—This is the only way to describe the skiing weather which greeted the first turnout of the Logger squad at Paradise last Sunday. The fellows who went up in spite of the weather, or because of it (good excuse for lobby skiing) were: Chuck Fischel, Bob Kemp, Bobby Heaton, Gene Hall, Tholo Johnson, Jack Van Antwerp, Bill Johnson, Bud Barrett, Gordon Wingard and Warren Webster.

Lobby skiing was undoubtedly most popular but some enthusiasts just can't be kept down. We witnessed a spill taken by our honorable president, Chuck Fischel, when he was buried so completely that not even his skis could be seen projecting from the snow.

Bobby Heaton persisted in running the same series of mounds on the Lodge practice hill until he had mastered one certain dip, and he offered great amusement for those watching him. Gene Hall and Jack Van Antwerp were using (?) new Otto Lang metal-edged skis and looking very wet.

Five of our squad were good samaritans enough to lay out a course for the U. of W. skiers and when they arrived back at Tatoosh, strongly resembled drowned rats. Bud Barrett declared he should have taken along water-wings to cross the running torrent at the door of the Lodge.

John B. Cromwell of the Travelers' Insurance Company spoke to the club on accident insurance Tuesday. A yearly policy may be had at $15.00 for girls and $18.00 for boys, with monthly or semi-annual policies obtainable at a percentage of the annual premium. All skiers are urged to take out some kind of a policy, and all persons driving cars on trips to the mountain are requested to have liability coverage.

Here's our hopes for better skiing this week end. We'll see you up there.

Chi Nus and Zetes Lead in Standings

The Standings*

	Won	Lost	Pct.
Alpha Chi Nu	3	0	1.000
Sigma Zeta Epsilon	3	0	1.000
Delta Kappa Phi	2	1	.677
Delta Pi Omicron	2	2	.500
Independents	0	3	.000
Sigma Mu Chi	0	4	.000

*Exclusive of Thursday's games.

Tuesday's play in the intramural volleyball tournament left two teams undefeated, and pushed two others more deeply into the cellar.

While Sigma Zeta Epsilon and Alpha Chi Nu, tied for first place, looked down from their lofty perch, the Independents and Sigma Mu Chi wallowed in last place with little prospect of improving their station.

The Chi Nu team, defending titlist, scored its third victory when it conquered the Independents in two straight games, the second time during the tournament that such a feat had been accomplished. Scores were 15-9 and 15-6.

In the other game, Delta Pi Omicron handed Sigma Mu Chi its fourth straight loss. After a hard contest, the Omicrons triumphed, 11-15, 15-13, 15-9.

The Chi Nus had little difficulty beating the luckless Independents. Lloyd Baker and Valen Honeywell displayed their usual skill, and aided the Chi Nu cause immeasurably. Although their efforts were of no avail, Clair Hanson and Thomas Hill registered fine performances for the Independents.

SHORT SHOTS

By Kay Sutherland

With basketball in full swing now, teams for the class games will be picked today. The tournament games will be played off next week and after vacation.

It is interesting to note that the Lambdas, Betas, Gammas and Independents all have a complete pledge team turning out. Sorority games will be played after the inter-class tournament is terminated.

It has been remarked that the Betas are showing more pep this year than they have in years past. Appearances show that the honor and glory of the sorority will be protected (in athletics) by the pledges, for the most part.

Independents really have something on the ball this season, with Margarita Irl and Clara Yuckert, outstanding freshmen prospects.

Don't forget about the WAA meeting, Tuesday evening, at 7 o'clock in the Y. W. room. A Christmas program will be presented.

Class and Sorority Basketball to Start Soon

Steps! Personal! Swish! are the familiar sounds emanating from the maple courts these days. After four short weeks of intensive practice, the women's basketball teams will be chosen this noon. Because of the great interest the freshman women have shown, there will be two freshman teams chosen which will be designated as 1 and 2.

The interclass battles will start next Monday noon and continue till the week after Christmas vacation. As there is only a short time in which to run off these games they will be played on cross courts with two games going at the same time. The intersorority games will follow the interclass games, but these will be played on the whole floor. The games next Monday, Dec. 12, will find the Freshman 1 team trying to down the Seniors, and the most interesting game on that same day should be the tussle between the strongest teams in this year's league, the Juniors and the Sophomores.

For you who would like to see some really fancy stepping and shooting, be on the look out for Clara Yuckert, Vera Healy and Bette Jane Graham for the Freshman; Pauline Pumphrey and Marge Thompson for the Sophomores; the Juniors will flash Lois Kuhl, Barbara Wilson and Ruth Jensen; while the Seniors have as their bright spots Pony Hudson, Betty Schaad and Doris McClymont.

The following is the schedule for the forthcoming class games:

Dec. 12 — Freshman 1 vs. Seniors; Juniors vs. Sophomores.

Dec. 14 — Freshman 2 vs. Juniors; Seniors vs. Sophomores.

Dec. 16 — Freshman 1 vs. Sophomores; Juniors vs. Seniors.

Jan. 2 — Freshman 2 vs. Seniors; Freshman 1 vs. Juniors.

Jan. 4 — Freshman 1 vs. Freshman 2.

Jan. 6 — Freshman 2 vs. Sophomores.

Second Wind

By Gust

To those of you who waste your good time reading the stuff that comes out on this page, I would make this announcement. From this issue until the end of the current semester, the sports page will be edited by an assistant, in order that the editor may catch up on a few back assignments. So, if in the future, the stories you read don't suit your taste, just remember, that you too, were once a beginner. . . .

Much to my surprise, Southern Cal did it. Can the Trojans repeat this spectacular victory with another, this time over Duke? . . . Pacific promises to have a good hoop squad this year with a total of eight returning lettermen in the fold. . . . At the University, they are bemoaning the fact that Harry Lockhart has been forced off the maple courts for this year due to injuries sustained in an accident.

Whitman promises to have a fair club again, as they recently played WSC to a 45 to 43, last second victory. The Cougars used 12 men to the Missionaries' five. . . . Oregon should go great guns with Gale and some of the other lads back in suit. They recently walloped Multnomah A. C., 88 to 25. . . .

Back to the pigskin sport once more, Tennessee certainly should be considered for national honors, after cleaning Mississippi, 47 to 0. . . . Incidentally, that Oklahoma, Tennessee game ought to be plenty good. . . . TCU and Carnegie Tech tangle in another game of quite a bit of importance. Keep your eye on Carnegie Tech to upset the Southern squad. . . .

Just as last year, the Chi Nus seem to have the monopoly on volley-ball players. But the Zetes, too, have a good club and the season is a long way from being over. . . . The Mu Chis hope to go places in basketball. So far they haven't won a game of any sort.
