Students Participate In All-Out Scrap Drive

CPS Students Cooperate In Tacoma War Drive

Sunday, November 1, will long live in the memory of Tacoma citizens and CPS students. On this day scrap for the tanks, ships, planes and guns so necessary to beat the Axis will come from the attics and basements of Tacoma homes. With the exception of the football squad, which will be busy scrapping the Willamette Cats, CPS men, at a rally yesterday morning, voted to turn out in full force to help load scrap metal in the city-wide "Scrap the Axis" campaign beginning at 8 a. m. Sunday morning. The men will report at the city car barn where they will be assigned as helpers on some three hundred trucks which will make a complete "parking strip" collection of the entire city.

General Collection Plan

Under the general city plan citizens are being requested over the radio and through the press to scour their homes from top to bottom, and pile their scrap metal on parking strips before November 1. Under the direction of Mr. John Jacobs, over three hundred trucks, each manned by a driver and three helpers will collect the scrap and deliver it at the center depot, where it will be loaded on flatcars bound for the steel mills. This collection depot is located at Union Avenue and Center Street near the Pacific Match company.

Proceeds to War Chest

Prices fixed by U. S. Government for scrap metal will be paid to Tacoma's War Chest by the steel mills who receive Tacoma's salvage. The War Chest will use this money for civilian defense and other needs. All participating in this drive, from the students, to the owners of the trucks are donating their service and equipment.

Scrap metal especially needed is listed as metal beds, springs, flat irons, stoves, radiators, light machinery, electric motors, golf clubs, furnace grates, metal plant stands, metal hangers, ash cans and skid chains.

Anderson Hall Participating

Residents of Anderson hall are making a thorough survey of the entire building for any potential bullets or guns. With the assistance of the usual group of "College Romeo's" the girls will pile the scrap on the front parking for the trucks to pick up.

Dr. Williston, popular professor of political science, has challenged other members of the faculty to participate in this drive. As Dr. Williston put it "they can stand the necessary exercise." Dr. Williston has also entered the beard-growing contest to help conserve the supply of razor blades.

Get your scrap on the parking strip before November 1 and help scrap the Axis. All college students are hereby notified to keep their "Jalopies" off the parking strips November 1.

Chills, Thrills Promised by Mystery Cast

In a darkened room, a man slumps in his armchair, a bullet through his brain. The door opens, a woman screams . . .

"Who killed the count?"

"Not I," said the American playboy.

"Not I," said the English lord.

"Not I," said the French actress.

"Not I," said the Italian land-lord.

Inspector Davidson and detective Raines from Scotland Yard begin to fit the clues together into a smooth pattern. Rubber soles, empty guns, blood-soaked handkerchiefs and contradicting evidence point to the murderer—all six of them!

Who killed the count?

"I did," said the playboy.

"I did," said the lord.

"I did," said the rest of the suspects.

Which is worse, no murderer at all, or too many murderers? Who killed the count? Only the cast of the Homecoming play knows the deep, dark secret. "I killed the Count," a three-act mystery will be presented in Jones hall auditorium November 6 and 7 at 8:15.

Clean up the Attic to CLEAN UP THE AXIS!

Pictured above are various types of scrap that will aid in the nation-wide campaign. Metal is being requested in this drive and students are urged to comb through every cranny in search of discarded "Junk," so necessary for making war materials.

Betty Barter Named Chairman at Last State Methodist Convention

At the conference for Methodist students held last week at Pullman, Betty Barter, CPS student, was elected chairman of the western Washington group of the Northwest Regional Methodist Student conference.

The students and Professor Arthur L. Frederick representing CPS left at 6:00 o'clock Friday morning, and returned late Sunday evening. Students attending the conference from CPS were: Betty Barter, Jane Shaffer, Jane Thompson, Anna Mae Wills and Ruth Herrington.

The convention was under the general direction of Dr. H. G. Ballinger, the director of student-Methodist board of education at Nashville, Tennessee. Dr. Bollinger lead a commission on the Methodist student movement in colleges.

On the program also was Professor Landeen, one of the deans of Washington state college, and his division was on "Peace Which Is to Come." Professor Arthur L. Frederick, of CPS, lead a group on "Resources for Christian Living." The conference was to promote a student religious movement in colleges.

Besides the college being represented, there were students from Oregon state college, the University of Idaho, Bellingham, Ellensburg, the University of Washington and Washington state college.

Spurs Will Make Game Pompoms

In the past years Spurs have sold chrysanthemums at the Homecoming game. This year they are going to make and sell big maroon and white pompoms, Robby Lee Roberson and Priscilla Newschwander head the pompom committee.

The Spurs are also planning to provide a hot dish for hungry rooters at the rally before the Homecoming play on Friday evening. Those in charge of this committee are: Jean McDougall, Jerry Dyre and Trudy James. Their program for the weekend also includes ushering at the play, Thursday and Friday evenings.

Future plans for Spur activities include close co-operation with the War Co-ordination committee. The girls plan to help entertain service men that will be invited to attend the plays, game and dances. They will help sponsor the sale of war bonds and stamps on the campus.

Stone, Marcy Oberlies Talk In Assemblies

The three F's, faith, freedom and fellowship, composed the title Mr. C. L. Oberlies gave to last Friday's convocation. Mr. Oberlies said that the average college student is most interested in his future security, he wants to acquire a good job and be happily married.

His pleasing personality and jovial manner has made Mr. Oberlies a popular speaker at the college.

In Monday's chapel, General David L. Stone, spoke on his experiences gathered through many years of military service. He stated that the most important thing we have to do in this war is to keep our line of communications open. During his three-year assignment in the Panama Canal Zone, General Stone found that we had few defenses. General Stone stopped so-called "Isaac Waltons," who were really Japanese naval reserve officers, from fishing in Panamanian waters. He was instrumental in halting the Japanese and Germans from building and operating airfields in Costa Rica and Colombia.

Last Wednesday's chapel featured the Rev. Dr. Milton Marcy, pastor of the First Methodist church in Tacoma, who spoke on the Bible and its advantages. Dr. Marcy said the Bible is the most popular edition in the world. He mentions that we walk by faith in this world. The ten commandments are the foundation codes on which the rest of the world's ethics," concluded Dr. Marcy.

9 o'clock Service Nov. 8

In order to eliminate conflict with other churches of the city, Sunday services in the Little Chapel November 8 previously scheduled at 11 o'clock Sunday morning has been changed to 9 a. m. Dr. R. Franklin Thompson will conduct the service.

"Forward with CPS" Slogan of Huge Spree

Beginning four big days of gala celebration for CPS, the 1942 Homecoming is to begin next Thursday, featuring a theme of "Forward With CPS," according to Elizabeth Pugh, Homecoming general chairman. With a new president and his charming wife, Dr. and Mrs. Thompson, with the pep of the new students, the frosh, Elizabeth promises a bigger and better Homecoming.

The Homecoming queen is to be announced in the Thursday chapel. In competition for a cup, sororities are to complete their decorations by 6 o'clock Thursday. Decorating for only one phase of Homecoming, the sororities drew with the following results: Theta, dance; Beta, play; Gamma, game; Lambda, rally. Judging will be handled by Dr. E. D. Gibbs, Coach Frank and Dr. R. R. Sinclair.

Who's Who Lists Students In Recent Poll

Thirteen outstanding CPS students have attained national recognition in a recent poll made by the Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities of America, which is in its tenth year of publication. Those who have achieved recognition are Bob Elliot, George J. Ellis, Paul E. Heuston, Herman Kleiner, Marijane Lewis, Elizabeth Pugh, Betty Jane Pyle, Esther Sandstedt, Pegge Simpson, Ruth Sonnemann, Donald Brown, Robert R. Hamilton and Nelda Peterson.

Selections, on the basis of activities, character, scholarship and leadership in school activities, are made by a combined committee of faculty and students. In the first year of participation, 1938, 11 were nominated, with the quota being based on total enrollment. Juniors named last year were Mary Katherine Hager, Frank Hanawalt and Kay Woods.

Many Projects Planned by Christian Assn

"The Student Christian association is an all-out-for the war effort," states Bob Elliot, president for the group.

Among the planned programs for this fall is work being done with 25 children in a trailer camp. These boys and girls are children of people who are now actively engaged in defense work in this area and therefore are unable to plan the recreational time of their own children. Because of the 14 per cent delinquency rate increase since the war, this enterprise is most vital.

Twelve to fifteen students of SCA and Dr. Frank Williston have already visited this camp. The general plan is to establish a supervised recreational program for these boys and girls.

Another project the SCA is planning in the near-future, is to put on a religious program for the soldiers at the new negro USO center.

Later in the year the SCA is sponsoring a drive to collect used toys for the Japanese-American boys and girls at the relocation centers.

Club Hears Dr. Chapman

Friday, October 23, Professor Chapman addressed the meeting of the Men's club at St. Luke's church. His subject was his impressions of the British Isles.

For a nominal fee of 25 cents, a buffet supper will be served to rally participants to be held next Friday in the SUB at 5:30. The Spurs are helping with the food. Funster H. Kleiner, in the presence of the football squad and Coach Frank, will lead the pepsters into befitting spirits for Saturday's game. Others on the program committee are Marthjean Sandin, George Miller and the yell squad.

Rally Friday Night

From the rally, led by Jake Moore and Bill Glover, participants will move en masse to Jones hall for the presentation of the annual Homecoming play, "I Killed the Count." After the play there is to be an open house at Anderson hall. A special attraction at Saturday's game with Pacific university will be service men from Fort Lewis, who are to be guests of the college. The Homecoming queen will begin her services by reigning supreme at this game. Maroon and White pom poms can be purchased from the Spurs for 25 cents, replacing the mums. Half-time stunts will be provided by Bill Glover and Jake Moore. On their committee are Helen Pat Beem and Tom Cross.

Dance at Fellowship

CASTING a social slant to Homecoming, the annual formal dance is to be held Saturday eve in the Fellowship hall at 8:30. Bob Healy's orchestra will play. Tickets, at $1.50 a couple, will go on sale in the main hall, the first of next week, according to Janet Armstrong and LeRoy Vaughn, co-chairmen of the affair. On their committee are Don McLain, Glen Holmberg, Dorothy Schweinler and Helen Marie Walker.

Patrons and patronesses invited are: President and Mrs. Thompson, Dr. and Mrs. Edward H. Todd, Dr. and Mrs. John D. Register, Dr. and Mrs. Frank G. Williston, Dr. and Mrs. Warren Tomlinson, Dr. and Mrs. Julius P. Jaeger and Mrs. Lyle Ford Drushel.

Sunday Chapel

The first Sunday service in the history of CPS will be held in the Little Chapel at 9 o'clock. President Thompson will present the sermon. Arranging this chapel are Mary Ellen Peterson, Ruth Herington and Jane Schaefer.

FORMER PROFESSOR VISITS COLLEGE

During the past week Lieutenant Lyle S. Shelmidine, former professor, has been visiting on the campus. He has just returned from the east coast where he has been training in the naval air corps. While travelling, he recently saw former professors Lieut. Howard Olseth in New York and Dr. Hugh Picard who is doing chemical research work in Chicago. Lieut. Shelmidine has been stationed at Pasco, Washington.

Team Send Off Rally Friday at Union Depot

Give the undefeated Loggers a big send-off today. Be at the Union Station this afternoon at 1:30 and let the squad know that you are behind them. The band will be there to make music—you be there to see the boys on their way.

Students Urged to Collect Scrap For City-Wide Salvage Campaign

With this issue of the Trail dedicated to promoting the scrap campaign, we should try to uphold the purpose of this drive and make our College attempt stand out as a measure of the whole-hearted effort shown by every member of the student body.

The response of our advertisers to our campaign is more than evident, and citizens are glad to sponsor a worthwhile project. We can prove to them our support too, by having a pile of scrap in front of the Student Union on Sunday morning at 8 o'clock, ready for collectors to pick up.

This appeal is not made by just the Trail alone, the administration, faculty, fraternity, sorority and independent groups on the campus have also pledged their support. If we all start today to pry through our garages, cellars and attics, Jones hall, Howarth and any of the school buildings, for scrap of any kind, metal, rubber or paper, we should have a scrap heap that will help America to win this war.

Rumor has it, that we, the students apparently have no interest in war work, because of the lack of effort shown to date. With the co-operation of the whole student body, we should be able to prove that all interests of our college are not socially inclined, and that the scrap drive is the first of many combined efforts to help beat the Axis.

Restrictions Suggested by War Board Raises Critical Comment from Students

The decision of the war committee this week to limit activities and eliminate corsages at formal dances met with varied comments from the student body. Approval was voiced for earlier hours, in social functions for so many men are working graveyard shifts. The earlier hours will enable them to attend social functions and still be to work on time.

Considerable comment was raised over the sneak question, with groups whose pledges haven't yet sneaked arguing that a provision should be made to lower the radius and restrict the usage of cars. If this stipulation were made, there should be no reason why the groups could not plan their sneaks as scheduled, providing they complied with the above restrictions.

An avalanche of disapproval has met the proposed suggestion to eliminate corsages from formal dances. "What the heck does it matter if I send my best girl flowers," rave the fellows. "Golly, I've got the money!" In making this rule the board is trying to follow the wishes of our government, for unless unnecessary spending is stopped inflation is a sure disease to haunt post war years. If a stipulation explaining where corsage money is going could be made, showing that the money will be turned into a worthy cause, something to which the whole student body can receive credit, half of the opposition would be overcome. As the rule stands now, students will spend money in some other source, and no benefits will be derived from the rule.

We, of the College of Puget Sound, are not selfish. If some logical plan, practical and adaptable can be offered to give us an idea of how we can cut down and still be practical, we will cut out affairs, forget superficial pleasures and petty prides. We want to support the boys at the fighting front, many of them who are former college students.

Are you interested in writing for the Trail? Do you have any items of new interest? Come to the publication's office on the second floor of the Sub, or see any member of the staff if you would like to write for YOUR student newspaper.

War Governing Committee Decide on Campus Policies

Central Board last week, in an effort to bring CPS in line with the other colleges and universities of the state and nation appointed a committee with full power to act, to study the situation, and to take such action as it deemed wise to promote the general war effort. It has been named the War Coordinating committee, and as one of the projects will handle the sale of stamps and bonds on the campus. As are all committees which deal with student affairs, it is composed of a representative group. In its membership is included a representative of each fraternity and sorority, an independent, and the Deans of men and women. The presidents of inter-fraternity and inter-sorority councils are in this number.

The immediate problem which confronted the newly-formed committee was to adopt the policy which would center the social life of the college in a manner that would involve the minimum use of automobiles. The government has forbidden certain college functions so it is necessary to limit affairs. The committee has recommended therefore, that there will be no more pledge sneaks. It should be understood that social affairs as listed on the school calendar are not to be limited, but sneaks have not been considered as such.

Due to the fact that many more students are working, and that social functions will be held closer to the college, the committee requests that hours for dances and other social affairs will be from 8:30 until 11:30. As everyone is asked to contribute greatly to the War Chest, Red Cross and are "It is hoped that CPS students will prefer to take these actions voluntarily and in their own way

Home Ec. Teachers Attend 'Round Up'

Miss Blanche Stevens attended the Northwest conference, "Round-Up," of home economics teachers, business women, housewives, dieticians and health welfare workers, at the University of Washington, on October 16 and 17.

"Home Economics in War Time—Its Responsibility and Opportunity," was the theme which was presented. Displays were sponsored by the Home Economics club of Seattle, Home Economics Women in Business, and the Home Economics department of the university.

Last week 'twas a dog. Now it is a wee kitty. No one seems to know from whence it came. It is just here!

Knitting needles fly thick and fast. In many instances the girls are doing their part making scarfs and socks for the boys overseas.

Ruth Herrington and Jane Schaffer blew in very sleepily and late last weekend from a Methodist conference in Pullman. They represented us very well.

Handsome boogie men will take the place of goblins in the dorm this Saturday. Pumpkins, masks and houses of terror will be in order—The problem is, "How are we going to tell who's dancing with whom?" Oh—well—

The dorm girls wish to express their vote of cooperation with the War Coordination committee. Tentative plans are being made by the girls for entertainment of service men and for the full support of bond drives.

Japanese Students Conduct Drives For Toys, Books

That Japanese students formerly of the college are taking an active part in camp life in the Japanese relocation centers is revealed in a recent letter from Waichi Oyanigi to Dean Register telling of his connection with the recreation department of the Tule Lake area, Waichi is helping to develop recreational plans for the children of the community and is sponsoring a drive to get toys for Christmas distribution, as playthings are very scarce.

In his letter Waichi stated that there is a desperate need of school teachers, as schools are being established for children, and that anyone with a high school education is eligible for a teaching position.

Also, a drive for books is being promoted by Rev. Shigeo Tanabi, graduate of the College and a former member of the varsity debate team, in affiliation with his church work. He is maintaining a rental library, and funds raised in this way are used to buy more books. Rev. Tanab, former minister of Japanese Methodist church in Berkeley, California, married Heru Semba, also a CPS graduate.

Leadership Class Solves Problems

The enrollment in the Social Leadership class this year is the largest in its five-year history. Membership by invitation is for those who have held student governing offices or who are entering vocations where leadership training would be valuable.

Created as an experiment in 1937 by Dr. Battin in conference with Dr. Kleinfelder, assistant to the commissioner, U. S. Office of Education, Dr. Todd and Dr. Richard Weir, it has passed its experimental stages and is now a regular course of the curriculum.

The aim of this class is to train students to lead group thinking. This is done in actual practice during class periods, by presenting problems of interest and working out possible solutions. The first leader was Paul Heuston who led a discussion about the student body funds and methods of a fair allotment. Students take their turns in presenting their problems.

Members of the class are Betty Jane Pyle, Weldon Rau, Jack Graybeal, Ruth Sonnemann, Bill MacMasters, Tom Cross, Marijane Lewis, Paul Heuston, Edith May Hammond, Ed Granlund, Peggy Steele, Jackie Moore, Esther Sandstedt, Chet Dyer, Jim Walters, George Ellis, Janet Armstrong, Bob Hamilton, Wyona Diemer and Beverly Birdsall.

As all my readers know this column always refrains from being critical, persnickety, or sassy to just anybody! We just value all your friendships too, too much. However, once in awhile we are forced into the role of a literary Carrie Nation and we must take up our axe and crack down on all those who put personal pleasure above digging ditches, the ceiling over the floor, and 3 over 2.

Today I would not single out any one person as I write. No! No! Soberly not. I merely wish to editorialize some talk that I have heard recently around town. Understand me now, I carry no grudges, no mean thoughts, and no beefs (over 2 1/2 pounds per week). Now that I have sufficiently cleared up my objectivity, I will proceed with my work.

Well, far be it from me to be disrespectful to our elders, but it seems to us that after a man reaches a certain age, and a certain position in life, he should not succumb to taking part in childish (this is a relative term) adventure which not only tends to disgrace him in the eyes of his devoted students and wives (or would wife be more correct?) Would you agree with that statement? A—Thank you!

I now continue: Therefore, what kind of a business is it when a group of young, bright-eyed male students of a College can't have a good, clean beard growing contest without having to let the faculty men in on it also. It's bad enough that the faculty beat us in volley ball.

And it's not that the old boys actually want to win the contest (tho they do probably know the prize is a bright purple tie), I know one prof. whose sole incentive for looking the way he does this week is the hope that he MAY win a hamburger and a milkshake from one of his students. Now I ask you, is that any way for a man in his position to act?

It's not that I'm worried about his losing face—that face he can afford to lose; it's the respect-losing part that bothers me. People down town will say—"Here comes old Gramps Blank from up at the college. I understand that his pay is so low he's been forced to enter a beard growing contest to win his noon meals. Either that or he can't afford razors! Tsk! Tsk!

So you see, it isn't, 'cause I think any faculty member will win—it's not that! I'm thinking about his kids and their future. What if he doesn't win—then those little tots will be disgraced for life." My dad was beat in a beard growing contest by his students, they'll say. And if he does win—they'll say, "My dad won a college contest once." Then the interested listener will inquire, "Yes, and what type of contest was it—size of brain, grade average?" and then these poor little kids will have to reply, "no," grew the longest beard."

What a thought—What a future—Must we students carry all the worries of the school on our shoulders?

Dr. Thompson, will you please shave off your beard and tell us what to do?

Flashes of a bright sweater reminds us of smiling, tall Paul Heuston, our conscientious and hard-working student body president. Paul will leave a full and active college career behind him when he leaves for Jefferson Medical school in January. His activities have included sophomore and junior representative to Central board, vice-president of the Knights of the Log, and secretary of his fraternity, Delta Kappa Phi. He is an active member of the American Chemical society. He has majored in biology and chemistry.

The outside interests of this popular prexy lie mainly in mountain climbing, skiing and food. He excels in all three. He sings, also, but only to his most intimate friends and family. They understand.

In the short time he has held office, Paul has proven his interest and loyalty to the college. He has established the theme, "We've got to get it done right." Here's wishing the best for the future "Doc" Heuston.

GRADUATE TEACHERS PLACED IN STATE

During the past year the College of Puget Sound has placed many teachers, graduates of '42.

Some of the placements include the Misses Helen Bergh, East Standwood; Louise Durande, Lindbergh high (Valley Ford, Washington); Lois Hughes, Meridian; Louise Jayko, Vaughn; Irma Hawkins, Puyallup; Ruth Elizabeth Jones, Wapato; Mildred McKinsie, Battle Ground, and Annabel Miller, Olympia.

Stanley Champ has been placed at Granger, and Harold Anderson, who did graduate work here is now in the Tacoma Public School system.

Dorm Hallowe'en Party Has Horror Chamber

Ghosts, old-fashioned apple bobbing and a spine-tingling chamber of horrors will be "spook-lighted" at the annual Hallowe'en party, Saturday evening, October 31. Adding interest to the affair will be the popcorn bee centered around the fireplace. Special guests invited are Miss Marian Caughers, Miss Helen McKinney and Mrs. Raymond L. Powell.

A specialty of the night includes fortune-telling by a witch draped in black. White skeletons and creaking doors will lend atmosphere to the dimmed out hall.

The dance decorations will feature scarecrows, snag-toothed jack-o-lanterns and cornstalks of the traditional orange, black and brown color scheme. Chairman of decorations is Becky McDermid, assisted by Ida Mae Hendricks, Dorothy Backlund and Esther Mann.

Committee workers for refreshments are Peggy Simpson, chairman, Virginia Mekkes, Ruth Herrington, Maxine Lister and Robby Lee Roberson; entertainment; Elverna Amundsen, chairman, Mürden Woods, Thelma Smith and Jean O'Connor; clean-up; Virginia Wilson, chairman, Joan Kincaid, Jane Shaffer, Juanita Robinson, Janice Barnstable, Jeane Thurber, Lu Jean Logan, Jean Ellis and Jackie Moore.

Hocus-Pocus Is Featured at All Methodist Party

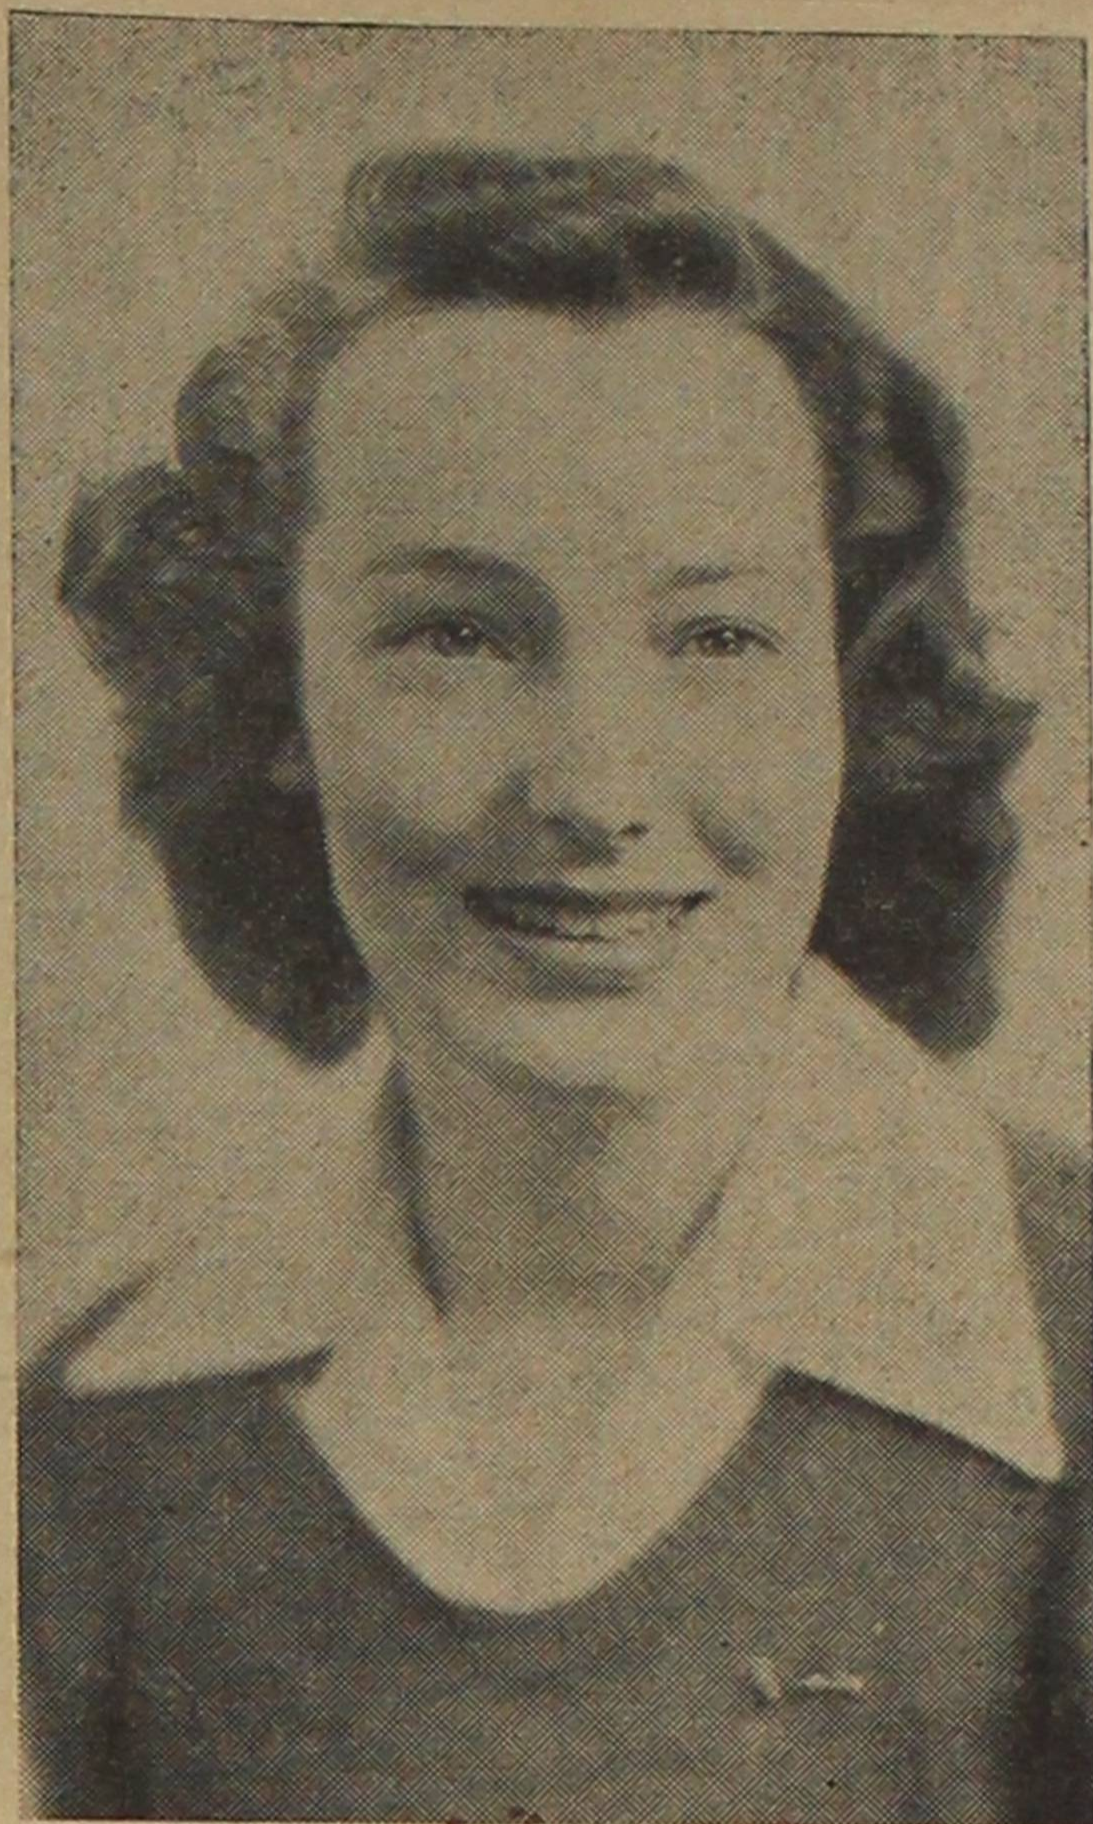

Eerie witchcraft will be the motif at the annual Methodist party sponsored by Kappa Phi, Friday evening, October 30, at 8:00 o'clock in the First Methodist church. A general harvest theme will be carried out with corn silk and pumpkins used as decorations.

The proverbial bad-luck cat, broom-stick witches and their full cheese moons will decorate the walls. Horns, ranging from bass to tenor, dunce hats and racket makers of every description will be in good taste for the evening of spiritual hocus-pocus.

Entertainment includes Betty Thralls presenting sinister atmosphere with weird stories. Frankenstein Herrington and Ghosty James, co-chairmen of the grave disturber fracas, promise folk dancing and a good time for everyone.

Lower Jones Hall Rooms Allotted to Various Groups

Vacant rooms on the lower floor of Jones hall, this week were allotted to various departments and groups of the college. Students are requested to note the following changes: Room 12 is for faculty women; room 21, is now the girls' lounge and coatroom, and the library will expand into room 14. The other two rooms will be occupied by Dr. Sinclair.

Alice Clay is social chairman of the Woman's Residence hall and is heading general arrangements for the Hallowe'en dance Saturday night.

Faculty Women Plan Hard Times Dinner Party for Tuesday Night

In the atmosphere of hard times ahead and military regulations prevailing, the Faculty Women's club of the College of Puget Sound will hold its annual dinner party this year on Tuesday evening, November 3, at 6:30 in the Student Union building. Each faculty member must come in some impoverished costume. This motif is a direct contrast to the party held last year which was a very formal affair.

Hostesses for the affair will be Mrs. Charles Robbins, who is in charge of the decorations and Mrs. Ermine Lamb who will arrange the menu.

Tables will be set with sections of the newspaper that will be torn and used as table cloths. In the center of each table will be a candle stuck in a coke bottle. This will furnish the only lighting, and also, emphasize the theme.

Each table of four will be divided into four ranks of the army: a General, who at the conclusion of the dinner will give orders and pass the plates; a Captain, who will then scrape them, a Lieutenant, who will stack them, and a K. P., who will return them to the kitchen. These captions will represent the military regulations, and also, eliminate personal service. The appointment to ranks will be in the form of place cards. A committee headed by Mrs.

Leonard Jacobson, chairman, will be in charge of the program. On her committee are Mrs. Earl Mann and Mrs. Warren Perry. Faculty talent will provide entertainment for the evening.

Trustees Pick Member

James Kennedy, president of the Kennedy Lumber Co. of Seattle, was elected a member of the Board of Trustees of the College at their last meeting. The Board also re-elected the following officers: E. L. Blaine, president; Norton Clapp, secretary; Dix H. Rowland, treasurer; Charles A. Robbins, financial secretary.

New Song Group Being Organized

To sing during chapel periods and at various civic functions, Mrs. John Green, new vocal instructor of the music department, is organizing a new musical group of both male and female voices. The formation of such a group is in response to numerous calls from local clubs for talent from the college and offers an opportunity to bring CPS in closer contact with the public, according to Mrs. Green.

It is proposed that the group will be flexible, performing either as a whole or in quarters, trios, duos and solos. A trio consisting of Joranne Midtsatre, Margaret Dubek and Jane Wilson, and the Collegians, popular quartet of last season, have already been incorporated into the new organization. Students with any vocal talent whatsoever are urged to see Mrs. Green at the Conservatory on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays at noon and from 1:30 to 2:30 on those days.

Initiate Kappa Phi Pledges In Candlelight Ceremony

Formal candlelight pledge initiation services were held for eleven new members of Kappa Phi, Tuesday evening, at the altar in little Chapel. Miss Virginia Beatty, the latest pledge, received the sorority vows. The degree of the pine was administered by Betty Irlie, after which each girl received her pin and a pink rose corsage. A short devotional was held after the ceremony with a business meeting following.

Formal Dinners for Anderson Girls

The girls of Anderson hall voted to hold a formal dinner the first Tuesday of each month. Their first guests will be Dr. and Mrs. Thompson.

Old Members Receive Badges At Spur Dessert

New Spurs officially retired old members at a dessert party held at the home of Rose Mary Mansfield, Thursday evening, October 29, when emblems were passed out. Co-chairmen were Rose Mary and Betty Armour.

Delicate fall flowers added color to the table and novelty white napkins, with the name Spurs printed in gold on a corner, held within the folds the emblems for the honorary members. As the candles were extinguished, a wish of good fortune was made for last year's service workers, carrying out the well-wishing theme.

Games were played with prizes going to the winners. A national Spur song to the tune of "Dreams," was sung.

Present at the gathering were Jean Button, Felicia Dahl, Nelda Peterson, Elmira Marchesini, Alice Clay, Doris Nelson, Jackie Moore, Marilyn Gilstrap, Doris Meredith, Sherley Day, Maxine Lister, Priscilla Newschwander and Virginia Lantz.

Saturday Game May Decide Conference Title

Puget Sound's undefeated Loggers entrain this afternoon for Willamette university to play the Bearcats in a game which may have a direct bearing on who wins the Northwest conference grid title this year.

Tapering-off dummy practice and signal drill Wednesday and Thursday followed two days of intensive scrimmaging for the Lawrence street bunch. The squad is in good condition physically, although a couple of Coach Frank's men still show bumps and bruises suffered in the CPS win over PLC two weeks ago.

Coach Frank intends to take as many of his players as is possible, but good replacements for the first string are as scarce as hen's teeth in the Logger camp. Willamette is having trouble, too, finding substitutes for its starting eleven, with war and war work. But Coach Roy S. (Spec) Keene, a veteran in the business, isn't going to let his boys take it easy on the field.

For It's Homecoming
It's the Homecoming game for the Bearcats and tomorrow is the ideal time to knock the Lumberjacks out of the unbeaten ranks, especially as CPS's new president, Dr. Thompson, resigned as vice president of the Oregon school to take over in Tacoma.

Of all the large contingent of Puget Sound followers going to see the game, probably the most ardent rooter for the Maroon and White will be President Thompson.

Willamette will be tough to beat this time, according to Coach Frank, who went on to say, "We have a good chance of taking them, though, if the squad is in there pitching every minute, and play like they played against Pacific Lutheran." The Bearcats turned in an impressive 33-7 victory over Linfield last weekend.

Starting Lineup Same
The starting lineup for the Loggers will be the same as that which took the field against the Lutes: Maycumber and Hutchinson, ends; Fengler and Moles, tackles; Starkey and R. Lundvall, guards; J. Beer, center; Swenson, quarterback; Gregory and Spencer, halfbacks; McMaster, fullback.

Tomorrow is the "Big Day" for the members of the hockey team. They will play the University of Washington women and, if they have as good luck, and play the kind of hockey they have in the past, maybe they will come out on top again.

The first swimming meet is now completed, and everyone is beginning to practice for the next one which will be held next Thursday at the YWCA. According to Mrs. Mann, more girls turned out this year than in the past. The Betas came out on the long end of the score, with Helen Pat Beem, Jean O'Conner, Mildred Blake, Betty Rough, Katheryn Peel, and Jeanne McDougall making their points.

Carol Webb, Alice Clay, Esther Mann and Betty Irls made several points to give the Gammas second place. The Independents and the Thetas battled for third place, with the Independents coming out on the win end. Jean Thurber, Trudy James and Sue Hendrickson placed for the Independents, and Peggy Simpson and Virginia Taylor made several points for the Thetas.

Don't forget "The Big Sport Week" next week. Be over there every day if you don't want to miss anything.

Above is shown little Jack Spencer, who is by far the most versatile backfield man in the entire Logger squad. Spencer, weighing only 150 pounds, is an ace passer and shifty runner. He will be in there pitching them when the Lumberjacks meet Willamette university tomorrow afternoon.

College Athletics Turn to Military Tactics in Preparation for Future

Much has been said of late concerning college athletics, both intramurals and inter-collegiate competition, and their place in the war effort.

Many people who either haven't taken the time to find out, or who don't care to know the truth have condemned scholastic sports as a useless peace-time luxury. We ask that these people take note of the program that is being carried on here at the College of Puget Sound.

Gym classes have abandoned the regular "games for fun" in favor of a vigorous conditioning program. Included are training in the fundamentals of marching, and a cross country course, the toughness of which more than one freshman will vouch for.

College football, as all college sports, has always been a great conditioner. Football, and the rest remain thus, with only the schedules being reduced. Training remains the same and in many cases is greatly increased. Intramurals offer this training to those who are not fortunate enough to have a spot on the varsity squads.

We ask the doubters then to stop and see what the athletic department of CPS is doing to produce among its men stronger bodies, more alert minds, and a will to win.

Zete-Delta Kapp Tilt May Be Played Over

Will the big game of the week in intramurals have to be played over? The Zete's 7-0 victory over the Delta Kapps is being questioned upon the discovery that the league leaders may have fielded an ineligible man in Tuesday's game.

The score in the game came early in the second half when "Uncle Tom Cross passed to Donnie Brown, who in turn lateralled to Bart Woods. Guard Dick Steele broke into the scoring column when he snagged Cross' pass for the extra point.

The DK's drove deep into Zete territory, but failed to push across for the vital score. For a large part the game was played in the center of the field.

Spectacular Play

Intramural football witnessed its most spectacular play of the season last Thursday when Paul Pruitt of the Independents intercepted a Delta Kapp pass on his own 2-yard marker and romped 93 yards for a score. The Indies failed, however, to put across the extra point which may have meant victory. The D. K.'s were not to be denied though and in the closing moments of the game Jack Duncan passed them to a score and the extra point. Bob Seabloom snagged the pass that tied the score up, 6-6, and the extra point, which meant the game was tossed to Bob Hamilton.

The powerful Zetes copped another victory Friday when they dumped the Chi Nu gridsters, 12-0. The Zetes chalked up their first score when Kaplan passed to end Ken "Dog" Kennell in the end zone. Another pass this time to a backfield man accounted for the other Zete tally.

It has been said that only backfield men and ends get their names mentioned in these write-ups, but we all know of the good work being done by such linemen as Marland Larson and Art Demers. (Are you happy now boys?)

Advice Given On Girls' Turnouts But Don't Take It!

As girls' sports enter the picture, it is deemed wise to give some advice on women's athletics at the colleges. This only applies to girls, so boys, STOP, and don't read another word. Every girl who comes to CPS is urged (in fact, everyone is urged at one time or another) to take part in school activities. The quickest way for girls to do this is to get right into things at the turnouts.

First comes hockey. Be careful about this one, however. More girls leave the college on their knees because of hockey than you can shake a stick at, if you're shaking sticks. Since this game is only between classes there isn't as much competition (oh, yeah?). Every year there is a big meet with the team from the U. of W. and the winning team always has the thrill of coming out with the biggest score. Nothing is needed for hockey except the regular gym equipment. Everything else that is needed is furnished, including bandages and crutches.

Swimming, Basketball

Right now, if you go down to the YWCA pool (ladies only) you can see girls practicing for the swimming meet which will be held before very long. There's more paddling there than at all the fraternity meetings put together. Every week the girls go down to the pool, hang their clothes on a hickory limb and dive right in the water. This not only gives them exercise but it also teaches them how to take care of themselves in case they come upon an extra-large mud puddle.
