CPS Faculty Has Three New Members

With the beginning of a new school term, CPS has added three professors to the faculty. Heading the list is Miss Edna-Ellen Bell, who is the instructor of the recently inaugurated occupational therapy course here. Coming to CPS from Kansas is the head of the Music Department, Mr. Karl Bratton; while the newest in the Chemistry Department is Professor George MacDonald.

Miss Bell is one of the minute number of some 145 registered occupational therapists in the United States. She comes to the college highly recommended, after having done actual work in this field for the past three years. The last six months of this time were spent at the Baxter General Hospital in Spokane, where she worked among soldiers returned from the European battlefronts. Her training was taken in Chicago, Indianapolis, and St. Louis. As this college is the first in the Northwest to install such a course it is expected that there will be much interest.

Mr. Bratton, who has studied in the Eastman and Juillard Schools of Music, has achieved success in the field of voice and as a director of music. Three-time winner of the Atwater-Kent audition, he has had wide concert, oratoric and radio experience. He is a graduate of the University of Kansas, and has taught at Baker University in Kansas; Arizona State Teachers' College; and collaborated with Maude Adams while teaching at Stephens College, at Columbia, Missouri. Previous to coming here he was in USO work at Chanute Field, Rantoul, Illinois.

Professor MacDonald is a graduate of the Montana School of Mines, and obtained his degree in metallurgical engineering. He has done graduate work at the University of Montana, and at Stanford. While there he was one of three initiated to Sigma Xi, scientific honorary. He has done considerable research in micro-analysis of bases, and some of his papers on this subject were reviewed by the National Meeting of the American Chemical Society. At the present time he is taking flying lessons, and has been instructor in pre-flight aeronautics.

Music Department Plans Big Year

News from the CPS music department might indicate that a big year is in store. In fact it does, according to Mr. Karl Bratton, new head of the department.

There is already an enrollment of some fifty students in the Adelpian Choral society. This is perhaps the largest turnout for this group in recent years. Much may be expected from this group of nearly forty girls and about ten basses and tenors.

Plans are also under way for the continuance of the String Ensemble. All in all there are approximately 100 students now enrolled in some phase of the music department.

Chapel Box

Monday, Oct. 9—Miss Edna-Ellen Bell, Sue Hendrickson, presiding.
Wednesday, Oct. 11—Ruth Ann Dodsworth, Marian Clendenon, vocal solo. Mr. Robbins presiding.
Friday, Oct. 13—Mr. James Stone of the National Tuberculosis Assn. Mrs. Mann presiding.

College Picnic Promises A Hilarious Time

You'll be sorry if you miss the "Get Acquainted" All-College picnic this afternoon at Point Defiance. Everyone will be there to take part in the games, songs, and picnic dinner, 3:30 until 7:00.

Following the baseball game between the men and women students, sororities will furnish potato salad and cake, supplemented by hot dogs and "coke" supplied by the ASCPS. During the dinner, a song fest will be held around the tables.

Students planning to attend should leave the campus at 3:30 in their cars or on the Point Defiance bus. The bus may be caught at North 21st and Alder. They will meet at the bus depot at the end of the line at 4:00 p. m. and will march together to the ball field.

The picnic committee is composed of Paul Raymond, chairman, assisted by Foozy Vaughn, the sorority presidents, Jolly Torgerson, Alpha Beta Upsilon; Pat Hildebrandt, Delta Alpha Gamma; Jean Hallen, Kappa Sigma Theta; Beverly Berlie, Lambda Sigma Chi, and by the fraternity president, Robert Oquist.

The faculty members are to be the guests of the student body. Freshmen are especially invited as this is the first social affair of the year for all of the student body and is an excellent opportunity to make friends. Sorority girls are reminded that all food must be brought to the Student Union building by 1:00 o'clock today.

IRC's To Meet On Friday--13th

Superstitious folk may want to stay at home behind locked doors on Friday, October 13th, but those who do will miss one of the best social affairs of the year. The International Relations Club Smorgasbord will be held at 6:30 p. m. that evening in the Fireplace Room of Mason Methodist church.

This is the first time the club has sponsored a function for interested students and friends. An unusual menu of foreign food is being planned. Mrs. Tomlinson, wife of the club adviser will head the program by presenting a talk about her life in Germany. There will also be appropriate accordion music. All CPS students with interest in world affairs are invited to attend.

At the following meeting of the International Relations Club the predictions made by the members for this past month will be read.

Return GI's Will Rate Best Chances in Education

When this war is ended and the boys start coming back they will be greeted as never before. One of the bills for returning veterans is the G. I. Bill of Rights. Provided in this bill are the following things: Hospitalization, Education, Employment, Loans, and Rehabilitation. Of these mentioned CPS is chiefly interested in the Educational division.

Any person serving in the active military or naval service on or after September 16, 1940, and who was not over 25 years of age at the time he entered the service is entitled to take part in this educational program, provided that he begins this program not later than two years after either the date of his discharge or the termination of the present war.

To enter into this program the returning veteran must obtain Rehabilitation Form No. 1950. These forms may be found in the Dean's office in most any college.

Ex-service men may take any course in any college or university he chooses to enter. While enrolled in a course under this law. He, upon application to the administration, shall be paid an allowance of $50 per month, if without dependents. With dependents he is to be paid $75 per month including all holidays and leave not exceeding 30 days in a calendar year.

This, indeed, will be something for the boys to look forward to when they come home. CPS will be watching and waiting for that day.

Life of Students In China Today Told in Chapel

That few American students appreciate the ease with which they can acquire an education was illustrated by Dr. Frank Liu, head of Forestry and Fisheries in China, in his talk in chapel Monday, October 2. According to Dr. Liu Chinese students do not go to school but carry the schools with them, thus transporting whole universities formerly in what is now occupied territory far into the interior of China. The books are printed on inferior paper, and the ink is so poor that some pages are scarcely legible while others have no printing at all on them. He also told how thrilled a Chinese person would be to see a newspaper printed on white paper as there haven't been any for six and a half years.

The first chapel speaker this year was Reverend Harold Booch of the First Congregational Church who spoke on the theme "Anything is possible with God." The following Friday Mr. Clark Oberlies told about the "Internal Termites in Civilization Today."

On Monday, September 25, the Campus Trio sang seven songs. Among the favorites were "Begin the Beguine," "Skylark," "Gianinamia," "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes," and "Getting Sentimental Over You."

Corporal Julian Edwards of Fort Lewis furnished the music for chapel on Wednesday, September 27, and Chaplain Dan Stephens, also from the Fort spoke on "You Are the Light of the World." Major Stephens formerly had the Methodist church near the campus of Oregon State College at Corvallis.

Homecoming Play Has Murder Air

"The Thin Man" may "Whistle" appreciatively as the upper classmen of CPS keep him in "Suspense" with their production of "Murder in the Nunnery." It will be given November 10 and 11 in celebration of homecoming.

"Murder in the Nunnery" is a three act combination comedy and chiller about college life. There is a cast of over twenty-five with five boys' parts and the twenty strong filled with the feminine body. Casting was last Wednesday and rehearsals began immediately. However, Teach says that the play is so blood curdling that there may be a few changes so anyone that has cold blood coursing through their veins is urged to come out.

The play came out first as a novel and was selected by the Crime club as a best seller. It was later dramatized by Emmet Lavery and first produced by the Pasadena Playhouse. Naturally this background will only be further enhanced by also being produced by the "Rats" of CPS.

Frosh Plays December 1

Shades of Shakespeare, Moliere, and Cohan haunt the rats' nest these days as Teach and her cohorts meet to plan the future dramatic programs for the school. Gathering together a group of budding freshmen thespians for the one-act plays was made noticeably easier by the eager enlistment of talent.

Dec. 1 is the date the freshies are going to show what they can really do in a theatrical vein. Five, one-act plays are going to be put on in one evening. The plays have not been definitely decided upon.

SUMMER SCHOOL PLANS UNDERWAY

Though no night school program was planned or anticipated by the college this year, they are now scheduling limited courses of study in response to many inquiries and signs of interest. Only instruction in this limited field of subjects will be offered as the school will meet just once a week to conserve fuel, and so as not to interfere with scheduled classes in occupational therapy.

Proposed subjects will include beginning Japanese, Spanish, psychology, business administration, English literature, mathematics, and chemistry (qualitative analysis, and physics, electricity).

War Stamp, Bond Sales Start Soon

Starting Thursday, October 12, war savings stamps and bonds will be sold at the stamp booth. This red, white and blue center is located in the front entrance of the SUB. The booth will be open every Thursday noon and will be sponsored by the various campus organizations during the year.

Committees in charge of the bond and stamp sales are Joyce Fern, chairman; Janice Lindeman, Theta representative; Louise Kipper, Independent and Spur representative; Otho Halligan from Alpha Chi Omega and the Knights; Polly Packard from the Beta's; Elizabeth Amderberg of the Gamma's, and Beverly Hofstetter, representing the Lambda's and Anderson hall.

First group to sponsor the booth will be the Alpha Beta Upsilon sorority, who will have it for the weeks from October 26 to November 2.

Symphony Will Practice Evenings

The Puget Sound Symphony will continue this year under the new leadership of Professor Eric Koker, of the college music department. Students here have, or will have, heard Mr. Koker play the violin, and can readily agree that he is talented and well fitted for the position. A successful season is to be anticipated.

Both students and townspeople are welcome to become members of the organization. Students may participate either for credits or on a non-credit basis. First rehearsal for the group was held Tuesday evening, October 3, in the college auditorium, and every Tuesday thereafter.

SENIOR CLASS MEMBERS EXTEND WELCOME TO INCOMING FROSH

Speaking for the Senior Class, I want to extend to the Class of '48 a warm hand of welcome and friendship. On Sept. 29 you officially became a part of the student body of the College, and we're proud to have you here.

Now that we're seniors, we sometimes feel like big brothers and sisters to the underclassmen; and we like to pass on our wealth of knowledge to anyone who will listen. Because of that, I hope you will take no offense if we offer a bit of advice to you who are new to college life.

I was sitting in the office of a business man one day last year, and as I was waiting I looked upon the wall to see a little framed quotation. It read, "The willing horse gets the heaviest load—they say. But in the long run he also gets the most oats." I memorized that little saying because I felt it to be so applicable to our college life.

Here at CPS, as in any college, there is an abundance of activity—curricular and extra-curricular. To those of us who have been here in years before, we know that both activities are vital to any student who wishes to develop a well-rounded life. And we also know that it's the person who really puts his heart and spirit into his college life that gleans the most that CPS has to offer.

With the war in progress, and many of our students away, there is a bigger need than ever for students who are really willing to "get the heaviest loads" and carry on the fine school spirit that we have been so proud of in the past.

To all you new students, may I again wish you a hearty welcome and the best of luck in your college life.

FRANK PRICE, President Class of '45.

College Campus Organizations Hold Many and Varied Interests

Organizations here on the CPS campus are varied and many. There is a group that will hold the interest of any and all students on the campus.

Not only are there the Greek letter organizations, but varied language, contemporary affairs, and other types of interest groups to occupy one's spare time. That is it will help to keep you from having any spare time. But, for that matter why should anyone want any spare time anyway?

To list all these groups would take too much space, but we can here mention some of the more unusual and outstanding. For those who have an interest in current affairs there is the International Relations Club. This group gets together from time to time and discusses the events of the war, national and political happenings.

The only national organization on the CPS campus is the Methodist Women's club, Kappa Phi. This group of girls is made up of all women students who have Methodist preference while in college. Though it has a Greek letter name, it is not of a sorority nature.

Many more such groups are open to students who are interested. In fact, it has been said that half of one's college education is to be obtained from such associations. If you are not now affiliated with any group, why not investigate? You are sure to find one that will be of interest to you. Part of CPS's traditions, or any college for that matter, is quite closely tied up with their campus groups. Enter into the spirit of things! You'll find that your associations in these groups will make your stay at college just that much more interesting.

Freshmen Look at Science Or We "Biology" Babes

"And where are you from?" and "what crop do they grow there?" "Oh, is that soo . . ." and so the freshman Biology class becomes educated on the amount of rainfall, the number of frogs, lizzards and snakes found in each of their home towns, and it's all very interesting.

It has been rumored that one transfer student said she had seen a dead cow near her home town, and the wise guy from the city who probably had never even seen a cow, uttered, "thats a bum steer," but here Dr. Slater came to the rescue and assured her that it was just a fossill.

And so CPS life continues, as each Tuesday-Thursday third period some seventy or more "gogly-eyed" students wind their way up to the third floor of Howarth hall only to learn new and amazing facts in this complicated life we live . . . why. It's simply amazing to learn that frogs have teeth, and tongues too, and they never seem to bite anyone . . . Yep, this college life is great . . . Why you can even call your lab partner a Bufo Boreas Boreas, and no harm is done.—So we haven't learned its common name yet.

DORM DORA

Another week is passed, and we welcome our favorite gal, Thelma Hardy, back to the CPS campus, Dorm life, and everything that goes with it. Things happen at dear 'ole "SNORE 'N EAT" lodge, and do they happen! Lucille Ludwick just earned the first star in our service falg, by telling us that she is nearly sworn into the WAVES. Anyway, she passed the physical, aptitude and mental tests with flying colors, and we are real proud of her!

Other things happen too . . . Dr. and Mrs. Thompson were guests for dinner . . . formals and everything, including chocolate pie made the occasion a rare one, and did we ever have fun . . . 'Tis said even R. Franklin liked the atmosphere. Could it have been the formals?

Color Post Tradition at CPS Unique

By Mary-Anna Schenck

Inaugurated at the College of Puget Sound in 1917 by President Emertius Dr. Edward H. Todd, the color post has come to be a tradition that no other school can claim. The post was originally located on the old campus where Jason Lee Junior high school now stands, but when the college was moved, the students carried it over here in a long procession, and with due ceremony. Later, Willamette University almost stole it—it had been sawed party way off the stand, before being rescued by CPS students!

Purpose of the color post ceremony is to formally accept the new Freshman class into the student body. Each class holds its side for four years, then passes it on to the new Freshman class. Every fourth class joins a side, with the alumni on one side making a quadrant.

The four colors used are: purple representing law; red—religion; yellow—science; and the fourth side—white for liberal arts. Each year the college catalogue is printed in the color that will be turned over to the Freshmen by the graduating senior class. This year a representative of the class of '44 passed on the fourth quadrangle, white, to the class of '48.

GLIMPSES

By FRANK PRICE

A letter came to me from another one of my college friends in the armed forces the other day. He is studying to be a paratrooper. One of the most interesting incidents that he told me about illustrates very well some of the incompetency and mismanagement in the armed forces. And what's worse, it always seems as if the new recruit is the one who gets the raw end of the deal.

Now take this fellow my friend was telling me about. He was just a young fellow and new at parachute jumping. In fact, this certain day was to be his first jump. The instructor, one of those dirty little sergeants, was giving the kid his final instructions. "When you jump out of the plane, yell as loud as you can. Then count to ten and pull the left-hand ring. If the chute doesn't open pull the right hand ring, and when you land there'll be a truck to pick you up." Of course, the boy had perfect faith in his instructor (God only knows why) so he climbed aboard the plane a little shaky but feeling that everything was really all right. Well, to hasten on, the plane left the ground and approached the appointed spot for the jump, flying at 10,000 feet. The pilot gave the kid his signal, and the boy jumped and yelled at the top of his lungs and counted to ten—just he he had been told. Then he pulled the left ring of his chute. It didn't open, and he got a little nervous, but quick as a flash he reached over and pulled the right hand ring. Still the chute didn't open. Disgusted and angry, he looked downward to the ground and said, "Yeh, and I suppose that darned truck won't be down there either."

Selective Service

'Twas nice seeing Joe home on a short leave, before turning for further training. Understand he and the former D.K.'s had a party that was just like old times.

From London, we hear Frank Walters, former Sigma Epsilon, and past business manager of the Tamanawas, has been working seven days a week, and would certainly appreciate a few hours off for a cup of TEA. Frank is a Lt. in the engineers.

CPS graduate Elden Billings recently awarded the army medal for participation in more than 25 operational flights, armed, heavily loaded transport planes through the combat zone. Nice going Elden.

We understand that CPS'ers have a Southern branch practically started in New Caledonia, if they could only find each other . . . It seems that the island is only about 250 miles long, and that several former students spend their spare time looking for each other. Hansen, O. D. Williams, Jack Richards, and Al Danielson are still trying to get together. Here's hoping you make it fellas.

Former members of CPS now have APO numbers now. They are out there working for Uncle Sam again.

Recently home was Sgt. Robert Hamilton, who is stationed "Deep in the heart" of Texas, training "Rookies" for the infantry.

Lt. Bill Tucker, former College of Puget Sound football player, and track hurdler, has recently received the distinguished flying cross. The exact flights of Lt. Tucker are kept secret by the war department. While here at CPS, Bill was a member of Sigma Zeta Epsilon fraternity.

In This Corner

We have the vice president of the Associated Student Body Helen Pat Beem, who comes to us from Kirkland. A former writer of this column, Dorm Dora, and other articles of the Trail, we find that H. P. is very a versatile student. Vice president of the Beta inter-sorority secretary, and an active member of practically every available committee, helps keep this girl's time well arranged.

Her activities here at CPS include secretary of the Associated Students, president of Spurs, National Sophomore Women's Honorary, sophomore representative to the central board, picture editor of the Tamanawas, historian of Anderson hall, membership in Otlah and Who's Who.

Spending her summers as a lifeguard and swimming instructor Helen Pat is an all-around athlete and manages to find time to teach golf, swimming and lifesaving, as well as turn out for inter-class and inter-sorority sports.

H. P. who has been known on the campus as "Slim," is majoring in recreation, and plans to go on to graduate school . . . if some of brawn doesn't interfere . . . 'bout that H. P.?

"Man is but a worm. He comes along, wiggles a bit then some chicken gets him."—Anon.

Two Girls Surprise Friends By Revealing Engagements

Coming as a surprise to her Lambda Sigma Chi sorority sisters was the news of the engagement of Miss Catherine Luzzi to John Gallagher. The announcement came with the presentation of the customary box of chocolates and a card which bore their names. Also presenting a box of chocolates, this time to Kappa Phi was Miss Gertrude James, who announced her engagement to Earl Gish.

Miss Luzzi is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Luzzi, and Mr. Gallagher is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Gallacher. A winter wedding is planned. Both are graduates of Stadium high school and attended CPS, where they were active in student government. Miss Luzzi was president of her sophomore class, a member of Spurs, and secretary of the Associated Student Body. Mr. Gallagher was president of the Intercollegiate Knights, a representative to central board, and president of his fraternity, Sigma Mu Chi. He is now employed as a geophysicist in Tulsa, Okla.

Miss James is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. James and Mr. Gish is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram S. Gish, both families of Battle Ground, Wash. A junior here at the college, Miss James is president of the Student Christian association and a member of Kappa Phi and of Spurs. Mr. Gish, a radioman in the U. S. N. R., was recently stationed in San Francisco.

Summer Months Bring Many Student Changes

The war brought about interesting changes in the lives of co-eds this summer. Many engagements were announced, a number of girls were inducted into women's service organizations, and several former College of Puget Sound students were married. In the latter class is Mrs. Harry A. Hescoc, who before her marriage at Lowry Field, Denver, Colorado, was Miss Doris Meredith. She is the daughter of J. M. Meredith and the late Mrs. Meredith. Both bride and groom attended CPS. The new home is being made in Denver.

Coming as a surprise to her many college friends, was the announcement by Miss Shirley Roberts of her engagement to Quentin Jones, U. S. N., of Hoquiam. The news was disclosed at the summer Alum meeting of Alpha Beta Upsilon sorority when the traditional box of candy was opened. The bride-to-be left Tuesday night for Memphis, Tennessee, where the ceremony is being held.

Engaged to Albert E. Finnegan is Miss Janice Stenson, a former CPS student, now a senior at the University of Minnesota. She is a graduate of Stadium high school, and while at CPS was a member of Kappa Sigma Theta sorority. Mr. Finnegan is now stationed with the marine corps at Quantico, Virginia.

Soon to be inducted into the Waves is Miss Mildred Blake, who graduated with the class of '44, and has been a visitor on the campus for the past week. She plans to enter officers' candidate's school sometime in December.

At a summer meeting of her sorority, Kappa Sigma Theta, Miss Janice Eisenhower announced her engagement to William O. Causin, former ASCPS president, now stationed at Camp Rucker, Alabama. No date has been set for the wedding to be held.

Planning an autumn marriage for Oct. 7, is Miss Myrtle Robinson of Seattle, who attended CPS last year, and was affiliated with Alpha Beta Upsilon. Her fiance is John Christensen, also of Seattle. Scene of the wedding will be beautiful Bethany Presbyterian church on Queen Anne Hill.

JOLAVERN TORGERSON

Miss Jolafern Torgerson is president of Alpha Beta Upsilon sorority, which is holding its annual pledge banquet tomorrow night at Kittredge Hall.

CPS Plays Host To Navy At First Dance of Season

Naval atmosphere will prevail in the Student Union Building in the first dance of the school year on October 14 sponsored by the War Coordination Committee. Seventy-five men from the Navy Receiving Barracks have been asked, with 25 civilian boys from CPS acting as hosts. One hundred girls, 20 from each sorority and 20 from the Independent group, have been selected to attend.

The dance will be informal, with small CPS pennants as name tags given out at the door. Following this theme, the decorations will consist of colorful pennants from colleges all over the country. There will be mixers during the course of the dance and refreshments of cakes and cokes during intermission.

Arrangements have been made for the dance by Lucille Ludwick, committee chairman, and Betty H. Smith, Ed Funk, Leon Mier, Helen Miller, Carol Todd, Barbara Engberg and Sue Hendricksen.

Alpha Beta Upsilon First To Hold Pledge Banquet

Climaxing the rushing program for the Alpha Beta Upsilon Sorority of the College of Puget Sound, will be the annual formal banquet Saturday evening in Kittredge Hall. Following tradition, this affair is sponsored by the alumnae association, and honors the pledges of the sorority. "The open book theme" will be carried out throughout the evening with after-dinner speakers representing the different chapters.

Toastmistress of the evening will be Miss Doris Wittren. Miss Barbara Healy will represent the alumnae chapter, and Helen Patricia Beam will speak for the actives, and Mollie Schegel will represent the pledges. Miss Jorane Midstare will render vocal selections. Table decorations will carry out the orchid and gold sorority colors.

Miss Mary Ogden is chairman of the affair and she is being assisted by Miss Mary Jean Heidinger and Jane Ogden and Mrs. John Moore.

Alumnae planning to attend are Misses Doris Wittren, Rosalyn Hartman, Ethel Jane Cohoon, Jean Sulley, Barbara Healey, Dorothy Bouffloux, Constance Allen and Shirley Milsted. Others are the Mesdames Gerald Heinz, Donald Shotwell, Phillip Walesey, Mark Marush, Richard Usher, William Dieppe, Allen Ferrell, John Moore and Donald Allen.

Girls who will receive formal pledge initiation are Myrtle Chatwood, Helen Caputia, Laverene King, Sherlee Nelson, Mollie Schegel, Marion Robinson, Gwen Dean, Dorothy Dean Davis, Mary McCready, Nancy Keaton, Bonnie Sinclair, Helene Koehler, Evane Stephens, Ruth Behrens, Peggy Rough, Gwen Simmons, Francis Quinn, June Larson, Juanita Baumgartner and Lucille Randall.

Three Local Co-eds Enlist in Waves

Because of enlistments into the WAVES, the College of Puget Sound lost three attractive co-eds during the summer months. They are Marian Sandal, Patricia Mason, and Jane Nason, all active members of Delta Alpha Gamma sorority.

Before their departure they were entertained at several parties given by various groups of friends and relatives. The girls left Sunday evening, August 20, for Hunter College, New York, where they will have six weeks of "boot training."

Since their arrival in the east, word has been received telling of their enjoyment of service life. Their time thus far has been taken up with orientation classes, drilling, and medical examinations.

Barracks are made up of apartments, each of which houses eight girls. At the end of the day, various types of entertainment are provided. Several outstanding artists have given performances, including Nathan Milstein, and sometime during the month, a visit from Major Bowes is expected.

College Walls Don New Coats

Old students here on the campus have noticed the extensive redecoration program completed this summer. Many rooms of Jones Hall have undergone a painting or kalsomining job, including the offices.

Anderson Hall has come in for its share of the redecoration process. Under the direction of Mrs. Carolyn Schneider, walls and ceilings in the entire building have been repainted and some partially refinished. Bright new spreads and curtains grace several of the rooms, and soon all will be resplendent in the newly colored finishings.

Possibly the greatest change has been wrought by that dynamic little man, Mr. Bratton. Though it is expected that a new music conservatory will be built in the very near future, CPS's newest maestro has undertaken to increase the usefulness of the present building. New wiring is being installed and all rooms are receiving a new coat of paint, kalsomine or new paper.

Labor problems in the vital war area of Alaska; counsel in the dank, steaming jungles of a tropical isle in the Jap infested Pacific; test tubes to exterminate the enemy — these and others are the tasks that occupy the time of our now-off-the-campus faculty.

Dr. Charles Battin acts in the capacity of keeping labor problems to a minimum for the War Labor Board in Alaska. Somewhat different is Capt. Philip Fehlandt who employs atom and molecules in devising new methods of chemical warfare at Fort Sill, Oklahoma. Likewise on the educational front is Capt. Leo Frank, a commandant of an army specialized training unit at Stanford University. In the opposite vein giving counsel and comfort to wounded minds are Leonard Jacobson and D. Robert Smith, who serve as chaplains' assistants in the South Pacific.

Serving the navy also are Lt. Lyle Shelmidine, who only recently returned from Ankara, Turkey and was subsequently reassigned to the Pacific Area and Howard Oiseth now stationed at Quonsett, Rhode Island . . . Capt. Warren Perry, heads a library service for soldiers in Italy, with headquarters at Rome.

Physical education and psychological testing occupy the time of Capt. Raymond Powell and Lt. L. Parks. Capt. Powell is in charge of the entire Psychological Testing Program of the Ninth Service Command, with headquarters at Fort Douglas, Utah. Lastly we find our genial professor of chemistry and geology, Frederick McMillin on duty with the U. S. Geological Survey.

In a different vein is the absence of Lynda Van Norden. She left recently to complete work for a Ph. D. degree at the University of California at Los Angeles.

Back on the campus recently was former Alumnae secretary, now Lt. Dick Smith.

Crow for Faculty?

Puget Sound's faculty volleyball team can hardly be called tired old men. For what student can remember them losing a game? However, there is a rumor swirling about on the campus that in the golden era of yesteryear, the faculty actually lost a game; but this is probably a Gobel lie.

This awesome sextet is composed of "Spike" Gibbs, "Swiffler" Seward, "Foxy" Martin, "Fearless" Fredrick, "Husky" Miller, and the elusive Dean. Yet this is the time for a change. So, if the Freshmen and Upperclassmen get in on the ball, they may develop a winning combination that will make the faculty eat crow on Thanksgiving!

Notes From The Gym

Smith and Calegrave put on the gloves for the first time the other day. They looked good for beginners. Smith has a good right hand. Calegrave is going to be a hard man to hit.

Two freshmen were boxing once before a large and enthusiastic crowd. Both boys showed promise, but one was in advance of the other. As the bout proceeded one boy continued to hit the canvas. As the referee started his count for the third time he noticed that the fallen boxer was resting comfortably on one arm. The crowd was wild with excitement, and the opposing boxer moved nervously in his corner eager with expectancy. The referee reached the count of seven; the fallen boxer made no move. The referee was nervous. As the pugilist continued to make no move from his point of vantage, the referee leaned over and amid the roar of the crowd asked, "Can't you get up?" "Yes, sir," replied the freshman. "Yes, sir! Just as soon as you reach ten!"

Bill Morris' courage is an example for the rest of us. He asks no quarter and expects none. He is beautifully proportioned through the shoulders and chest with fine powerful muscles. Bill had infantile paralysis when a small boy.

Commando Ball was played on Thursday. The game is a combination of La Cross, basketball, football, soccer and baseball. Beautiful tackles and hard drives are commonplace in this game. It's too bad that the University of Washington doesn't play this game.

Charles Brown is a well coordinated athlete. He moves with grace and class on the gym floor. The time will come when Brown will be a fine college basketballer. He is enthusiastic and responsive and enjoys any sport.

CPS can well be proud of her wartime products. There is a lot of fighting spirit in the gym these days.

CPS Enrollment Increased to 312

Each year many new faces are to be seen about the CPS campus. With registration over, registrar Christian Miller reports that there are 312 students enrolled at this time. This number is one more than were here at this time last year and eight more than were expected for the fall semester.

Among the numerous students who have come here from other states are Maxine Atkinson, in her second year here at CPS, from Anaconda, Montana; and Vernace Barton, who comes from Oregon, Missouri. Florence Carlson and Peggy Larson, two juniors studying social work, are transfer students from the Evanston Collegiate Institute.

Studying music is Ruth Gustafson, another from Anaconda, Montana. Then there is Amy Grout from Newfane, Vermont, in the heart of New England, who has studied at the University of Vermont previous to coming here.

Coming from the "Great Smokees" is Helen Mahoney from Kingsport, Tennessee. Another newcomer from the south is Jamesetta Yvonne Rasberry from Okalona, Mississippi.

Here to study Occupational Therapy is Janis Planchard of San Pedro, California, while Lois Vick has come here to study nursing, from pretty far "north", Juneau, Alaska. Clara Lewis from Atwood, Kansas, has come to prepare for work as an English instructor.

"Hello!" CPS's Own Password

Hello, Hello, Hello, that has recently become the password of students and faculty members of the College of Puget Sound. This is an age long tradition, and the minority members of upperclasses are trying to keep this alive. Introductions are not necessary on the Logger campus, and as in past years, the most used words in the Joe and Josephine college's vocabulary are "Hi," "Hi there," and "Hello!"

Whether you're simply walking from 212 to 213 you may still meet someone and pause for that familiar greeting . . . who knows, it might even be Dr. R. Franklin, (thanks Fooz) and we bet he'd even enjoy the friendly "Hi."

W. A. A.

Sportsmanship—this is the phase of college life represented by W. A. A.'s president, Almir Marchesini, alias 'Mira, alias Mark, alias Chestnut. Short and dark, with deep blue eyes, she is most enthusiastic when talking about her favorite sport, basketball. The Gammas can always depend on 'Mira's very accurate shooting when basketball season rolls around.

A senior and a major in P. E., Almira spends most of her waking moments in the gym or trotting back and forth between buildings, but she does find time to be assistant director of a Tacoma recreation center, and proudly names this her favorite pastime.

Although she has been teaching several gym classes here at CPS, 'Mira hopes to teach students more her size in junior or senior high school.

If there are any of you new gals who don't know our president, go out of your way to get acquainted with her. As head of W. A. A., she has a wonderful year planned for all of you.

The remaining members of the cabinet are Pat Hildebrandt, secretary, Jeanne McDougall, treasurer, Margaret Lindeman, program chairman, Janice Lindeman, publicity chairman, and Betty Armour, general manager.

Conference To Be Held

Planned by the American Nursing League, the annual conference on "Nursing and Medicine in Colleges and Universities" will be held Oct. 11th and 12th at the University of Washington. Dr. R. Franklin Thompson will preside the first day and Dr. Regester will speak the second day on the "Responsibilities of University and College Placements for Graduates."

Science Group Will Meet

The Puget Sound academy of Sciences will have a meeting in Howarth hall on Tuesday, October 10. Speaker of the evening will be Dr. Gordon Alcorn, former CPS student, and graduate of the college. He is also the former vice-president of the Gray's Harbor Junior college.

Both students and adults are invited to attend. Admission will be 15 cents for students and 30 for adults.

CPS May Have Basketball Team

At this time it seems highly possible that a basketball team may be in the making at the College of Puget Sound. When war came on the scene, athletics in general went out the window, and with it went a good deal of the round school spirit that accompanies college athletics. Following are some of the "hopefuls" that may revive the old college "rah rah" if given a chance.

The Freshman class is well represented with such he-men as Chuck Brown, Paul Diamond, Chuck Reid, George Addison and Carl Arness. Chuck, who has wide grin and a crew-cut, won the inspirational award in basketball at Clover Park high school, being active in other extra-curricular activities. Paul was a varsity swimmer at Stadium and played basketball flash at Stadium and so played on the sophomore basketball team. George was active in boxing and wrestling at Lincoln and also played independent basketball. Football and basketball were Carl's sports at Cavalin (D.) high school.

Included among the upperclassmen who have participated in college, high school, or independent athletics are Bob MacCullough, Ed Oquist, Ed Funk, Frank Price and Don Carsten. This covers only a few of the "eager beavers" who stroll on the campus.

In a recent game, supposed freshman vs. upperclassman, the Frosh won, 52-51, using two of the class to complete an upperclass quintet!

Perhaps this game serves notice of the hidden talent the school holds, and with a basketball team to cheer on, the school spirit would be bolstered no end.

Have a "Coke" = Welcome back

... or giving a returned soldier a taste of home There's an easy way to make a soldier on furlough feel right at home. It's to offer him refreshing Coca-Cola. Have a "Coke" is always the hospitable thing to say. In many lands overseas, as in your own living room, Coca-Cola stands for the pause that refreshes, —has become a happy symbol of hospitality, at home as everywhere else.

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY THE COCA-COLA BOTTLING COMPANY

"Coke" = Coca-Cola It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called "Coke".
