 String Trio—Betty Armstrong,
 Ruth Gustafson, Viletta Rowe.
 Accompanied by Margaret Van Amburg.
 Jeanne McDougall was in charge of the chapel.

Mr. Karl Bratton, director of the Conservatory, will give a recital before the Lewis County Chapter of the Washington State Music Teachers' Association at 4 o'clock Sunday, December 10, at Chehalis. He will sing for the chapel at the Chehalis High School on Monday morning and then will travel to Centralia for an appearance in the high school that same afternoon. Mrs. Bratton will travel with him and will accompany all of his numbers.

The Campus Trio will sing at the Alpha Beta Upsilon formal Pledge Dance that is to be held tomorrow evening in the Student Union Building. They will sing several numbers and will do a special arrangement of "White Christmas" with Gordon Volles, who is the featured soloist for the evening. On December 10th they will sing at the Emmanuel Presbyterian Church, and on the 12th at the Horace Mann Parent-Teachers' Association meeting. Next Thursday they will perform at the Tacoma Day Nursery Tea, and they will also sing for the Delta Alpha Gamma pledge dance which is to be held on the evening of December 15th.

Indes Hit Over $250 Mark With Bond, Stamp Sales

"The Minute Man Stands for Independents," and with this slogan the Independents on the campus have sold over $250 worth of war bonds and stamps during the last two weeks. Under the chairmanship of Lotise Kipper the students in this group were in the SUB on Thursday noon to assist the student customers convert their change into war bonds and stamps. The tables were solicited by Dixie Simmons and Lois Fassett.

The Women's Athletic Association will take over the sale of bonds and stamps for the next two weeks, or until the Christmas vacation.

Tamanawas Is Speeding Big Plans Soon

The Tamanawas staff is now organized, and plans are being laid to start the production of this year's Tamanawas. Under the able direction of their editor, Bev Berlie, the staff has already started the campaign to get all pictures taken as soon as possible.

For several weeks the staff labored without the benefit of a business manager. Now this vacancy has been ably filled by Marie Eckstrom. A new budget has been worked out, and approved by Central Board. This budget will allow an increase of size over last year's Tamanawas, and a few other features.

Members of the staff are as follows—Beverlie Berlie, Editor; Dorothy Herstine, Associate Editor; Marie Eckstrom, Business Manager; Pat Hildebrandt, Art Editor, assisted by Katherine Bellinger. Others working on the staff are—Lois Lynch, Elizabeth Anderberg, Maryanna Schenck, Dorothy Cochran, Lucille Randall, Gunnar Bergeman, Lujean Logan, and Jing Ho Ling.

Representatives of the campus organizations taking orders for pictures include—Helen Pat Beem, Sal Newschwander, Paul Raymond, Thelma Hardy, Bob Winskill.

Further appointments to various positions will be made at the first meeting of the staff that is to take place in the near future.

IRC Members Learn Of Japanese Internment Camp

Facts Told of Girls School; Christmas in the Camp; and Highlights of "Gripsholm" Trip Home
 Students of the International Relations Club were fascinated by the description of life in a Japanese internment camp last Monday night. The interested listeners heard Miss Martha Ann Wilson, graduate of CPS, and recently repatriated when she returned to the states from a civilian internment camp in Japan. Miss Wilson said that her story actually began some years ago when she was a member of the International Relations Club and active in the YW group here on the campus. It was further told by her attendance at the morning chapels, and her inspiration received from the picture of Christ at the door in the little chapel.

It was in 1938 that she first decided to become a missionary to Japan. As that was the second year of the China-Japanese war, her friends were strongly opposed to her going. However, she had an interest in teaching and was set on going. She was sent by the Presbyterian Board of Missions to a girls school in the southern part of Japan early in 1939.

The school where she taught was about the size of CPS, and she said that the atmosphere and friendliness there made her think of it as a "junior CPS." Its grade levels would correspond to the junior and high school grades here. In telling of her first Christmas there she told of the class of the third year girls who, in spite of their country's war with China, sent a gift of money to a northern Chinese village where they heard a well was needed.

"Many people ask, what was I doing when the Doolittle flyers came over," she said, and then continued, "Well, I was doing my lessons."

Chapel Box

Tuesday, Dec. 12—Dr. Tobias, National YMCA secretary. Mr. Cy Shaw, Tacoma YMCA secretary. Alice Skinner, presiding.

Wednesday, Dec. 13—Miss Dorothy Blatter, The Adelpian Chorus, Jolly Torgerson, presiding.

Friday, Dec. 15—Christmas Song Fest. Helen Pat Beem.

Monday, Dec. 18 — Christmas Worship Service, Dr. R. Franklin Thompson, Jean Thurber, presiding. Anna Marie Vaughn, vocal solo.

Wednesday, Dec. 20 — Dickens "The Christmas Carol." Campus Playcrafters. The Adelpian Chorus.

Dr. Alcorn To Give Lecture Here

Dr. Gordon Alcorn, biologist and former student and instructor at the College of Puget Sound, will lecture on "Hereditry," at the meeting of the newly organized Psychology Club at the home of Professor Robert D. Sinclair, 3117 N. 19th, Monday, Dec. 11, at 7:30 p. m. The meeting is open to all who are interested.

Upon graduation from CPS, Dr. Alcorn proceeded to the University of Washington, where he was awarded the doctor's degree. His special interests have been hereditry and the biology of birds. He has taught at the College of Puget Sound summer session.

Frosh Play Night Was Heightened By Star Actors

The freshman class once again proved their worth with their successful production of four one-act plays last Friday evening before a crowd of about 400.

"The Tenth Word," a comedy in two scenes depicting the change in the educational system as well as the students brought loud applause from those who uphold the value of true love.

Tina Gagliardi, with her lisp and childish actions was easily one of the stars of the show. Her contemporaries did not go unnoticed, however, and the clever quips of Laverne King in her attitude toward marriage were gobbled up by the cynics. The cast of this play labored under some difficulties, for Marie Switzer had not fully recovered from an attack of laryngitis and no one knew just when she would be able to get a word out.

Next in the series was "Ace Is Trumped." Big Ace Jacobs played by Bill Kearns met an untimely and cheap death at the hand of Bonnie Jean Steele as the gum-chewing, hash slinger, Ella. His number one man, Rudy Hemington, was the typical "yes man" of the underworld.

Faye McCrady as the diminutive Winnie in "Green Eyes From Roman," ran neck and neck with Tina as the star comedy performer of the evening. "Green Eyes" was the story of a jealous woman playing the part of a fortune teller at a bazaar in order to obtain information about her husband. The perfect setting for a treatise on the idiosyncracies of women; and with a cast picked to perfection, it is little wonder that "Green Eyes" was the talk of the evening.

"The Troll and the Toll Bridge," the last play of the evening found the audience just in the mood for this light fantasy. Carol Todd and her pixie-like characterization of the troll was exceptionally good. On the other hand, Don Kelseys' solo was a bit of all right, too.

Picture Dates Set By Staff Of Tamanawas

Tamanawas picture taking is to be handled in a new way this year, designed to relieve any last minute rushes to Kennel-Ellis, a schedule has been worked out that will give each organization around the campus a certain period of time in which to have their pictures taken. Representatives of each group will collect the fees, and make appointments for sittings.

Members of the campus organizations are to see their representatives, and are to pay their fee of him in advance. The representative should also know what time of the day is the most convenient to the student. The representative will make appointments for the various members of the organizations in such a way that there will be no rush, and all will have an equal opportunity to have his picture taken.

The following is a list of representatives and the times for the shooting of pictures—Betas, Helen Pat Beem, from Nov. 20 to 30, and January 22-23; Thetas, Sal Newschwander, January 10-16; Gammas, Pat Hildebrandt, January 10-16; Lambdas, Bey Berlie, January 17-20; Alpha Kai Omega; Paul Raymond, January 24-27; Dorm Girls, Thelma Hardy, February 2-6; Independents, Bob Winskill and Jing Ho Ling, February 7-17. These dates are all inclusive of the dates noted, and all pictures must be taken at this time. Be sure to see your representatives early, and get your appointments as soon as possible.

OT's Meet Here Today

Today at 2 p. m. the Northwest Regional Occupational Therapists Conference will be held in Jones Hall. A rehabilitation film taken in Great Britain will be shown. It illustrates what is being done for the returned soldiers in England.

This organization was formed last July and consists of registered Occupational Therapists in the state of Washington.

All students and anyone else interested are invited to attend. Tea will be served by the students.

Soph Class to Sponsor Skate Event Tonight

Under the general chairmanship of Anna Marie Vaughn the Sophomore class will sponsor an all-college skating party at the Lake-wood Ice Arena tonight. Skating will be from 5 p. m. to 7 p. m. and after this students will return to the SUB for refreshments. This no-date affair will cost each student 50 cents plus the cost of skates.

Committees that have been working on the evening of fun include—Phyllis Thompson, publicity; Betty Jane Cappa and Roberta Radke, refreshments, and Kerttu Kahn and Bob MacCullough, decorations.

President of the class, Bob MacCullough, explains the signs seen around school this past week, by wanting to know—"Where's everybody going? Would you like to know a secret? Where's the rush?" And, naturally the answer is THE SOPHOMORE SPONSORED ALL-COLLEGE SKATING PARTY!

Only 13 Shopping Days 'Til Christmas

Activities Are Concentrated In pre-Holiday; pre-final Days

With the passing of the holiday season, the diversified activities of we co-eds and fellows have become somewhat concentrated. As we glance back over past events, we find that the Thanksgiving vacation can give us a glimpse of what students will be doing during the Christmas holidays, as well as a glimpse as to what they are doing during the present time, besides, going to classes, studying, etc.

It seems that one busy little miss, Jean Erhart, by name, spent her vacation up across the big drink on the canal. One morning she managed to get up before breakfast and arouse the Oysters out of their beds, so that the Erhart family could enjoy oyster stew as their festive feast. We wonder, is this just a sample of what her longer vacation will be like?

The two roomies, Thelma and Mary Anna, who by the way are attempting to break a record by living together for four straight years, took a bus to the Brown's Point district, and returned with their luggage filled to the brim with clean clothes, mended garments, and polished shoes . . . my, mothers are handy huh, MA?

Floyd, the house boy deluxe, took the train to Cammas, or should I say the train took him, and he enjoyed a pleasant vacation with the family, only to return to spend two weeks trying to get the studying done to catch up on his homework. Bill Kerns and Bill Campbell visited up Everett way, and it is rumored, that Bill K. doesn't intend to make up that lab he cut.

Looking to the future, we find that Mag Gallagher, who caught such a horrible cold witnessing the annual defeat of Stadium that she just didn't manage to get that term paper done, has been planning to study during her Christmas leave of absence from classes. Lucille Randall plans to hop a train to Spokane and visit friends, and the family of one certain friend who is a paratrooper. 'Tis said!

At the present time, the students have all been cramming for 12 week tests, and to quote a certain typical co-ed, "the only thing bad about the forthcoming Christmas vacation, is that I'll . . . well just think, only four more weeks till finals." That's life, and it's NOT a magazine.

Recreation Was Theme of Speech

The advantages of organized recreation in the city were stressed in Chapel last Monday when Mr. Thomas Lantz, director of the Tacoma Park Board spoke to the students.

He told of the numerous recreational programs being carried out in the schools. For those who athletically inclined there are games in the gyms. In the classrooms, arts and crafts are studied and even symphony orchestras are formed.

CPS Stands High in Personalized Education

Only about one-eighth of the persons college age are given the opportunity of attending college. Of these select few, only a small portion can attend an institution with the high standards of the College of Puget Sound. Only a select few attend a college where personalized education is emphasized, only a small portion of these schools have the type of student government that we do here at CPS. You are very definitely privileged to be a student of this, "Our College of Dreams."

Are you taking advantage of this opportunity? When you go to class, do you sit there in suspense hoping you won't be called on? Do you frequently cut chapels? Do you plan your own social life so that you cannot find time to attend the functions planned by the Student Affairs Committee?

If you have attained such habits as these, you are abusing a great privilege. The privilege that so few Americans are given the opportunity to exercise. We are asking you, for your own sake, to take advantage of every opportunity offered you, and support your school functions. Respect your college standards, and show your respect by trying to get the very most while you are here.

Selective Service

Words of praise and glory, words of wisdom, true and mere facts from far and wide, come to the members of the Trail Staff concerning former students who are now in the armed forces of the United States. It is these words that we so boldly tend to pass on to you.

From the United States Marines comes word that John Lantz, former student here, has been commissioned a second lieutenant in the Marine corps, and is now undergoing advanced training at Quantico, Va. Johnny majored in mathematics while here and has been a Marine since 1942.

Seen on the campus recently have been many past student body members. 'Twas mighty nifty seeing Williard Gee in his Lt.'s uniform, Williard is the fellow who wrote home last year and said, "Even the moon doesn't make these natives look white."

Ensign Norm Willard was also back visiting last week, as was Jack Knapp of the army, and Lt. Grant Barker. Grant is a photographer in the air corp and has been away from his alma mater only eight months. Pretty speedy work there boy. Jack Duncan was welcomed as among the returning students to the fraternity ball, as was Merle Legg who is with the Navy hospital in Seattle.

The dorm girls were given their usual thrill when Ted Knudson, now a V-12 at the U. of W. was a dinner guest recently. Clarke Wilhelm has also been seen around several times. Those sailor uniforms look very nice, if you please.

From somewhere in New Guinea we learn "Captain Howard L. Richardson, Tacoma physician who received his Bachelor of Science Degree from the College of Puget Sound, is one of the doctors of a station hospital treating battle and medical casualties at one of General MacArthur's larger New Guinea bases. Captain Richard served four years in the Washington National Guard, and came into active duty as a medical officer in August, 1941." A record to be proud of, and we are proud of you Captain Richardson.

From Columbus, Mississippi we learn that Frank Marvin recently received his silver wings, and was transferred in rank at the recent graduation of the Army Air Forces. Frank is well remembered as an honor student while enrolled here.

From the fairer standpoint, it was a wonderful party that honored WAVE Esther Waterman when she was recently home after being gone over 18 months. We estimate that about 500 persons dropped in to see her during the day.

Ensign Norman Anderson and Walter Berg are both stationed temporarily in New Guinea. Ensign Wait says the place would be wonderful, if only a certain little lady from the unmentionable school down south was there. We wonder, is it too difficult to paddle a canoe that far? Anything for the service man.

"That's all for now, see you next week, and to you fellows, we can only say Merry Christmas, and we are looking forward to the day when you can again open the door to Jones hall and see the big silver tree in the front hall, and then glance up to see the window so nicely decorated by members of Otlah, attend the frat Christmas ball, and join hands with us afterwards to sing "Does Your Heart Beat For Me." Until then—Best of Luck.

GLIMPSES

A friend of my mother's was telling the other day of a sad and somewhat embarrassing experience she had had in her home not so long ago. It seems that she has a small boy who is just at the age where he is awfully hard on his clothing—you know what I mean, football, soccer, fights, etc. Well, one day he came home with his pants all torn and it happened to be one of his mother's hectic days. She scolded him a little and then told him to go right in the other room, take off his pants and mend them himself. After a while she went in to see how he was getting along because it seemed so quiet. When she looked in she saw the torn pants lying on the chair. Then she noticed that the door to the cellar, usually closed, was open and, rather absent-mindedly, she called down the cellar door, "Are you running around down there without your pants on?" The reply was indeed enlightening—"No, madam, I am reading the gas meter."

But she isn't the only one that makes mistakes like that. Take the case of one of our professors recently when he was getting rather disgusted with the attitude and ignorance of his class. He looked over the students in coming into the room one morning and at random pointed to one of them to answer some questions.

"Who signed the Magna Charta?" No answer.

"Who was William the Conqueror?" No answer.

"Where were you on Friday?"

"Drinking beer with a friend," came the reply.

"How do you expect to pass this course if you drink beer when you should be in class?"

"I don't, sir. I only came in to fix the radiator."

But this column is supposed to be humor and not a list of people's serious experiences; so I shall endeavor now to tell you a funny joke I read the other day.

Wife—You know, I suspect my husband has a love affair with his stenographer.

Maid—I don't believe it. You're only saying that to make me jealous.

Who's Who

Miss Jolerfern Torgerson, active member of the senior class, and president of the Alpha Beta Upsilon sorority, rates high among the popular coeds. A graduate of Stadium High School, Jolly is a sociology major, and can prove that two and two do not equal four, but when it comes to Dr. Schafer's Statistics class, she sometimes wonders whether they do or not.

Senior Representative to Central Board, Jolly is that super smooth blonde you see dashing around between the dramatics department, the Pierce County Welfare office, where she finds time to do her experimental sociology, and the gym where she roots for her favorite team each noon. Doing a bang up job as portraying Mother Superior in "Murder In a Nunnery," she has handled many major roles in the dramatic department.

Active in Student affairs, she is a member of the Trail staff, pledge to Kappa Phi, and a colossal debator. She is known for her smooth dancing ability, and would like to live in Chicago since that wonderful trip she took this summer. After graduation, Jolly plans to attend graduate school and obtain her masters in Sociology, providing that Lt. doesn't interfere!

Meet Test With Dorm Songfest

The notes ring in, the notes ring out, and the dorm girls continue practice for their forthcoming songfest. It seems the little gals have grown tired of singing, "We Are the Girls of Anderson Hall," and now a new song, in fact three new songs are in the making. This year's song, under the authorship of Virginia Mekkes to do with memories. Could it be because the majority of the occupants are upperclassmen, or is it because they just like to remember. Anyhow, those gals have been kept pretty busy with practicing from 10 til 10.30 . . . and they enjoy the popcorn Mr. Gibbs graciously consented to pop and give them.

From the second floor comes the raw tunes of Listen and I'll Tell You About A. H. Gwenn Simmons, the pert little author of Dorm Dora is doing one swell job as leader, and we hear she's a strong contender for the title of song leader next year when H. P. is no longer among us.

From the ground floor, the basement babes are keeping their tunes entirely to themselves. 'Tis rumored that Bailey and Cohoon are doing a specialty act, but we aren't sure. It is also said that Helen Pat insists on writing something about sitting up straight, or posture.

Anyhow, those sour notes may turn out to be popular tunes in years to come . . . who knows! As you know, the best tunes of all come from Anderson Hall.

DORM DORA

The Christmas spirit has crept into the portals of Anderson Hall. Trees have disappeared from the "local forest" and appeared on the desks and tables in the girls' rooms, caroling between courses at dinner has helped the holiday spirit along. Everyone has a different idea as to decorating a Christmas tree, but the most original yet is the one on the third floor, northeast room, due to "wartime shortages" the only decoration adorning this lovely little tree is a lonely Colgate's tooth paste box.

Plans for the annual Christmas dance are reaching that "exciting point," everyone is comparing escorts or contemplating a real good time with the Navy boys!

A new little fad has sprung out of the "Ex-infirmary." Bobby pins scarce as they are, are being out-ruled by stockings. Helen Thomas and Suzy Weigart resemble a walking anklet style show when they get their hair all tied up on their roommates' ankle bobby socks. What those girls won't do for beauty.

Thelma Hardy is recovering again, this time from her trip to Chasmere last week-end, she had a real nice time, too.

Late evening in the dorm is not the safest time to leave a bed unguarded as Robi Robinson found out the other night. Ice bags are fine for toothaches but at the foot of a bed they don't feel very nice. Shame on you, Jan Rae, and you too, Joxie.

Telephone calls from Frisco to Simmons and Fresno to Cahoon topped the phone list and the prize mail was lots of letters for Jeanie Erhart from "That" HONEY BOY.

It would take 225 years for a normal student to complete the 2,470 courses offered by the Pennsylvania State college.

Kappa Sigma Theta Plan "Winter Wonderland" Dance Saturday Nite

"Winter Wonderland" is the theme chosen by Kappa Sigma Theta sorority for its annual pledge dance Saturday night. Miss Faye McCready is general chairman for the affair which will be held at the Tacoma Lawn and Tennis Club. Special guests will be twenty-five servicemen from Fort Lewis.

Decorations will center around Christmas tree and a snow man, with stars on the dark stained windows representing the sky.

Committees working on the dance are, Misses Tina Gagliardi, Della Lamar, and Emma Jean Spland, programs; Misses Carolyn Cummings, Elizabeth Gundstrom, Margaret Galloway and Barbara Jacksmith, decorations; and Misses Marie Opsata and Rosa Mae Monger, refreshments.

Members and pledges who will act as hostesses for the evening are Misses Phyllis Thompson, Charlotte Doers, Virginia Taylor, Jean Erhart, Janice Lindeman, Margaret Lindeman, Mary Agnes Gallagher, Jean Hallen, Barbara Engberg, Donna Agather, Jacqueline Moore, Arloug Forsbeck and Alice Ann Cross.

Others will be Misses Jean Thomas, Sheila Lamar, Barbara Jacksmith, Margaret Allen, Jane Parker, Bettianne Fulton, Helen Ahoney, Rosa Mae Monger, Margaret Galloway, Marie Opsata, Loria Beck, Ione Davis, Carolyn

KAPPA PHI PLANS CHRISTMAS PARTY

Busy planning for the annual Kappa Phi Christmas party is Miss Helen Pat Beem, general chairman of the event, when alums of the organization will be honored for the evening. Mason Methodist Church the place chosen for the affair, and games will be played and refreshments served, according to the chairman.

Paris Fashions May Soon Come Over Wire In Color

By GUNNAR BERGMANN

Paris fashions transmitted in full-color pictures to all parts of the world and full-color pictures of news events sent rapidly as black-and-white pictures may be expected soon as a result of a new process for the transmission of color by facsimile recently patented by Finch Telecommunications, Ossauic, N. J.

The technique of sending and receiving color pictures is basically the same as for sending newspapers, weather maps, news pictures, and other black-and-white pictures and is by facsimile.

The color picture is placed on a cylindrical drum in a machine where it is scanned, line by line, by a photo-electric eye. A color disk is placed between the scanning eye and the picture on the drum of the transmitter. This color disk contains triangular gelatin sections of three primary colors—red, yellow and green—so that each in turn is filtered out and recorded by exposure of the film on the receiving drum. The transmitting cylinder revolves at 300 revolutions a minute.

In this way, first color selected for transmission is filtered and sent to the receiving end, the receiving drum has three times the circumference of the transmitting drum, so that it takes all three colors which record the three primary colors. This drum revolves at 900 revolutions a minute.

Thus, when the transmitter has scanned a complete line, just as you are scanning this line as you read it, the receiving drum has received only one-third of a revolution covering a single line on one drum.

Campus Chatter

"Ha-choo! Boddin be, bruddah, bud I god a code, ad bi dhroat hurds like adydig," sneezed a good many CPS'ns the past week. Maybe it could be due to the cold weather and too much dashing around without warm clothes. Whatever it was that happened, to all sufferers, "Gesundheit!"

"And the green grass grew all around..." But it won't unless we look, and remember before we leap across it, leaving little tell-tale foot paths in our wake. Over towards the SUB is the worst offense, so let's give the grass a chance.

Tonight's the night for every student to relax and enjoy an evening of ice skating, followed by dinner and games. The sophomores have really worked hard to give you a "big time," so let's all be over at the SUB by 4.30, at the latest.

The Christmas season is descending on us in reality, what with all the dances and parties being planned by sororities, clubs, and last, but by no means least, the dorm's song fest. And then there are those haughty souls who say, "I have al-l my Christmas shopping done!"

Santa Claus is comin' to town, and laden with gifts for various unsuspecting students during Friday's chapel on December 15, and so, everyone should draw a big red and green mark around that date on their calendar. Popular Christmas tunes, as well as carols, will be sung, so it's one you won't want to miss.

"Victory in Europe," is the day we're all hoping for, and when it comes, a special chapel program will be held. If the news breaks before 1.00 in the afternoon, the chapel bell will ring immediately, and following the program, classes will be excused for the remainder of the day. If it comes after 1.00, the chapel will be held at 8.00 the following morning. More details will be announced later, but keep this much in mind.

Remember! Soph Party Tonight!

The entire student body is invited, by members of the Sophomore class, to attend an ice-skating party tonight. Trucks will leave Kittredge Hall, bound for the Lakewood Ice Arena, at regular intervals, beginning at 3.30, with the last load going out at 4.30.

Skating will be from 5.00 to 7.00, whereupon students will return by truck to the SUB, where dinner will be served. Following this will be games and dancing, until 11.00. This is an absolutely no-date affair, and costs for the evening will be 50 cents, plus extra for skates.

Miss Anna Marie Vaughn is general chairman for the event. She is being assisted by Robert McCullough and Miss Kertu Kahn, decorations; and Misses Phyllis Thompson, publicity; Betty Jane Kappa, and Roberta Radke, refreshments.

Committees Handle Schedule For Big Women's Sports Spree

There are rumors of big doin's planned for the Women's Federation "Country Capers" next Friday night in the gym. Co-chairmen, Misses Margaret Lindeman and Evelyn Marshall, tell tales of hayseeds, jeans and plaid shirts, apples, peanuts, pop-corn, and even carrots.

There will be volleyball, ping-pong, badminton, square dancing and community singing. "Remember, all you girls, come, and wear your most comfortable clothes, ready for a good time," say the co-chairmen. Admission will be 35 cents.

Committees planning the affair are Misses Ruby Smith, Joyce Fearn, Jean Thomas and Lucille Randall, decorations; Misses Betty Armour, Mary Agnes Gallagher, Shirley Gibbs and Beverly Hofstetter, refreshments, and Misses Murden Woods, Mary Ann Truitt, June Larson, Janice Lindeman, Catherine Funke and Janye Shaffer, sports.

Others are—Misses Helen Pat Beem, Tina Gagliardi and Jeane Thurber, entertainment; Misses Alice Ann Cross, Marie Eckstrom, Jean Hallen, Eunice Moberg, Louise Kipper and Donna Cohoon, tickets and invitations; Misses Sue Hendrickson, Dorcas Eggesbo,

"Holiday Inn" Theme Chosen For Alpha Beta Upsilon Pledge Dance

Gaiety will reign over Kittredge Hall Saturday night when Alpha Beta Upsilon sorority holds its annual pledge dance. Twenty-five servicemen from Fort Lewis will be special guests of the group. Under the general chairmanship of Misses Gwentyth Simmons and Mollie Schlegal, the formal ball will have a "Holiday Inn" theme.

The four corners of the room will carry out the festive season, with the center representing Christmas, a corner carrying out New Years, while Hallowe'en, St. Pat's Day and Valentine themes will adorn the three remaining corners.

During intermission, the Campus Trio, composed of Misses Marion Clendenen, Virginia Kilde and Mrs. Betty Heldinger Smith will sing "Winter Wonderland." Miss Jeane Thurber will be their accompanist. Gordon Volles, accompanied by Miss Mollie Schlegal, will sing several numbers, with the trio providing background music. Music for dancing will be supplied by an orchestra from Fort Lewis.

Committees working on the affair include, Misses Betty Dunn and Jacqueline Kilbourne, programs; Misses Juanita Baumgartner, Francis Quinn, June Larson, Marion Robinson, Ruth Berhens, Dorothy Dean Davis and Bonnie Sinclair, decorations; Miss Helene Koehler, orchestra and intermission program, and Miss Francis Quinn, refreshments. The entire pledge group will comprise the clean-up committee.

Patrons and patronesses for the evening will be Dr. and Mrs. R. Franklin Thompson, Dr. and Mrs. Raymond S. Seward, Dr. and Mrs. Mavrin Schafer and Mr. and Mrs. Karl H. Bratton.

Hostesses for the evening include Misses Jolafern Torgerson, Elaine McLorinan, Mary Jean Heldinger, Mollie Schlegal, Virginia Kilde, Helene Koehler, Evane Stephens, Jacqueline Kilbourne, Marian Robinson, Francis Quinn, Juanita Baumgartner, June Larson, Carolyn Hitchcock, Polly Packard, Bonnie Sinclair, Shirlee Nelson, Nancy Keaton, Jean Sulley, Roth Behrens, Betty Dunn and Gwentyth Simmons.

Others are Misses La Verne King, Peggy Doubek, Patricia Robinson, Virginia Barker, Rae Johnson, Marla Clark, Fontelle Gaddis, Betty Armour, Helen Caputo, Lucille Randall, Dixie Bullard, Helen Pat Beem, Evelyn Marshall, Joranne Midtsatre, Peggy Rough, Mary Rough, Myrtle Chatwood, Joan Christensen and Mrs. John Christensen.

An incomplete list of guests for the affair includes Sgt. L. M. Orange, Steven Preston, Gordon Volles, Richard Eckert, Glenn McCowell, William Lashley, Glenn Conner, Glen Hanson, Robert Winskill, William Byrnes, Michael Hill, Kenneth Pearson, Theodore Knudson and John Christensen.

Special guests for the evening will be Misses Ann Frey, Dorothy Mullard, Patricia Hildebrandt, Jeane Thurber, Deane Pickett, Beverlie Berlie and Beverly Hofstetter. Also Robert Oquist, Richard Kinley, and LeRoy Vaughn.

Shakespeare Copy Sent Here From Former Student

Straight from London, a facsimile of the first folio text of Shakespeare's "Macbeth" came recently to Professor Julius P. Jaeger as a gift from Lt. Carl J. Engfer, former student at the College of Puget Sound.

The "First Folio" was the first complete edition of Shakespeare's plays to be printed, and was published in 1623, seven years after the poet's death, according to Professor Jaeger.

Lt. Engfer procured the modern facsimile edition of "Macbeth" at "Foyles," a famous London book store, while on leave from his Air Corps base somewhere in England.

STUDENTS ORGANIZE BASKETBALL TEAM

Norm Mayer Has Been Obtained As a Part Time Basketball Coach

Once again Basketball comes on the scene at CPS. This time it is in the form of a team which is to be known as the CPS Campus Team, and which has been developed out of boys from the intramural program. Although this team is not a varsity squad, games with outside teams are being arranged.

A team had been organized through the effort of the boys, and due to their intense interest, a search was made for an available coach who could spend a few days of the week with them. This search was finally ended in the obtaining of Norm Mayer, a graduate and former coach at the College of Puget Sound.

The coach says that although the team has been late in organizing, it shows potentialities of becoming stiff opposition for any comers. The boys are in shape and show the enthusiasm fight, and determination to carry on in true logger spirit, the colorful traditions of CPS.

It now appears as if the starting five men shall be Bob Oquist at center, Chuck Brown and George Addison at the forwards positions, and Carl Arness and Bill Campbell at the guard slots. Bob Minitti, Chuck Morris, Bob Hintze, Kenny Hoggat, Dick Eckert, Chuck Reid, Don Carsten and Don Kelsey are putting up stiff competition for the team positions.

An excellent opportunity to arouse the school spirit presents itself, so lend your support by coming to the games, and urging your team on to victory.

A practice game was played last night with a McChord Field negro team, and our players showed their worth. The score was, CPS 49, to McChord Field 26.

Japanese Internment

and she attended daily classes. Even at this time, however, she and several other teachers had been taken from their original schools to a city where they were not the only Americans. In telling of the raid and the days following, she admitted that she had felt quite humbled when the Japanese police guards at their gate had insisted that one of them would stay in the house every night to see that no harm came to the teachers.

It seems that everything in Japan is rationed, which meant that the cook and her housekeeper had to stand in line each day for the quota of food. Then, as they were not allowed out of the yard surrounding their house, the Japanese detective would do their shopping for them by way of a list. This latter process was sometimes a rather comical affair, as they invariably had to explain what it was they wanted and where to get it.

While staying in this house they were under strict guard, though they were allowed visitors when okayed by the police chief. One day, however, a friend of theirs came to visit when all the servants and the guards were gone. Thinking that what the guards didn't know wouldn't hurt them, the two teachers let the man in and they spent several hours talking. Though they had thought they had fooled their guards, they were taken to jail the next morning and "punished" for relaxing the rules. They spent the next three days in solitary confinement in a stone floored cell with only two very flimsy blankets and their coats for protection. As it was in the winter, and there is little or no heat of any sort in Japanese houses, or buildings, they had a rather hard time of it. Typical of the Japanese thoughtfulness, the very policeman that had turned them in, saw to it that their maids knew just when they would be home so as to have plenty of hot water handy for them to bathe.

Shortly after this they were sent to Kobe to an internment camp where there were numerous other missionaries. It was here that she said they all learned many lessons in inter-religious and inter-racial relations. They were in this camp a year before they finally were given passage on the exchange ship which would take them to Goa where they would be transferred to the Swedish liner "Gripsholm."

When they arrived at this tiny port, all passengers lined the rails

Hoop Season Opens Here

With the beginning of the Basketball season on Monday comes an enthusiasm and competitive spirit which no other sport can excite. Basketball is one of the most popular sports on the campus. A lively interest is shown in class competition and in the keen competition between the various organizations.

There are some very good players on the teams this year, and we find that many of them are outstanding players from last year's games. Among the best are—Mary Ann Truitt (a very smooth forward), Almira Marchesini, Ruby Smith, Jeanne MacDougall, Evelyn Marshall, and Margaret Lindeman. Jane Shaffer, who has been playing Forward, is going to be changed to Guard.

These Basketball experts will go into action on Monday, when Basketball practice begins. Practice will continue until Christmas, when class and Sorority games will commence. The fine players and the keen competition hold promise of some extremely exciting games.

Last year the coveted Basketball cup was won by the Gamma's, but not without some very close competition. In fact, the Betas lost the cup by just two points. In view of these facts, we can realize how close the competition becomes and the keen competitive spirit which is involved in these class and Sorority games. With the enthusiasm and excitement displayed among various Basketball players, we can anticipate a thrilling season in Basketball.

in anxious expectancy. It took nearly a week to get all the passengers and baggage transferred from the Japanese exchange ship to the "Gripsholm." In fact, "it took 45 minutes just to get our baggage transferred," she said.

On the ship while they were being transferred she met a young Japanese girl who was being returned to Japan. She had been in an internment camp in the states and had many interesting things to tell from her side of the fence, so to speak.

In concluding Miss Wilson said that she had recently met a young Nisei here in the states who had said, "We are Americans who wear a racial mask which we cannot take off."

"Let's be color blind if that will help," she finished.

Organizational Volleyball Is Close Battle

The championship of the inter-organization volleyball games will be determined this noon, as the final games are to be played.

The possibilities of the championship, which includes the standing of both the "A" and "B" teams, point to the Gammas if they are victorious in their game today. A tie between the Gammas and the Betas "A" teams will occur if the Gammas win this noon. A victory today for the Independents will place them in the lead for the "B" team championship. Otherwise, they and the Thetas will tie for first place.

A fast and furious battle took place last Friday, when the Gamma and Beta "A" teams tied 16 to 16, in one of the most decisive games of the tournament. An enthusiastic rooting section from each group spurred their teams on to victory. In the first half the Betas took the lead, but the Gammas made a come-back and a close and exciting battle took place.

In the "B" team game the Gammas took the Betas by a score of 18 to 15.

Wednesday's game between the Betas and Thetas proved to be very close, with the Beta "A" team edging out the Thetas by a slim margin of one point, 18 to 17. This leaves the Beta "A" team undefeated, as it is credited with three victories and one tie.

The "B" game of the Betas and Thetas was equally exciting, the score ending in a tie, 21 to 21.

Another thrilling game occurred Monday, when the Independent "B" team defeated the Gammas by one point, the game ending 23 to 22.

The Gamma "A" team, however, scored upon the Independents, 20 to 13.

The results of the other games played during the week are—Thetas over Lambdas, 30-4; Betas over Lambdas, 22-18; Independents over Lambdas, 29-20.

The present standing of the teams are—

"A" Teams	Won	Lost	Tie
Betas	3	0	1
Gammas	2	0	1
Thetas	1	2	0
Independents	1	2	0
Lambdas	0	3	0

"B" Teams	Won	Lost	Tie
Thetas	2	0	1
Gammas	1	2	0

W. A. A.

Don't think we'll ever see another volleyball game like the thriller played last week between the Betas and the Gammas. In the last minute of playing time it was impossible to tell who would come out on top, and the fact that it was a tie made everyone happy. We especially liked the enthusiasm of the players' sorority sisters on the sidelines—first one side stamping and yelling and then the other side. A couple of Thetas were having a little trouble trying to be impartial with their enthusiasm, and finally settled the problem by keeping quiet and getting together—if you can call what Gallagher was doing being quiet.

It looks as if the Gammas in the volleyball championship in the bag, and from what we hear they're pretty happy about the whole thing. The Theta-Beta game on Wednesday was nip and tuck, with a surprise ending to the Thetas when it was announced that a mistake had been made in the scoring, making the B game a tie. They now have a warm spot in their hearts for Jane Schaffner because of that little mistake!

Equally as thrilling was the ping-pong game played last week between Marie Eckstrom and Louise Kipper. The final score was 29-27 with a couple of wonderful plays and a completely unnerfed audience!

Take a look at the bulletin board in lower Jones Hall and find out where you stand in points earned in athletics. Thanks to our athletic manager, Betty Armour, complete up-to-date information is available to everyone.

Inter-sorority ping-pong started Monday and we've been playing fast and furious this past week. Get our 100 points in by then. The date was postponed a week because of inter-sorority volleyball, everyone should be set and ready to go on Monday.

We'll see you at the "Capers" sponsored by Women's Federation next Friday night at the gym—don't miss it!
