Homecoming Festivities To End With Dance

Coronation, Play, Community Singing and Songfest Scheduled for Tonight; Banquet and Dance To Be Held Saturday Evening, According to Dorcas Eggesbo, Homecoming Chairman.

Tonight's Homecoming festivities will begin with the crowning of the King and Queen at 8 o'clock in Jones Hall Auditorium, states Dorcas Eggesbo, homecoming chairman. The Queen has already been elected by the votes of the men on the campus, but the winning candidate will not be revealed until this evening. Reigning as King will be the winner of the beard growing contest.

Following the coronation, a third presentation of "Ramshackle Inn" will be given, which, in turn, will be followed by community singing and the Songfest. The singing is to be led by Mary Ann Truitt.

Preceding the play and the coronation, the faculty will be "at-home" in the reception room at Jones Hall from 7 to 8 o'clock.

Coronation Chairman Peggy Rough will be assisted by a committee composed of Shirley Milsted, Ruth Behrens, Mary Louise Guthrie, Janette Blake, Helen Jean Darling and Shirley Gibbs.

President R. Franklin Thompson is to crown the Queen. Escorts for the royal party will be Bob Nordgard, Emile Kozetser, Nick Nicholas, Marvin Scott and Jerry Baker.

Songs entered in the Songfest are to be presented in the following order:

Sophomores—"Logger Victory Song," with music by Mollie Schlegel and words by Jane Parker.

Freshmen—"On to Victory," with music by Leonard Raver and Kelly Hamilton, and words by Harold Simonson, Jeanne Miles, Anita Stebbins, Kelly Hamilton and Leonard Raver.

Juniors—"The Timber Song," with music by Elizabeth Anderberg and words by Janice Lindeman.

Seniors—"Our Pledge," with music by Jane Koehler and words by Jeane Thurber.

The winning song will be selected by four faculty members—President Thompson, Prof. Clyde Keutzer, Mrs. Lyle Drushel and Doctor Helen Fossum. The winners will be presented with a pennant and will have their class year entered on the Songfest plaque.

An alumni banquet at 6:30 o'clock at First Methodist church (Fifth and Kay Streets) and a formal dance from 9 to 12 in the Student Union Building are scheduled for Saturday night.

Lucille Ludwick is dance chairman, and is to be assisted by these committees: Decorations—Peggy Doubek and Barbara Engberg; program—Betty Smith; publicity—Kerttu Kahn; music—Dick Eckert, and refreshments—Mary Agnes Gallagher.

Hal Gullet's orchestra is to play for the dance, which is to be a program affair. Jo Gormley, fresh-

Class Competition To Be Stressed In Bond Drive

"Of course the Freshmen and Juniors are going to win, but I think the Seniors and Sophomores should buy just as many bonds and stamps as they possibly can, anyway," says Gretchen Ernst, chairman of the Victory loan drive publicity committee of the Freshman class.

With these words, Gretchen rested her case until the week after next when the Juniors and Frosh will again be handling the advertising of the drive, the plan being for each group of two classes to advertise alternate weeks.

Bonds will be sold by the Spurs from a booth in the main entrance of the SUB and at a table at the end of the lunch line on Tuesdays and Thursdays between 12 and 1:30 o'clock.

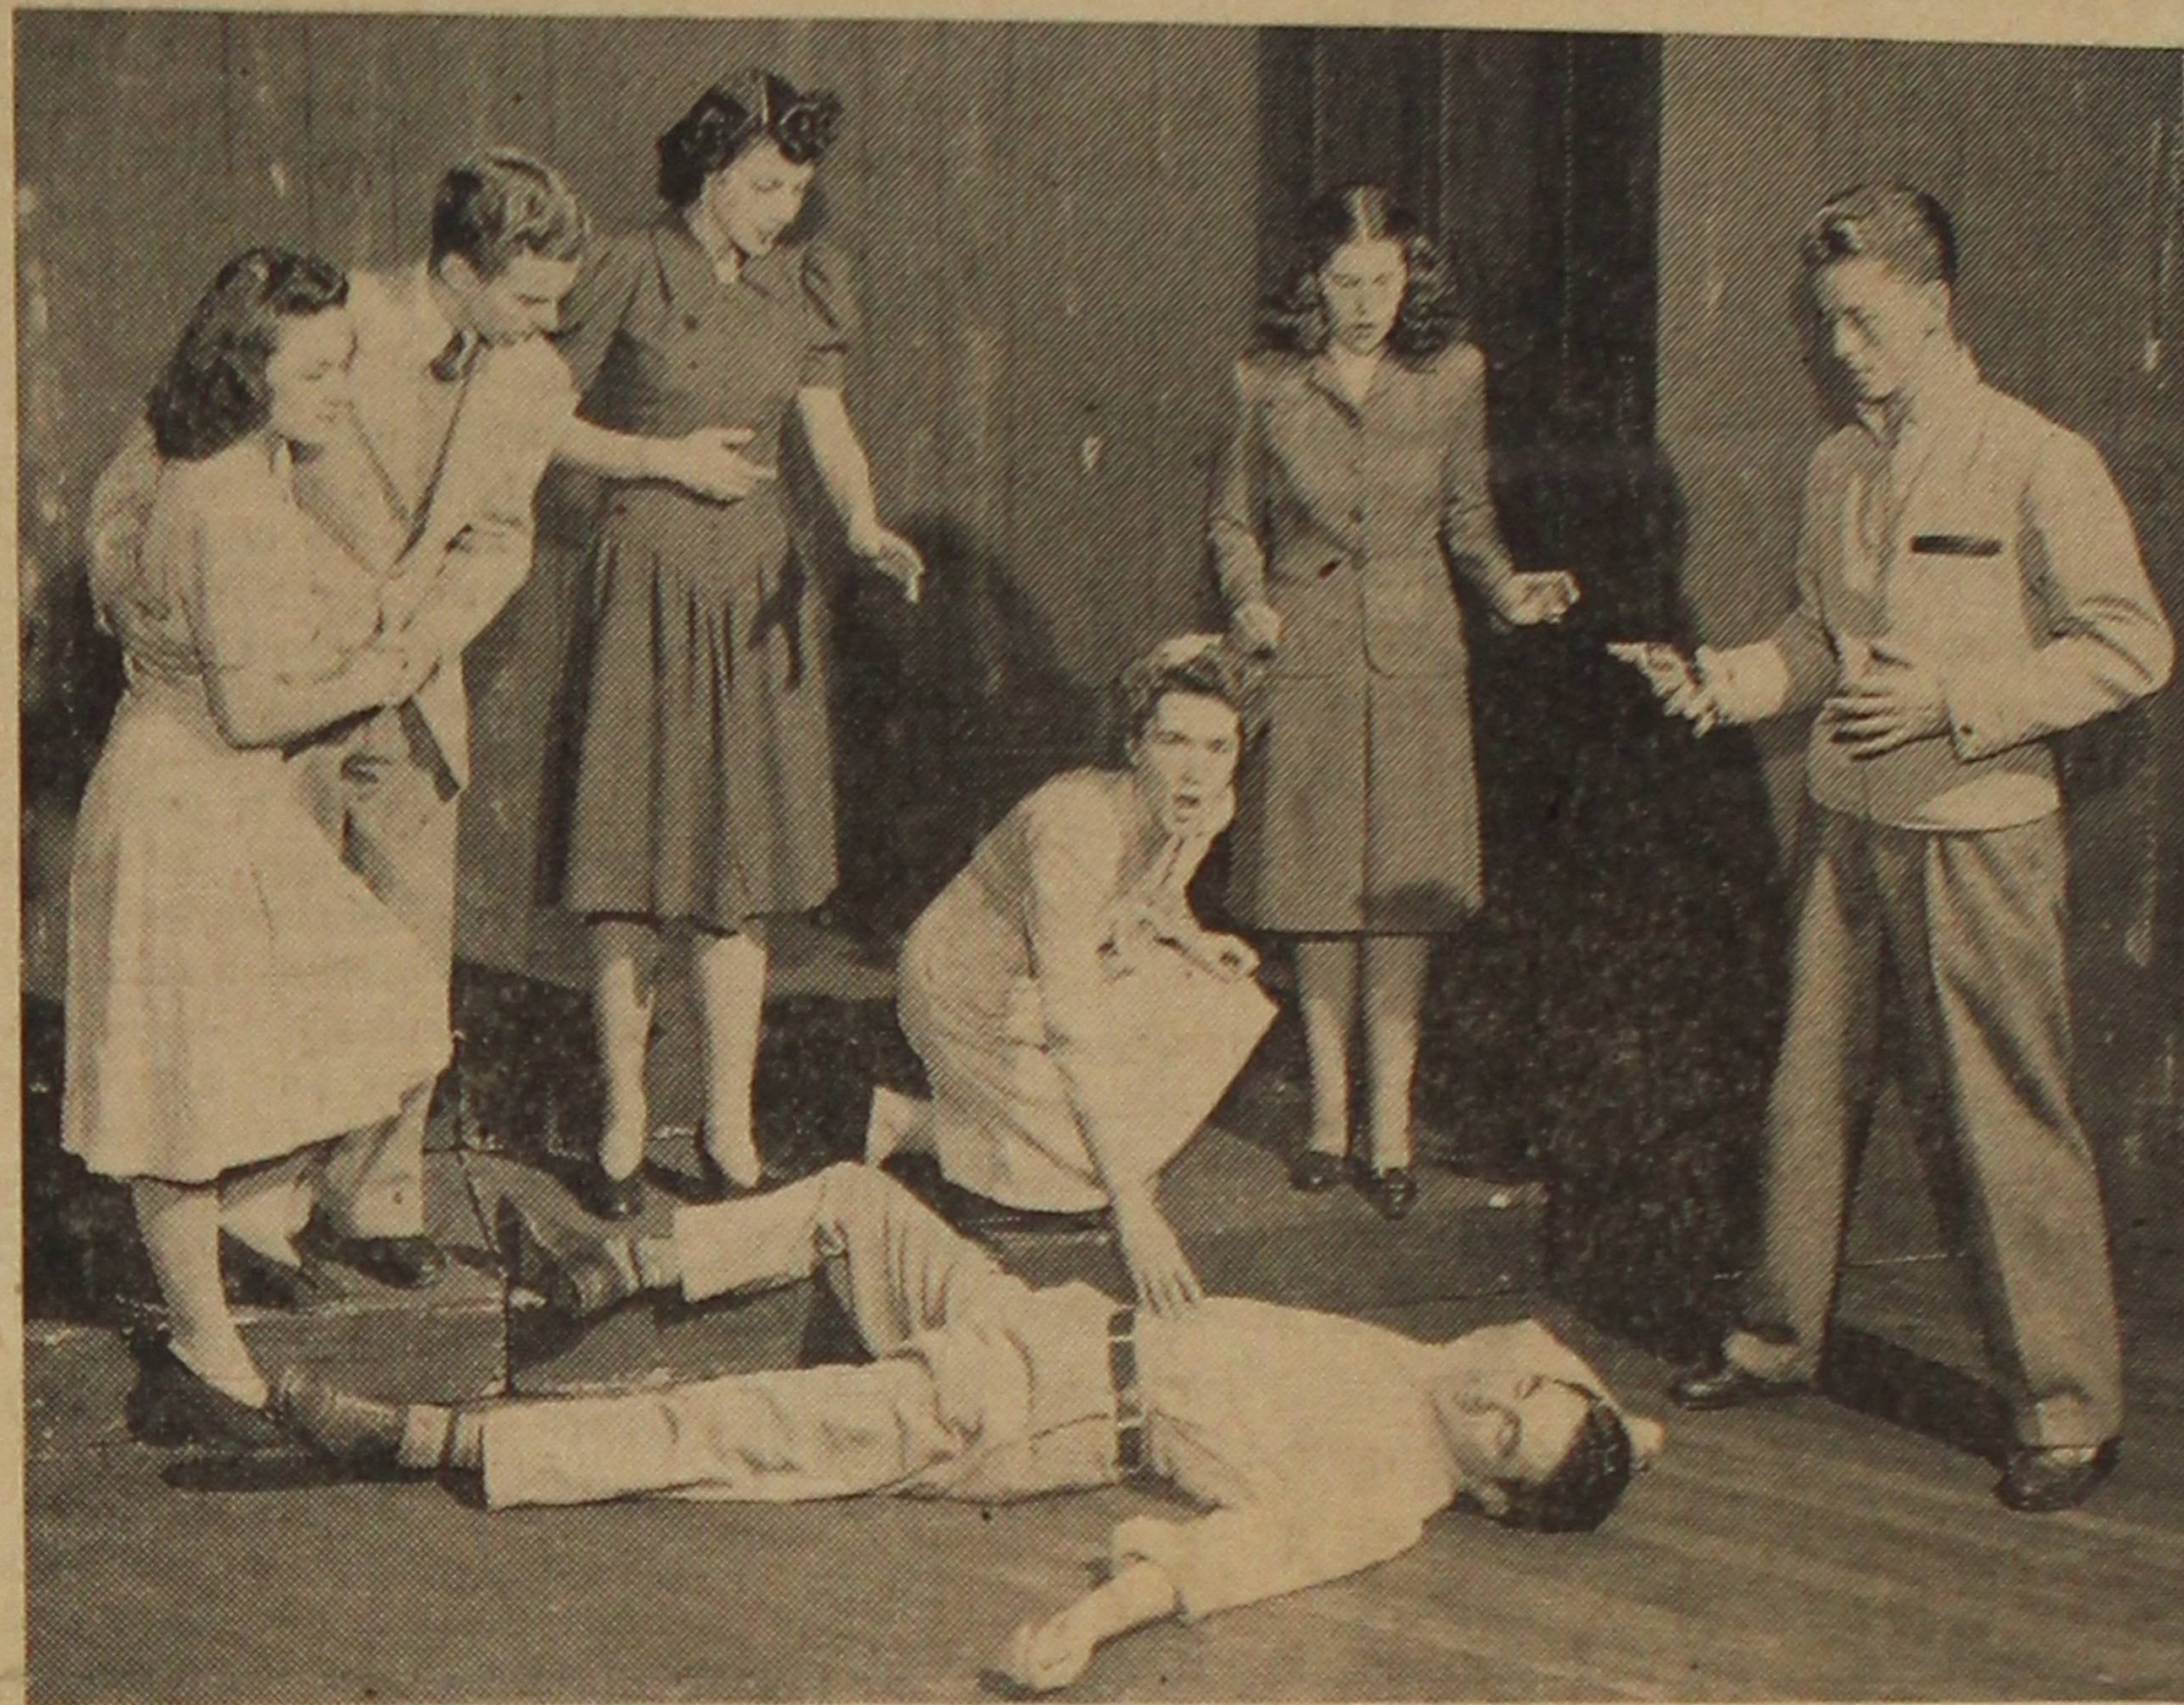

Along with the national drive, the school drive will close on December 8, according to Peggy Rough, chairman of the campaign.

Heading the committees for advertising in each class are Virginia Norton and Dorothy Schweinler for the Seniors, Janice Lindeman, Juniors, and Shirley Milstead, Sophomores, with Bob Winskill as general publicity chairman.

"Nearly 1000 men from the College of Puget Sound have served on all the fronts of the world. Forty-seven of these have died. It is the responsibility of all of us to support this last loan. In order to help those who have been wounded and need rehabilitation, we must make the victory complete," urges President R. Franklin Thompson.

man, will sing with the orchestra. Admission is $1.50 a couple.

Chairman for the banquet is Colonel Ensley Llewellyn, CPS alumnus. Admission is $1.00 for students and $1.50 for alums.

New Radio Club; President Elected

Anyone interested in radio is invited to join the newly formed Radio Club, which was organized on Monday, October 22, with Dr. Seward as faculty adviser.

Ken Hoggatt was elected president of the club, with Pat Pratt as vice president, John Tucker as secretary, and Clinton Smith as treasurer. Meetings are planned for Tuesday evenings in the Physics lab, and invitations to membership are extended to anyone interested, both men and women.

The purpose of the club, according to John Tucker, is to help the members to get an amateur radio license. Valuable technical and scientific training may be gained, as well as practical knowledge, and it will also prove to be an interesting source of recreation.

Music Department Presents Program

Opening a series of broadcasts of which there will be at least six during the coming year, students of the CPS music department, under the direction of Prof. Clyde Keutzer, were featured on the "Campus Theater" program over station KMO at 8 p. m. Wednesday, Oct. 24. The program was rebroadcast by transcription over KTBI and KVI at 7:30 the following night.

The next CPS broadcast in this series, which consists of performances by high schools and colleges of Tacoma and vicinity, will be Nov. 20, revealed Professor Keutzer.

Homecoming Play Features Horror, Humor and Romance

By MURDEN WOODS

With a howling wind, a rumble of thunder and a flash of lightning "Ramshackle Inn," this year's Homecoming play, started its first performance Thursday afternoon for an enthusiastic high school audience. It was presented again in the evening, and will also be given tonight.

Adding both an air of mystery and suspense, the semi-darkened stage shows shadowy figures moving here and there throughout the entire play. Coming to the front for the horror role is Walter Seabloom as Patton, the character more at home with a knife or pistol in hand than a daisy, and whose ambition is to populate the local cemetery.

Bringing a bit of humor (of the uproarious variety) is Irene Fearn as the "lady in waiting" (old maid, in case you hadn't guessed). This flighty ex-librarian, Belinda Pryde, is just the right person for such a "ramshackle crime club." Supporting her is John Larson as Commodore Lucius Towser of the "Towers Porkies on a bun" fame.

Romantic interest is added by Leonard Raver and Elizabeth Anderberg as Bill Phillips (just recently out of the 'cooler'), and Mary Temple. Uncle Thad Temple, the "old pill," is violently portrayed by Byron Crull.

Small town Constable Small is ably portrayed by Marshall Campbell, and his bouncing assistant, Gilhooley, by Kelly Hamilton. Just to complicate matters there are several persons of mystery—that is, people that are rather questionable in more ways than one. Topping the list is Sherley Day Baisinger as Joyce Rogers, Dale Nelson as Dr. Steven Russell, and Maisie Harold as his wife. There is also Mary Rough as the disappearing 'sister' of the doctor's wife (or is she?).

Bouncing about with a great deal of efficiency is Mame Phillips, as portrayed by Bonny Jean Steele. This spicy personality finds it hard to keep up with the lights and the dead bodies in her recently sold Inn.

All in all this is a very "dead" play . . . or, that is—there are several dead ones in it, but definitely not one dead spot. Moving from one murder to the next with almost timed precision, this play is the kind to keep an audience in a complete state of edge-of-the-seat sitting. And to complete the atmosphere it is well spiced with shrieking winds, screams, crashing thunder, and flashing lightning, as well as a goodly assortment of dead bodies rapidly leading the cast on a merry chase.

Homecoming Thoughts

When one thinks of "Homecoming" one begins to wonder what the word means to those of us who use it. In other words, is the college you are returning to (or will be returning to in future years) really your "fostering mother" and you her loving son or daughter? Has each of you filled the necessary requirements for being a true son or daughter?

These requirements are quite simple in nature and yet are often difficult to fulfill, for it takes a whole lifetime, in any case.

First: each of us must attempt to make the most of our talents and abilities, if not for ourselves, for the college that has tried to show us the way to use them. A college is great not only because of its faculty and president. It is as great as the greatest of its graduates. And it is as weak as the weakest.

Plainly, then, our duty to our college is to attempt to discover the latent abilities within ourselves and try to develop them. Obstacles in our path should not hinder us. They should make us only more than ever determined to fulfill our destiny.

Second: We should attempt to discover and capture happiness. The peculiar thing about this requirement is that happiness is an elusive quality which cannot be captured in direct conquest. To gain it one must take a round-about way, sometimes through almost insurmountable difficulties.

Actually, people find happiness sooner when they are not even looking for it. Many times it comes as a partner to the realization of a great ambition. Oftener, it comes as a partner to a life of service for others.

These two, then, are the great requirements, if you would be a true son or daughter of the College of Puget Sound. Along with these two comes a far greater requirement—that of learning to be a true Christian. It ranks above the others, without doubt, and takes an added importance in these days of atomic energy.

Janis Planchard has finished burning the wires between here and California and finally has a date to the Homecoming Dance. Harold is coming up to escort her and is she excited.

Saturday morning saw five hopeful girls decorating a convertible for the U. S. C.-U. of W. game. Janis Planchard, Janice Rea, Jerry Foxwell, Jane Hill and Merillat Betz went over to see U. S. C. beaten. Betz and Planchard still maintain it was a good game.

Mary Lou Henry and Helen Hewett had a wonderful dinner aboard the Ticonderoga Sunday afternoon. Two ensigns extended the invitation and they returned to the dorm with very broad smiles.

Oh yes, Mrs. Schneider informs us that she is no longer "Mrs. S." but "Carrie the Hemmer." She spends every spare afternoon making 72" sheets out of 81" sheets.

Marie Switzer is petitioning for a sound-proof room; it seems she is a very light sleeper. Every night she screams her reminder down the hall on third floor that "someone may be sleeping."

I must leave you now and get busy and clean my room for all the guests we are going to have here in the dorm Friday night. I'll see you all then,

and that's all for now,
D. D.

A former student whom we all know because of his recent talk in chapel is Col. Ensley M. Llewellyn, who has recently been discharged from the U. S. Army. He was the editor of Stars and Stripes, the newspaper serving men in war zones throughout the world, but upon his return to civilian life has returned to his pre-war work in advertising.

Col. Llewellyn has written a book "Anglo-American Brain Trust," promoting understanding between the British and the United States.

thank you. His stooges for the college include: Mary Ann Truitt, Ruth Gustafson, Villetta Rowe, Beverly Johnson, Marshall Campbell, Janice Allen, Anna Kinrod, Phyllis Lawson, and Shirley Anne Emmert.

Many requests have come to the college and will continue to do so, for musically talented students to appear before various clubs throughout the city. Fortunately, the music department can furnish willing and capable people for entertainment. Patricia Patterson, for instance, has sung for the Roosevelt School P.-T. A., the First Baptist Church Grey Ladies, and a First Methodist Church dinner. Two of our violinists have played out (don't take this wrong), too. Ruth Gustafson fiddled for a First Methodist Church dinner, and Mary Ann Truitt entertained the Monday Civic Club.

The Campus Trio is back at its old trick of entertaining for two or three groups a week, and no one is complaining, except maybe the hard-working trio members themselves. Incidentally, the new second soprano is Mary Jean Heidinger. She takes Marian Clendenen's place.

Even the department's popular Clyde Keutzer has sung in the vicinity. The evening of October 9 he sang at Olympia for the Capitol City Music Club, and on October 25 he sang for the Women's College League at the SUB. For both of these programs he was accompanied by Mrs. Moore.

Senior Spotlight

Dorcas, Homecoming Chairwoman . by Richard Gordon

Dorcas Eggesbo contemplated the stem and leaves of the plant she'd been sketching, and said, "My first vote is going to be for a man who does something in office, a man who is not a politician, making idle campaign promises, but rather is a person who will carry out his pledges." Dorcas recrossed her legs, looked out the window for a moment, and then continued. "This country's people seem to me to be too easily swayed; they follow the leader, they don't think for themselves, and they don't seem to care. This is really the first year that I am starting to know my own mind, and it's, well, exciting — to say the least."

Homecoming—chairwoman—Dorcas is a product of Tacoma and Tacoma schools; she went in succession to Point Defiance School, Mason Junior High, and finally Stadium High, before entering CPS. Here at CPS she is majoring in Business Administration, and will receive her degree this year. She is also fascinated by art, but will continue her work in this line as a hobby only, because, upon graduation she wants to work for "intelligent people, preferably in commercial or travel lines."

"Marriage?" says Dorcas, "as for that, there's only one type of man I want—intelligent, able to realize ambitions, and yet still not be a social recluse; a guy with an all-round personality—and if I don't ever find him; why, then I won't get married at all. I can't grasp onto any old straw, and I'm not making a drudge, just for the sake of saying, 'Look! I'm married.'"

Dorcas is of pure Norwegian extraction, as both her father and mother immigrated to this country (from Norway) when they were fairly young. Needless to say, she met at some party—on this side of the sea—love, marriage, Dorcas' elder brother—now a paratrooper with the 101st Division—and Dorcas herself followed.

"The point is," said Dorcas, "I have just won a war, and now that I have reached my majority, I suddenly realize the terrific responsibility placed upon my shoulders. I never stopped to think about it before. I am an AMERICAN, and I find myself somehow made more sober and determined by the thought."

"As for Homecoming," Dorcas remarked, "the idea this year is to re-establish the old pre-war spirit on the campus as we welcome back 'home' the serviceman. Next year we will be back to the old 'propositions' and things will then be the way they should be."

And once again Dorcas lost herself in the admiration of the star and leaves she was sketching. A good girl, one thinks. Homecoming is in capable hands this year!

Prominent C. P. S. Alumni Scattered Over Country

As the homecoming weekend rolls around, the College of Puget Sound and the campus will be the scene of the return of many former students and graduates of this school. Many memories will be recalled by the visiting alumni this Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

At this time our thoughts turn to these former members of our student body and what they are doing today.

Dr. Gilbert Q. LeSourd, a graduate of 1908, is now in New York city serving as secretary of the Missionary Education Movement for the United States and Canada. He is the son of Dr. D. G. LeSourd, one of the founders of the college.

Dr. and Mrs. Ernest H. Clay are living in San Gabriel, California, where he is a prominent physician.

They were in China for approximately 20 years doing missionary work. Dr. Clay did work at the Chang Li hospital and during his stay in China Mrs. Clay did considerable research work on the bean as a food. The couple were interned in China for many months but returned to the United States about a year and a half ago on the Gripsholm.

Mrs. Clay, then Mabel Amende served as president of the CPS student body for one year during the time of World War I.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Amende (Alice Raymond), graduates of the mid twenties are now making their home in Los Angeles, California, where he is a member of the firm of Reinke, Hiller and Amende of food brokers. While attending school Mr. Amende was a prominent football player.

OFF BEAT

... By the EmCee

Last year it was Tunely Tips. This year it is Off Beat, and both names are for the same purpose. The music department is back in tune and desires to be heard. But more than that, we of the department want to be talked about — favorably. The best way to accomplish this is to let you know through Off Beat just what's going on under Professor Keutzer's guidance. In other words, this column will be a regular torture. Your editor is not a critic, so if you want to know about good music, don't read this column.

Between Don Bennett's trying to carry a tune in a bucket and Bob Holland's worrying over whether or not he would get a robe to fit, the concert chorus finally got down to business last week. On Friday officers were elected, and these people will guide the group: President, Irene Fearn; secretary, Mary Ann Truitt; librarian, Virginia Kilde; assistant librarian, Elaine McLorinan, and news editor, Marshall Campbell.

The old Adelpian chorus has not been functioning during the war years, and the group which meets on Wednesday and Friday noons takes its place. This week the name for the chorus was officially chosen by the members, and they feel that this name will do much to enhance the reputation of the school. From now on the College of Puget Sound's concert chorus will be known as the Adelpian Choir. The object of this name is to have people automatically associate the name of the chorus with the college.

Because the Adelpian Choir is the group which sings out of town, its membership is necessarily limited in number, and competition among the girls is keen. The men, says Director Keutzer, haven't much to worry about—yet. Those who sing in the chorus now are:

Sopranos: Gretchen Swayze, Irene Fearn, Elizabeth Anderberg, Virginia Kilde, Netta Harbke, Dolores Klaiber, La Verne King, Dorothy Moyles, Neva Iverson, Joan Storhow, Anita Stebbins.

Altos: Marian Syse, Dolores Craighead, Frances Holt, Jo Anne Stevens, Mary Ann Truitt, Jo Gormley, Frances Swenson, Shirley Sandin, Clarabel Stevens, Elaine McLorinan.

Basses: Robert Alexander, Arthur Knight, Marshall Campbell, Don Bennett, Robert Holland, Ray Cason, Keith Chase, Kelly Hamilton, Jerry Siburg. Leonard Raver is the accompanist.

Beginning Friday, November 16, the music department will begin a series of informal student recitals. These recitals are designed to accustom our vocalists and instrumentalists to the ways of performing in public. The time and place for these programs is 3:00 p. m. in the music building, and everyone is invited.

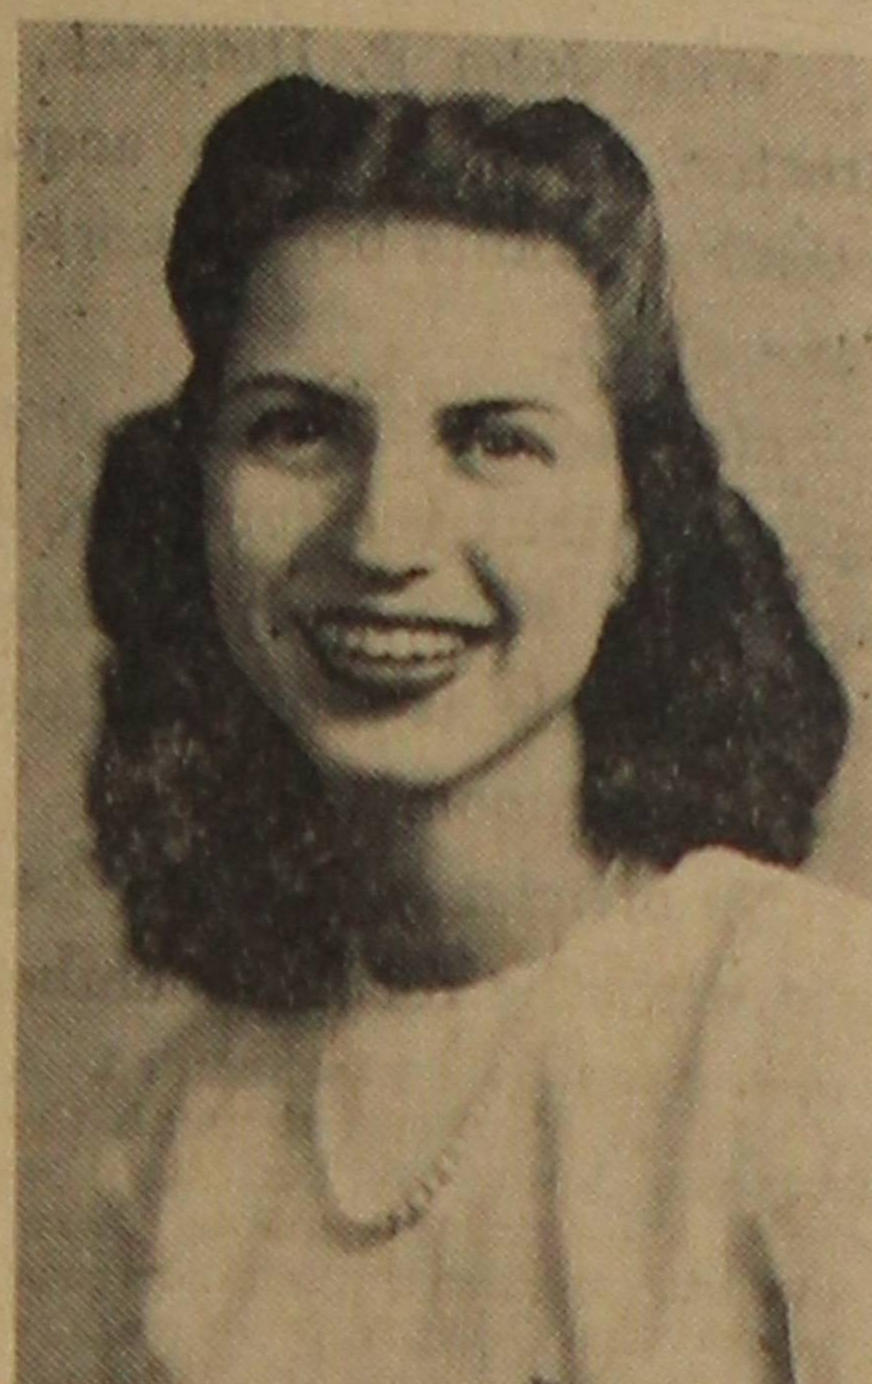

These recitals, once started, will be given every other Friday until the end of the semester, except during December and January when there is a little matter of vacation and closed period. There are no season tickets to buy and no reserved seats, so everyone please come and enjoy himself.

The Puget Sound Symphony has been pounding away for some weeks now. Professor Keutzer has complained that he has been unable to attend any rehearsals. Your writer is willing to accept his excuses, providing he does not miss the first concert, now scheduled for December 2. The new director, Frank Anarde, is doing very well,

Queen To Be Crowned At Homecoming Play

Tonight at 8 o'clock a Homecoming Queen will be crowned, and all CPS will pay homage to either Queen Helen, Queen Merillat, Queen Betty Jane, Queen Joy or Queen Ruth. The votes of the men on the campus will determine the elected queen.

Here are a number of sketches to acquaint you with the candidates:

With vim and vigour in every inch of her four feet nine inches Betty Jane Cappa takes time off from her heavy Junior schedule and club officer duties to be Independent's candidate for Homecoming Queen. With brown hair, brown eyes and a winning smile, she calls life her home. She shares her time with WAA as vice-president, Independents as president and Central Board as Junior representative. Someday soon she plans on nurses training with a major in biology and Snow. Dogs, real ones and figurines, are favorites with Betty Jane along with good things to eat and bike rides.

From Manhattan to Glendale to Tacoma came queen candidate Merillat Betz. Blonde and blue-eyed she's a vivacious Gamma with a purpose. Along with her more feminine activities she yearns to play professional football. A major in biology, Merillat has found time to be chairman of various social activities on the campus and an active participant in Anderson Hall's second floor goings-on. She likes dances, and phone calls from Pearl Harbor, but with her, "regimentation to the n'th degree" is taboo.

Joy Adams the vivacious Lambda candidate sparkles her brown eyes and brown hair at the crown. She hails from Michigan way in a town she calls "Manistique." Her major is Home Economics and someday she hopes to hang her shingle over a little dress shop. Meanwhile she loves dancing, tennis, fried oysters and stage shows. Cats of any description or hue are warned to stay away. Clair Candler and Danny Kaye are her men of the moment.

With long blond hair and blue eyes Ruth Behrens chalks up a sunny disposition and a winning smile for the Beta queen candidate. She is a native of Puyallup where she attended high school. A daily commuter she hates busses with a vengeance, but dances, reading and swimming are on her favorites list. A busy sophomore, her willing effort she gives to Spurs and Chorus. French is her major and she visions a traveling job as a language expert from France to Spain and back again.

Helen Hewett, a newcomer to CPS and a popular addition to Anderson Hall, claims Theta candidate title. Long brown hair and starry eyes, she comes from Great Falls, Montana, though she attended two years at Carleton College in Northfield, Minnesota. She is majoring in sociology and is a student in the occupational therapy department. Her greatest outside interest is music, with her record-player in constant use. She loves to swim, but won't discuss those dislikes.

Dorm Open House; Officers Elected

"We hope that everyone will be able to come and see dorm life as it really is," said dorm president, Peggy Doubek, in announcing the open house to be held the second night of Homecoming. The rooms will be open for inspection by the public, and it is hoped that as many as possible will take advantage of the opportunity to see just how the girls live.

House meetings are held in the dorm every Thursday evening, and the girls have elected officers for the coming year as follows: President, Peggy Doubek; vice president, Thelma Hardy; secretary, Mary Lou Elliott; treasurer, Lucille Randall; sergeant-at-arms, Maisie Harold; and historian, Frances Quinn.

A program for the year has been planned, with two main social functions each semester. The first big event is to be the fireside dance, which will be held on December 8. Other events will be announced at a later date.

HOMECOMING PLAY

Back stage assistants for the production include: Chuck Nee, dramatic manager, and Ruth Ann Dodsworth as assistant. Others are Evelyn Marshall, prompter; Colleen Koler, advertising; Marie Opsata, chairman, and Lois Phillips and Barbara Rowe, properties; Juanita Baumgartner, make-up chairman, assisted by Neva Iverson and Gloria Clapp; and a stage crew of Bob Lyon, Keith Chase, Mark Kennell, John Tucker, and Shirley Kendall. Anne Evans was typist.

Admission price is 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for elementary and high school students. CPS students will be admitted on Student-body cards.

Women's Faculty Club Has Hallowe'en Party

Keeping in tune with the times, the Women's Faculty Club sponsored a dinner and Hallowe'en party Tuesday evening, October 30, at six p. m. The dinner was held in the Pilgrim church, after which members and guests enjoyed games, both active and inactive, in the recreation room of the Swayze home, 2910 No. 28th.

Hostesses for this annual affair included Mrs. Schiffbauer, Mrs. Drushel and Mrs. Moore.

Cruver, Eileen Boyd, Sherley Cummings, Helen Hewett and Shirley Gibbs.

Team 10 (Seniors): Sherley Baisinger, Margaret Lindeman, Evelyn Marshall, Ruby Smith, Phyllis Newman, Helen Miller, Jeane Thurber and Murden Woods.

A more recent student, Ralph Ronald Rau, 1941, has been doing research work on the atomic bomb and was present in New Mexico at the time of its trial. Prior to this he had been working toward his masters degree in physics, and also teaching at the California Institute of Technology.

Delwen B. Jones, another graduate, has recently taken over the direction of the Stadium High school band. He has been engaged in public school music work here in Tacoma for a number of years.

Many New Books Added To Library

Over 120 new books with such varied titles as "Child Psychology," "Experimental Cookery" and "Venezuela" have been added to the library this year, according to Miss Mary Batterson, librarian.

New reference material for music students are "The International Encyclopedia of Music and Musicians," edited by Oscar Thompson, and "The Harvard Dictionary of Music," by Willi Apel.

Of interest to art lovers is a portfolio of European drawings from collections of the Metropolitan Museum of Art. Selections from Italian, Flemish, Dutch, German, Spanish, French and British art are presented in the portfolio. "These drawings cannot be loaned until they are bound but anyone is welcome to come to my office to see them," explained Miss Batterson.

Also on view in the library is a copy of the official Japanese Surrender Document, which might be of interest to many students. It is pinned up on the bulletin board.

Basketball Practice to Be Coached by John Heinrich

With John P. Heinrich, Stadium High School's athletic director, as their newly acquired coach, 23 enthusiastic basketball aspirants began workouts Tuesday evening in the gymnasium.

Mr. Heinrich, at the initial turnout Monday afternoon explained that the tentative time for practices will be every evening at 7:30 from Monday to Thursday, inclusive. His rigid schedule at Stadium prevents him from having turnouts in the afternoon.

No official conference games have been planned, but contacts with the former members of the Northwest Conference are being tentatively scheduled. A road trip for the team through the Willamette Valley is definitely a part of the season's plans. Also, tussles with service squads are proposed for the C. P. S. hoopsters.

Of the nearly two dozen prospective cagers, Coach Heinrich will be welcomed by several hoop veterans who have had considerable basketball experience on former high school and service teams. With these fellows forming the nucleus, a potentially powerful varsity squad will be formulated, backed up by a group of second-stringers.

The men that signed up are: Marv Scott, Keith Chase, Al Knight, J. H. Van Camp, Arthur Knight, Harold Simonson, Nick Nickola, Bob Oquist, Bill Campbell, Douglas Bowman, Clair Candler, John Larson, George Addison, Don Melvin, John McAllister, Howard Bowman, Bob Fincham, Bob Minniti, Sam Tangora, Jerry Siberg, Bob Harland and Gordon Marvik.

Prospective managers are Dick Eckert, Fred Holm, Carl Arneson and Tadaski Horike.
