This youth organization of the Tacoma Council of Churches is sponsoring a Sunrise Service at Point Defiance Park Easter Sunday morning at 6:30. Music will be sung by a one-hundred-voice all-church youth choir directed by Wilbur Arnold.

The message of the morning will be delivered by Reverend William Callahan, pastor of St. Paul's Methodist Church of Tacoma.

Meeting place for young people from all parts of the city except the North End will be the First Baptist Church at Ninth and Market Street at 6:00 a. m. Young people of the north side of the city will simply board the Point Defiance bus enroute to the park.

Adelphians To Give Concert

Appearing in its first home concert of the year on Wednesday, April 24, at 8:15 p. m., the Adelphean Concert Choir will present an evening of varied choral numbers, ensemble groups, and instrumental and vocal solos.

The choir, which is directed by Prof. Clyde Keutzer, head of the music department, has just completed a successful 10-day tour throughout Washington State and a part of Idaho.

The program is complimentary to the public and includes all types of music, from "Oklahoma" songs to early church music.

Spring Play To Be Given May 3 and 4

Thorton Wilder's Pulitzer prize play, "The Skin of Our Teeth," will be presented by the Campus Playcrafters May 3 and 4, at 8:15, in Jones Hall Auditorium. The play was first produced in 1942 at the Plymouth Theater in New York City. Tallulah Bankhead played Sabina.

The following characters have been chosen: Sabina, who plays a French maid, a beauty contest winner and a camp follower, and has been around for 5,000 years without noticeable wear and tear, will be portrayed by Irene Fearn. Troy Strong will play George Antrobous, inventor and cure man, while Helen Strong will be his wife, the eternal mother who holds the home together.

The rest of the cast reads as follows: Announcer, Robert Huston; Mr. Fitzpatrick, Harmon Weston; Telegraph boy, Kenneth Campbell; Gladys, Shirley Milsted; Henry, William O'Connell; Fortune Teller, Bonny Jean Steele; Broadcast Official, Arthur Sheets; Negro, Ray Cason.

The story is written in an unusual dramatic style that is typically Thorton Wilder's and is much wilder than "Our Town."

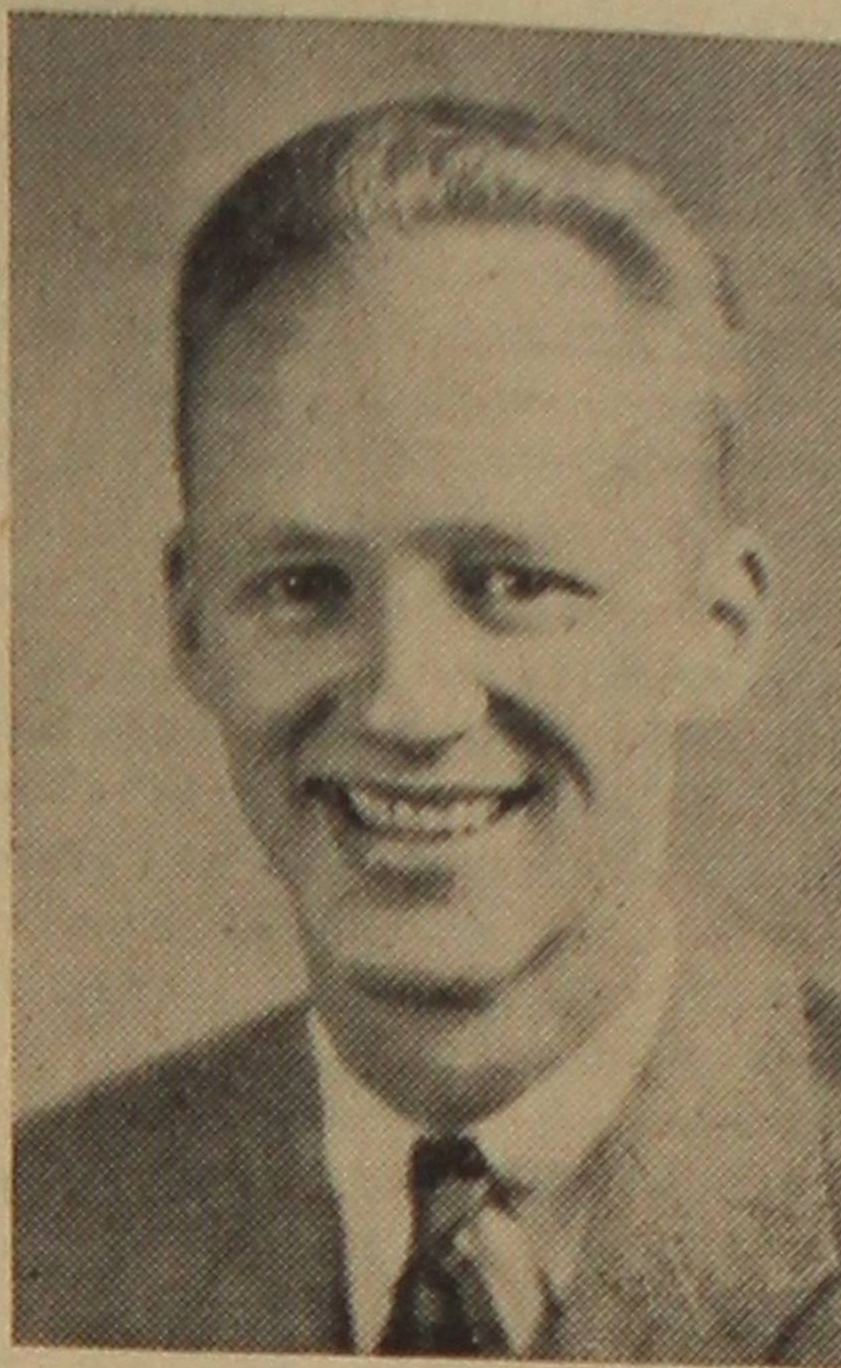

CPS Sends Delegates To Northwest Student Congress

Troy M. Strong, sophomore history student, and Kathryn Hultgren, sophomore sociology student, were named as two of the 64 delegates to the first Pacific Northwest Student Congress slated to consider "The Student's Stake in the Atomic Age" Friday and Saturday, April 5 and 6, at Reed College in Portland. This was sponsored by Reed College and the Portland League of Women Voters.

To facilitate broad study of principles, delegates were assigned to five different discussion groups. Troy was elected as chairman of group five and also of the steering committee that drew up the final resolutions for presentation to the general assembly. A copy of the resolutions is to be presented to the entire student body of all the colleges for a vote. Two of the delegates in attendance will be chosen and sent with all expenses paid to the United Nations meeting in New York to present these resolutions.

This Congress drew nation-wide attention and was covered by most of the national radio news commentators, as well as by Time and Life.

Growing out of this meeting many similar congresses patterned after this, the first student Con-

Campaign Proposals Should Be Considered By Board

The speeches are made, the voting is completed and the signs and posters will now be taken down, but the effect of the election is not yet over.

As the rule of the majority decides an election, we are happy to pledge our support to our new ASCPS President, Philip Garland Jr., and to the other officers that have been chosen, whether they were our own individual selections or not.

The interest the election created in school government woke some of us who had been peacefully sleeping through the war years. We suddenly found ourselves confronted with serious and adult issues — the election became something in which to be vitally concerned.

Much of our interest was first created by Norman Schut's extensive campaigning and he is to be commended for his efforts at awakening the student body. It would be a wise idea if Central Board would begin to consider the proposals brought up in this campaign.

OFF BEAT

By the EmCee . . .

The evening of April 24 has been set aside for the home concert of the Adelphian Concert Choir. After singing around the state, over the radio, and before the student body, this group is still more than willing to warble "Italian Street Song," and "O, What a Beautiful Morning." Fraternities and sororities, please don't do anything that night which involves your singing sisters and babbling brothers.

In many ways this coming concert will be different from those elsewhere, though the program numbers will be the same. There will be no admission charge, not even a free-will offering. Mrs. Cheney, who watched the choir perform from the audience and had to drop a coin into the collection plate to make things look legal nine times, will appreciate this added feature. Also, the maroon and white robes may be a bit off-color due to an accumulation of dirt from various parts of the state. And some members who couldn't take time off before will be added for drawing cards. You don't want to miss this concert now, even if you know our numbers by heart, do you?

If all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy, the Adelphians deserve the dinner-dance coming their way tonight at the Firs. The purpose of this get-together is to revive the week of March 8-17, and so it should be a hilarious time. Whether or not any new pictures different from those that have been floating around school the past three weeks will appear remains to be seen. Some of the best memories of that tour aren't on film, though. No one, for instance, has a snap of Butch directing "Old King Cole" with his eyebrows.

Congratulations and orchids to Anita Stebbins, the new soprano in the Campus Trio. Every time we turn around, this group has a new member, but our interest and their quality remain just as high. You might say Virginia Kilde deserves congratulations, too, both for her past service in the Trio and for her ability to "get her man."

Coming out of hibernation on April 18 will be the Harmonairs when they sing for the Masonic Lodge at Warren Hall. Soprano Anderberg had trouble with her Vacation over, Sunday found us once again trudging through the doors of the old "Retreat." Everyone had a wonderful week filled with sleep, butter, eggs, and good times. No wonder we were so reluctant to return.

Marie Opsata didn't take so much home with her, but she brought back a Delta Kap pin, which amounts to quite a lot, considering its owner.

Helen Hewett made a flying trip to Great Falls, and was the envy of every dorm girl, especially her room-mate, who travelled only three blocks for her vacation.

There was one familiar face missing when we returned and it is hoped that he'll come back and visit us often with his wife and son. That's right—Coach Patrick has left the bedlam of a girls' dormitory and is now residing in his own home.

Maisie went to Spokane, and sometime ask her how she solved the problem of getting up in time to catch the train for home!

New clothes may be seen in nearly every closet now; Anderson Hall will be able to have an Easter Parade all its own.

JUST WONDERIN'

Why the Library floorboards must squeak so loud? How the new coach smiles the winning way he does? Why the C. I. Joes (College-Issue) are hiding their interest in campus doings? How Dr. Tomlinson manages to add 24 more hours to his day? When the CPS landscaping begins? On Campus Day? When the Seniors Sneak? Who knows where the hatchet's hidin'? Who picks out Dr. Chapman's beautiful ties? Just wonderin' who's wonderin'?

voice box on the Adelphian tour and only now is she beginning to snap out of it. To quote a recent campaign poster, "Never underestimate the power of a woman." In this case one woman threw a whole quintet out of business.

Tuesday night is the date of the third concert by the Tacoma Philharmonic for this year. That night, at the First Baptist church, Mozart's "The Magic Flute" will be presented in concert form. If you've heard a rumor that Prof. Keutzer is not going to sing the tenor parts, you've heard rightly. However, Mr. Keutzer, being a gentleman and a musician, suggests that everyone plan to hear this concert in spite of his noticeable absence. It's only a dollar and Brahms' Double Concerto on the first part of the program wasn't going to feature Mr. Keutzer anyway. In other words, a lot of us are going to have to work for our A's in the Professor's classes.

Mr. Keutzer's secretary, Frances Holt, has been released from one of her duties. She used to have to call the maestro by phone every morning in order that he could make it to his 8:00 classes, but since moving day Tuesday, he has been on his own. The new house has no phone, but because a flunky has been hired to call for him in person, Mr. K. guarantees to meet all his classes on time. Notice, late risers. Incidentally, does anyone know who this new funky is? If it could be found out . . .

Girls Should Leave College Halls To Veterans, Says Columbian Dean

Should U. S. colleges dispose of the fem and frills of Betty Coed for two long years in order to accommodate all the college-bound veterans?

Margaret Pickel, dean of women at Columbia University, proposed such a solution to meet the problem of inadequate college facilities for veterans, at a New York forum held before the Republican women of Connecticut recently.

This somewhat displeasing situation has been met with a variety of opinions. Dean Pickel would be taking the girlish chatter from the halls, the tolos from the social calendar and the fever out of the spring fever around CPS, it is generally felt. The popular Walter Seabloom in his new convertible with the red upholstery responded with an astonished "No!" He seriously fears that juvenile delinquency would no doubt increase "so I'm for keeping the poor girls in school!"

Ginny Norton, young CPS suffragette is for equal rights for women in or out of college. "Though if they were out of college for two years the fellows would find out how the girls felt during the war!"

However, the girls are even sacrificing traditions for patriotism these days. Vassar girls so long in grand isolation have recently opened their doors to a few male veterans due to their "moral responsibility to help in this crisis." Unfortunately the statement from Vassar College did not add to whom application should be made by interested veterans—but the line forms to the right.

The Veterans' Administration in Washington has not endorsed Dean Pickel's plan as yet, though they welcome any voluntary plan which would alleviate the acute shortage of college opportunities for the men.

It has been rumored that good-hearted Mr. Perry, CPS librarian, who is currently plagued by female chatterers in his library, secretly advocates the new plan. But the general male consensus around CPS was adequately summed up by a veteran who suggested that "we pickle Dean Pickel's plan."

Gil A. Cowan To Visit CPS

The president of Alpha Phi Gamma, national co-educational Journalism Honorary, Mr. Gil A. Cowan, who is making a tour of chapters on the Pacific Coast and in the middle west, will be at the College April 16, to see if the dormant CPS chapter, PSI, can be revived. He will be present at an informal meeting in the reception room of Jones Hall at 10:00. An informal luncheon at the SUB will follow.

All students interested in Journalism are cordially invited to attend the meeting Tuesday, starting at 10:00. Dr. Jaeger, Journalism adviser.

Peliliu Native Is House Guest

Jo (short for Jo-Jo), who is a native of Peliliu in the Palau islands, is now residing in Tacoma with his friend, Jack Beer, CPS senior.

A small spider monkey, weighing about 4 1/2 pounds and possessed of "rather greenish skin" according to his owner, who hastens to add that "of course it's covered with brown hair."

Jo's only vice and his main interest in life is drinking. He prefers bourbon and his second choice is gin with sugar added to "However," explains Jack, "he stops when he knows he's had enough. He's smarter than most humans. He never gets drunk. But you can always tell when he's been drinking."

"One nice thing about him is that he doesn't smell," says Jack. When asked if Jo was housebroken, he replied, "Unfortunately, no."

2 Engagements Are Announced

The engagements of two popular women on the campus were made recently to the pleasant surprise of their friends. Miss Patricia Jean Paterson announced her engagement to George J. Mansfield during spring vacation and Miss Martha Tousley told the news at a recent Kappa Phi meeting.

Miss Patricia Jean Paterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Paterson of Enumclaw, announced her engagement to George J. Mansfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo Mansfield of Tacoma at a buffet dinner held in her honor in Enumclaw at the Paterson home Tuesday, April 2. Twenty friends and relatives from Sumner, Tacoma and Enumclaw were present.

The table was decorated with tall yellow candles, a bouquet of daffodils and small individual corsages of daffodils. Tied to each corsage was a tiny, elaborately decorated scroll of white parchment bearing a replica of the ring and the names, "Pat" and "George" in gold and silver. After the guests read their scrolls Miss Jean Baitinger sang "My Hero," from "The Chocolate Soldier," the couples' favorite song.

College girls who were present at the affair were Aleatha Mae Dieatrick, Joyce Taylor, Colleen Koler and Jean Baitinger.

Pat is a freshman, is majoring in music, and is well known at the college for her voice. She is a graduate of Enumclaw High School. Her fiance, a graduate of Lincoln, is a business administration major and is pledged to Delta Kappa Phi fraternity.

George, who was honorably discharged from the army last August, spent three of his five years in the service in the South Pacific with the medical corps.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Intramural Program To Start Tuesday

Tuesday noon when softball competition starts, the curtain will go up to usher in the newly organized intramural athletic program, ably supervised by Coach Patrick. Besides the diamond sport, other activities including tennis, golf, bowling and track will be in the offing, in which the five fraternities and independent men will participate.

A point system has been worked out so the determination of the single organization winner will be more simplified. Each group may gain points in respect to the position it takes in the various participation, but the trophy cup award will be made to the fraternity or independent team which totals the most points of all five sports inclusive.

Fifty points will be given automatically to the fraternity which enters a team; thus an organization which enters squads in all five events has a better chance of winning the trophy than the one which possibly enters in only three or four, even though it wins top spot in its particular field of entry.

A round robin schedule will be instigated for softball, tennis and bowling so that each organization will have an opportunity to be pitted against each of the others. The golf match and track meet on the other hand will take place on only one day.

Participation in these sports is open to all members of the various organizations provided that no member is at the time turning out for the same varsity activity.

Eight Students Now Debating In California

Eight CPS debaters, who left Tacoma on Tuesday to participate in the Pacific Province forensic tournament in California, are now engaged in their second day of a three-day debate contest.

Sponsored by Pi Kapa Delta, a national forensic organization, the tournament is being held at Stockton, with the College of the Pacific as host to debaters from eight western states. Ed Betz, national vice-president of Pi Kappa Delta, is in charge of the tournament.

With Doctor Marvin Schafer, head of the sociology department, as chaperon, the eight CPS representatives are Norman Schut, who is entering one-man debate and extemporaneous speaking; Lyle Lindellen, one-man debate and oratory; Rad Hartwell, oratory and extemporaneous; Mary Jean Kean, oratory and impromptu speaking; Bob McNary and Byron Norton, who will debate Oxford style, and Louise Kipper and Harriet Fiske, another Oxford debate team. Louise and Harriet are entering impromptu speaking, while Bob is taking part in both impromptu and extemporaneous speaking.

Spanish Club Elects Officers

New president of the Spanish Club is Fred Wolf, who was elected at a recent meeting. Vice president is Waldo Davila, and Mrs. Robbins is acting as the organization's adviser.

Two pictures, "Southern Brazil" and "South of the Border" were shown at the meeting.

Students wishing to use Spanish in conversation should watch for the scheduling of future meetings of the club, stated Fred.

Gym Shorts

Wednesday night showed great excitement for the girls down at the Coliseum Bowling Alleys, because it was there that the outcome of the cup was to be determined. Five girls from each group bowled in each of two rounds which means that actually ten from each group bowled. The final totals were very close with the Gammas copping first place with 1100 points, the Thetas second with 1080, and the Betas third with 1017. Fourth place was taken by the Lambdas with 911 and the Independents fifth place with 262 points.

Individual scores ran higher this year than last which shows some improvement in the bowling. Tying for top honors were Carol Hamilton and Marie Opsata with 149 points each.

Election of officers for next year will take place on the first Wednesday of May over in the gym.

W. A. A. is sponsoring an all college skating party on Friday evening the 26th of April. Tickets will be 50c and may be obtained from Betty Jane Cappa. Will we see you there?—Late session.

The badminton tournament, both inter-class and inter-organization, was a very successful one. The inter-class championship was taken by Murden Woods, a senior who took that same championship two years ago as a sophomore. Playing in the finals against Murden was Carol Hamilton, who was last year's champion. There was also a winner of the losers who was Doreen Lockstone.

All the points which you have earned by participation in sports are posted on the bulletin board in lower Jones Hall. If you have any questions ask Helen Miller, general sports manager.

The sports of the day now are: Speedball, with Ruby Smith as manager; tennis, with Eunice Moberg, manager; horseshoes, with Mary Agnes Gallagher, manager; and archery, with Janice Lindeman, manager. Speedball started this week and class games will get under way Wednesday or Friday. The other three sports have all begun this week too, and will continue until May 3rd. Horseshoes and archery will be played for points only.

SPORTS SPLINTERS

Hev'n by Harold Simonson

As time and tide ever continue on a "round-the-clock" itinerary, the most ordinary, unfettered school spirit always pervade an educational institution. And school spirit is merely enthusiastic loyalty and participation in all of the school activities.

This fall certainly there was no lack of either requisite with the return of a well-rounded basketball schedule and an ample turnout of hoop stalwarts. The school spirit was indeed favorable.

But a slight decrease on the participation angle has been noticed this spring. As track is, and always has been, a major sport here on the campus, the gymnasium and cinder lane should be the scene of at least a resemblance of a healthy turnout these days — that is if traditions are to be continued for hustling Logger track squads.

But if one were to stroll over to the gym any afternoon, he would find the locker rooms empty and the athletic field deserted. Of course the weather has been blustering for the most part; nevertheless, a showing of only five men (and that is all to date) can hardly provide encouragement for the coach.

The first exclamation Coach Patrick gave when this writer talked with him was, "I want more men out for track." With a record-breaking enrollment now on hand, let's have 35 or 40 track candidates as in former days instead of a paltry five. A continuance of "round-the-calendar" participation is essential.

S. O. S.

Coach Patrick sends out a plea for an ambitious man to handle the duties of intramural manager for the spring activities. A reply to this request would be appreciated by the coach.

It's a Small World

The other day when Patrick met Sam Tangora, CPS freshman, the former immediately inquired if he was any relation to "Old Tangle," an All-American guard from Northwestern University back in '36. Sure enough, Sam asserted that he was a relative. It seems that "Old Tangle" and the Logger mentor are intimate acquaintances.

Banquet Climax To Successful Season

As an appropriate climax of the basketball season, which ended some weeks ago, the hoop team attended a fine banquet at the Bonneville Hotel recently. Not only were present the players with their wives and friends, Coach John Heinrick, President Thompson and other honored guests, but also were seen, and "et," real pure squares of yellow butter.

In various short speeches that were given, the men were lauded time and again. But the words spoken by Heinrick were perhaps the most inspiring and memorable. For a personality such as John Heinrick, who has coached teams for more than a score of years, to say that the Logger hoop squad offered him more genuine pleasure than he has ever received from any team . . . in any sport . . . in his 21 years of coaching seems to be the zenith of anything that could be said.
