COLLEGE OF PUGET SOUND, TACOMA, WASHINGTON

1947—No. 24

Workshop Band Performs To Climax Day's Events

One of the biggest events of May Day will be the Workshop Band Concert to be held Friday night, May 2, in Jones Hall Auditorium at 8:15. The concert, the first to be held in what will be an annual affair, will feature original arrangements of popular music by the arranging class.

The arrangements, which have been the project of the semester for each student (they correspond with term papers) include, St. Louis Blues as arranged by Russel Bean; Summertime, Dick Henderson; Nocturne, Fred Grazzini; Embraceable You, Elizabeth Kennedy; How Am I to Know, Mollie Schlegel; I Cover the Waterfront, George Wilson; and Should I?, Frank Dutra. Also included in the program will be several original numbers by members of the band and selections by Duke Ellington, Harry James, and Stan Kenton. The band vocalists—Royce Miller, Harmon Weston, Joan Storchow and Dee Klaiber—will sing.

The concert of modern music will set a precedent at CPS because never before in the history of the school has a swing concert been presented. First ideas of the band were conceived early in the summer of 1946. It has become a reality through the farsightedness and the awareness of the value of modern music by President Thompson and Professor Clyde Keutzer, head of the music department. During the past winter it became a working organization under the direction of Leroy Ostransky and Professor John O'Conner. However, the band really belongs to the students of CPS who have furnished the incentive and proved the need for such an organization in the college program.

Members of the band are: saxo-

Testing Dates To Be Changed To May 6, 9

A change in the plans for this year's sophomore and senior testing program, originally scheduled for Monday and Tuesday, May 5 and 6, to Tuesday and Friday, May 6 and 9, has been announced by Dean John Register.

The change was made in order to keep the tests from conflicting with other college programs and to keep them from falling on succeeding days.

Both seniors and sophomores will take the general education tests which will be given on Tuesday and Friday mornings, from 8 to 12 o'clock. In addition to these two examinations, the seniors will take a special test covering their major field from 1:15 to 3 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon.

Those students who are taking the tests will not be required to attend any classes on Tuesday and Friday. Approximately 250 sophomores and 80 seniors are expected to participate. Prof. Delmar E. Gibbs, of the education department, has charge of the program as chief examiner.

All sophomores will report to the gymnasium for their tests, while the seniors will go to the new emergency building nearest the gym or to the science lecture room in Howarth Hall.

No equipment is required, since special soft lead pencils for mechanical scoring will be provided along with answer sheets.

No Fall Pre-Registration This Spring Says Registrar

Registrar Dick Smith has announced that there will be no pre-registration for the fall semester this spring. Plans are still indefinite, but there is a possibility that pre-registration will be sometime during the first two weeks of September. Students will probably be notified of the final plans by mail.

Students May Pre-Register For Summer Session Monday

Pre-registration for the 1947 summer session will begin May 5 and continue through May 23, according to Dick Smith, registrar. This period of pre-registration is for the benefit only of those attending the College of Puget Sound at the present time and who expect to continue through the summer.

Because of the large summer school enrollment which is anticipated again this year, Dr. Raymond Powell, director of the summer session, urges all who plan to attend summer school to take advantage of this early registration.

The normal program load for summer school will be 10 hours and the minimum load for veterans who wish to draw their full subsistence will be 8 hours. A total of 12 hours may be taken provided the student has been maintaining a satisfactory grade average. Permission to register for the full 12 hours may be obtained from either the registrar or the director of the summer session. Dr. Powell states that under no circumstances can a student be allowed to take more than the 12 hours and no requests or petitions for taking additional hours will be accepted.

The summer session will begin with an official day of registration on June 16 and will continue for 10 weeks ending August 22. Students are requested to register for their entire summer's work during the pre-registration period and any additions or cancellations from that registration will be made on a change of registration form at the end of the first 5-week session.

Certain changes and additions in the present summer bulletin have been made and will be available to the students as part of the registration instructions next Monday.

Freshmen and sophomores are cautioned against registering for upper division courses (all courses numbered 100 and above) and any deviations from this must have the approval of the director of the summer session.

Queen Carolyn and Court

CPS May Day Festivities To Start 3 p.m. Tomorrow

Friday, May 2, the traditional May Day festivities will be held in the Albert Sutton quadrangle. The program will start at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, although classes will not be excused.

Rector, Gianelli Are Pages

Pages are Bruce Rector and Bill Gianelli, while the proclamation bearer is Jamey Coulter and crown bearer is Robey Banks. Escorts will be the Knights of the Log and the daisy chain will be carried by the Spurs, actives and pledges.

The program will begin with the procession. Jerry Baker, ASCPS president, will place the crown on the queen's head and the queen will read the proclamation. Class duchesses and high school duchesses will then be introduced.

Loggerettes to Dance

Entertainment will consist of a May pole dance by the Loggerettes under the direction of Ann Cuthbert and Robert Hager. The men's and women's choruses will sing "Wake Thee, Now, Dearest" and the Campus Trio—Frances Swenson, Mary Jean Heidinger and Anita Stebbins—"My Heart Stood Still" and "Moonlight Madonna," accompanied by Ruthella Raver, piano, and Jay Ball, vibraphone. Jay will play a marimba solo and Joan Storchow will sing.

Lois Lynch is the chairman for May Day and her committees are Marian Sandal, professional; Sheila Lamar, publicity; Doris Mitchell, entertainment; Donna MacInnis, programs; Pat Robinson, receiving high school duchesses; Lois Vick, tea; and Kerttu Kahn, Anna-Maria Vaughn, Mary Rough, staging.

Keutzer to Conduct Adelpian Try Outs

Try-outs for prospective Adelpian Concert Choir members will be held Monday, May 5, from 1:30 to 3 p. m., according to Prof. Clyde Keutzer, director of the music department.

Each aspirant will be expected to sing a song to display his (or her) voice at its best, to read music, and to sing scales to demonstrate his (or her) range and power.

If the stated time is convenient, each applicant is asked to make a special appointment with Frances Holt, the music department secretary.

The try-outs will be held in Prof. Keutzer's studio in the music building, with him and four choir members as judges.

Due to graduation there will be a number of openings for sopranos, altos and tenors, with a few for basses.

Quality of voice and range will be considered as prime requisites.

Johnson Warns Vets Extra Forms Needed

Veterans planning to attend summer school were warned by C. L. Johnson this week that a necessary form must be filled out before registration is complete. The forms are available in the Veterans' Administration office in lower Jones Hall.

Mr. Johnson also disclosed that any vet who wants to apply for his annual leave, at the rate of two and one-half days for each month spent in school, may obtain it by calling at the college vets' office. It was also revealed that in view of CPS's new closing date all subsistence allowances will cease as of May 23.

Caps, Gowns Will Appear in Chapel

Cap and gown day, the first opportunity the seniors have to model their graduating attire, is scheduled for the chapel periods of next Wednesday and Thursday.

Marching into chapel under crossed CPS pennants held by juniors, the seniors will take their places at the front of the auditorium.

Besides the program, which will include the reading of the class will and prophecy, an additional attraction may be in the offing. Rumors are circulating that the passing of the hatchet will take place at one of these chapels.

They're Good at Home, Too!

After hearing in our own auditorium last week the concert which the Adelphian Choir has presented in 22 out-of-town appearances, we can be highly pleased with the excellent performances which have been representing CPS in cities all over Washington and in Idaho.

We are not denying that the choir members undoubtedly enjoyed themselves thoroughly on their trips. However, they still made sacrifices, both in missing numerous classes and in paying a good share of their expenses.

We appreciate both their sacrifices and the well-deserved fame they bring to the College of Puget Sound.

Faculty Is Okay on Baseball Field . . .

We were gratified to find that we have so many "regular fellers" on our faculty, including "battin'" Battin, "Slugger" Thompson, and "two-bagger" Whittlesey.

Although the whole Campus Day program was a success, the faculty-student ball games were definitely the highlights of the day.

Good planning and sincere effort on the part of the two co-chairmen made the day enjoyable for everyone.

Sounding Off

By SIDNEY E. SMITH

Some people say that this grumbling and groaning you hear around school are signs of growth. But the only criteria by which this growth can be measured is whether or not this criticism is constructive.

Take the criticism of Central Board, for example. You elected the people and promptly forgot about them—except to gripe about the way they handle student affairs and student funds. As long as you elected these people why don't you tell them what you want? Instead of all the idle talk, if you don't like something, tell your class officers, attend your class meetings, and tell your representatives to Central Board.

All students are allowed to attend Central Board and although they are not allowed to vote on any measures which come up they can enter into any of the discussion. This is a way in which you can be heard—voice your opinions at Central Board meetings!

Another example is the criticisms of the Trail. If you don't like this publication or its policies, and think you have better ideas to further the advancement of our college newspaper, offer your services. Drop in the Trail office and you can be sure they are always receptive to new and better ideas.

The usual answer you hear to this is, "I'm too busy." Are you always going to be too busy? If so, don't be so hasty to criticize others who have found time to do these things for you.

Ancient Romans, Celts Got Spring Fever; Celebrated May

By LEONARD DOCHERTY

A logical thought in thinking of the approaching May Day is, "Where did the idea come from?" It seems that even the old Roman and Celtic peoples got spring fever. There seemed to be such a predominate feeling that the Romans set aside April 28—May 3 as a period to answer that impulse to "grab a flower and dance."

May Day in Russia and Germany often led to race riots.

The English gathered the hawthorn blossoms in the first part of May and called it "Maying." Later they set up a fair maiden of the village as queen for the day and honored her by dancing wildly around a pole.

The Puritans got rid of all this foolishness and it wasn't until after the revolution that the festivities were revived and then only among school children.

Letter to the Editor . . .

I know that during the past year there have been many complaints sent your way—"What is wrong with the Trail?" "What is wrong with CPS?"

Now, wishing to be different, I am asking, "What is wrong with the Veterans' Administration?"

—Leo Butigan.

To Whom It May Concern:

I am able to talk profoundly, learnedly and at length on most any subject and still succeed in saying nothing.

As is customary among the ignorant, I voice opinions on any and all aspects of life, including the Central Board. However, I definitely am not WORRIED.

—Peter Rex Adkins.

Dear Editor:

Doesn't the various organizations at CPS realize that our student body is on the whole composed of veterans who are attending school on the GI Bill? They can't afford to attend formal dances, purchasing tickets and corsages, and the majority of them cannot afford to join the fraternities that sponsor most of these dances. Therefore why not have more such dances as the Sophomore Sweater Dance, which was informal, fun and inexpensive.

Campus Day proved enjoyable but the evening was a flop with the dance ending at 10:30, leaving the student couples wondering where to go from there. The gym was probably a better place to be than a lot of the places they went to.

One college that I know of in our state has informal dances every Wednesday night at a nominal fee. Why can't we overcome the obstacles at CPS and have more all-college dances? Remember the majority should be considered.—BJB.

Debaters End Forensic Year With 7 Firsts

Climaxing the forensic season, trophy awards were given in chapel Tuesday. The squad at tournaments during the year accumulated eight first places represented by seven trophies presented to Dean Register for the college. They will be on display in the forensic awards trophy case on the second floor of Jones Hall.

Yvonne Marie Battin, freshman member of Alpha Beta Upsilon, was responsible for four of the first places in oratory. As a special token of her outstanding work during her first year in college forensics, the squad presented her with an orchid.

Louise Kipper and Robert McNary, graduating seniors, were presented with senior award trophies for their personal possession.

The two all-school trophies, awarded to the organization that contributed the most during the year, went to the Independents. The two new trophies, fraternity and sorority cups, went to Alpha Chi Nu and Alpha Beta Upsilon. A close second, missing the award by only three points, was Delta Kappa Phi.

Other first place trophy awards went to Merry Jo Samuelson, Art Gravatt and Walter Loewenstein, and the debate team of Harriet Fiske and Louise Kipper.

Closed Period Causes Scarcity of News

Because there will be no student activities next week, we feel that the money involved in putting out a newspaper would not be justified since there will be so little news.

We will use the money, instead, to buy a typewriter which we will hand down to posterity (next year's Trail staff).

The next issue of the Trail will appear during the last week of school and will contain the "low-down" on all the senior activities including baccalaureate, commencement, the president's reception and the Senior Ball.

Knights Elect New Officers

Log Chapter of the Intercollegiate Knights selected officers for the 1947-48 semesters last Wednesday.

Elected to the new posts were Francis McConnell, Duke; Clayton Anderson, Keeper of the Maiz; Ken Willoughby, Scribe, and Art Nelson, Chancellor of the Exchequer.

Completing their terms of office are James Wornstaff, Duke; Clarence Nelson, Keeper of the Maiz; Robert Huston, Scribe; and Paul Gingrich, Chancellor of the Exchequer.

A number of new and retiring officers are making plans to attend the annual convention of Intercollegiate Knights to be held from May 1 through May 3, at Moscow, Idaho.

How "Boat" That?

Rumor has it that the college bookkeeper, Mr. L. R. Connelly, was found adrift on Commencement Bay by the Coast Guard last Sunday. It seems that his boat developed engine trouble early in the day and that his calls for help were unnoticed by passers-by until finally, two and one-half hours later, the Coast Guard came to his rescue. It is suggested that hereafter, "Captain" Connelly carry a long rope aboard, tying one end of it to his boat and the other to the dock!

Porkus P. Parker Triumphs In Justice of Peace Race

By ART NELSON

Most everyone knows of Al Capp's "Lil Abner" character, "Marryin' Sam," but few have heard of our own "Marryin' Porkus." Porkus P. Parker is a student at the College of Puget Sound, and will complete his sophomore year this semester. In addition to his student activities, Parker is also a professional middleweight boxer and, at present, Justice of the Peace of the town of Summit, Washington.

Parker's unpredictable rise to judgements was actually the result of a joke, although it is now a serious business with him. According to Parker, the town of Summit was about to hold an election. Mr. Owen O'Farrell was the current Justice of the Peace and had been for the previous 10 years. Howard Lee had been the Constable for the same period. A fellow by the name of "Gooch" Benedict had moved into town and had opened a small radio shop. "Gooch" and Justice O'Farrell had become rather chummy until finally they agreed that one would run for Justice and the other for Constable in the coming election, thereby acquiring completely the control of Summit between them.

Lee Files Again

The incumbent Constable, Howard Lee, again filed for re-election. Immediately upon hearing of this, Justice O'Farrell went to Constable Lee and asked him why he had again filed for re-election inasmuch as he was never around to make an arrest when the Justice wanted him to anyway. To this Lee jokingly replied that Porkus P. Parker had filed for Justice of the Peace for the coming term, arousing the ire of Justice O'Farrell. It was then that the fireworks began.

Actually Parker had not thought of filing until informed of the "joke" that was being played upon Justice O'Farrell and the "Gooch." The "Gooch" began such a heated campaign, telling of how he and O'Farrell were going to defeat Parker and Lee in the election, that it was soon picked up by Harold Shaw of the Puyallup Press. Upon reading Shaw's article and talking the whole thing over with him, Parker was convinced that he should actually run for Justice of the Peace after all. So began Porkus P. Parker's campaign!

Conducts Singing Campaign

The campaign itself was out of the ordinary, for rather than the usual posters and mud slinging,

Program to Feature Battin

Yvonne Battin, freshman, who won top honors in oratory at the recent Pi Kappa Delta tournament held in Ohio, will deliver her prize-winning oration over the air on the weekly Tacoma Council of Churches program which is presented every Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock on KTBI.

Parker used a song. "His pockets they jingle, his heart is at ease. Vote for Pork Parker, Justice of Peace. And when they elect him on the Ninth of July, I hope that you'll be there to hear Owen cry. For Commissioner and Sheriff, vote as you please, But vote for Pork Parker, Justice of Peace!" (Sung to tune of "The Man on the Flying Trapeze")

The campaign was successful, and as you now know, Porkus P. Parker is the present Justice of Peace of Summit. Judge Parker has announced that he has obtained his surety bond and "marryin' book" and offers special rates to all of his friends and College of Puget Sound students.

B.A. Students Plan Dinner

The business administration department will introduce a new idea in social events on Thursday, May 8, when the students of that department will meet at Crawford's for an occupational dinner.

At present, five local civic leaders in business, politics and professional work are being asked to appear as speakers before the group and give their ideas on job situations in their respective fields of work. Each speaker will be asked to speak before the entire group for ten minutes, and then the program will be opened to allow for a period of questions.

Dr. Tudor's political science class has been asked to participate in the dinner and representatives from political circles will be present to hold the interest of this group.

Anticipating that this dinner will prove a success, the department is already making plans to hold similar dinners at regular intervals beginning next fall.

Good old Washington sunshine; namely rain, necessitated the postponement of the CPS-Western Washington College baseball game originally scheduled for April 28, as the Logger's first home game at the Tacoma ball park.

The contest will be played on the first available date, according to Coach Frank Patrick. The Loggers, currently leading the Northwest conference, will take on Lewis and Clark of Portland in a league doubleheader Saturday night, May 3, at the Tacoma Tiger park.

Heinrick Calls Hoop Aspirants

"Anyone who thinks he can play basketball is welcome to turn out for the team next Monday; experience is not a criterion." This was the declaration made by John Heinrick, Logger cage coach, this week.

Giving the call to both old team members and also to new hoop candidates, Heinrick wishes to make it emphatic that the larger the turnout the better. A very attractive schedule which should catch the eye of an interested basketeer is in the stages of completion.

Heinrick cautions all prospective candidates to use tincture of Benzoin on the soles of their feet to avoid blisters and callouses.

Remember, all positions on the team are wide open. Come on out, you hoopsters, on Monday, May 5, at 3:45 p. m. in the gym.

Four-Way Meet Scheduled

The CPS track squad will hit "the cinder road" once again on Wednesday, May 7, when they hook up in a quadrangular meet with St. Martins, PLC and the U. S. Army 2nd Division teams at Olympia.

Zetes Remodel Frat House

The Sigma Zeta Epsilon fraternity house has recently undergone a remodeling job. The front room has been enlarged to accommodate all members at meetings and can now be used for dancing.

CPS-PLC Meet to Determine Tacoma Cinder Championship

May 10 looms as the big date on the College of Puget Sound and Pacific Lutheran College track slates. On that date the city collegiate championship will either go to the Puget Sound Loggers or will become the joint property of the two squads.

Odds on the final outcome favor the Loggers, who will be the visitors, since twice to date they have been victorious over the Lutes. In their first meeting the score favored the hosts, the Woodsmen, 58 2/3 to 44 1/3; and in the second 69 to 62.

Figuring on the basis of the past performances of the two, the final outcome of the big meet should once again favor Puget Sound, this time at 72 to 59.

Firsts figured safe for the CPS squad include the shotput, Sturm; mile, Falconer; pole vault, Tomchick; 440 dash, Lewis; high jump, Mann and Danielson; 880, Falconer; 220, Light; discus, L. Nelson; high hurdles, Lewis. On the other hand the Lutes are expected to win top honors in the low hurdles, Hoskins; 100 dash, Cook; 2 mile, Huffman; broad jump, Nylandre; javelin, McLaughlin; and mile relay.

Therefore, in firsts the visitors look 9 to 6 or 45 to 30 favorites. Turning to seconds, the line-up at present looks as follows: CPS—mile, Nelson; 100, Light; low hurdles, Briggs; 2 mile, C. Nelson; high hurdles, Briggs; broad jump, Stiven student team winning a 3-inning baseball game from the women's faculty. The men student team won by a large margin over the men's faculty in the 6-inning game that followed.

A free picnic dinner was served by the Spur pledges at the SUB. At 6:45 a program of cut-up and community singing sponsored by the Phalanx was presented in Jones Hall auditorium. The evening was culminated with a dance held at the CPS gymnasium from 8 p. m. until 10:15 p. m.

Button, Stivers Win Honors

At a banquet honoring the CPS basketball squad at the New Yorker last Friday night, Ron Button was elected next year's captain and sparkplug Bill Stivers walked off with the inspirational award.

One of the highlights of the evening was the presentation of a perpetual inspirational trophy to the college by Dill Howell. Stivers' name will head the list of athletes to be so honored in the future.

In addition to winning the Inspirational award, Stivers received a clothing gift certificate from Lundquist-Lilly. Button was likewise honored by Washington Hardware.

During the course of the evening short talks were given by cage Coach John Heinrick, Dr. Thompson, Athletic Director Patrick, Dr. Gibbs and jayvees leader Tom Cross.

The trophy shall never become the permanent possession of any sorority. This year it was presented to Alpha Beta Upsilon.

The WAA banquet will be May 6, Tuesday, at 6:30 in the SUB. Be sure to sign up. The new officers will be installed and the girls will receive their athletic awards. The honored guests will be Dr. and Mrs. R. Franklin Thompson, Mrs. Marjorie Mann, Mrs. Lyle Ford Drushel and Margaret Lindeman.

WAA Makes Awards

The Senior Honor Award is the final award of the association and is given to not more than two each year. It is a white sweater with four maroon stripes and a "P." All four-year letterwomen are candidates for it. The award shall be based on good sportsmanship, technical skill, inspiration to teammates, interest in WAA, and a grade average of 1.5. This year the white sweaters will be presented to Betty Jane Cappa and Janice Lindeman. Betty Jane was president of WAA this year and Janice has been on the all-star basketball team for all four years.

The Inter-sorority All-Sport Trophy goes to the Independents for having the most points in inter-sorority sports. The inter-sorority sports played were basketball, volleyball, bowling and badminton.

The Basketball Trophy was won by the Delta Alpha Gamma sorority. This was presented by the 6th Avenue Businessmen's Organization.

A new trophy has been presented by Alpha Beta Upsilon alumnae for inter-sorority volleyball. It is a perpetual trophy to be awarded each year at the award chapel. This

Do we have the spirit? Do we really care what happens here at CPS? Now is the time to take inventory of our individual feelings toward our school.

The end of the year is fast upon us. What are plans for next year? Do we have an organized system to arouse student and citizen interest in CPS? WE DEFINITELY HAVE NOT. Time's awastin'; we can't begin next fall. What we need is active, aggressive students who will be willing to take the responsibility needed in stirring up the student body, and also in presenting ideas and means of placing the Logger name on the map.

If a well-planned and sensible program is made up NOW the students will follow it in September, BUT they must have something to follow.

What the campus lacked in the past was sound leadership. We are confident that this college has men and women who possess these qualities so vitally needed now.

Perhaps you are asking yourself, "How does this pertain to sports?" It is simply this: What could be a more logical way to present our spirit and drive to the public than through intercollegiate athletics?

Proper handling of an advance publicity campaign would hurdle a hundred barriers now standing in the way.

But this ambitious type of work cannot possibly be done by one or even 50 students; they can only set the foundation. The rest of us must become enthusiastic enough to take over from there.

Jeanne Mickens, with a grade average of 2.68, led the 13 junior women who were initiated into Otlah, senior women's honorary, in chapel Monday.

Other new members, in order of their scholarship, are Sara Jean Mather, Sheila Lamar, Audrey Boucher, Rosa Mae Monger, Evelyn Cou-brough, Peggy Rough, Ruth Gustafson, Kathryn Alm, Ruth Haggerness, Lois Fassett and Doreen Lockstone.

Otlah is comparable to the national honorary, Mortarboard, which would be established at CPS except for the fact that there has never been 50 women in a graduating class, a Mortarboard requirement. However, this year, according to Mrs. Raymond Seward, adviser of the group, there are 48 senior women and the national organization may soon be represented on this campus.

Besides having at least a B average, a woman must have good character and a record of service to the school before she is eligible for membership in Otlah.

Since Otlah was founded at the college, 225 women have been members.
