Editorial . . .

It was sad to note the degree of importance put upon class meetings at CPS. Each class has a minimum of at least 400 students, but not one class could even boast of having half that amount in attendance last Thursday.

Chapel was purposely postponed last week to allow for meetings to choose Beaux Arts Belle candidates. Light rainfall, inadequate meeting rooms and uninterested class members hampered mass attendance. The rainfall should have been the only valid excuse. The bandroom, C36, with a handful of chairs, hampered the sophomores in their meeting. The president failed to appear and no one knew what was going on. Some semblance of parliamentary was carried on and a candidate was finally chosen. Seniors were turned away from the old gymnasium because of a paint job. The freshmen and juniors were comfortably tucked away in the auditorium and C35, with attendance termed good.

Strangely enough the junior class president was pleased with the best class showing in a long time. There were 88 in C35. They not only managed to elect a candidate, but had time to discuss hatchet passing and their coming spring dance. Let the juniors stand as an example of what can be done with class unity.

The amount of people who hid in the SUB couldn't offer many valid excuses. One excuse, apparently typical of the attitude toward class meetings was the remark, "I thought coffee was more important."

Letters . . .

Dear Editor:

In an abortive effort to be humorous in introducing Religious Emphasis Week, I inadvertently insulted Dr. Battin, for which I wish to apologize. If I had made myself plain, I am sure no one would have felt offense. I intended to laugh with Dr. Battin and his students at some of his humorous interpretations of Biblical parables.

Naturally Dr. Battin needs no defense from me or anyone else. I have a high respect for him both for his influence on our campus and the very real personal help he has been to me. I wish to make this matter clear for the record.

CAMPUS WEEK

Basically the campus called the past four days Religious Emphasis Week, a rare time when the social calendar was reverently quiet, but in between and around the religious emphasis activities were still brewing. Students first became aware of the week's program of speakers in chapel and classrooms. Further interest was gathered into question hours held in the SUB. Subject to conversation was Dr. Allan Hunter's first address in chapel, described by many as "different." (See Chapel.) Planning committee members for the week met several mornings over breakfast to discuss their promotion and to chat further with Hunter.

A small battery of competent religious men came into classrooms to relate religion to the fields of literature, history or sociology. Fraternities and sororities also invited speakers to their meetings.

Students came in and out of buildings into the bright, nippy sunshine. In front of the quadrangle dedication to Albert Sutton a tiny row of yellow crocus blooms stuck out of the damp ground. The SUB was almost tomblike around the afternoon hours. People were either in class or out on nearby golf courses or tennis courts.

The biology laboratories of Howarth Hall became a banquet hall when the Home Ec and German Club held their German dinner Tuesday evening. The campus was busy with night classes as lights burned in Jones and Howarth. Mysterious signs appeared on building bulletin boards bearing only the words "Ding Dong," hinting some form of advertisement.

ASCPS elections, to be held this month, caused a flurry of hurried petition-signing. Organizations were considering qualified personable people and Central Board was reminding the students of the correct campaign procedure. (See Students.)

It was easy to tell there were new pledges about. Kneeling figures crouched over SUB sidewalk plaques ready with wax and elbow grease. The Sigma Chis had a new punishment for members losing their pins.

(See Greeks.) The Spurs and Knights planned a canasta-dance party for a fireside get-together this evening. In faculty meetings the new college catalog was in preparation.

Sports activities took a deep breath this week, for the NAIB playoffs were coming up and spring-time track and baseball were to come. Intramural's final basketball games were played in the fieldhouse Wednesday night. Mention sports and you'll hear about the playoffs and its Kansas City prize. (See Sports.)

STUDENTS

Trail Don't Mail . . .

The TRAIL'S mailbox has been choked with returned copies from the post office lately. Students have spied the small mailing permit stamp on the back of several copies, and addressed and mailed the small magazine just as they were.

This causes the post office to get red around their mail chutes. Due to postal regulations, any publication with a mailing permit must turn in all the copies they want mailed to the post office downtown. Loose copies fluttering in from outlying mailboxes result in short but severe notes to the TRAIL from Postmaster McMonagle.

This doesn't mean that TRAILS can't be mailed. But, they go farther than the nearest mailbox if they have a 3-cent stamp stuck on them.

Cold Fun . . .

Some students slept through the birthday of our Founding Father, Feb. 22. Others took advantage of the school week gap by catching up on their studies. Many observed the holiday by journeying to Chinook Pass for the second annual Chinook-sponsored winter ski carnival.

First event on the ski week festivities was the intramural ski races. The men's teams were the first to show their abilities.

In the individual men's race, Bert Ross, Delta Kappa Phi, was a jump ahead of the others to capture first place. (See Sports for details on races.)

With the men's races out of the way an intermission was called for the crowning of the ski queen. Before marching to her throne, Queen Gloria Christiansen was presented with a bouquet of red roses by Chinook prexy, Harry Caren.

The queen's four attendants formed a group around the jewelled snow crown and crossed their ski poles. Coronation honors were given to Chuck Howe, ski team captain.

One more event remained on the day's agenda. It was the women's runoff. Carol Rasmussen, Independent, chalked up a victory in the individual women's race. The holiday was over. Thursday and Friday, it was back to books again.

Starting with Friday evening, though, the weekend was crammed with more Chinook doings.

First came the free carnival dance in the SUB. In an atmosphere of candle-lighted, checked gingham-covered tables and twisted fir green decorations, Dr. Sprenger, Chinook advisor, rewarded the individual winners of Wednesday's contests.

Norwegian, Swiss, Canadian, and American ski posters added to the SUB interior's ski week spirit. For refreshments, dancers found pastry and punch.

On Saturday it was snow sculpturing at Deep Creek. Judged the best was Pi Tau Omega's Donald Duck with Bill Clem doing the engineering.

The weather confined skiers to their quarters on Saturday, but that night the lodge was turned over to square dancing with Brian Kepka doing the calling.

Kepka made a special trip to Deep Creek just for the square dance. He had to be back home the same night. He introduced two square dances to ski fans, "Adam and Eve," and "Honor Her Again."

At Sunday's pancake eating contest, Jim Harms devoured 17 of the disc-shaped cakes. Not content with that, he also threw in a couple of eggs and some coffee. Indigestion was temporarily relieved when Harms was awarded a pair of ski boots for his efforts.

Skiing plans were spoiled by the weather on Sunday, too. By Monday, the emphasis had switched from skiing to religion.

Political Rallying . . .

Campus politics are beginning to roll with the appearance of white-paper petitions now being circulated and turned in to Central Board. The deadline for throwing your hat into the ring is Monday, March 6.

Prospective ASCPS president, vice-president, secretary, class representative, yell leader and May Queen candidates will take a test next Wednesday on the ASCPS constitution and Roberts' Rules of Order to qualify for the race. Any Logbook holds the school constitution.

In the two regular chapels next week the student body will be briefed on the ASCPS election personalities. The Jones Hall chapel for the week will consist of introducing the candidates and listening to a five-minute speech by students running for president. A 10-minute question period will follow the speeches.

Active campaigning begins March 13 and no posters may be tacked up before this date. Voting machines will be placed in lower Jones Hall for the primary elections to be held March 20-24. Each ASCPS card okays the registration right necessary before voting.

Final platform speeches from primary election winners will be heard in Jones Hall, March 28 at 3 p.m. Final voting, again in lower Jones on the voting machines, will take from March 29-31, inclusive. From there on only the tabulations will tell.

Herbs and Birds . . .

If you enjoy browsing through musty museums or are interested in any of the many fields of biology you should make it a point to visit the Museum of Natural History in Howarth Hall. Although this museum is used chiefly by biology students for research, it is open to everyone each Thursday at noon. Regardless of the fact that the museum is not crowded by visitors the room is not difficult to find. You have only to climb the east stairs in Howarth Hall to the third floor and enter the first door to your right to visit the museum.

The room which houses the museum is the narrow but long east gable of the science building. Several years ago the room was renovated and with the addition of new plywood cabinets, the room has become a clean, well-lighted biology museum.

Dr. Alcorn, who is quite proud of the collections in the museum, says that it is the most complete biology museum this side of Berkeley, Calif. In the new cabinets that extend the full length of the east wall are some 1500 bird skins and approximately 3000 mammal skins. The newest addition to the collection, as yet incomplete, is the herbarium in which there are some 1300 plant specimens.

The museum, according to Dr. Alcorn, contains representatives of all orders of mammals and birds. Each is carefully preserved, labeled and classified. In the herbarium each plant is carefully pressed and is mounted on individual sheets of paper on which is given such data as name, classification, date collected, locale, etc. Most of the plant, bird, and mammal specimens have been collected by the students and the staff of the biology department.

Once again it is stressed that this museum is used in general for research by the biology department but that it will be open each Thursday noon for those who wish to see one of the most outstanding displays on the campus.

Beaux Arts Belles . . .

The list of organizations on the poster in the Bookstore window for the Beaux Arts Ball booths is steadily growing longer, and the time approaching the ball is steadily growing shorter.

Committee heads roamed around school the past week wearing shocking pink chicken rings on their fingers as publicity, and the signs bearing the slogan "Ding Dong," appeared in most classrooms. Prospective attenders were reminded that a date wasn't necessary for the ball will be both a stag and date affair.

As previously reported, the ball is sponsored by the Art department in connection with Alpha Rho Tau and Delta Phi Delta, art honoraries, and will be held March 17 in the field-house. The ball is an all-campus affair, will be costume, and Ivy Cozort's band will play.

All applications for booths must be turned in by today or they will not be qualified.

Candidates for the Beaux Arts Belle, chosen from the four classes will be presented in chapel next week. The frosh candidate is blonde, blue-eyed Janet Hunt. Chosen as Daisy Mae for the Sadie Hawkins dance, she is a pledge of both Alpha Beta Upsilon and Sigma Alpha Iota, and is a music major.

The sophomore candidate is Joanne Stebbins, the sophomore representative to central board. Joanne, a small, dark-haired, dark-eyed Beta, is a member of the band, and on the Tamanawas staff. She is an education major.

Roberta Westmorland, Delta Alpha Gamma, is the junior candidate. She is the tall, brown-haired president of Sigma Alpha Iota, and a member of the band. She is a music major.

Ann Vlahovich, the senior candidate, is a member of Pi Beta Phi and the Adelphians.

TB Test Time . . .

For three days next week a portable Pierce County Tuberculosis Association unit will be parked in the quadrangle, without a CPS sticker, but with a definite purpose. The buslike x-ray department will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. from Monday to Wednesday.

Students are asked to stop in on your way to or from Jones for a free checkup. Check yourself before TB checks you!

Reminder . . .

Intersorority Council wishes to remind all non-sorority members that they are not permitted in the sorority rooms without an invitation. The council feels that this rule is necessary since students have become careless in their treatment of the sororities' furniture. Also many of the girls' possessions have disappeared.

Life Savers . . .

CPS fund raisers got an early start last semester when Chapel attendants were asked to dig deep and shell out for the Du Bon Secours, Protestant home orphanage in Paris. Students stacked $441 on the line and dispatched it to the Paris home.

Recently Miss Myers, English department, received a note from Marie Stekler, directrice of the French institution. The note said in part, "I do not know whether you are aware that the Puget Sound College has sent us a further remittance, otherwise we would have had to close down our orphanage. Unfortunately conditions over here have not yet improved. We fervently hope to be able to carry on throughout this winter, thanks to the generous help of our dear American friends."

Barefoot Grads . . .

The bulletin board read "Senior Class Meeting—Girls' Gym—10 a.m. Thursday."

At 10 a.m. Thursday the doorway to the girls' gym was too crowded for even little Ted Rogers to get through. He had it from the person in front of him that Miss Bond was insisting on a peculiar request . . . that shoes must be removed before walking on the gymnasium floor.

Soon the crowd dispersed with many comments to the effect that "four years in college and now they want us to attend meetings without our shoes."

Chin Fest . . .

The annual Burmeister Oratorical contest will be held Monday afternoon, March 27, in Jones Hall.

A total of $50 in cash will be divided, $15 for first place and $10 for second place in both the men's and women's divisions.

The contest is open to any CPS student. Each student may choose his own subject for oration.

Any student interested should see Mrs. Riehl sometime within the next week at her office in J 200-1. She will be glad to give help or suggestions on the contest or coaching in oratorical delivery.

Music Hopes . . .

A quiet but insistent rumbling of Music building plans has been going over the campus lately. A recent banquet in the SUB lounge saw some of Tacoma's most prominent citizens listening to Dr. Thompson outline plans for the proposed structure. An encouraging chunk of money was appropriated.

Across the campus in the present Music building, the Adelphians were organizing a fund-raising drive. The group was preparing to add another notch to their long list of CPS achievements. They will split into two groups and proceed to dig up all the cash they can toward the new structure. The group that raises the least money will have to furnish entertainment for the victorious half.

Student participation in raising funds for campus buildings is traditional. A large part of the field-house appropriation came from CPS-ites. Back in 1941, students sold bricks to help finance the building of the SUB. The building has over $4,000 of student money in it.

ORGANIZATIONS

Caledonia Conclave . . .

Dr. Tomlinson spoke to a small group of Soc clubbers who assembled at Mr. Washburne's home for the last meeting. The Washington Birthday eve gathering at Caledonia Beach was rather sparsely attended, but those who did show heard Tomlinson talk on "Social relations as a factor in international relations."

He said the most intelligent foreign policy is one that considers the environment of people in other countries. Tomlinson added that the US has pulled several boners in foreign relations, citing specifically the occupation of Germany. "We trusted the well-dressed people and mistrusted the shabby ones, as is the tendency in America," he said, "but actually sometimes the well-attired Germans are former Nazis, while the poorly-dressed people are often that way from spending years in concentration camps."

The Soc Club will convene again on March 7, 7:30, at Washburne's home. The speaker will be Arna Gunther, from the UW anthropology department.

Canterbury Club . . .

The Canterbury Club of the College of Puget Sound has been invited to attend evening service and dinner as guest of the Canterbury Club of the University of Washington. The service will start at 5 o'clock this Sunday.

Any one who is interested in going is asked to phone Chaplain Davis at MA 3246 for reservations.

No Show . . .

Chess players are naturally a little slow in their moves.

In fact, Clarence Martin stretched the meeting time for interested CPS chess artists a half hour last Monday. That didn't seem to help either.

So now it's up to the chess backers to make a move towards Martin if they'd like to see a Chess Club started at the school.

Lettermen . . .

Lettermen's Prexy Howie Martin says an important meeting of all Lettermen will be held Monday, March 6, at noon in the SUB lounge.

Any Connection? . . .

Kappa Phi will hold a no-host luncheon Sunday at 1:00 at the New Yorker. Anyone who has ever had any connection with Kappa Phi is invited to attend, and may make reservations with Patty Schaller. Mrs. H. M. LeSourd will be the speaker.

Psychology Club . . .

Last Friday the Psychology Club elected officers for the spring semester. Vic Zimmerman was elected the new president with Walt Henry as vice president and Noralee Hoerr as secretary-treasurer. The next regular business meeting will be held March 14.

IRC Meet . . .

International Relations Club met Monday to elect new officers. Don Bremner was reelected president; Juho Kari, vice-president; Margaret Duvall, treasurer; Ann Skupen, secretary; and Ann Lowrie, recording secretary for the IRC regional conference which will be held this fall.

After the business meeting, members of the club listened to the second series of phonograph records, "I can hear it now." This series includes recordings from V-J Day celebrations, Churchill's famous "Iron Curtain" speech, establishment of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, Marshall's announcement of his Economic Reconstruction Program, and the wedding of Princess Elizabeth. Through one of Jan Masaryk's latest speeches in UNO and comment on his mysterious suicide, the recordings reach the most recent occurrences, as the Berlin Airlift, to be concluded by record of President Truman's reelection.

Dr. Shelmadine gave explanation when it was needed during the records.

SAI . . .

Sigma Alpha Iota will formally pledge 13 girls Monday evening. They are: Barbara Combs, Ann Cleland, Evelyn Gough, Mary Kinchloe, Margie Lutz, Mary Lee Staggs, Joan Stensen, Genevieve Starkey, Margaret Ward, Carol Weeks, Hazel Mika, Barbara DiIullo, and Janet Hunt.

Major qualifications for membership are that the girl be majoring or minoring in music, and be rated high scholastically.

New president of the pledge class is Joan Stenson, and Hazel Mika is the new secretary-treasurer.

CHAPEL

Three Levels . . .

"Here we are," said Dr. Allen A. Hunter as the last row of the Adelpheans trailed off the stage. And there they were, Tuesday's chapel audience, wondering what was going to happen that particular Tuesday.

The slender, almost gaunt man dressed in an unassuming black suit quickly told them that it was time to make a choice of three levels of existence.

The first level is the state of being infantile, where, "God is a sugar daddy Who'll put in another nickel in order to have another ride on the merry-go-round.

The second is that of the unbeliever, the radical who can find no good in anything. He is the one who says, "Thank God I'm an atheist."

The people on the third level are the mature thinkers who see evil so clearly they see through it. These people attain the simplicity of life that comes with mature thinking.

Dr. Hunter said that we are on this earth to find level three. He likened this level to a tennis game. He said that it was possible to forget the mistakes made before and a chance to do better was always before you.

Defining faith as a conscious image of one's mind that is acted upon "The will of God is no straight-jacket, but will allow one to be free and alive," concluded his informal and straight-forward talk.

Dr. Hunter was the speaker for the chapels on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, also. Chairmen for the respective chapels were Dick Lewis, Mary Dobbs, and Jean Tippie.

Next Week . . .

Next week's chapel will include introduction of the ASCPS candidates for office.

GREEKS

Twenty Beta pledges took their pledge test Monday afternoon, and will be formally initiated Wednesday evening at the Mason Methodist Church. Nancy Brown, a transfer from the U of W, is a new Beta pledge.

The ski trophy which was won by the Beta ski team in the Ski Day races is being displayed on the piano in the sorority room. Dr. John Phillips spoke to the Betas Wednesday night as part of the Religious Emphasis Week program.

Three new pledges will soon be formally initiated into Pi Phi for the next semester. They are Lois Lane, a transfer from San Jose State, Marilyn Mann and Betty Nutting.

According to all reports, the Sigma Nu pig dance at the U of W was a tremendous success. Each girl was given orchids as she arrived, and couples were presented with programs made in the shape of a knight's sword, complete with scabbard.

New Sigma Nu pledges are Bink Hedberg, Bob Carlson and Clem Corvalho.

The Sigma Nu alums met Monday with Rod Olzendam of the State Welfare Dept. as guest speaker.

The Pi Tau Mother's and Wives' Club will hold a bake sale at Rhodes Department store Tuesday. The meeting night of the Pi Tau's has been changed to Monday instead of Wednesday.

As a farewell to their pledging activities the eight new members, with the rest of the pledge class, will sponsor their pledge dance tomorrow night. It will be held at Pitlow Hall and will feature the music of the Gene Brown combo. As a twist in the usual run of affairs, members will answer to the charges of the pledges at their "Pledge Pinch." Intermission capers will consist of an amateur show put on by the members. If a member is charged with a crime by the pledges, he will have to contribute to the entertainment. Darr Geer will act as master of ceremonies.

Elaine Shields and Laurel McKay will be pledged into Delta Alpha Gamma Wednesday evening in the Gamma room. Dr. Cyrus Albertson spoke to the group this week as part of Religious Emphasis Week.

Rev. Loyal Vickers spoke to the Lambdas Wednesday night as part of their program for Religious Emphasis. Ruth Metcalf was formally pledged to Lambdas, and Bev Sinkovich was elected pledge mother.

Sigma Chi now has a 15-pound steel ball and chain which will be worn by the member who plants his fraternity pin. Tim Chapman was the first to wear the rig.

At the meeting Monday night, Claude G. McCormach was introduced as the new Sigma Chi faculty advisor. He is a member of Beta Upsilon chapter at Washington State and is a Life Loyal Sig.

The expression "beg, borrow, or steal" is usually applied when wanting some unattainable object, but the Kappa Sigs are trying to get someone to either beg, borrow, or steal Jerry, the overgrown mascot, who according to one member, was just a pain in the neck.

The Rev. Van Horn spoke to the fraternity following a dinner held for the members Monday night at the fraternity house.

New Kappa Sig pledges are Fred Fontanna, Duane Hagen, Doug Corns, Weldon Howe, Jim Bagley, Elbie Beamer, Al Larson and Carl Christianson.

The Delta Kaps formally pledged seven men on Monday night. They were Dave Stell, Russ Reid, Buzz Daily, Ken Scheele, Bob Hunt, Blaine Schultz and Clarion Peterson.

Father Deymek of St. Leo's Greek Orthodox Church spoke to the DKs for Religious Emphasis on Monday night.

PEOPLE

Sticker Inspector . . .

All cars entering the quadrangle last Friday without parking stickers were being stopped and warned by Pete Wolfe. Pete, who stood all day in the rain, dodging cars and issuing warnings, said most people accepted his inquiries in good faith and the students in general were especially friendly.

By the end of the day his blue overcoat was drenched, as well as the rest of him. He was pretty tired of listening to excuses ranging "everywhere from straight evasion to logical alibis."

The warnings are only part of the school's plan for enforcing parking stickers. The other part is done with tickets costing the owner $1.00. Anyone parking their cars at CPS, may find it rather costly if they neglect parking stickers. You can still get them at the Bursar's office at no expense.

Wrong Number . . .

Eldon Cowling complained that our report of Alan Wrye's receiving the first GI insurance refund at CPS was not quite correct.

The refunds were paid according to the last three numbers in a serial number. Alan Wrye's number ended in 990, Eldon Cowley's ended in 000.

"I probably had mine spent before he received his," comments Eldon.

This is not uncommon. Probably Mr. Wrye also had his spent before he received it.

Hit by the flu bug this week was John Blake, CPS' one-man news bureau. Chris Ostrom broke her ankle at the Chinook weekend ski races. Helene Schugard has left her job in Dick Smith's office to study at the UW.

Prexy Thompson journeyed north to Bellingham Monday, returning the same day.

Ruth Moline, CPS alumnus, will direct the current Tacoma Theatre Guild play. Louis Raphael passed out cigars and suckers after the birth of daughter Annette. Al Herzog's grandmother bought him a '37 Chevrolet recently. Clyde Keutzer attended the National Association of Schools of Music in Cleveland this week, booking the Adelphians on his return trip.

trying out their first golf game of the season.

CPS representative to the Panhellenic conference in Victoria, B. C., this spring is Doris Beardsley, intersorority president.

SPORTS

Payoff Playoffs . . .

It's all over as far as Evergreen conference basketball goes, but the CPS Loggers are going to get another crack at Eastern.

When Puget Sound and Central wound up in a second-place tie at the end of league play, a problem arose. The second-place team was scheduled to meet Gonzaga, the state's top-ranking independent school, in the NAIB playoffs. Eastern, by emerging circuit champions, was slated to tangle with the number three team in the loop.

Now, there was no number three team. What to do? It was decided by the tournament committee that Coach Leo Nicholson of the Wildcats and John Heinrick, CPS mentor, should flip a coin in order that some sort of an agreement could be reached.

The coin was flipped and Heinrick won. Everyone looked for him to pick the Bulldogs as his choice of opposition. Everyone was fooled. He asked for Eastern Washington without hesitation.

Thus, the Maroon and White go into the playoffs a definite underdog. Sports writers and fans won't give two cents for their chances. They appear to be rather remote.

If history should repeat itself, however, the Loggers will be on the train to Kansas City before long. They ended in a second-place tie last year, weren't conceded a chance in the playoffs, and amazed them all by winning this state's spot in the national meet.

But this year's chore seems to be much harder. Those Savages from across the Cascades are loaded with talent and know how to make use of it. Gonzaga is equally tough. CPS isn't even rated.

This is the payoff; this is the payoff. Monday and Tuesday are tournament nights at Parkland. Forgetten are the Loggers — nevertheless, they'll be there. They'll be there with fight and hustle in the starting lineup.

Before Puget Sound's hoopsters ever got a chance to meet the mighty Eastern Washington Savages in a title-deciding contest at Cheney last Saturday they were rudely dumped right out of the running by an upstart band of Whitworth Pirates.

It was a disappointing jolt. The Loggers never did recover and after their 51-46 loss Friday they dropped a nine-point decision to the champions. A glance at the standings on Monday morning found the Heinrickmen in third place.

Eastern promptly moved them back into a second-place tie with Central by beating the Wildcats 60-65, however, and that's the way it ended. The Savages finished up the season with 13 straight wins after a 46-45 defeat at the hands of the Maroon and White in the league opener. CPS was the only conference team to down Red Reese's powerful quintet.

The Lumberjacks ended up with a 10-4 record. After downing Eastern and Whitworth, they lost a three-point decision to PLC on the road and were victims of a near disaster at Ellensburg. Central trounced them 62-41, and their fifty-fifty record looked far from impressive at the time.

Then they found themselves. Eight straight conference opponents fell before the CPS onslaught. The stage seemed set for a gigantic meeting at Cheney. Thanks to Whitworth, who kicked down the supports, the roof fell in.

Five Pirates turned in an ironman act in Spokane and came out five points to the good. Meanwhile, 10 Loggers kept throwing the ball at the hoop. The spheroid simply refused to go through. CPS shot 67 times and Whitworth fired 45. Inaccuracy at the foul line hurt more. The Loggers actually outscored the Pirates from the field but could only hit on half of their 24 charity tosses. Whitworth dropped in 21 out of 34.

Marksmanship—or rather, lack of it—also cost the Puget Sounders against Eastern. Heinrich's hustling rebounders took 77 shots to the Savages' 61. Inability to score haunted them a second night.

Big Rod Gibbs, who's been the only consistent scorer all year, kept up the pace. The rangy pivotman added 13 points to his total the first night and racked up 21 counters against Eastern.

Logger Putters . . .

Tryouts for the golf team have been called by Coach Jack Enright for the first three weeks in March at Fircrest.

A home and home schedule has been set with Western, UBC, St. Martins, PLC, Seattle U and U of Wash., with arrangements being made for matches with U of Ore., and U of Portland. The conference meet is to be held in Vancouver, B.C., on May 16 and 17. Arrangements are also being made for a "best-ball" match with the combined teams of Stadium and Lincoln. Six men will be chosen for the squad with two of these men to be alternates. A list of players already earning out are: Bud Holmes, Bruce Anderson, Don Mozel, Dick Carter, Jack Nickolson, Jim Fawler, Mordecai Barofsky, Ken Bayer, Jim Gibbon and Jack Sweeting.

Skiing Scorers . . .

On February 26, the CPS varsity skiers traveled to Mt. Spokane to enter the Eastern Washington Invitational Downhill and Slalom Meet. The crack ski team from Seattle University took top honors with a total of 197.3 points, CPS grabbed second place with 190.8 points while Wenatchee J.C., Whitman and Eastern finished in that order with 186.5, 173.5, and 165.2, respectively.

In the downhill event Chuck Howe tied with Bob Mahoney of S.U. at 1:45-6 for first place, while John Boesel took third with a time of 1:46-5, entitling CPS a team first place. The remaining CPS skiers placed as follows: seventh, Don Gilsdorf; 12th, Weldon Howe and 15th, Royce Ward.

Seattle U took first in the slalom with CPS taking second. Royce Ward placed eighth and Don Gilsdorf 11th with times of 53.4 and 55.5, respectively. Chuck Howe, John Boesel and Weldon Howe placed 13th, 15th and 18th in that order.

The team showed a great improvement over their last meet at Baniff. One reason for this rapid improvement was the return of Royce Ward to spark the squad. The capturing of the second place trophy was a great boost to the morale of the team.

Frosh Flashes . . .

First place in the interclass basketball tournament was taken by Freshman team No. 2. Second and third places in the girls' tourney were not decided until today. Upperclass teams No. 1 gave the winners a close race by collecting seven points to their eight. Sophomore team No. 1 had the chance this noon to tie for second.

The winning team made their eight points by winning three games and tying two. High scorers for the team were Liz Fleming and Mary Cozort.

Readers Rating . . .

According to Reviewer Brynestad: "The Choral Reading recital sounded good. It looked even better. The poetry was by turns gripping, soothing, amusing. The scenery all the way through was terrific.

"There were a few flaws, of course, in timing and attacks, but good choice of material and interesting interpretation made these details scarcely noticeable. At times it seemed that the leader got a head start on the group, and that his voice didn't blend. This wasn't a big enough defect to detract from the listeners' enjoyment.

"Herb Stark's solo number, Catalog, was especially well received, as was A Quaker's Wooing, featuring Kay Klopfenstein and David Stell, and Larry O'Dee, with Herb Stark and Gloria Nelson.

"The section titled 'From Eight to Eighty' was by far the favorite of the audience. It would be hard to pick one number in this group that was outstanding.

"Don Crabs and the stage crew did a top job. The background for The Congo, and the shoe for the "Mary Kincheloe's lines in Let My People Go were especially well-delivered. This poem of James Weldon Johnson was a stirring close for an enjoyable 'evening of poetry.'"

Phi Mu Sunday . . .

Vocal and instrumental musicians of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia appeared in concert Sunday afternoon in Jones Hall.

A program of modern American music was presented and the works of several CPS students were included in the program which opened with the Men's Choir singing "Hail Sinfonia," to the music of Arthur Sullivan. Following this were "Come My Beloved," by Jacob Kimball and the rousing "Timber Cutters' Chant," by Harvey Gaul. Don Hazel directed the group and Leonard Raver accompanied at the organ.

Henry Cowell's "Tall Tale" featured the fraternity's brass sextet. All of the music heard was in the impressionists vein, conveying thoughts and impressions, rather than stories. Especially representative of this theme were three solo numbers sung by Baritone John Jones, "Remembrance," by George Fowler; "Irradiations No. X," by Victor Hugo; and Leroy Ostransky's "No Man Is an Island."

Illness prevented John O'Connor's performing "Trumpet Sonata," by Leo Sowerby, as originally scheduled.

John Cowell presided at the keyboard during the playing of his own "String Trio." Violinist was Paul Revitt, cellist, Gordon Epperson.

Leonard Raver moved from organ to piano when he and Gordon Marvik presented the two-piano "Danzon Cubano," by Modernist Aaron Copland.

"Marche" and "Two Pieces," both by Francis McKay, featured the horn quartet: Iverson Cozort, Dick Lyman, John Schartow, Bob Gregory, Gene Stephens, and Leroy Gruver.

Back at the organ again, Leonard Raver offered Leo Sowerby's "Toccata for Organ." The Men's Choir reappeared to close the concert with a group of modern canons: "The Little Children," by Ernest Bacon, and "Air Held Her Breath," by Henry Cowell.

From behind the singers, a jazz beat as a rhythm ensemble set the pace of the final number, "The Three-Way Canon Blues."

Most Tacomans from on and off campus left the concert pleased, if a little bewildered, after their first formal introduction to modern American music.

Pathetic Polishers . . .

One of the advantages of a college film lies in the variety of motion pictures which may be shown; pictures which are seldom if ever seen in commercial theatres because the general public, for one reason or another, will not accept them. The Italian film, "Shoe-Shine," was offered extensively in eastern theatres and made limited appearances on the Pacific Coast. But it did not remain for long.

"Shoe-Shine" is the type of story people do not want to know. It is a story of a way of life which many people do not wish to acknowledge. It offers none of the pleasant solace present, often in excess, in the average photoplay. Instead, the spectator is drawn into a story intrinsically unpleasant. He is shown exactly what kind of existence the war-weary Italian knew.

The roles of the two heroes of this picture were enacted by actual bootblacks, taken from the streets of Rome. The only professional actors in the picture were the minor roles of the police and the prison authorities. When a scene required American soldiers and GIs were forbidden to participate, Cleveland-born Director Vittorio di Sica employed Italian ex-PWs in GI uniforms. Adverse conditions made necessary the utmost simplicity of production.

This is the element of reality which has helped to make "Shoe-Shine" the superior film it is. This, and the straight-forward, totally un-American manner in which the tale is told, have won for the film an outstanding position in the annals of motion pictures.

Whether or not the spectator accepts this picture may well hinge upon his ability to accept reality in a motion picture theatre.

Tones To Come . . .

Beta Delta chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota, national women's music honorary, will present their first annual American Musicale Friday, March 10, in Jones Hall auditorium.

The girls will sing and play works by American composers. Again at this concert a new work by John Cowell will be presented. Mr. Cowell has had two numbers premiered recently, The Power and the Glory, which was given for the Friends of Music Society, and a string trio, at the Sinfonia concert last Sunday. Appearing in the concert will be two members of the active chapters and two alums.

FACULTY & ADMINISTRATION

Smokey Jones . . .

Jones Hall blackboards were chalked with "No Smoking" signs this week and posters were tacked on the foyer wall. This is the administration's way of asking the students to walk out onto the steps with their cigarettes.

The littered and smoky entrance hall has been an eyesore for students and visitors ever since the cold weather drove smokers inside. The administration looked the other way when the temperature ranged in the minus twenty zone outside, but soon the cigarette butts were almost as deep as the snow outside.

Now that the blizzard seems to be around the corner, signs were posted to keep the fire insurance company happy and to keep the floor reasonably clean.

Tilk and Talk . . .

For three days last week meeting halls and lecture rooms on the campus of the University of Washington resounded with lectures and arguments over foreign language teachers' tactics. Teachers gathered from British Columbia, Alberta, Montana, Idaho, Utah, Washington and Oregon to attend the conference, the first Pacific Northwest Conference of Foreign Language Teachers.

The main theme of the gathering was "A New Look at the Teaching of Foreign Languages and Cultures." The central topics of discussion concerned the practices of teachers and how they could be improved upon. The annual airing of teaching problems and practices is in the long run designed to plan more or less universal foreign language teaching practices.

Mrs. Ella Mai Clark, Spanish, instructor, represented CPS at the conference. A discussion group to which Mrs. Clark was assigned, discussed "Aims and Methods" of teaching foreign languages. Mrs. Clark said that many times heated arguments ensued over controversial teaching methods. One of the decisions to come out of her group concerned the oral teaching method. It was agreed upon that this method was not an effective way of teaching students a foreign language.

One of the more interesting lectures, according to Mrs. Clark, was given by a professor who has devised an international language. This universal language, called "Tilk," deals mainly with association of ideas instead of sounds or words.

The ideas would be expressed by a set group of symbols to be used universally. This system could simplify the translation of foreign languages by the use of symbols, only a few in number, to make understandable the ideas behind the text.

Mrs. Clark expressed confidence of success at future conferences held by the foreign language teachers of the Northwest.

Get Ready . . .

Sophomores and seniors will have a day off next month. Dean Register says the dates for the tests have been changed to March 15 and 16. These will be the annual sophomore comprehensive exams and the senior graduate tests, with seniors pushing the pencils from 1:00 to 5:00 on Wednesday and from 8:00 to 12:00 Thursday. Sophomores will test all day Wednesday, starting at 8:00 in the Jones Hall auditorium.

Seniors will report to the field-house. They must pay a $3.00 fee for their exams, payable now at the Bursar's office.

Profile . . .

Logger Leader . . .

A halftime event at the CPS-University of Washington basketball game last December brought a roar from the fans that nudged the new rafters. It was President Thompson's dramatic announcement that Coach John Heinrick had signed a new five-year contract to continue as CPS athletic director. The partisan crowd then exhaled in relief and leaned back in their seats. They remembered the rumors that had been booming louder and louder to the effect that Heinrick was eyeing a coaching post that had just been vacated at WSC.

The fans needn't have worried. Heinrick said later: "I was approached by WSC with an offer, but I have no intention of leaving Tacoma or CPS."

His loyalty to Tacoma has been returned until the name of John Heinrick has become a sports legend throughout the whole area. A heavy shouldered man with graying hair, sharply chiseled features and piercing blue eyes, he paces up and down while talking in his deep, husky voice, and sometimes chews a cigar that won't remain lighted. After 20 years of high school coaching and five here at CPS, Heinrick has acquired a strong reputation for shrewd coaching and unsurpassed inspirational appeal to his players. The words spoken to Heinrick when he was awarded the "Sportsman of the Year" trophy from the TAC in 1947 could apply to any of his last 20 years. They were: "By reason of his eminence in his profession, by virtue of the lasting esteem in which he is held by his fellow townspeople, young and old, and because of the attention and respect which he commands throughout the state, John Heinrick is the sportsman of the year."

Heinrick's story isn't one of setting out for far away places to seek his fame and fortune. He stayed right in his own back yard and still made good. He is now finishing his fifth year as basketball coach at CPS and is on his third year as football mentor and athletic director. It was in 1947 that he moved to CPS in a fulltime basis, and in the fall of '48 he took over the football coaching reins vacated by Frank Patrick.

His pigskin specialists co-shared the Evergreen conference with Eastern in 1948 and '49. In basketball, the Heinrickmen swept the Northwest conference title in 1948. The next year saw the Logger hoopsters move into the newly-formed Evergreen conference and tie PLC for the second place berth. At the NAIB playoffs after the season was over, CPS took the tourney and won the coveted trip to Kansas City.

This season the Maron and White tied for second place in the final standings, but Monday night's beginning NAIB playoff will help determine whether they might possibly be Missouri bound again. Heinrick's phenomenal record at CPS in conference play is: basketball, 57 victories, 16 losses. Football, 10 wins, and only two setbacks.

These are only a few reasons for Heinrick's prominence around Tacoma and the state. Born here, he attended Stadium high school and there got his first taste of sports. One hundred thirty-eight-pound John played midget football and varsitied in basketball and baseball. After graduation in 1922, he headed south to St. Martins, where he played guard in football.

Crossing the mountains to Ellensburg, Heinrick made the fans look twice at this Tacoma boy as he captained the Central basketball team for two years and moved to full-back and end positions on the football squad. It was here that he met the future Mrs. Heinrick. (They now have five children, and John Jr. quarterbacked for the Loggers and his pop during the past season.)

Heinrick then transferred to the University of Washington, and graduated there in 1926.

Although John had been roaming for the better part of four years, he was glad to come back home and take over as head coach at Bellarmine. (The school was then named St. Leo's.) He stayed on the hill for seven years, and remembers: "Although we were a small school, there was one two-year period when we beat Stadium every game."

The versatile Heinrick is just as adept at baseball as he is in his other two specialties, basketball and football. In 1934-35 he coached a local team that won the semi-pro title and also copped the Timber League crown.

He moved to Stadium in '34, and looks back this way: "It was quite a fulfilled ambition when I moved from Bellarmine to Stadium. I guess it's every coach's hope to go back to the school that he graduated from someday." The Heinrick star continued to rise. In the next two seasons, his squads won seven city championships and three cross-state titles. He was chosen to coach the all-state team which beat the Seattle all-stars. The state champion Stadium baseball team of 1936 was Heinrick-coached.

In 1945 Heinrick started blowing the whistle at both ends as he began coaching CPS basketball along with his Stadium chores. Two years later, two job offers hit him at once. One was a post as Tacoma athletic director, and the other was a position with the same title at CPS. Thinking back, he said: "I was undecided at first as to which job to take. But when I realized that CPS offered by far the greater challenge, and decided to accept their offer." He took over fulltime duty at Loggerville immediately.

Behind him, Stadium Principal Howard Carr said "This association with so fine a character has left its make on over a thousand young men of his teams. His successes have been punctuated by more than the usual run of victories. Those wins and losses may soon be forgotten, but the boys who have been on Heinrick squads will never forget his vigorous, uncompromising instruction in clean, wholesome sportsmanship."

In front of him, Dr. Thompson said "Speaking for myself and the trustees, we are happy that John has accepted the added duties at CPS. I need make no statement as to our regard for his ability as a coach and his influence on young men. His record speaks for itself."

Heinrick outlines his criteria of coaching this way: "Play to win, no matter who the opponent... be confident of victory, but not overconfident... chief function of a coach is to create the will to win, to boost and sustain morale by efficient organization and untiring practice."

His toughest game to lose was "the one we lost to PLC at the Armory last year. Ahead several points in the closing minutes, we were checked down the floor and beaten in the last moment by a foul shot."

One of the most satisfying to win was the game with Linfield, "when we beat them over in the old gym after they had a 15-point lead with six minutes to go." A close second would be the first game with Eastern this year, when a crowded fieldhouse saw a free shot decide Logger victory in the last moment.

Heinrick is enthusiastic about the fieldhouse. "I can't use a superlative enough term to describe it and its possibilities for the future," he said.

He is even more enthusiastic about CPS. "Most of all, I want to emphasize how much I enjoy it here and how satisfied I am. He added: "I have no intention of leaving, and hope to have a permanent job here for the rest of my life."

The fieldhouse ovation last December would seem to indicate that the feeling is mutual.

In this last issue of the Trail, we want you to meet the Herolds who own the Herold's Cafe, located at 3312 North Proctor. They have been at this location for about 10 months, coming here from Minneapolis where they were in the restaurant business.

The Herolds have been indebted to the students who patronize their cafe since their opening in July of 1949. Every day, especially Sunday, is busy and students may be found there enjoying a home-cooked meal. Pies which are freshly baked in their own ovens seem to hit the spot for students away from home. After the closing of school, the Herolds want you to keep in mind those meals next fall when you return, and they really appreciate the patronage of the college this past year.

CAMPUS WEEK

Tension mounted on campus as the last few days were quickly rolling by. The Dean posted an exam schedule, profs made last minute assignments and studying hit a new high in the school library. Before closed period and the exposure of blue-books a flurry of activities will keep the campus hopping.

Banquets are in style. Beginning this week the women had one and almost every other organization was planning some farewell feast for their graduating members. AWS held their meal at the Towers, announced new officers, tapped new groups and awarded laurels. (See Students). The Greeks have also booked banquets ending their social season and honoring the top classmen or women.

Senioritis started when seniors sneaked to Lincoln Park in Seattle. The juniors gave up the chase. Even chapel hinted of graduation with its recognition service. (See Chapel). The Bookstore was busy passing out announcements and caps and gowns. Commencement plans were well under way, baccalaureate and Senior Ball included.

Picnics substituted for more formal gatherings. The rain or shine weather caused convertible tops to go up and down as plans depending on the rain were changed.

"She always gets wound up over May Day."

Crossing her fingers for nice weather this week was Bev Sinkovich, May Day chairman. Bev and her committees worked with two sets of plans in mind hoping they could use the sunny plans. Queen Lita will walk up Sutton Quadrangle if there is no sign of rain today. But if we have Wednesday weather the celebration will go on in Jones Hall, Maypole dances and all.

The Fieldhouse was full of paintings and sketches when the County Art Show moved in for the weekend. The galleries atop Jones held another annual student art show which opened Tuesday evening. (See entertainment).

In the sports outlook the scene was far north in British Columbia. Evergreen conference meets will be in track, tennis and golf. In baseball Wednesday's game with Western settled a title dispute. (See Sports).

Regardless of the weather and the campus doings one and only one thing was definitely set. School would be out on June 2.

Cut the Corsages . . .

Just before the end of the Central Board meeting on May 9, Nick Nicholas got to his feet and unrolled a piece of paper. Glancing at it as he spoke, he outlined the reasons he felt that corsages should be banned at any all-schol dance.

Nick stressed the economy side of the posy picture. He pointed out that many students were not working and found it difficult to put out the extra cash for flowers. Also, the idea of corsages, according to Nicholas, has become a "contest to see who can buy the fanciest and most striking flowers."

No women were present at the

meeting. The central board members who were present thought for a moment, then seconded and carried Nick's petition. Corsages are now "outlawed" for any all-school dance.

This rule may need some interpretation. It pertains to dances such as Homecoming, The Greek Ball, Beaux Arts, and other all-school dances. Nicholas said that it had nothing to do with organizational dances, such as a fraternity or sorority gathering.

He added hesitantly: "There isn't any place to pin them anymore, either."

Female reaction ranged from approval to bitter disapproval. One co-ed said "I think the boys are cheap enough now without passing such a rule as this." However, another remarked: "It seems sensible, corsages are nice but they are a waste of money. You go to a dance with a boy, not his flowers."

Male reaction to Central Board's newest law: Amen.

Last Dance . . .

The seniors will bounce their last ball on June 3 Co-chairman Joyce Brynestad has announced that the annual senior ball will be held in Fellowship Hall, from 9 till 12 p.m.

Any student may attend. Tickets for the senior shindig are $2.50 per couple. Ivy Cozart's band will play.

The co-chairmen won't talk about the decorations, but the theme of the dance will be "Something Sentimental." Along with the Central Board ruling, there will be no corsages, and attire will be semi-formal.

A traditional feature of a traditional dance will be the reading of the senior will by John Friar.

Hatchet Happy . . .

After the hatchet clue was passed in Chapel, small groups of students stood back of Jones Hall in quiet conference. The large lawn was filled with people who were looking under the rocks and up into the tall trees. Smug Seniors stood watching the intent underclassmen, and giving them further clues that proved worthless.

Word like "eleven steps which way?"; "What were those numbers again?"; and "I think it's in the Fieldhouse" were floating around. Finally, in lower Jones, the tension mounted.

A group of juniors had been trying the combination clue on each locker. Geneva Withers twisted the magic number on the lock of Jim Ernst's locker. It opened.

Inside, a hatchet-like shape in brown paper was lying down in the bottom. Geneva gasped and closed the locker door. A sophomore was standing near, and she didn't want to risk taking the hatchet from the locker until she had some protection from fellow juniors.

She told Claudia Zediker where the hatchet was. Later, Claudia slipped the brown object from Ernst's locker under her coat and calmly walked to Anderson Hall with it. Someone had been watching her, and as Claudia walked past a group of puzzled Sophomores, the informer said "Stop her . . . she's got the hatchet!" Not a sophomore moved, and Claudia walked on.

An hour later, Claudia walked out of Anderson. Waiting for her were juniors Ralph Wehmhoff, Dwight Ball, Barbara Albertson, Duane Fleming, Don Jaenicke, Harry Edmondson and Bill Robertson.

They drove to Point Defiance Park. Claudia took the object from under her coat and took the brown paper off. The hatchet gleamed in the Tuesday sun. The happy juniors fondled the scarred trophy, and admired the engraved numbers of classes from 1928 on up. The already much-photographed weapon was snapped again and again.

Where is the hatchet now? Smiling, Claudia Zedeker said "It's safe, and the juniors will have it until next year about this time."

Dampened Enjoyment . . .

Campus Day chairmen crossed their fingers when they looked up at a threatening May 4 morning sky. Most of the day's events were planned for outdoors.

At noon, the hour set for the campus picnic, the threat had become real. Rain forced outside lunchers to seek shelter. Rain struck out the scheduled student-faculty baseball game after a couple innings of play, also.

The other outdoor contests were switched to the Gym. When the points were totalled for the class games, the sophomores had piled up the most. The freshmen were runner-ups. The sophs were presented with a class banner for their feats.

The weather had cleared sufficiently by 4:30 to allow the traditional frosh-soph tug o' war to take place outside. The freshmen pulled the hardest in this affair to gain the win.

At 7 p.m. in Jones Hall auditorium each fraternity presented a skit with its sister sorority. Judged the best of the bunch was the Sigma Chi-Lambda Sigma Chi skit. Delta Kappa Phi and Delta Alpha Gamma rated next best.

The street dance which started at 8:30 was also moved indoors, in the Gym, as the pellets of moisture, which had pestered the Campus Day group all day, were still falling.

By Friday, the sky had cleared and the sun was shining down on a spic and span campus. Campus Day chairmen glanced upward again, then were heard mumbling something about "April (???) showers bring May . . ."

THE TRAIL

May Play . . .

High school girls and other interested CPS visitors will start touring the campus this afternoon at 1. They will find the Sigma Nus playing the role of hosts for the pre-May Day ceremony tour.

By 2:45, the time the May Day ceremony starts, the CPS guests will have gone through all the CPS structures. The last building to be viewed will be the Fieldhouse where a state-wide art exhibit is on display.

Then the students, the faculty, and the visitors will start to surround the quadrangle as the time for the annual May Day program nears.

The band will start to play and then heralds Nancy Bartels and Donna O'Dell will blow the fanfare as they walk down Jones Hall's steps to the scene of coronation. The royal procession will then start. The Spurs, with garlands, will lead the procession to be followed by the page, Ed Lund.

Then, one by one, the three class

Lorie Murtland, who will spread handfuls of blossomed petals on the Jones pavement in preparation for the queen's entrance.

The May Day assemblage will then look up towards the Jones' entrance. Marching down the steps will be Queen Lita Johnson, escorted by ASCPS president, Jim Ernst.

When the queen reaches the throne the music will stop. A little more fanfare and the official coronation of the queen by President Thompson will follow. Queen Lita will then read her proclamation and will be presented with flowers by Dr. Thompson, who will give a welcoming address.

The class duchesses will be introduced to the royal court. The first group of high school duchesses will be introduced next.

The first of three Maypole dances will then take place with the members of Delta Alpha Gamma taking part. The dance will be followed by the introduction of the second group of high school duchesses.

duchesses, Jo Anne Wood, freshman, Beverly Warner, sophomore, and Cathie Doherty, junior, will take their places in the quadrangle. Next in the parade will be the high school duchesses with their escorts.

Little Tommy Jacobsen will bear the royal proclamation and behind him will be Johnnie Magee, the crown bearer.

Next to appear will be the two princesses, Joan Mooney and Lorraine Rockway. Then will come four little flower girls, Martha and Mary Thompson, and Dale Ann and Harry Edmondson.

Next will be another Maypole dance by Pi Beta Phi and then the third group of high school duchesses will be introduced. The last Maypole dance will be by members of Lambda Sigma Chi.

The rest of the program will consist of the Pi Phis singing their two Songfest winning songs. Then the Adelpian Quartette made up of Neal Miller, Jim Ernst, Ray Turcotte, and Paul Kelly will sing.

The Independent men, Songfest winners, will offer their two winning numbers. Dick Fechkoe will end the May Day entertainment with a tap dance.

Master of Ceremonies Ernie Tischhauser, will conclude the program and the recessional will follow.

The students will then go to the SUB for a tea dance which will last until 5. Gene Brown and his Logger Rhythms will be on hand to furnish the music.

Mothers will meet in Anderson Hall for a tea.

Chairman Bev Sinkovish had the following committee heads helping her: Sandy Mazzei, publicity, Lodema Johnson, entertainment, Lois Wasmund, processional, Terry Flannigan, invitations, Virginia Wahlquist, tour, Barbara Albertson, tea dance, Marcella Morton, art exhibit, Bruce Dennis, staging, Larry Beck, microphones, and Patti Lemley, programs.

Also assisting her were Claudia Zediker from AWS, Kappa Sigs, Delta Kaps, Theta Chis, Pi Tau Omegas, and Sigma Chis.

Ron Bloom will be the court jester. Faculty advisor is Mrs. Riehl.

Annual Answer . . .

Tamanawas Editor Ed Balarezo says that the 1950 annuals will be out on or about May 30.

Lost Hands . . .

Rosalie Messinger is frantically searching for a pair of white suede gloves. Rosalie wants a grade in her minor skills class where she labored over the white mitts. Finder please return to Anderson Hall.

Up Lift . . .

Construction is the big thing at Deep Creek this summer. Work on a three-mile chair lift is scheduled to begin. "If everything works out all right, the lift should be in operation by December of this year," said Chuck Howe.

The chair lift, which is being promoted by the Corral Pass Developmental Organization, will run in three sections. This lift will open many more runs to both novice and advanced skiers, varying from six miles to four tenths of a mile. The Deep Creek winter area will be equal to any ski area in the world.

The first section of the lift will be 1.6 mile, the second section .4 mile, and the third section, 1 mile. Running to an elevation of 6,300 feet, the chair lift will have a vertical lift of 3,600 feet. For summer, the lift will be used by hunters and fishermen to get to better hunting and fishing grounds.

Deep Creek will be open all summer to students and the public in general. An extensive summer program, consisting of hiking, softball, horseshoes, ping pong, badminton, and fishing is being planned. Hiking will include the immediate vicinity and also up and around Mt. Rainier.

Rates during the summer will be the same as winter rates; 50c a night for Chinook members, 75c for college students, and $1 for the general public. Chuck gives students a world of warning. "If you don't apply at the bursar's office first before you go up, the rate is 25c more."

ORGANIZATIONS

Women's Night . . .

Last year the tables at the Towers held placecards of pink booties. The Associated Women Students was just born. Dean Drushel was the head nurse and Dr. Thompson, the physician in charge. Parents were the former Women's Federation which was abandoned to include women's athletics, honoraries and service organizations in the same crib.

Monday evening at the Towers the women students met again for their first AWS birthday party. Since last year's banquet new life has been spanked into women's groups on campus. WAA (women's athletics), Otlah (senior scholastic honorary) and Spurs (sophomore service honorary), have been under the wing of AWS. Additional dessert for the dinner was the introduction of new WAA and AWS officers, tapping of Spurs and Otlah members and the awarding of WAA trophies, sweaters and pins. Only two men were in sight. Dr. Thompson greeted the group and John Blake came in with his camera.

AWS advisor Carolynn Sullivan handed to Marian Swanson the president's book. Working with Marian next year will be Gloria Nelson, vice president; Joan Lowry, secretary; Corrine Engle, treasurer; Beverly Muir, publicity; and Esther Voegelien, social chairman. AWS representatives are Doris Bremner, Annette Ogden, June Wright, Mary Dobbs, Gen Starkey and Joan Stenson.

This year's AWS president, Alice Palmer, asked Miss Alice Bond to award the women's athletic trophies.

The inter-sorority athletic cup went to Delta Alpha Gamma, also the bowling trophy and the volleyball cup. The badminton cup was won by Alpha Beta Upsilon, the basketball trophy went to Pi Beta Phi and the softball trophy to the Independent women. WAA president Jeanne Shugard and her already active cabinet for next year were introduced. (See TRAIL, April 21.)

First-year WAA pins were awarded girls with 600 points in athletics. Jeanne Shugard awarded maroon sweaters with two white stripes to Fern McCullough, Freda Garnett, Nadine Clarey, Helen Gladstone, Jeanne Shugard, Chris Ostrum, Marian Swanson, Corrine Engle, Gloria Ellexson, Jean Hagemeyer and Virginia Wahlquist. Receiving sweaters with three stripes were Lita Johnson, Jeanne Shugard and Carol Sue Petrich.

The fourth-year award, earned in three year's time, went to Eunice Williams, whose sweater held an armful of four white stripes.

Spurs walked the tables 'round to tap 15 freshmen girls for service next year. Baby Spurs are Bernadine Budil, Elizabeth Bradham, Maureen Dessen, Barbara DiIullo, Joan Lowry, Rosemary Martinson, Hazel Mika, Eleanor Moberg, Beverly Norlin, Joan Stenson, Marilyn Strandwold, Ann Thompson, Margaret Ward, Joyce Wilfley, and JoAnn Wood.

The new group held its first meeting at the home of Teach Jones, the Spur advisor, Tuesday night. They elected Joanne Wood, president; Joanne Lowry, vice president; Maureen Dessen, treasurer; Eleanor Moberg, secretary; Hazel Mika, editor; Bernadine Budil, historian; Barbara KiIullo, song leader, and Beverly Norlin, sergeant-at-arms. The group spent the remainder of the evening planning their activities for this semester, May Day, Baccalaureate, and Commencement.

From a red paper carnation Otlah members pulled the names of girls tapped for their senior honorary. New Otlah members are Blythe Callahan, Doris Bremner, Geneva Withers, Nancy Riehl, Jackie Thurber, Joanne Smith, Claudia Zediker, Elsie Palo, Alice Palmer, Joyce Brynestad, Gloria Nelson, Jeanne Shugard, Suzanne West, Barbara Jugovih, Mary Krilich and Genevieve Farmer.

Hindu and Quaker . . .

Harriet Haines was chairman of the Soc Club party held last Tuesday. Cars left the SUB at 5 for Washburne's home at Caledonia. Dr. John Magee spoke on his thesis topic, "The Hindu and the Quaker." The members enjoyed boat rides on the yacht of George Brown.

Anahist, Gas and Beer . . .

A youngish man with a fondness for bow ties and outdoor activities, Dr. Robert Sprenger is also advisor for the CPS affiliate of the American Chemical Society. There are only two small-school affiliates in the Northwest. CPS has one and St. Martins has the other.

Last Saturday the two organizations held a joint meeting at St. Martins.

In the morning the students read scientific papers to the assembled members. Four papers were given by CPS students. Ed Barnes gave one on the chemical formulas of the anahistimes. Richard Carlson read his paper on the chemical and biological aspects of some of the antibiotics. Charles Morrison read two papers, one on the derivation of general gas laws and the other on high vacuum production and its uses.

In the afternoon the meeting adjourned to the Olympia Brewery at Tumwater. There the students were conducted on a tour of the plant so they could study the chemical aspects of fermentation.

In the evening a banquet was held with Father J. H. McGrath, dean of the graduate school and head of the chemical department of Portland University as the chief speaker.

Along with Dr. Sprenger 10 chemistry majors from CPS attended the session.

Six Delts . . .

New initiates into Delta Phi Delta art honor society are Kenn Glenn, Lee Hilton, Eeverly Warner, John Clark, Ray Price, Richard Crabs and Jack Cowan.

Pep People . . .

During this season of baseball, track, and picnics, the newly elected officers of the Rally Comm. have football, rallies and "What happens if it rains," on their mind.

Barb Albertson, last year's yell queen, is again taking a major role in CPS pep activities. Barb is the president of Rally Comm. for 1950.

Dwight Ball and Doug McArthur, the stunt chairman and rally chairman respectively, have already been busy this semester, getting new ideas for card stunts and rallies.

Other officers working on next year's activities are Rick Healy, treasurer; Doris Beardsley, secretary, and Ron Stenger, publicity chairman.

Take Oath . . .

On May 10 in the SUB lounge 39 persons raised their right hands and a few minutes later found them-

CENTRAL BOARD MINUTES

May 16, 1950

The meeting was called to order by the President Jim Ernst. Roll was called and the minutes were read and approved.

The chair asked that letters of appointment for departmental managers be submitted by Thursday.

DEPARTMENTAL REPORTS:

MUSIC—Leonard Raver announced that the music department will bear the expense of one-third of the deficits incurred in the staging of the song-fest.

COMMITTEE REPORTS:

SEATING—The chair announced that Barbara Albertson has been appointed chairman of the seating committee.

INTER-FRATERNITY-COUNCIL—Ray Harbert outlined the expenditures of sending two delegates to the national convention.

Barry Garland moved that Central Board allow I.F.C. to keep its share, $94.54, of the profits from the Greek Ball to add to their reserve for sending two delegates to the Western Region I.F.C. Conference. Seconded and carried.

CLASSES—The chair requested the Senior representatives to report on the financial status of the class at the next meeting of Central Board.

BUDGETS:

SCC—Her Stark moved that the SCC budget be reconsidered. Seconded, not carried.

CENTRAL BOARD—Mr. Capen moved the adoption of the Central Board budget. Seconded and carried.

Mr. Banks recommended that the Deep Creek and Music Budgets be left until last.

TRAIL—Mr. Capen moved the acceptance of the Trail Budget. Seconded and carried.

DRAMA—Mr. Capen moved the recommendation of the Finance Committee stating that Central Board approve the "Dramatics budget with the exception of $100 for wages for the student managers." Seconded and carried.

ANNOUNCEMENTS—The chair requested that all summer addresses of Central Board members be turned in to the secretary by Thursday.

Homecoming and logbook co-chairmen will be appointed next week.

Departmental inventories are due immediately.

Class representatives should turn a list of class officers in to the President.

Jeanne Hagemeyer, Gordon Schaggin, Dr. Phillips, and a Rally Committee representative have been appointed as a committee to investigate Campus Day activities and make recommendations for next year.

The social calendar has been made up and the President has a copy.

Freshman week has been cut to three days this fall, and any ideas will be gratefully accepted.

Freshman week co-chairmen are John Friars and Jim Ernst.

BUDGETS:

FORENSICS—Mr. Capen moved the adoption of the Forensics budget. Seconded and carried.

TAMANAWAS—Mr. Capen moved the adoption of the Tamanawas budget. Seconded and carried.

FINANCE COMMITTEE REPORT: Joane Stebbins read the minutes of the Finance Committee Meeting of May 1, 1950.

Mr. Capen moved the recommendation of the Finance Committee stating "that further consideration of the Deep Creek budget be postponed until the fall of 1950-51." Seconded and carried.

Mr. Banks suggested that a committee be appointed by the President to confer during the summer with Dr. Thompson concerning the Deep Creek Budget.

JOANNE STEBBINS, ASCPS Secretary.

selves new members of the Washington Alpha chapter of Pi Gamma Mu, national social science honorary. Initiation time was at three.

The local chapter was organized last year. Next fall, according to Prof. Lyle Jamieson, presiding officer, it expects to back a few campus activities and to install more student officers.

New members are: Charles Leman, Charles Gossman, William Davisson, Gwendolyn Cody, Alfred Kapteina, George Whitney, Bill Allen, Dean McCoy, Lester Patterson, Norman Sagen, Jack Raphael, Frank Peterson, John Sampson, Wesley Maulden,

The initiation was followed by a social hour.

Elektron . . .

Deutscher Verein, the German

Club, held its last meeting of the year on May 2. It was at the home of Professor and Mrs. O. G. Bachimont. The following officers were elected for next year: president, Noralee Hoerr; vice president, Sandy Mazzai; and secretary - treasurer, Lowell Larson.

On May 7 the German Club spent the afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Williams on American Lake.

French Sign-Off . . .

With two meetings held in May, Cercle Francais, the French language club on campus disbanded for the summer months. The first of these late Spring sessions was a soiree, held in the tiny music building studio of Leonard Jacobson. Publicity on classroom blackboards and in the Trail resulted in a better turn-out for the soiree than Cercle Francais had seen all year.

Miss Margaret Myles, accompanied by Jess Smith, sang three French songs—two short folk songs and the Habanera from "Carmen." Jess played solo numbers by Debussy and Ravel.

Throughout the past year, M. and Mme. Martin, parents of French Club Advisor Jacqueline Martin, have come to sessions of the club. At the soiree, M. Martin, an amateur puppeteer, brought along his miniature theatre and puppets to present a short play. M. Martin has patterned his programs after those of the Theatre Guignol, in Paris. Guignol (pronounced geen-yole), a servant boy, is the principal character in short plays revolving around his misadventures in the household of his well-to-do Parisian employer.

On the live stage, intermediate students in the French Department presented a one-act play entitled "Rosalie." Actors were Nancy Williams, Gloria Nelson and Robert Peterson. The play deals with the domestic troubles of a young Parisian couple and their stupid maid.

When Cercle Francais resumes next Fall, the members plan to do more work with French plays—comedies, chiefly. This will possibly be worked in conjunction with the courses in French literature presently offered at CPS.

CHAPEL

All Hail to Thee . . .

Four years ago, veterans were changing from olive drab to cords and slacks. College registrars were red-eyed and weary from reading entrance applications and watching the long registration lines. Ivy walls bulged all over America as veterans hopped aboard the GI bill.

At CPS in 1946, Registrar Dick Smith lined up the 858 freshmen over in Howarth Hall. Instead of the customary dewey-eyed high school products that often characterize the college newcomer, these men talked about the outfit they had been in, and some of them needed a shave.

Tuesday, most of the students gathered in the Fieldhouse. They heard D. Robert Smith pour "Pomp and Circumstance" from the new organ, and watched the faculty march in and form two lines. Between the two lines walked the class of 1950, the remnants of the 858 that had stood in Howarth, four years ago.

There were only about 230 of them left, but they still made the largest senior class that CPS has ever seen. Underclassmen sat quietly, almost reverently, as they watched the men and women who had made themselves such an integral part of the student body walk in and sit down on the folding chairs before the rostrum. One student said "Lot of wheels in that class, aren't there?"

The program was short and almost somber. The black robes of the faculty surrounded the seniors. Don Bremner gave the invocation. Dr. Thompson introduced the class, and Frank Peterson took over. Class President Dick Lewis spoke on the class' debt to society. Don Hazel sang. Leon Clark made a stirring talk about class heritage, and pointed to the name that the class of '50 has made for its college.

Ray Turcotte sang, and Herb Stark told about the class history. The record was impressive. He told of his class winning the bag race and tug of war in their first year, and beating the freshmen in the same stunts the next fall. They were the class that got the Fieldhouse ball rolling in the student body, and helped push through the $5 assessment that aided in making the huge structure possible.

They were the class that kept the hatchet for two years, caught the seniors when they sneaked, and yet successfully eluded the juniors when they sneaked last week.

John Sampson told about the significance of the Alma Mater, and then ushers Bill Stivers and Harold Simonson led the class of 1950 out the wide doors.

The Fieldhouse seemed empty after they had gone.

GREEKS

Election of new officers, and final social plans were completed by Greek groups the past week as they, like the rest of the school prepared for vacation and finals.

Barbara Albertson was elected as the new Gama president. She will be assisted by Janet Williams, first vice president; Donna Joy Johnson, second vice president; Delores Lovejoy, recording secretary; Nancy Bartles, corresponding secretary; Margaret Ward, sergeant-at-arms; Bernadine Budil, historian; Kaye Klopfenstein, inter-sorority representative; and Virginia Wahlquist, treasurer. The new officers will be installed at the annual "Rose Banquet," which will be held June 3 at the Top of the Ocean. Peggy Weaver is chairman of the affair.

Katherine Falskow's beach home at Henderson Bay was the sight of the Delta Kap - Gamma annual pledge picnic Wednesday.

New Theta Chi officers were elected May 8. They are Ken Light, president; Rod Smith, vice president; Bill Shrumm, secretary; Les Roley, treasurer; Ernie Johnson, sergeant-at-arms; Jim Higgins, first guard; Mickey Mosher, second guard; Jim Peterson, chaplain; Fran LaValla, librarian; and Bud Burland, historian.

Three members of Kamma Psi chapter traveled to Missoula, Montana, on May 12, to attend the annual conference of Theta Chi chapters in this region.

The Theta Chi "hot rod" was entered in the Olympia Centennial and the Shelton Lumber Festival.

Flown in from Honolulu, a hundred orchid leis featured the Delta Kap spring dinner dance at the Tacoma Country Club Friday night. The leis were for DK dates and other guests. Co-chairmen for the dance were Howie Walters and Ed Halverson. The orchid leis were the project of Fred Carter, who ordered them through arrangements with his father in Honolulu.

Officers for the fall semester were elected at the meeting Monday night. The new Delta Kap cabinet includes Ron Stenger, president; Ed Halverson, first vice president; John Sinkovich, second vice president; Chuck Jorgenson, treasurer; Ray Turcotte, recording secretary; Nick Nicholas, corresponding secretary; Don Jaenicke, historian; and Burt Ross, sergeant-at-arms.

The Kappa Sigma pledge dance was held Saturday night at Titlow Beach lodge from 9 to 12. Jim Bag-ey and Chris Christiansen were co-chairmen. The Kappa Sigs will hold a date picnic June 11 at Lake Tanawax.

The Lambda spring formal was held May 6 at Lakewood Terrace, with an Hawaiian theme. Co-chairmen were Betty McMullin and Joan Otterson. Entertainment was provided by Donna Disney and Bill Gianelli who danced. The Lambdas and the Sigma Chis held a joint picnic Sunday at Schultz's Island. Wednesday the Lambdas were guests at a fireside at the Pi Tau house. Entertainment was provided by Margie Van Well, Pat Novak, and Betty McMullin.

The Lambda alums were hostesses to the actives at a breakfast May 7 in the Crystal Ballroom of the Winthrop Hotel. The scholarship cup was awarded to Anne Thompson with a 3.6 average. The list of the respective class achievements was given by Joanne Nicola, Jo Copple, Margaret Duvall, and Patty Schaller.

New Lambda officers elected recently are Betty Rusk, president; Jo Copple, vice president; Margaret Duvall, recording secretary; Cathy Doherty, corresponding secretary; Barbara Jugovich, treasurer; Helen Hanson, editor; Lillian Finson, historian; and Joan Otterson, pledge mother. Lita Johnson was awarded the sorority inspirational award, which is presented to either a junior or senior, who in the estimation of her sorority sisters, has contributed most to the betterment of her sorority.

The annual Pi Tau golf tournament was held May 7 at Highland golf course. A handicap system was used in which prizes were awarded to experienced as well as inexperienced golfers, giving everyone a chance for competition. Clarence Shuh won first place in the A class, and Wayne Haslett in the B class. Earl Schalin received the prize for the longest ball driven.

Last Saturday evening the members and pledges gathered at Surprise Lake for a spring sports dance, and at the final fireside of the semester, they were hosts to the members of Lambda Sigma Chi. Tomorrow morning at 9 the Pi Tau house will undergo its spring face lifting. At that time the members and pledges will gather for a day of general clean-up. Following the work will be an afternoon of refreshments and recreation. The final banquet of the year will be held at Crawford's on June 3.

The Betas met May 8 at the home of Mrs. Joe Heitman to elect officers for the fall semester. Following the meeting the officers were installed. The new president of the group is Jane Simmons. Joanne Stebbins is vice president; Joanne Lowry, social chairman; Shirley Brubaker, secretary; Beverly Hanson, treasurer; and Corrine Engle, pledge trainer.

Sigma Chi members also held their election May 8. Ed Balarezo was elected consul; Buster Brouillet, pro consul; Bruce Hunt, annotator; Dick Chiarvano, quaestor; Gordon Scraggin, magister; Tim Chapman, kustos; Bud Sethe, associate editor; Barry Garland, tribune; Leonard Spanich, inter-fraternity representative; Bill Plummer, social chairman; George Fossen, chaplain; Ron Tuttle, historian; and LeRoy Gruver, librarian.

New officers of the Sigma Chi Mothers Club met Monday to elect new officers. Mrs. Lester Wehmhoff was chosen president; Mrs. Gruver, vice president; Mrs. Scraggin, secretary; and Mrs. Brouillet, treasurer.

Upsilon Upsilon chapter of Sigma Chi at the University of Washington held an all-day picnic at Lake Geneva with the Sigma Chi chapter of CPS recently.

With an announcement by telegram, Kay Kyser chose Chris Ostrom of Lambda Sigma Chi as the girl to reign as the White Rose of Sigma Nu over the fraternity's spring dinner dance, which was held at the Towers on May 5. Chris was crowned with a circlet of white roses by Dr. Thompson, who opened and read the telegram from Kyser. One of the highlights of the evening was the presentation of the Forrest MacKernonn Inspirational Award. This plaque is awarded in memory of Forrest MacKernonn, a Sigma Nu member who lost his life three years ago. It was presented to past commander Howie Meadowcroft for his outstanding leadership of and his inspiration to the chapter during the past year. It was presented by Ed McIntyre, president of the Sigma Nu alumni chapter.

The annual Sigma Nu clambake will be held June 2. Delegates to the national Sigma Nu conference in Old Point Comfort, Virginia, are Ed O'Connor and Jon Hupp. The alternates are Chuck Caddey and Ron Bloom. The "reconstruction week" for the pledges began on Wednesday and will end Sunday.

Members of Pi Phi will hold their annual senior banquet June 3 at the University-Union Club. The chairman is Janis Peterson, and the toastmistress will be Corrine Sule.

Members of Pi Phi were guests at the Washington Alpha chapter at the University, at their annual spring formal Saturday evening. The dance was held at the chapter house.

Installation of new officers was held Wednesday evening at the home of Joyce Chrisholm. Officers elected for the coming year are Nancy Riehl, president; Gloria Nelson, vice president; Janis Peterson, recording secretary; Carol Long, corresponding secretary; Nancy Thompson, treasurer; Joanne Wood, assistant treasurer; Mary Dobbs, pledge supervisor; Alice Palmer, rush chairman.

The senior members of Pi Phi will be guests of honor at a dessert supper to be given by the Mother's Club on May 23. The affair will be held at the home of Mrs. C. E. McIntyre.

"You can't flunk me, Coulter. I've never been to class!"

PEOPLE

Tom Jaybush, ex law student of CPS spent a few days with his fraternity brothers at the Theta Chi house last week. Sporting a new chartreuse Ford convertible this week was Gloria Ellexson. Gloria will enter the UW next fall. New president of the Orpheus Club is SPS's registrar Dick Smith. With this the last Trail, reporter Marilyn Jacobson stuck her head inside the office door and asked, "What's narrative, Murray?"

Orchids to Lorna Hill the senior with a score of 750 out of 760 possible points in the senior exams. The Sociology Club gave Norm Washburne a chess set. He still has to win his first chess game. Norm's got a new pair of glasses too. Merit award winner in the Atlantic magazine college contest was Mrs. Katherine Rogers, CPS student. Mrs. Rogers' entry, a short story, was one of 450 submitted. Her story was among the top 50.

Bob Macosky, Viva Young, Don Wolvers, Elbic Bramer, Dick Price, David Stell and Rosalie Vickers held a dinner meeting at the Sixth Avenue Baptist church, May fourth. Under the leadership of Byron Brady, Student Christian Council Chairman, Professor Fredericks and church officials, they sought to organize a Baptist student group at CPS. The following Friday they met again, this time at the SUB. Here they organized and made plans for next fall. The Sixth Avenue Baptist church was selected as the place to hold the Sunday evening firesides. They hope to have the organization active on the campus next fall.

Immediately after graduation, Mr. and Mrs. Warren White plan a trip to Crescent City, California. The Whites plan to settle in the new lumbering town. Al Gehri, graduating senior, is planning to spend the summer traveling in Europe. He is making the trip under the auspices of the American Youth Hostels, Inc. Bursar Banks said, "What do you mean—what am I going to do this summer? Look at this desk."

Taking graduate work next fall at Columbia is Stan Worswick. Other poly sci graduates taking further work are Bob Peterson, entering the U of Michigan and Ed Lane checking in at Washington U in Washington, D. C. Dr. Clyde Keutzer announced that Dick Henderson and Ted Wahlstrom are headed for further work, site undetermined.

Art graduate Yvonne Battin, now recovering from a pneumonia attack, will attend the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy on a scholarship. Out of the hospital this week is Larry Martin. Commuting from the U next year for graduate work will be Howard Hitchcock. Philosophy graduates taking further study are Don Bremer, Frank Peterson, Art Campbell and Leon Clark.

Entering Harvard for his Dr. degree is Jack Enright of the faculty. Lyle Lindlien, Paul Mullens and Wesley Mauldon will stay at CPS for graduate work. Byron Norton will take more law at the UW. Sidney Smith will be at the U also, to take more work in foreign relations and trade.

Nancy Williams is bound for Europe this summer. She has been saving for the trip since she was 15.

Working in Chicago this summer doing construction work will be James Loucks. Looking to next September, Ted Rogers, BA senior, will work for the Boy Scouts of America.

Edna Niemela will work in Penney's at Port Angeles when she finishes finals. St. Alban's counsellors for summer camp are Virginia Wahlquist, Jean Hagemeyer, Barbara Bell, Helen Gladstone, Rosemary Martenson, Annete Ogden and Patty Doe. Bill Tudor will work in Alaska. Cal Frazer will work in a mine. Harry Edmundson will work at Alderbrook Inn, and Don Cole at the Olympia Brewery.

Frances Krilich will "recuperate from the long hours of studying." Gloria May is "going to try to get the suntan she's been waiting for." Terry Flannigan, "nothin'." Dave Schweinler is going "to work at Camp Seymour." Charlie Roe is going to do a different type of work. "I've got a job at a nut farm."

Gena Prechek will "spend the summer waiting for letters from the naval reserves." Chuck Engell is "taking a two-week vacation in California." Ed Halverson says, "I'm going to work on St. Lawrence Island, 30 miles off the coast of Siberia, for my brother-in-law who is an Alaskan bush pilot. I'll be a radio operator, aero mechanic (unlicensed) and general flunky."

Ampler Sampler . . .

In a dark corner of the Bookstore is a large, dusty pile of paper bound, typewritten booklets. On the cover, in semi-legible letters, is printed the word "Sampler."

This pile represents the last attempt by CPS to put out a magazine of student writing. It failed; out of 125 copies, 90 are still sitting in the Bookstore. It was not the first Sampler to fail, but it was going to be the last. There were good reasons why it didn't sell, but no one was interested in them. The Sampler had failed to sell; therefore it was a waste of time and money and must be discontinued.

Although the Bursar was not interested in the reasons behind the Sampler's failure, a few of its contributors were. So once again these people are going to attempt publication of a Sampler. Beginning next fall, the magazine, with a few changes in format, will appear once each semester and will contain the literary efforts of students throughout the College.

The principal aim of the magazine is to provide for the College's writers a sort of advance guard magazine through which may be circulated among interested persons.

The magazine will feature short stories chiefly, with some poetry, and a few critical articles included. Advisor for the Sampler will be Mrs. Doris Bennett of the English Department, and material for the magazine will be submitted directly to a committee which she will head.

The format for the magazine will be much the same as it has been in the past, excepting that instead of typewritten sheets, next year's Samplers will be printed on the College multigraph machine. The form will resemble that of the Profile, the state-wide college writers' magazine.

To counteract the miserable sales of past issues, the Sampler next year will be sold, not through the Bookstore, but directly through the English Department, where it will come to the attention of interested students. Copies of the Sampler will be placed on sale in the Bookstore after sufficient copies have been sold to make the venture pay.

Work on the Sampler is open to anyone on campus who wishes to submit material. Selection of manuscripts will be done by a committee of upper division students.

Anyone who wishes to familiarize himself with Sampler style may get back copies of the magazine from the files of the Bookstore.

Steaks and Bonfires . . .

"Adelphian Concert Choir rendition last night at Fremont St. Methodist Church was well worthy of our seat of Christian learning," . . . Reverend John M. Canse. "A giant hour of music," . . . Reverend Rudy Anderson, Pasco, Washington. "Director Clyde Keutzer has prescribed an antidote for apathy toward academic music, and he aims to make the time spent in his musical sanitarium worthy of professional attention," . . . The Idaho Sunday Statesman, Boise.

These quotes give some idea of how enthusiastically the Adelphians were received on their tour.

If you ask a choir member what the highlights of the tour were, he will possibly mention the concert at Pongosa, California. Pongosa is a logging camp, and has no facilities for concerts. So the choir presented their songs from the steps of the grade school, in the cool evening air. They were warmed by bonfires built near them. And by the memories of the huge steak dinner they were served earlier in the mess hall.

As the evening progressed, the weather became colder and by morning the choir, unused to mountain nights, were nearly frozen. Once again the camp cooks came to their rescue with a breakfast that included hash brown potatoes, eggs, bacon, pancakes, mush, and fresh peaches.

The tour spirit did not die in the choir members with their return home. The climax of the trip was their home concert Friday night, and their annual banquet which was held at The Farm Saturday night.

Galleries Bulge . . .

The art department is displaying its talents this week in an all-department show being held in the third floor galleries in Jones Hall. The show will continue until May 26. The public is invited, and all students are urged to attend. Edward Haines, instructor in the department, says that he feels the exhibit will be of great value to "students who are undecided about what they want to take next year." He adds, "Much of the work is of true professional caliber."

There will be a reception on the first night of the show. Hosts and hostesses will be the members of Delta Phi Delta, national art honorary. Times of the showings are listed in the Trail calendar.

Mr. Haines also mentioned another art exhibit which starts today in the Fieldhouse. It is the First Annual School Art Festival, in which entries from 55 city and county schools will be shown. It will continue until Sunday night. The exhibit is sponsored by the Art Educators Association of Tacoma and Pierce County, and will show work by students from kindergarten to high school.

Featured in the show will be a panel depicting the evolution of the child-artist from early childhood through his school years. Another interesting feature will be demonstrations of various types of art processes.

Films For Fall . . .

With the presentation of an American documentary, "The Quiet One," the CPS Film Society gave in last Thursday evening to the summer sunshine and closed up shop until next Fall. This year's series have been the finest in several years, and attendance this Spring has been more than gratifying.

When the Society resumes in the Fall, a brand new film projector will be on the job—no more wan lighting and indistinct shadows. Another new feature will be the distribution of tickets. In addition to the standard method of selling one-series tickets at $2 apiece, season tickets will also be offered. These tickets, selling for $7.50, will cover all 32 weeks of next year's Society run. A special student ticket at $5.00 will be made available. The holder of each season ticket purchased before September will receive ten free passes which he may distribute among his friends. Tickets for individual pictures, at 25c apiece, will also be available.

Film fare next year will be varied in scope. A few of the films are: "Symphonie Pastorale," "The Magic Horse," a Russian film; and the British success, "Pygmalion." Also popular American film, "The Informer."

Persons wishing to buy season tickets before next September may do so by writing to the CPS Film Society, in care of the College.

Social Calendar . . .

Following is the Social Calendar for 1950-51, as set up by the Student Affairs' Committee. If you have corrections or suggestions, please see Mrs. Drushel immediately. Smaller group affairs can be added next year but when the all-college functions are once settled, we hope they will

SPORTS

B. C. Bound . . .

In a letter to Coach John Heinrich, the Director of Athletics at UBC has requested that CPS send him a school banner to signify the Logger's presence at a banquet scheduled for the Evergreen conference meet in Vancouver today and tomorrow.

Held in conjunction with the officials' meeting are the league track, golf and tennis championship tournaments. The Loggers won't need any banner to make their presence known there. Maroon and White participants are rated as strong contenders in all three events.

Taking a favorite's role are Coach Jack Enright's teemen. The Lumberjack linksmen enter the putting parade boasting of 13 wins in 15 matches including a double victory over the University of Washington.

UBC's defending titlists were the only small-college aggregation in the Northwest to down the Loggers during the regular season. The Puget Sounders are out to avenge that 11-8 loss. They'll have to do it in the Thunderbird backyard.

Morgan Barofsky, Dick Carter, Bud Holmes and Don Mozel will tour the 18-hole Marine Drive golf course with Puget Sound's victory hopes tucked away in their leather bags.

The nation's number nine ranking junior boys' singles player, John DuPriest, will lead a four-man CPS court team on their Canadian invasion.

Except for a 7-0 whitewashing at the hands of the powerful Washington Huskies early in the season, the Logger racquet-wielders have been unbeaten. DuPriest has dropped but one match this season.

Les Patten, ace Whitworth netman, is a heavy favorite to win individual honors. In some 35 college games, the Pirate star has yet to taste defeat. Patten and DuPriest have met once. At an open tournament in Oregon, the Spokane artist emerged a 6-4, 7-5 winner.

The battle of the baselines shapes up as a thriller. Jack Buescher, Bob Fasig, Frank Shepard and DuPriest will flash the Logger racquets at Vancouver's Stanley park.

Most of the attention up north will be focused on the cinderpaths at the UBC stadium. Some 100 thinclads wind up a long and rigorous campaign.

For the Logger tracksters, the season has been far from bright. In three dual meets, they've dropped two. Triangularly, they've won twice and finished second in a trio of starts. The St. Martin's Relay turned out to be their best performance. A huge gold trophy on display at the athletic office will attest to their second-place title.

Week in and week out, the Maroon and White's "big four" has paced the point-grabbers. Jack Fabulich, Captain Dick Lewis, Frank Smith and Wayne Mann are almost certain to pick up valuable counters in the eight-way affair.

Fabulich is without doubt the top quarter-miler in Evergreen circles. He is unbeaten in his 440 specialty and his 51 flat time in a dual meet with Portland rates as a conference best. "Fab" broadjumps, runs the 220, the 880 and anchors the relay team as well.

Lewis is one of the circuit's most consistent performers. The Logger leader stands a good chance of annexing both the high and low hurdle titles. His marks set early in the season stand as another loop best. Lewis sometimes runs the dashes and the relays.

Smith is the conference's outstanding yearling. The Grandview freshman is a sure-fire bet to place in the field events. His shotput and discus heaves rank with the best.

Outjumping everyone else when he's "on," Wayne Mann is hoping for anything else but an "off" day. The Lumberjack jumping-jack has consistently cleared six feet. His six-foot three-inch effort at WSC is still another league first.

Dashmen Dale Larsen and John McCorry, hurdler Duane Westlin, half-miler Alton Brooks and "Mr. Everything" Burt Ross complete the CPS roster.

Eastern Washington's powerful Redmen are conceded the title by most observers. The Loggers refuse to concede anything. The races are still run on the cinderpaths. How they look on paper is another thing.

UBC's host Thunderbirds have their sights set on all three titles. They just could sneak in the back door. They'll be right at home.

On the bottom of the official UBC stationery is the school motto—"Follow the Birds to Victory." Puget Sound sport forces have one of their own—"Lead the Birds — in Victory."

Winning Women . . .

The Gamma-Lambda playoff game was tense and close, ending in a score of 3-2 in favor of the Gammas. The Lambda's winning run was on first when the Gamma third baseman, freshman Barb DiIullo, caught a fly for the third out of the last inning.

The closeness of this game was typical of the whole season in inter-sorority competition. The results of the above-mentioned baseball game gave the Gammas the points they needed towards the athletic cup.

At the beginning of baseball season the Pi Phis led the Gammas by one point. Taking second place in baseball, the Gammas won the cup by the same slim one point lead over the Pi Phis.

The Brandt Cup for wholesome attitude and excellence in acting, Bob Wolf. The Forrest McKernan Cup: Donald Crabs. The Herman Kleiner scholarship: Ingrid Lien.

Women of Kiwanis: Delores Breum. Kappa Alpha Theta scholarship: Yvonne Battin. The Amphiclyon Daffodil Cup: Bill Stivers.

The ASCPS Spirit Trophy: Yvonne Battin and Chuck Howe. The band's annual inspirational choice: Iverson Cozart. The Delta Delta Delta award: Katherine Doherty. Cleone Soule scholarship in music: William Longmire. The Kappa Kappa Gamma award: Doris Beardsley.

John Heinrich presented the following athletic trophies: The Johnson-Cox football inspiration award: Eob Robbins. Dill Howell and Lou Grant basketball inspirational award: Bill Stivers. The Harry Werbiskey award for all-round sports achievement: Dick Brown.

New Sprouting . . .

Robin MacDonald saw Virg Comstock in the SUB last week and asked him if he'd seen Dr. Thompson's new house.

A quick run-over showed how things were progressing.

The house is just about completed. The Thompsons can move in in June or early July. There are four entrance doors in the house, but as long as the back door was open, the reporter looked in there.

There are between sixteen and twenty rooms in the place. The count will depend on just how you would list some of the halls. Some of them are larger than some of the rooms. There are six bathrooms and four fireplaces. It's got just about all of the modern conveniences—an automatic dishwasher in the kitchen, a secret stairway that lowers itself from the ceiling when the right button is pushed, and a laundry chute.

Now Hear These . . .

With an eye to the calendar, Registrar Smith and Bursar Banks have some last-minute reminders for CPS-ites.

REGISTRAR: Grade sheets will be mailed approximately two weeks after the close of school. If you have changed your address since signing up for this semester, please notify the registrar's office, or your transcript will be mailed to the old location.

BURSAR: All bills must be paid before you will be allowed to take your finals. This includes any charge from a parking ticket to a tuition charge.

Seniors are advised that their $7.50 diploma fee is now receivable.

The Sixth Avenue 10c Store has been in the present location for 20 years. K. J. Von Gohren, the present owner, has been in the store the past eight years. He managed stores in large chains throughout the Northwest for 13 years prior to his present position. He is married, lives at 2909 North 11th, and has two sons, aged 7 and 9 years. Von Gohren has been the past president for two years of the Sixth Avenue Commercial Club, and was one of the original members of Associated Dime Stores, a buying group of Independent Stores.

There are approximately 10,000 items in the store, which has new fixtures and lighting to improve the appearance. In stock now will be maroon crepe paper for school dances and functions. All types of school supplies are also sold.

The assistant manager of the store is George P. Wehmhoff, a 1949 graduate of CPS and the past president of Sigma Mu Chi.
