Awards and Honors For Women . . .

Monday night was the one time during the year when AWS members met together. At 6 o'clock they gathered for their annual dinner meeting at the New Yorker where they announced their new officers and girls' honoraries tapped freshmen and junior women. Corrine Engle, past president of AWS presided and kept things running smoothly. Guests at the dinner were Dr. and Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Drushel, Miss Bond, Miss Seward, Miss Jones and Mrs. Sullivan, AWS advisor.

First-off WAA awards were given by Sarah Jaeger. At press time the girls' names were not yet available but they will be in next week's Trail.

Corrine then announced the results of the AWS election held last Thursday. The AWS cabinet for 1952-53 is: Joanne Lowry, president; Ruth Wallen, vice president; Maris Anderson, secretary; Neon Knoebel, treasurer; Janet Vroman, publicity; Ruth Klovee, social chairman; Jean Cameron, sophomore independent representative; Margie Berry, sophomore Greek representative; Glee Callahan, junior independent representative; Ethelann Rindal, junior Greek representative; Gen Starkey senior independent representative, and Pat Parrett, senior Greek representative.

Junior girls who have maintained a cumulative grade point of 3 points or more and who have been active in campus functions were tapped for Otlah. A honorary organization of local origin for senior women, Otlah is patterned after Motar Board. A poem about their activities and grade point was read before each new Otlah member was named. Girls wearing the red carnation of Otlah are: Janet Allen, Suzanne Berven, Bernadine Budil, Barbara Combs, Joanne Lowry, JoAnne Neff, Neon Knoebel, Marie Rowe, Genevieve Starkey, Elizabeth Ann Thompson, Ruth Wallen, Joyce Wilfley and JoAnne Wood. Campus Day . . .

Campus Day was met by a deluge of rain and a barrage of students to begin the assigned tasks for the morning. The eight and nine o'clock classes were held as usual and at 10 the students assembled in the auditorium to get instructions.

Co-chairmen Jolly Johnson and Don oBeselle took the stage and named off the various co-chairmen for the various work projects and assigned certain rows to follow certain chairmen for the tasks.

One group, headed by Sarah Jaeger and Pete Burkhalter, opened buckets of green paint, handed out paint brushes of various sizes, pointed to the walls of the field house, which were to be painted before lunch, and said, "Get to work!"

About two hours later 30 students emerged covered or splattered with samples of the green used on the field house walls, to go to the SUB for a free lunch, consisting of hot dogs and potato salad.

Other campus duties included sanding the log in front of the SUB, sweeping off the tennis courts, washing the windows at the bus stop, picking up rocks and stacking them next to the rocks that were picked up last year.

In contrast to the morning activities, the afternoon brought play instead of work. The freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors combined teams for various sports throughout the afternoon, including an egg throw and a volleyball game in the girls' gym. The sophomores emerged the victors of the sporting event.

The original plans of going for a swim at American Lake were shelved as the weather man did not comply with bright sunny weather.

The day's activities were terminated by a dance held in the SUB which lasted until 9:30.

membership was given later by Esther Voegelein, president.

Spurs took over the rest of the meeting. As they sang their song they walked around the room and tapped 15 freshmen girls who have been outstanding in their first year at CPS. The baby Spurs are: Florence Fleck, Marilyn Rosso, Evelyn Emert, Ann DuBois, Sally Finch, Donna Dietrich, Vinnie Lou Cooper, Beverly Nelson, Mary Ann Norton, Margie Berry, Jean Cameron, Robin Enschede, and Clara Lister.

Hatchet Talk . . .

"The juniors," explained Don Jaenicke in senior class meeting, "can't say they have taken the hatchet away from the seniors, now, when they happen to find it. It is time for them to get it. And we have been giving them clues on the location of that central spot."

During this same meeting Larry Hoover announced that the Commencement Ball will be held May 31st in the Wedgewood Room of the Winthrop Hotel with Larry Carino's orchestra. Dancing will be from nine to twelve; the tickets are two dollars.

Commencement Ball . . .

Plans were laid in last Friday's senior class meeting for the first annual Commencement Ball, booked for May 31. Juniors will be working with the seniors on this dance, combined to do away with the Junior Ball. When the social calendar became too full, the two classes decided on the single Commencement dance, to be held in the Wedgewood room of the Hotel Winthrop.

Co-chairmen are Joanne Neff and Larry Hoover. "We've contacted Larry Carino to play and tickets will be $2," they said. Other class committees working with them are publicity, Joan Harrison and Bob Demko for the seniors and Genevieve Starkey and Stan Selden, juniors; decorations, Joanne Bauns-gard and John Sinkovich, seniors; tickets, Mary Carolyn Dobbs and Lon Hoover, seniors; refreshments, Joanne Ryan and Ralph Olson; clean-up, Earl Schalin and Maureen Gerards and Jim Higgins, Mary Hjort in the check room.

Selective Service Test . . .

Major General Lewis B. Hershey, Director of Selective Service, announced an additional Selective Service College Qualification Test to be held May 22 at 1,000 testing cen-fact, relatively unknown on the campus, became true about two weeks ago when the senior hatchet committee secreted the hatchet in a hiding place and began passing clues to the junior committee. Thus, the hatchet became fair game for the underclassmen, and seniors prepared to legally pass it along.

Briefly, these are hatchet facts:

1. The hatchet, in its hiding place, will remain there until the juniors unravel the clues or some other class stumbles upon and discover it.

2. If the juniors do not find it before May 22, Senior Recognition Day, clues to its whereabouts will be given to the student body at large. Then, each class will search for the elusive trophy.—

3. Till then, the junior committee is hunting frantically.

Mu Sigma Delta . . .

Mu Sigma Delta, honorary scholastic fraternity, will hold its annual ational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey. Applications postmarked later than midnight May 10, 1952, will not be accepted.

To be eligible to take the Selective Service College Qualification Test, an applicant, on the testing date (1) must be a selective service registrant who intends to request deferment as a student; (2) must be satisfactorily pursuing a full-time college course — undergraduate or graduate—leading to a degree; (3) must not previously have taken the test.

Music Festival . . .

At 8:15 p. m. Thursday the Adelpian Choir will present the first in a series of three evening programs in Jones Hall Auditorium. That night Mr. Keutzer will direct them in a choir concert; a comic opera, "The Telephone," and the operetta, "Trial by Jury." On Friday night he will again direct the same choir concert and "The Telephone." That night he will give the first Tacoma performance of Epperson and Ostransky's opera, "The Salem Witch." Last year Mr. Keutzer commissioned these two men to write an opera for this spring program. He will repeat the opera on Saturday night along with performances of "The Telephone" and "Trial by Jury."

"The Telephone" is Carlos Menotti's pleasant, sincere attack on long telephone conversations. An ardent, young suitor has as his rival the telephone. Thursday night the cast will be Suzanne West and Bernard Bailie. On the next two nights the cast will be Mary Louise Moore and Roald Reitan. Gordon Bingham will play the piano arrangement of this contemporary work.

Hatchet Facts . . .

The junior class can't take the hatchet away from the seniors. This

An article written by Professor Frederick, head of the religion department, has been printed in two nation-wide publications. Professor Frederick evaluated a Billy Graham campaign in Seattle in the light of lasting results. His survey was printed in The Christian Century, an undenominational Protestant weekly. The April 28 issue of Newsweek also carried the results of his survey.

Dr. Frederick made the study last fall by telephoning some 230 Seattle ministers.

Your Etiquette Is Slipping . . .

"The students at the College of Puget Sound act more like high school students than any other college that I have visited." This was a statement made by a recent Chapel speaker, and it's true. Let's face it, you, the students, do not act like ladies and gentlemen in Chapel. When a speaker is talking, all sorts of distractions take place. How would you feel if you were up there, and the audience was in a constant hum?

Some Chapels are extremely uninteresting, but this is no excuse for being discourteous. The Chapel speakers can very easily spread ill feeling toward CPS, or they can give us excellent publicity.

Also, it must make the speaker feel good when a good portion of you stand up and leave immediately upon the ringing of the bell.

In the future let's be more conscious of our manners.

Bob Carlson; Alumni Contact, Wally Erwin.

Julie Snyder of Lambda Sigma Chi was crowned "Dream Girl of SAE" at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon Spring Dinner Dance held in the Crystal Ballroom of the Winthrop Hotel.

The announcement was made during the intermission period when she was presented a large trophy and a bouquet of yellow roses.

Elections highlighted the week for Delta Kappa Phi with officers for the fall semester being elected at the Monday night meeting.

Last Friday night's dinner dance at Lake Wilderness was well attended with Dr. and Mrs. R. Franklin Thompson, Dr. and Mrs. Coulter, and Prof. and Mrs. Lyle Jameison as guests.

ROTC Inspection . . .

"Squadrons . . . Attention! Present . . . Arms!" After the national anthem the adjutant, Cadet Major Darrell Lee, turned to group commander, Cadet Major Walter Robinson and reported, "All present, or accounted for, sir." "Prepare for inspection," Cadet Major Tobiason ordered. The squadron commanders, Cadet Majors Jean Woodruff and Jack Nesbit, repeated his command. From the reviewing stand Colonel Beach, Colonel Newman, Major Maloney, Major Forchtner, and President Thompson came forward and made the inspection.

This review was held last Thursday morning as a part of an annual two day inspection of the ROTC unit. The group of visiting officers, Colonel Rex W. Beach, Major C. J. Maloney, Major F. W. Forchtner, and Warrant Officer Lester O. Gardner, represent the commanding general of the Fourth Air Force.

Along with the review, these men talked with President Thompson. They had direct conferences with cadets. They inspected classroom instruction and administration. They had inspected the ROTC unit at the University of Washington. They went on to Washington State College.

herb cookery and demonstrate his master's touch with veal scallopini.

Mr. Pellegrini is a professor in the English department at the U. of W. He became familiar with America as an immigrant and has told many of the incidents that brought about that familiarity in his first book "The Unprejudiced Palate." The real purpose of the book, however, is to put forth his philosophy of good living through proper enjoyment of food and drink.

Mr. Pellegrini has written a second book "Immigrant's Return" which describes his return to his native Italian village after 36 years here. It really is an expression of his appreciation for what one can find and do in America.

The public is invited to the foods lab at 1 o'clock on the 15th to see and hear a natural cook and possibly to get an insight of a happy man's philosophy of living.

Henderson Recital . . .

Richard Henderson and the student string quartet will give a program of music Sunday afternoon at 4 p. m. in Jones Hall auditorium. Mr. Henderson will play the oboe in his own Sonata for oboe and piano. He will play Bouree Anglaise by Bach. The group will play Sonata for oboe by Handel, Quartet for oboe and strings by Mozart, and Debussy's Quartet in G minor. The student string quartet is Donna Lerew, first violin; Ardys Reed, second violin; John Walters, viola, and Dave Whisner, cello.

Matching wits with the wind and behind Art Viafore's two hit pitching job against the Seattle Pacific Falcons, the Loggers knocked the ball around for six hits and won the opening game, one to nothing. Viafore might have had his second no-hit game of the season but for two SPC bloopers which dropped safely in behind the CPS infield for singles.

CPS's lone winning run was scored by Russ Wilkerson. He raced home safely on Bill Couch's sharp single to right field after reaching first on an error and second on an infield out.

Cam Haslam hit two long balls into the wind during the first game for doubles. One, despite the wind, went deep into right center field and bounced off the wall, robbing him of a sure home run.

Jack Sandstrom, converted CPS outfielder, pitched the second game and gave up six hits and six runs. His mates got five hits and two runs. Two of the SPC hits were home runs.

The Logger's didn't get down to the business of scoring runs in the second game until the last inning when they were behind 6 to 0. Catcher Jerry Beardsley singled home Cam Raslam and went to second on the throw in from the outfield. He then stole third and later scored when the SPC catcher tried to pick him off of third and overthrew into left field.

Jerry Beardsley led the CPS hitters with a double in the first game and two singles in the second game. Dick Colombini provided the outstanding base running antics of the day. On the overthrow into left field which scored Beardsley, Colombini attempted to score all the way from second base and fell on his back pulling up to return to third when the throw in beat him to the plate. The SPC catcher easily tagged helpless "Scooter" Colombini out.

Coach V. Kohout shuffled the players to different positions in the seventh inning to give them more experience. Outfielder Dick Colombini went to third base, third baseman Doug McArthur to second, second baseman Russ Wilkerson to shortstop, shortstop Joe Stortini to right field and outfielder Cam Haslam to first base.

The Tacoma Boy's Club field was not available Friday so the Loggers played their home game with the Lutes out at the Lute's field.

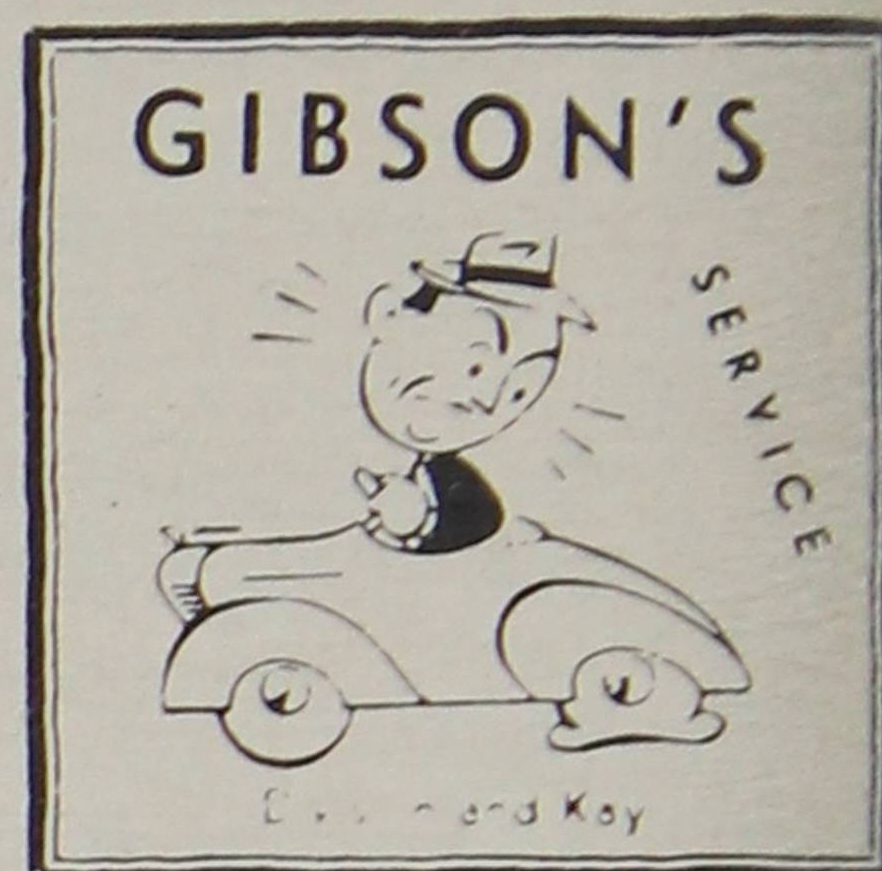

In the first game the Lutes outhit the Loggers six to four and pushed over lone runs in the first, third and seventh innings to win in a close contest, 3 to 0. All four Logger hits were scattered singles hit by Doug McArthur, Joe Stortini, Jerry Beardsley and Jack Sandstrom.

The Loggers tied their shoes differently in the second game, in fact one player discarded his spikes and put on his street shoes. Anyway, they outhit the Lutes eight to seven, still losing 5 to 3. Art Viafore, who pitched the first game for CPS, played right field in the second game and secured CPS's lone extra base hit of the day, a triple in the fourth inning. Logger runs were scored by Dick Colombini, Russ Wilkerson and Joe Stortini.

Doug McArthur, hitherto a third baseman, moved to the mound to hurl the second game. He relied on a deceptive change of pace and an annoying curve ball to hold the Lutes down, 3 to 2, until the seventh inning. The Lutes then scored three runs on four hits and an error.

Hits!

A hit of a nature other than bat to ball was suffered by CPS first baseman Don Maitland. On his first and last trip to the plate, Friday, Don was beamed by a pitch just in front of the ear. He was sent to the Parkland Infirmary for X-Rays and observation.

PLC players, Ron Billings and George Nowadinck also were hit by stray balls. Billings was hit in the back of the head by a throw intended for the CPS third baseman and Nowadinck got hit on the cheek bone by a ground ball that took a bad hop. Both Lutes were able to continue the game.

Ellensburg Wind Blew . . .

Central Washington College Education track officials in Ellensburg called CPS early Saturday morning and told the CPS thin-clas to stay home. The Conference Relays were called off because of a cold, fifty m.p.h. wind.

Later in the day, Saturday, the wind reportedly slacked down to about 25 m.p.h. but was still icy cold.

Intramurals . . .

Softball rolled into its second week with only one team remaining undefeated. Todd Hall defeated the Sigma Nu's in one extra inning, 3 to 2, to keep their slate clean.

Bob Higley opened the eighth inning with a single for Todd Hall. The next batter grounded out to the Sigma Nu third baseman, with Higley moving to second. The following hitter also grounded to the third basemen. He threw to first and caught the batter, but Higley was streaking to third with the throw. The first basemen threw the ball back to the third sacker, but sailed over his head. Higley then jogged in with the winning run.

In the other games played this week, the Sigma Nu's out-slugged the ROTC nine, coming out on the long end of an 18 to 13 score.

The Kappa Sig's won two games this week. They bested the SAE 18 to 1 and won over the DK's 7 to 0.

These were the only games played this week.

Batter of the week: Don Chew of ROTC. Although his club lost, he collected four hits in four trips, including two in one inning. He scored two runs and also received a walk.

Pitcher of the week: Charley Roe who pitched two victories in three days for Kappa Sigma. He allowed only five hits and one run in the two games.

Earl Combs signed a contract to play professional football with the San Francisco 49ers, last week. Earl came to CPS via Miles City, Montana and Portland University. He believes that the pro ball will have to wait, however. It is possible that he will serve a stint with Uncle Sam after graduation.

The Evergreen Conference Relays which were to have been held last Saturday, were postponed because of winds up to 50 miles per hour. The date they will be held has not been announced.

Another Heinrick . . .

While John P. Heinrick coached at Stadium and CPS, members of his family became well-known in local athletics. John Jr. finished varsity football and began coaching, frosh Dennis entered college this fall and played well in intramural, but this sport feature is on still another Heinrick, a girl named Margaret.

A Stadium grad and now a sophomore at CPS, she is outstanding in the women's intramural department. Margaret finds it difficult to remember just when she became interested in sports. It's no wonder, for her enthusiasm seems inherited and as Coach Heinrick worked his way up in coaching circles, his closest supporters were his family. When his team was playing, the Heinrick family went along. And Margaret and Dennis remember fighting over the position of bat boy or bat girl.

But Margaret recalls another game when she stood over home-plate, 12 years old and batting against a strong women's team six to eight years older and seasoned in amateur softball. It was a regional tournament game and Marg played as a substitute. "I stood out in the field hoping the ball wouldn't come," she laughed. "When I batted, someone else was wearing my regular uniform. I didn't even have that for luck." But the record that this seventh grader has made, can give any girl poise and confidence on a ball field. Proudly Marg brought home her first gold baseball award in 1945.

Her early training was strictly sandlot on school teams, but in the summer she played in the Women's City league. For seven years now her wallet has held a National Women's Amateur Softball Association membership card, proving her rank. Being a redhead, she was a natural for the Red Streaks team her first year of city play. With the Fuelerettes, Marg went with this winning city league team to Richland and the Tri-City tournament with teams from Seattle and Spokane. She thinks she was 15 years old then.

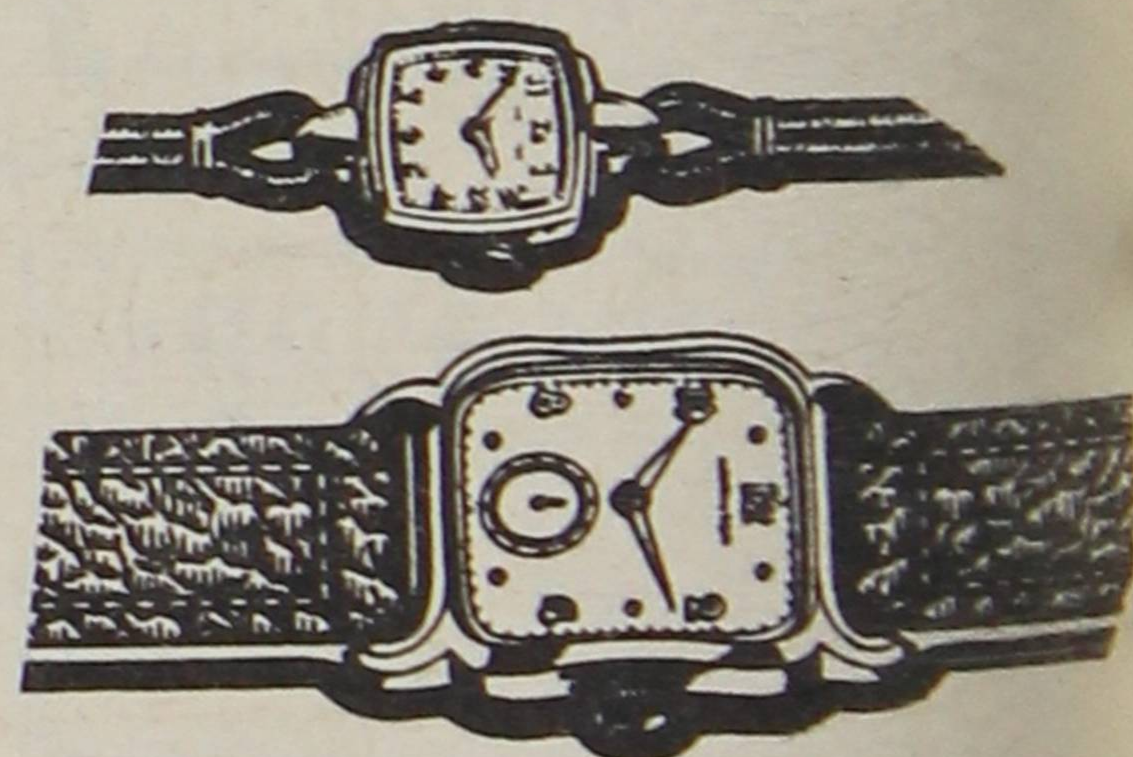

And in city league play, the winning teams go on to regional and state competition. On regional tournaments Margaret traveled with her teammates to Richland, and Boise, Ida., and last year to Portland. She modestly revealed "some medals for outstanding player" and an individual trophy as a member of the all-state team.

But you can't overlook basketball in profiling this female's sports ability. Margaret made the second string Tri-City team again last year after the Fuelerettes again won the city title. In a Seattle tournament, Marg came home happy with another medal, for 33 points scored in one game, against the Sand Point Waves.

Carrot-topped, with a steady blue-eyed gaze, Margaret calmly manages women's intramural baseball this spring with never a boast about playing against such All-American girls like shortstop Sis Prentiss. Majoring in physical education, Margaret has worked part time while at CPS and holds membership in WAA and Delta Alpha Gamma. She's proud of an offer to play semipro ball for Portland, but being only 19 she plans to remain an amateur. This summer it's a new league with two Seattle teams, one Vancouver team and another from Portland, so Margaret has been working on her windmill pitch, to live up to the name of Heinrick in sports.
