EDITORIAL

It has been brought to my attention that there were several cars broken into and at least one convertible top cut during the Homecoming dance last Saturday night. Some topcoats as well as some other lesser (?) articles were taken out of the cars that were ransacked.

I cannot believe that CPS students are responsible for this. No normal being would take a topcoat that some one on the campus might recognize as being his own. But then, anyone who would take something from someone else's car isn't normal, anyway. In my opinion it was probably some group of high school age.

It is true, facilities were made for coats at the dance (although they ran out of hangers), but most people carry other valuables in their cars, such as hydraulic jacks and other mechanic's tools, too.

I would like to suggest that about 25 dollars be set aside at every function to be paid to three or four men (big strong men, incidentally), who would patrol the parking lots. It isn't a lot of money, and would probably assure safety to the valuables left in the cars.

Campus Chest . . .

"Put All Your Begg in One Askit," Campus Chest drive at CPS this year, will get into full swing next Monday, announced Ruth Nicholson and Don Rogers, co-chairmen of the fund-raising campaign. It will last five days, ending on Friday, November 7.

This year's goal has been set as a one dollar contribution from each student. Students will have an opportunity to donate at Convocation next Tuesday. Students who wish to may make pledges of money at that time. This will be the most important effort to raise money for the fund, said the co-chairmen. They hope to have a large part of their goal attained at this meeting. Special speakers have been planned for the Campus Chest portion of the Convocation period.

Fraternities and sororities will have an opportunity to contribute to the fund at their Monday night meetings.

Campus Chest drive, which is the only student-sponsored drive on the campus, includes funds for three major agencies: Good Neighbor fund, World Student Service fund, and the March of Dimes.

The Good Neighbor fund is divided among the Community Chest (24 agencies), Red Cross, USO-United Defense fund, and is used to fight cancer, heart disease, and polio. It will receive 45 per cent of the total Campus Chest drive receipts.

World Student Service fund, soon to become World University service, is a fund operated solely by students over the world. Its purpose is to help under-privileged students through co-op living centers, medical services, special aid to refugees, and through books and equipment to these students. It will receive 45 per cent of the Campus Chest drive receipts.

Last year the College of Puget Sound ranked fifth among the colleges in the Pacific Northwest contributing to the fund, with a total donation of $496.14. Only the four large state schools of Oregon and Washington topped the amount given for WSSF by CPS students.

The March of Dimes is a fund originally set up by the late Franklin Delano Roosevelt, former president of the United States. It provides equipment and services to combat the disease of infantile paralysis. The Campus Chest drive will contribute 10 per cent to March of Dimes.

A thermometer-graph is to be set up in Jones hall to record the progress of the Campus Chest drive.

Chinook Plans Open House

Open house at Deep Creek, College of Puget Sound's outdoor recreation lodge, will be held Sunday from 2 p. m. to 4 p. m., announced Duane Wegner, president of Chinook club.

Persons going to the event will receive free pie and coffee. Those who wish may move a few shovelfuls of dirt to help dig the future ice-skating pond.

Saturday a work party will go up to work on various projects at the lodge. Anyone interested in going should contact Dr. Sprenger, Jim Gourley, or Duane Wegner.

Chinook's next meeting will feature Gordon Patterson, district ranger for the White river district, Rainier national park. With the aid of film slides, he will talk on ski rescue. Patterson is well-known in skiing circles.

Future plans of Chinook are a skating party November 15, and a ski sale at its November 25 meeting.

All organizations will receive a letter concerning this extemporaneous speaking tournament. Like the debate tournament it will be for those who are not on the varsity squad. The subject will be the expansion of Federal Power. The time will be a maximum of six minutes with no minimum. The person will have three choices and about two hours to prepare a speech from one of them. The contests will be held at noon and the schedule is as follows:

MEN

- Round 1—Monday, Nov. 10
- Round 2—Wednesday, Nov. 12
- Round 3—Monday, Nov. 17
- Finals—Monday, Nov. 24

WOMEN

- Round 1—Tuesday, Nov. 11
- Round 2—Thursday, Nov. 13
- Round 3—Tuesday, Nov. 18
- Finals—Tuesday, Nov. 25

Any questions will be answered at Dr. Battin's office.

Sigma Alpha Iota . . .

SAI is happy to welcome its new pledges, Nina Keuhl, Carolyn Newhouse, Bonnie Joy Thompson, Ardys Reed, and Janet Allen. They were formally pledged last Wednesday at the home of Barbara Combs.

After the meeting, Barbara gave a preview of her recital which is to be held Wednesday, October 29, at Weyerhauser Hall.

Debate . . .

Where has the debate squad been for the last two issues? To answer this would jeopardize my $5000.00 a year job for which I am taking two credit hours in lieu of the money. This is no sign, however, that the debate squad has not been active.

October 8th was the date for the annual Pi Kappa Delta kick off banquet. It was held at the Top of the Ocean. Guest speaker was Herman Kliner who gave a very informative talk of the debate question of the year—Fair Employment Practices Law. This was followed by a series of Hawaiian dances by Millicent Bulatao and Lorine Sakugawa.

This year saw the institution of an intramural debate at CPS. This was designed to give those who couldn't participate in the intercollegiate events a chance to show their ability. It also gave those who felt that they "couldn't" debate a chance to find out how good they were. As a matter of fact some of those who debated in the intramural tournament are going to join the squad. In line with the program of giving more of the students a chance to participate in forensic activity is an intramural extemporaneous speaking tournament which is not new but has not been done for some time. A revolving trophy will be presented to the winners, with the name of the organization and the outstanding individual on it.

This coming week will be the first intercollegiate tournament of the year. Some of the schools represented will be: St. Martin's, PLC, Seattle Pacific, U. of W. Debate manager, Arlis Johnson, announced that in this tournament a new method of judging will be tried. After the first round the judge will give a half hour criticism and no decision. The rest of the tournaments will be judged as usual.

A few weeks after this first trial run there will be the first "test under fire" at the University of Washington, when CPS invades the Inland Empire Tournament.

Results of the intramural tournament are:

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Judiciary Council will give Central Board the test on the ASCPS Constitution in Jones 203 at 4:00 Tuesday, Oct. 28.

All students of ASCPS are asked to send complaints or suggestions for improvement of the Constitution to Judiciary Council.

George Fossen asked Central Board members to draw up an evaluation of Central Board to be read by the Executive officers. The meeting was automatically adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,
Sara Jaeger, Secretary.

Central Board Notes . . .

Just before a fiery speech by Dr. Battin in Convocation last week on the rights of individuals, a member of Central Board announced the new Convocation seating arrangement. The idea of this is to promote more class spirit. If it does this it is a fine thing. Of interest, however, was the method by which the measure went through Central Board. The idea is supposed to have been born at a leadership meeting at Deep Creek and matured at another meeting at Dr. Thompson's house. A committee was formed this year to investigate the possibilities of the program. Last week the committee made its report. As far as capacity went the seating arrangement would work. The chairman of the committee reported at the same time, however, that those students he talked to were against the idea. Another member of Central Board spoke and said that those who she talked to were against it. The idea was kicked around a little. Mr. Banks got up and said that he was for it. Mrs. Gee said she was for it and lo and behold a vote was taken and the measure was passed with NO DISSENTING VOTES.

If the students like this then all is well. If not the student body can only blame itself for this and other things they don't like. This year the editor of this paper has stuck his neck out to try and bring the students some of the things that go on behind the scenes. A few have told him he was doing a good job but that is about the end of it. It is the same way on Central Board. Why should a member stick his neck out if no one is behind him. You may ask—What can I do?? Central Board is going to have a suggestion box. Also their meetings are going to be in the SUB lounge so students may attend.

A note to the Trail will tell us how you feel. We will not print them if you so desire. If there is no more interest shown than there has been, the little advance the student body might be making towards a truly student government will be lost, with interest.

This Is Weather ???

Well, rain at last! This was the statement that issued from many Tacoman's lips last week as tiny droplets began forming on car windshields, and dark blotches began to speckle the gray sidewalks.

The rain that fell in the Tacoma area last week only measured .45 inches; but it snapped a string of 43 rainless days.

Richard Charles of the U. S. Weather bureau said that the dry spell that had prevailed over Washington was a record for this season of the year. He also said that for the dry spell to continue would be unprecedented, and before long Tacoma should be back to the ever-changing Puget Sound weather to which it is accustomed.

(Ed. Note — this ever-changing weather leaves this guy in a fog).

Judiciary Council . . .

The Judiciary Council held their weekly meeting Tuesday, October 29. The members are making changes and additions in the constitution which will be presented to Central Board and/or the student body later in the semester. The Council has reviewed through Chapter 1, Section 5, to date.

Notice: Any student who has suggestions or criticisms concerning the ASCPS government is asked to come to the next Judiciary Council meeting—Tuesday, November 4, 1952. It will be held in Jones 13. The Council will welcome and consider any suggestions. (Ed. note: Here is a chance for those that are truly interested in student government to have an active voice in the revised constitution.)

Homecoming Winners . . .

After the question of who was going to be the Homecoming "First Lady" was settled, everyone began to think about the fellows with the longest beards, to be the presidential candidates. This question and several others were answered at the "Primary and Mock Convention" by the girls who sat in their alphabetical delegations.

Ray Dugan, with the longest beard, was elected the president. Secretary of State was Dick Bryan, with the best trimmed beard. Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, Jon Torgerson, had the reddest beard, and Director of Internal Revenue, Franklin Johnson, had the "scroungeist" beard.

Commerce Club Meeting . . .

Have you ever dreamed of living in a far off land? Dreams are fine but one has to eat also, in this land of dreams. To tell the members of the Commerce Club and their guests how, will be Leavitt Christensen and Andy J. Karpack, Chief and Assistant Chief Civilian Personnel Officers from Fort Lewis.

The meeting will be November 12 at 8 p.m. and will be held at the University Union Club, which is near the Temple theater. To those who have been going to join the Commerce Club but have been putting it off, be sure and see Bob Beck or Dr Battin before this date.

School Parking . . .

Last Wednesday men with long coats and longer faces stood guard over the entrances to the campus. They were stationed there to see that no cars without a pass got through the portals. It seems that the mortgage is long over due on Jones Hall and a villain from the WE - GETTEM - COLLECTION - AGENCY is about to repossess it. Oh the shame of it, he used to be one of Doc Battin's economics students. At a secret meeting in the wine cellar of Doc Thompson's house it was decided to sacrifice the hand of a beautiful co-ed to this villain. But none could be found at CPS.

Incidentally this only goes to prove that the faculty are sadists, so far as mine humble mind can remember, for the last three years the powers have waited for rain before stationing these poor unfortunates at the cold vigil of watching the gates. Possibly the idea is that if they stand there in the rain long enough they will turn to ducks and be fair game since the profs have no time to hunt quacking ducks.

Seriously, it is necessary that all student cars display their stickers, so we can keep non-student autos out of our crowded parking lots. Let's all co-operate to help those long faced and wet deputies keep the peace.

Richard Dunn

Bag Rush . . .

Mob violence ruled the first bag rush since 1948. The unruly frosh broke all rules, and they even made their own to fit the situation. The victorious sophs, outnumbered by at least fifteen to one, really put up a splendid defense. It took the Frosh ten minutes to score, but, it was nullified by a roughing penalty. Several of the Freshmen were ejected from the contest for piling. Bob Dunn, Frosh 300-lb. fullback, was smeared many times as he was about to score by Larry Lambe, the mighty mite of the sophomores. Larry was last seen carrying the medicine ball towards the opponents' goal via the trees. A pile up followed with The Mighty Mite on the bottom. The sophomores are still excavating for his remains.

The second goal by the Frosh came a few minutes after the second half started. However, this was also nullified because Lee Thornburg and Pete Walker were caught slugging John Ramsey and Jerry Woodard. Further charges were made as the Frosh removed the shoes of the two Sophs in question. The two hard working refs tried their best to get the mob in line, but the Frosh just kept ignoring their pleas. The Frosh scored once more, but as before, the ball was called back because it was carried over the goal which was against the rules.

The first bag rush in four years ended in a tie. The Freshmen, however, were declared the losers. At the end of the game, they ganged both of the refs. One of the referees suffered severely from a bad case of "Lost Pantitis." This action cost the Frosh the game. The Sophomores are the victors! (Ed. note: Despite several threatening letters and phone calls from the daunted Crew Cuts Clan, a daring Frosh organization, likened to the Black Mafia, the Trail has decided to fearlessly publish the truth as seen through the eyes of a disinterested sophomore.)

Nixon to Nix Demos . . .

U. S. Sen. Richard Nixon, the man the Republican party is betting will share the White House with Eisenhower come January, will speak at the Tacoma Armory at 8 p.m. Saturday.

Nixon was scheduled to make a Tacoma appearance early in October, but cancelled his trip here when a dispute arose over his political expense fund.

Letter To the Editor . . .

Dear Editor:

A man once said, "Rules Were Made to be Broken," and certainly this Homecoming week was no exception. For four consecutive years I have watched the procession of broken rules glide by. To satisfy my own conscience, I feel that it is finally time to speak out.

This year as you all know, the theme was "Political Stew in '52." I personally sat in the Homecoming meetings and heard the various co-chairmen state, "the theme is the all important issue, but tie in the game if possible." I also heard the rules which stated that no house decoration was to be larger than 100 sq. feet (10 ft. x 10 ft. or its equivalent). The floats were to follow the theme and tie in the game if possible. These were the words of the co-chairmen of Homecoming.

I ask the Homecoming chairman, "Did the judges know that they were to judge the houses on the 100 sq. foot basis, and that they were to look for the theme tied in with the game? Were the judges instructed that the parade they were to judge on the Theme First and then on the game if possible?" I ask these questions because these were the points that were stressed in the meetings by the people in charge.

This whole letter may simply sound to you like the crying of a poor loser and possibly this is true to a certain extent, but I firmly maintain that if the rules are to be made THEN obey them, and if as in the past we all are going to break them, then forget all rules and throw the whole thing wide open.

I personally am very disappointed with the flagrant infraction of the Homecoming rules. Foolishly I sincerely believed the words of the co-chairmen, "This year it will be different. This year we will follow the rules."

David E. Schweinler.

Letter to the Editor . . .

The problem of school spirit was discussed last year at the student leadership conferences. One idea that came out was to improve the spirit of the classes. It was suggested that the classes be given an opportunity to sit together in Chapel. This was brought to the attention of Central Board, and a committee was appointed in order to investigate the possibility of seating students by classes to see if that would be the answer. The committee made the recommendation to Central Board to do just this. This recommendation was made on the grounds that it would be on a trial basis only. At the time this information was passed on to Central Board, the chairman of the committee stated that there would be some student objection. The members of Central Board felt that the opportunity presented by getting the classes together would over rule most of the opposition.

It was to be understood that this is voluntary, and not a set rule or a compulsory action. Central Board then passed this in the form of a motion.

Here are some of the facts. Thirteen out of twenty-three members of Central Board attended these conferences. Also, in attendance were representatives from every organization on campus including Greeks, independents, and the men's and women's dorms. It was felt at this time that a seating arrangement of this type would be a good way to improve school spirit.

Many of Central Board's actions are a result of student body feelings. If this plan doesn't work, it will be dropped. The Frosh are for it, as it will help them to keep their present enthusiasm alive. Also, it will give them a chance to show their spirit before the student body. Who knows . . . they might even promote some life in the other classes.

In conclusion, we think that personal opinions are fine so long as they present and consider the facts involved.

Let's give it a fair try.

Sincerely,

Ralph Mackey
Jim Nelson

To the Editor of the Trail and the Students of CPS:

Last week a letter appeared in the Trail directed to those "in the know." Four questions were asked, and a direct reply was requested. I would like to answer as much of the letter as I can. In doing so I am speaking not as the collective voice of all of the ASCPS officers, but rather as one officer of ASCPS.

It was asked why we have not held a Varsity Show or an All College Review. From where I sit this sounds like a fine idea. Varsity shows in the past have not always been the product of student direction and planning, nor have they always proved financially successful. But these considerations should not stop us from reviving the show if we really want to. Certainly CPS students have as much imagination and energy and talent as any other small college, and there should be plenty of leadership ability to make such a thing a huge success.

It was also asked why the school could not set up its own accident insurance plan. Let me just say that the problem of insurance is still very much under consideration by the Central Board. The poll that was taken in last Tuesday's Convocation indicated at least that the great majority of the students are opposed to an additional insurance fee for every student, but that some sort of protection needs to be provided for those participating in intramural athletics. It can only be said that Central Board will not take a position in this matter that is contrary to the wishes of the student body.

In answer to the question as to why the Homecoming co-chairmen and their committee heads are not chosen in the spring, I cannot speak for George Fossen who made the appointments. I do know that George counted on certain people throughout the summer who decided at a late date that they would not be able to do the job.

The last question asked was why the student officers when they get into session suddenly become timid and are afraid to challenge the wishes of the administration. I can't answer this question, not because it is an embarrassing one, but rather because there is nothing to answer. If Larry Lamb can point out an instance when the officers and representatives of ASCPS were afraid to challenge the administration's wishes, or if he can even name some specific issue that has come up which found the officers of the student body and the administration holding opposed viewpoints, I would be happy to be enlightened.

In closing I'd like to say that I think that letters to the editor are a fine thing. I see nothing unhealthy in criticizing and making suggestions to the student body officers. Such things make for a more alive and active government. However, there is another path open to those who have suggestions and criticisms: that is, to personally contact and speak with your officers.

Sincerely yours,

Gene Campbell

(The editor's thanks for a very interesting and enlightening letter, Gene. I believe that you have answered my reader's questions with straight, honest and clear cut answers.)

Tamanawas Pix . . .

Graduating seniors who plan to have their pictures in the senior section of the Tamanawas are urged to sign up for appointments in the Trail office immediately.

Richard's Photographers will be on campus beginning next Monday and the pictures will be taken in the Independent room from 8:30 a. m. until 4 p. m. daily.

Each student is responsible for signing up for his appointment in the event that he wishes his picture in the Greek section, the senior section or both.

GREEKS

Sigma Nu . . .

Once in a while in the daily somewhat monotonous routine of fraternity life there comes a welcome change. A girl comes into the house. Such was the case last Wednesday noon. We were honored by the presence of the Queen Candidates at the noon meal. They all expressed satisfaction with the dinner and graciously accepted the two white rose buds given to them upon leaving.

Friday was a rather big day around the house. The house decorating procedure was interrupted several times throughout the day. At noon the huge car caravan for Pogo, numbering about 26 cars, made a rather noisy appearance around the quad and campus proper. And at 3 o'clock the election delegation showed up at the convention brandishing horns, bells, drums, and signs, and shouting campaign slogans. It was a close race all the way. However, the beard candidates Bill Jowett, Bill Hudak, Dick Kraabel, Lee Mcgee, and Matt Clapp nominated by the distinguished southerners Jerry Murdock and Bob Clapper failed to dazzle the damsels. The house decorations were completed, however, despite the numerous interruptions. The members and pledges participating were somewhat rushed for time to get things straightened up AND themselves in order to be at the Top of the Ocean for a smorgasbord banquet at 7:30. The banquet was a combined alumni, member and pledge affair. The pledges leaving afterwards to go and decorate the float. Just a few of the alumni present were Bill Faran, Don Shotwell, Russ Michael and Doc. Battin.

At a recent meeting of the alumni it was decided that future meetings will be held at the house instead of downtown. It is believed that this will bring the two closer together and serve to better acquaint the alumni with the members.

Congratulations are in order for the pledges who held a somewhat questionable sneak Monday night. The members caputred and lost several of the pleges several times before they all succeeded in getting away and arriving at their destination, Jason Lee, successfully. The members made a gallant attempt to find them but succeeded only in finding members of sororities groping around in the fog, looking for their pledges. In fact, we had a bad time finding them after they let us know where they were. The fog didn't help nohow.

New pledges to the ranks are Chuck Arnold, Walley Thompson, and Dale Bailey.

Delta Delta Delta . . .

The annual Founders' banquet for Tri Delta will be held Nov. 25. This is held with the Tacoma Alliance of Delta Delta Delta.

The fireside with the Sigma Nu's has been postponed until Monday, Nov. 3. Before the fireside the members will take their little sisters out to dinner.

Friday night while the girls were busy decorating the float for the parade, pledge Nancy Cranston announced her engagement to Larry Keller of the University of Washington.

A letter was received from Margie Lutz in Vienna. She has been accepted into one of the higher schools of music at the University. We are all very proud of Margie.

Delta Alpha Gamma . . .

Formal pledging of three new pledges was held after Monday's meeting. Gammas are participating in inter-sorority badminton and also field hockey.

Final plans are being completed by the pledges for their annual dance, Friday, November 21. at the Wedgewood Room at the Winthrop.

Pi Phi . . .

Thanks go to Doris Caldwell, Shirley Campbell, and all others who contributed their ideas and work so that we were able to take home the first prize trophy for the sororities' Homecoming floats.

GREEKS

Adding to the excitement of Homecoming was the announcement of the engagement and forthcoming marriage of our president, Jo Anne Neff to Del Cross. Congratulations, Jo Anne, and much happiness from all your sisters.

Best wishes to our pledge, Kathy Maguire, who was elected Freshman Greek Representative to AWS.

Also, congratulations to Dolores Kaiser who is the seventh Pi Phi to be tapped this year for Spurs.

And last, but not least, the heavy fog covered our pledges so completely that after a few narrow escapes in the afternoon, they finally eluded their actives and pulled a successful sneak.

Kappa Sigma . . .

The pledges of Kappa Sig finally got away last Monday night with a successful sneak.

The Kappa Sig pledge dance, the first dance of the year, will be a draw dance with the Phi Phis, Saturday, Nov. 8, in costume.

Plans are being made for the Black and White, which is to be held some time in January.

The Kappa Sigs downed Theta Chi in both the three and four o'clock football games Monday afternoon. The scores were 26-0 and 12-0.

Sigma Chi

The Sigma Chi's were out in force Monday night looking for the pledges but the fog got the best of them and the pledges held a successful sneak at Warren Wotton's home near Puyallup.

The Sigs are proud of the Homecoming float trophy and it now remains as a permanent possession at the house.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon . . .

Two new brothers will be brought into the bonds of SAE next Monday night when John Haygood and Dan Caldwell will be initiated at the home of John Van Zonneveld. Haygood and Caldwell, both of whom are former Pi Theta Omega members have been away from school during the past year serving in the armed forces.

SAE wishes to thank all the independents who worked so hard going through the log book to change the SAE phone number which had been previously listed wrong.

Delta Kappa Phi . . .

The chapter room of the fraternity was very smoke filled last Monday night when Don Boesel passed cigars to announce his pinning to Donna Dettrich of Phi Beta Phi.

The trophy shelf has a new addition after members Fred Holmes and John Chapman and pledges Duane Erickson and Frank Johnson won the men's intramural debate tournament.

Delta Kappa Phi is sending a large delegation to Canada Saturday for the UBC football game.

Lambda Sigma Chi . . .

The Lambda pledges have appeared to be in the direct focus of the spotlight this past week.

Many "unrecognizable" characters appeared Friday night, Oct. 17th, at the Community Center at Dash Point to celebrate "Hard Times," the Lambda Sigma Chi pledge dance. The dress was far from formal, but a gay time was had by all.

Sunday, Oct. 19th, our snap pledges were formally pledged to wear the golden torch of Lambda Sigma Chi. The nine pledges are: Joyce Butherus, Ila Eide, Shirley Demko, Norma Hanna Ford, Gloria Leonard, Donna Lillis, Mary Lu Mackey, Marlene Peterson, and Helen Redish.

Monday night the tables turned and the members got into the swing of things. The pledges "snuck" and even the smogy fog couldn't hide them. The members found the pledges on the fifteenth floor of the Puget Sound Building.

Indee News, Views, Cues . . .

It's Sadie Hawkins time again!! And this being Leap Year—watch for a hot time in Old Dogpatch! Plans for the annual Sadie Hawkins Day Dance were formulated at Monday's Independent meeting. Despite the fact that L'll Abner finally bowed to the inevitable, this event will still take place November 14th at the girls' gym. All fraternities and sororities are to select their candidates for L'll Abner and Daisy Mae—prizes will also be awarded for the outstanding costumes, as in past years. A great deal of help is needed, so let's see all of you so-called independent Indees get behind this like you did our float. The spirit and enthusiasm at the float construction party was wonderful, and there's no reason why we can't do it again.

The Indee "I didn't vote" float placed second in the Homecoming parade—although it appeared doubtful about 5:00 Saturday morning if there would even be a float. Thanks again to those who contributed so much in making this a success.

Trios and quartets are being organized to visit local homes and hospitals before the Christmas caroling season. We would like these shut-ins to know we remember them always—not just during one week of a long year. So anyone talented musically who would like to brighten someone's life and have a lot of fun doing it, come to next Monday's Indee meeting.

A Christmas fireside was also discussed and a date will be set sometime after Thanksgiving. Watch this column and the bulletin boards for further notice.

Intramural . . .

The weather was practically sub zero as Sigma Nu met Todd Hall at four o'clock Wednesday. It was a close contest all the way. The play was about the same caliber as the field, sloppy.

Todd booted the ball to start the game. Sigma Nu was unable to score until about midway in the first half. Woodard uncorked a long aerial to Spezia to give the game its first talley.

As the second half started the score was still 6 to 0 in favor of the Sigma Nu. Shortly after play began a high Todd Hall center sailed out of the end zone and gave Sigma Nu their final two points, which ended up as the margin of victory.

Near the mid point of the second half, Sigma Nu's Goskey faded back to pass. The slick football slipped out of his hands and into the outstretched arms of Todd's Stondifer who sloshed for sixty yards and a touchdown. That's the way the score stood when the game ended, 8 to 6.

The game of the week coming up next, is the Kappa Sig-Delta Kap battle next week. Kappa Sig's three o'clock team will be out to keep their undefeated record clean. The same situation, except in reverse, exists in the four o'clock contest. The DK's will be out to keep their record clean as the Kappa Sigs will be battling to keep their title hopes alive.

Wednesday will find Theta Chi tangling with Sigma Nu and Sigma Chi vs. Todd Hall.

Monday afternoon the fog lifted long enough for the Kappa Sigs and Theta Chis to tangle on the Jefferson gridiron. Kappa Sigma ended both games with the score in their favor, 26-0 and 12-0

In the three o'clock contest, the Kappa Sigs scored quickly. Rasmussen hid out along the side lines as the Theta Chis became victims of the age old sleeper play. Schweinler's toss was perfect and the Kappa Sigs had six points. On the try for point, a pass slipped through Heinrick's fingers into the arms of his teammate Roe to make the total seven. Schweinler tossed to Heinrick for TD number two a few plays later. Roe, the Kappa Sigs favorite point after touchdown man, pulled down a pass to make the score 14 to 0 at half time.

Fumbles set up the two second half touchdowns for the Kappa Sig's touchdown machine. Roe pounced on fumble number one. It was another Schweinler aerial, this time to Fawcett, that furnished the scoring punch.

After Sweeney found loose ball number two for the Kappa Sigs, they decided to get out of the rut and run a few. But it was Schweinler again who carried the pigskin, which happens to be rubber, across the goal line. That was that for game number one.

The Theta Chi's touchdown special couldn't seem to pick up steam all afternoon. They didn't offer the stout Kappa Sig defense any great threat.

The Theta Chi trouble continued into the four o'clock game. They just couldn't keep a drive going. Wet turf.

Thompson scampered into the end zone on a line play to give the Kappa Sigs their first six points. Kershul hauled in a MacArthur pass to give the Kappa Sigs their game total of twelve points.

Though Kappa Sigma controlled play most of the game, they were unable to score any more. The Kappa Sig teams displayed the best running attack of the year as the season passed its half way point.

Homecoming Victory . . .

The College of Puget Sound Loggers thrilled a Homecoming crowd of 1,500 last Saturday afternoon, as they ran to a 19-7 victory over the Whitworth Pirates.

Long runs were the main offensive weapons of the Loggers. Walt Espeland raced 48 yards for the first Logger touchdown. Freshman flash Dale Meshke skipped 52 yards down the sidelines for another score. Meshke also scored on a two yard plunge for the Loggers second touchdown. Wally Erwin kicked one out of two extra point tries, while on the third the pass from center was wild. Spike Schrette also gained considerable yardage to help the Logger ground attack.

CPS had a safe 19-0 lead in the fourth quarter before the Pirates managed to break through the tight defense of the Loggers. A fourth down 22 yard pass from Bob Ward to Fred Ridenour produced the Whitworth score. Bill Rusk kicked the extra point.

Art "The Arm" Viafore completed six out of 12 passes for 82 yards. Whitworth completed nine out of 18 passes for 109 yards. CPS led in rushing, 218 yards to 44 for the Pirates.

UBC Next . . .

The Loggers journey to the Northland Saturday to do battle with the University of British Columbia Thunderbirds.

Even the most pessimistic of the CPS coaching staff must concede that the Loggers have a better than an even chance to take this one.

Except for Paul Pazaruski and Babe Buholm, who are recovering from injuries received in the Whitworth contest, the team is in good physical shape. Walt Espeland has recovered from leg injuries received early in the season and is proving a welcome addition to the CPS backfield, as evidenced by his 48 yard touchdown gallop during the Whitworth game.

You've Got Troubles ???

Genial Hank Pond, outstanding lineman at CPS three years ago, won his first five games in his first season as head coach of the Portland Grant high football team.

Then the roof caved in—school officials discovered that a reserve end was ineligible since he lived a block out of the Grant district and four of the General's wins were wiped off the book, putting the team in sixth place instead of first in the Portland prep race.

Life gets teejus, don't it?

Cold Blast From The North . . .

Athletic Director Dick Penn of the University of British Columbia has some hasty and hot-tempered remarks two weeks ago about the subsidizing of athletes by Western, PLC, and CPS. Penn charged that these three schools built up football powerhouses by using football scholarship and high-paying jobs to lure outstanding football talent.

Since that time Penn has printed a retraction, stating that he was misquoted by the press. Nevertheless, the charges were made and must be answered.

Western has already answered the charges, stating that Western offers no athletic scholarships of any kind and that the only "high-paying" jobs offered are the same jobs offered to any deserving student, no job paying more than $50 per month.

Coach John Heinrick answered the accusation by reporting that CPS has five athletes working at the fieldhouse at present and that none of them make more than $40 per month. Furthermore, all five now benefiting from these high-paying (75 cents an hour) positions are basketball players and will be unable to carry on with these jobs after basketball turnouts begin because of time taken up by practice sessions.

Heinrick further reported that the athletic department has not received any subsidies for athletes from alumni associations, nor has it placed any athletes in lucrative positions with local firms. Both of these practices are commonly carried on by many colleges throughout the country.

No one wants to see any team take a 50-0 pasting such as Western handed out to UBC, but the attack made by Penn on the Evergreen conference members was made without forethought or a knowledge of the facts. The Evergreen conference has always bent over backwards to help UBC compete on a favorable basis with other teams in the league. These untimely accusations do nothing but cast a shadow on the whole conference. If any member of the conference believes that other members are breaking conference rules, a protest should be filed with the powers that be, not with the daily newspapers.
