

EDITORIAL

In view of recent events involving confrontations between university students and civil authority, we believe it necessary to distinguish clearly between the spheres of concern of the university and those of the civil authority.

If a student fails to maintain adequate grades (for whatever reason) the university may act to suspend him as a student. If a student openly flaunts university regulations, the university here also has a remedy in disciplinary action. However, when a student becomes involved with civil authority, the civil authority is the proper body to deal with him. The university in such a case is an unnecessary and undesired third party.

Violations of university regulations call for university action; violations of civil authority call for civil action. The university does not stand in relation to us as a parent, to add its punishments to those of the civil authority. Our relation to the university is as students, not children.

Disciplinary probation means that students charged will be able to attend classes. They may not, however, participate as representatives of the university in student activities.

Adelphians Premiere Original Ostransky

UPS students will have an opportunity to hear the world premiere of a new comic opera by Leroy Ostransky, Professor of Music at UPS. The opera, "The Melting of Molly" was commissioned by and written for the Adelphian Concert Choir. The new work will be offered on three nights: Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, April 21, 22, and 23 at 8:15 p.m. in Jacobsen Herital Hall.

The Friday night performance is reserved for Faculty Artist series season ticket holders but the other two performances are open to all. Admission is $1.50 and tickets may be secured at the Music Office, Music Building. All seats are reserved.

The entire evening will be one of fun and laughter for coupled with the Ostransky work will be a performance of Menotti's "The Telephone," a comic opera in one act which has become a standard among chamber operas.

"The Melting of Molly" will be directed by Professor M. Tucker Keiser of the UPS School of Music. Molly will be played by Judy Markham, soprano; Valerie, her closest friend, by Patti Pease, contralto; the doctor by Raeder Anderson, bass-baritone and Molly's male friend by Rieno Moio, tenor. The accompaniment will be played by Tim Strong, pianist and serving the function of commentator and participant in the whole affair will be the University Madrigal Singers under the direction of Dr. Bruce Rodgers, Director of the UPS School of Music.

"The Telephone" will feature Betty Martin, a UPS graduate now making a name for herself on musical comedy in Seattle and Roy Wilson, UPS senior voice major. The accompaniment for this chamber opera will be Ilona Herling, Assistant Professor of Music at UPS. It will be a real night of laughter. Get your tickets now.

Simonson Sells English Article To Journal

Harold P. Simonson, chairman of the Department of English, University of Puget Sound, has received an acceptance for publication of his article "Freshman English: An Apologia," from The Journal of Higher Education at Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio.

Date of publication has not been set.

Simonson's article deals with the student of English finding himself through the use of their voices and in their own words and explains the position of the teacher in relationship to the integration of student and word.

9 Students Arrested

Nine University of Puget Sound students and five others were arrested on charges involving drugs in a two-day crackdown by the Tacoma police narcotics squad earlier this week.

Eight of the students were arrested in a raid in the area Tuesday, in which several pounds of material alleged to be marijuana, cactus seeds, barbiturates, an Indian water pipe and other items were seized by the narcotics squad.

The ninth university student was arrested Wednesday and charged with two counts of possession of marijuana.

The Tacoma News Tribune quoted Dean of Students Richard Dale Smith as stating: "We are contemplating action but we have not yet determined what that action might be."

"This is not just a simple case involving only the campus," the Tribune quoted Smith. "We will have to wait and see what court action will be taken."

In view of the arrests and charges concerning several university students, we are placing all of these students on disciplinary probation immediately. Such probation status is not meant to infer guilt, but is in recognition of the arrests and charges made by the authorities. Further action by the university will await the disposition of each case by the courts.

the war goes on . . . . .

SILENCE is the weapon used by this group to protest the Vietnam war. Groups similar to this have been holding vigils the past two weeks during the noon hour in the Jones Hall quad.

Thoughts on ballooning . . .

Last Friday some 50 university students and faculty members stood quietly in the quad in front of Jones Hall. They were conducting their fourth in a series of fifteen-minute silent vigils protesting the Vietnam war. As the interested and curious lined the quad's periphery and crammed for a good view from the windows of the student center, a motorized caravan "Protesting the Protestors" circled the quad and its occupants pelted the protestors with a barrage of water-filled balloons.

Nice going, all you water hurlers.

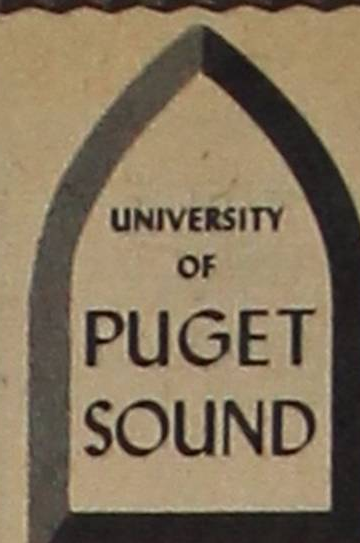

And you too, all you jeerers and cheerers and chucklers and chortlers on the sidelines, for applauding the courage of these bombarding activists.

You all showed us the true meaning of shame when you hid behind the wheel of your glittering, 4-on-the-floor chrome-plated self-righteousness and hurled your projectiles of water-soaked indignation without the least damn consideration for common courtesy and the respect due another human being, especially one who will stand up peaceably for what he believes.

You've made us ashamed to even know your names. Our only hope is that you might feel just a tiny bit ashamed of yourselves.

CB Watches Out For Your Welfare

Change is the word. Tuesday's meeting of Central Board meeting indicated that the student government is becoming more interested in the welfare of the students.

The Student Faculty Relations Committee became a standing committee further uniting the voices of the student and the faculty on campus. The House of Critics became a special committee and is now an official function of student government.

The University of Puget Sound is now a member of the National Student Association, and is no longer a member of a regional group of the same type but inferior quality.

Other possible changes or additions were suggested and should be given serious consideration. The possibility of a Central Board resolution to the Faculty Senate concerning the elimination of mid-term grades was suggested by Junior Class Senator Darrell McCluney. Also brought up was the possibility of having a barber shop on campus. Both of these matters will be looked into and any opinions should be voiced to a member of Central Board.

Change is the policy which is taking effect in the early days of the "progressive and mature" student government of ASB President Clay Loges. If you support the changes or not voice your opinion to your representatives on Central Board.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor:

The Speech Department wishes to thank all those who helped make this year's High School Speech Tournament a success. We received many compliments on general efficiency, high quality judging, convenient facilities and a cooperative atmosphere. Special thanks should be given to Mrs. Sage and the people in food services, the maintenance department, Spurs and U.E.A. for judging, tolerant professors and the ASB for giving up a Friday at 4.

I did hear complaints about the women of one dorm who paraded through the lounge in various stages of dress and undress during a debate. The judge was a woman! Also one shy speaker inquired which building was Jones Hall (she was standing in front of it at the time) and a helpful (?) UPS student sent her to the Music building. She missed her contest.

I directed tournaments on two other campuses before coming here, but never before have I had such wonderful support. In a way our efforts backfire as all the schools want to come back next year.

Apathy Again

Dear Editor:

There is presently much criticism being directed at the alleged apathetic attitude of the students of this "University." I contend that the student is not entirely at fault for this. There are several reasons for this attitude.

1. Almost all the students here are from conservative, upper middle-class, Republican homes.

2. UPS is run by a reactionary who is bent on cranking out a stereotyped graduate that wears wing-tips, a tie and sportcoat, punches in at 8 a.m. and out at 5 p.m. and never questions.

Despite these staggering odds, an effort was made last week to show that students do think and are concerned with our country's contemporary problems. I feel that this was a major step toward student involvement and the dissolution of apathy at this "University." But on Friday a group of students (through no fault of their own, of course) also expressed their sentiments. (These were of a different nature). The boys in their wing-tips were clearly demonstrative—of their flagrant ignorance. They ironically and unknowingly gave the silent vigilantes and their purpose greater impetus.

(While this letter was signed, following TRAIL policy of not accepting anonymous letters, the name is withheld at the writer's request.)

Trite Lectures

This year's Brown and Haley Lectures were a great disappointment. They were poorly organized, condescendingly trite, and superficial. As far as I am concerned the supposedly seminal talks given by the Mellon Professor of Anthropology turned out to be seedless.

As far as those faculty members officially connected with the event are concerned the mistake was Professor Murdock's. Though he was given no detailed directions, he was apparently aware of the published lectures of past

Brown and Haley speakers. This awareness certainly should have led his own lectures onto a higher intellectual level than that which they finally attained.

Happily, the Academic Senate has proposed that from now on each speaker be made fully and explicitly aware of the high level of excellence expected.

Disregarded Delegate

Is UPS going to pot?

I don't think so, but, of course, nobody ever comes to me with their troubles. I'm just a delegate-at-large. We ASB people just get elected to attend Central Board and spend money.

Horse-lovers gripe because there isn't a Tudor Gothic stable on campus. But have they ever been to SC 205? Commuters want a monorail to downtown Tacoma. Have they ever told an ASB officer? Shintoists want to plant more trees. Do they ever bother a lowly delegate with their woes?

Frankly, we think you elected a darn fine bunch of people this year and we intend to do a mildly fantastic job. We mean it. But 16 people can't do the whole job. We don't know all the problems. It's you gripers out there who get us working.

So if you want to put a marble statue of President Harding in front of Jones Hall, drop by the ASB office. We'll listen. If you want to protest American troops stationed in Iceland, bring your ideas to you officers. We understand.

Remember — the right to gripe is what keeps student government operating. Exercise your rights to the fullest.

ROTC Meet Set

Eighteen teams from Washington, Oregon, Montana and Colorado will compete in the fourth annual Seattle Invitational Drill Meet Saturday, April 15, in Sand Point Naval Air Station in Seattle.

Thirteen Reserve Officers Training Corps teams will compete, including UPS, University of Washington and host Seattle University.

Five women's student Army ROTC-affiliated teams will also compete. They are Oregon State, Montana, Gonzaga, Eastern Washington State College and hostess Seattle U Burgundy Bleus.

The meet is arranged by the SU ROTC Department and sponsored by the Department of Washington Reserve Officers Association.

Regular drill competition begins at 8:45 a.m. in Hanger 30. Fancy drill starts at 1 p.m., also in Hanger 30.

The meet is free to the public. Students from many different countries form an important part of the student body of UPS. In order to bring some of these different cultures closer together, the International Club is sponsoring a tea in honor of Dr. Thompson.

Students are invited to travel to the different countries through folk songs, folk dances, displays and food characteristic of those countries. The entire program will be presented by members of the International Club. Nine nationalities will be represented, including: Arabia, Austria, Gabon, India, Japan, the Philippines, Spain, Turkey, and the United States. Hawaii will also be included as a separate culture.

The International Club Tea will be held in the Student Lounge of the SUB on April 21 at 3:30 p.m. All students are invited to attend.

Silver Seals Synchronize Swim Show

The Silver Seals will present their annual synchronized swimming show at 8 on April 21. The show will consist of nine numbers which the girls have worked out themselves.

The theme of the show is "Moods of Life." The numbers are entitled "Baby Talk," "Clown Quartet," "Psychedelic Duet," "March of the Siamese Children" and "Swim-A-Go-Go."

There will also be another sextet, duet, and a finale. Mary Magnusen, president of Silver Seals, will perform a solo.

The show chairman is Kerr Krisman and the Silver Seals advisor is Miss Alice Bond. Admission to the show is 50 cents. Proceeds will be used to cover expenses.

AWS Banquet: Surprise Set for Campus Coeds

It's ladies night on Tuesday, March 18, when the Associated Women Students (AWS) holds its annual spring banquet to announce the names of the outstanding women students.

Campus organizations will tap new members and scholarships will be awarded at the 5 p.m. dinner, "Butterfly Fantasia."

New AWS officers elected in March will be announced for the first time and AWS Man-of-the-Year candidates will be introduced. Each men's living group selected their outstanding member to run for the honor.

Women's Recreation Association (WRA) will also announce its new officers and voting members. WRA plans sports activities — intramural and interschool — for women. Field hockey, football, volleyball, softball and golf and archery are a few sports open for coed participation.

Tapping girls for the fifth time on campus, Chips will add 35 members to its group. In their maroon and white uniforms, the Chips serve as the backbone for the school's athletic spirit. As President Diane Basel says, "We're here to make people aware that they can be proud of UPS athletics."

Mortar Board, senior women's scholastic honorary, will invite 12 women into its ranks. This year the group sponsored the Register lecture and sold copies of the speech, awarded a scholarship and promoted a column of cultural activities in the Trail.

The women are chosen for scholarship and leadership in school and community activities.

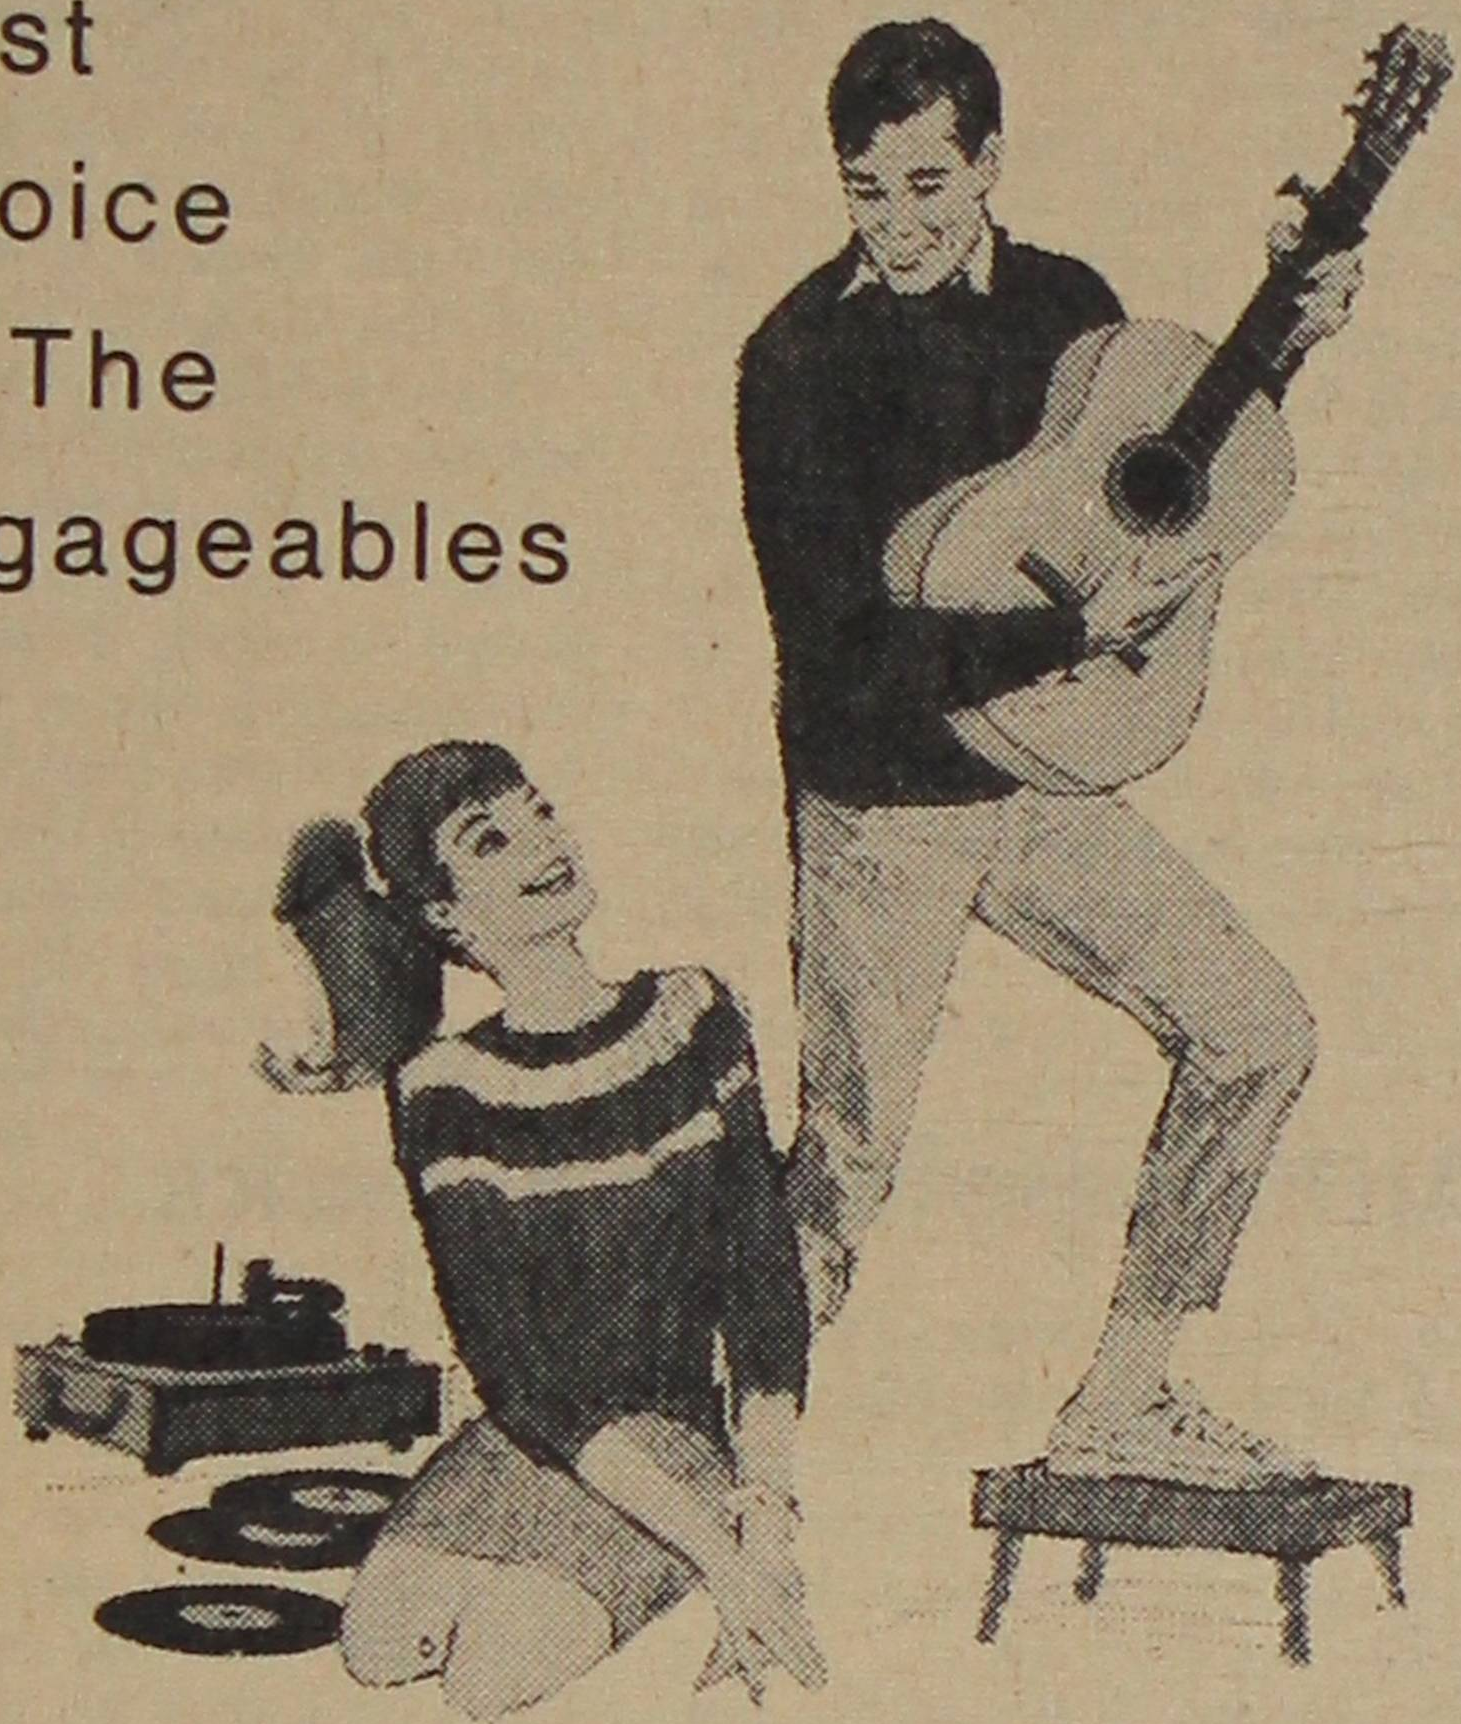

Spurs will tap 30 freshmen girls for "service with a smile" next year. The sophomore service honorary is active on campus as it supports student body activities through ushering, help at registration and being "on call" at all times.

Co-chairmen for this year's banquet are Betsy Currier, in charge of the program, and Sarah Bruns in charge of decorations.

'Round Town and Campus Culture Beckons Students

The invitational drawings of Washington Artists will continue through April 23 in the Kittredge Art Gallery.

Around Tacoma:

The comedy "The Absence of a Cello" by Ira Wallach starts tonight at the Tacoma Little Theatre to play through April 29.

On Campus:

The campus film "This Land is Mine" will be shown tonight and tomorrow night.

"Winning films of national student film festival" produced by students in American universities will be shown, April 19 at 7:30 p.m. in Mc. 6.

Linda Wilson will give her senior recital on the piano tonight at 8:15 in the Jacobsen Recital Hall.

The film "The relation of mathematics to physics" will be shown by the Physics Department April 19 at 6:30 p.m. in the library.

Speaking at Chapel next Thursday will be the Rev. Joe Walker of the Garden St. Methodist Church in Bellingham.

The topic is "Church Renewal." The Rev. Walker works with the belief that the 'Church is not a rest home for saints, but a hospital for sinners.'

Tom Albright will be the student assistant.

Internal Revenue At Your Service

For the convenience of Tacoma area taxpayers, the Internal Revenue Service will provide tax pay assistance service on Saturdays as well as weekdays starting February 4 and continuing through April 15.

The Tacoma IRS office at 1305 South Tacoma Avenue will be open Saturdays from 8:15 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. to answer, by telephone and in person, questions that taxpayer shave on their federal tax returns.

The experience of the Service has been that most questions can be answered by telephone, MA 7-9182.

MICKEY MOUSE and Donald Duck floated down Pacific Ave. in last week's Daffodil Parade as official representatives of UPS. The float entry was directed by Mike Flynn and Sandy Shipp.

UPS daffodil float wins on low budget

Boasting a prize-winning float and a 1966 Daffodil Queen, UPS was well represented in Saturday's Daffodil Parade.

The UPS float, "A Tribute to Walt Disney," featured a papier-mache Disney who peered down on fantasy characters Pluto, Mickey Mouse and Donald Duck as they strolled the path to Fantasyland. It took first place in the Educational Division.

Under the direction of Mike Flynn and the artistry of Sandy Shipp, the float was constructed with 46,000 daffodils and on a budget of $625.

"It's kind of a feather in the school's cap that we got by on such a low budget," says Flynn. He pointed out that other organizations sometimes spend up to $1000 on daffodils alone.

Outgoing Daffodil Queen Sue Bona, UPS freshman, rode the Coffee House Roasters Float in last week's parade.

Still wearing her coronation gown, Sue said she enjoyed the parade more this year than last.

"This year I got to really notice the people . . . I appreciated the little children on the streets and felt how thrilled they were."

As "hostess of the city," Sue has been on a hectic schedule during the past year. She represented the Tacoma area at luncheons, in parades and visits to hospitals.

"It's exciting," she says. "Like the postman, I traveled through rain, sleet and snow."

On March 6 she spoke before the state's Senate and House of Representatives. "It was really a high point," she says. "I spoke about Girls' State and invited them to the festival."

Now that she has passed her official duties on to a new queen, Sue looks forward to being back in civilian life again.

"I feel a little more lightheaded without my crown," she says.

No, she's never trade the experience. "You grow through a festival so much. I wish all the happiness I've had to this year's queen Carol Parcheta."

Sue now plans to settle down to campus life and work toward a liberal arts major and a career in elementary education.

House of critics scheduled

A new question will be before the House of Critics on Tuesday, April 18. Meeting at 7:30 p.m. in MC 106, the House will be debating the resolution: Church related colleges are incompatible with free intellectual inquiry. As one of the paper speakers for the proposition Prof. Earl Scott, Philosophy Dept., says he will "criticize the practical and moral considerations given in favor of church relatedness and claim that church related education is self-defeating." But Dr. Richard Overman of the Religion Dept., who will speak for the opposition, says, in contrast, "A man who prizes love and forgiveness above reason can follow reason more fully than a man whose chief dedication is to reason."

The two student paper speakers are Roland Huske for the proposition and JoAnn Ancich for the opposition. (Both are keeping their attacks carefully quiet until Tuesday evening.) There are many implications to this issue, and all students and faculty are invited to bring their own wit, pertinent questions, satirical and serious statements and rebuttals, to help decide the official opinion of the House.

Model Passover Sedar To Be Held Here

Sunday evening, April 16, at 6 p.m. (Faculty Dining Room) the Jewish Student Association of the University of Puget Sound will present a model Passover Seder. This project of the Jewish students is being put on with the cooperation of the Campus Faith Council.

The Seder is the ritual celebrated at the Passover home meal. It tells in a dramatic fashion the story of the Exodus and through its prayers and symbols makes real to the participants the magnificent story of the redemption of the Jews from Egyptian bondage.

Students of the university who will attend will have an opportunity to learn more about the Jewish religion as Passover is, in a sense, the birthday of Judaism and its prayer and rituals contain many of the essential ideas of this religion.

There is no charge but since space is limited to 100 we request that you pick up a ticket

Boeing Exec Speaks Deeply

Depth study will be the topic for discussion in a speech presented by Mr. Fred Bigsby, who is a present manager of the Everett Branch of the Commercial Airplane Division at Boeing. Team approach in solving cost problems through analysis of organization design, management of operating systems and work methods, and examples of studies made using the approach will also be discussed. The discussion will be held in McIntyre Hall, Room 6 at 10 a.m. on Tuesday, April 18.

from the Religious Life Center on the second floor of the Student Center. You may call Jan Hurst, SK 2-2244, for further information.

Yeast Rises To

"I first became interested in yeast when I began to study the nutritional factors affecting its sexual reproductions," said Dr. John G. Kleyn, professor of biology at UPS.

He said that this study of yeast began in 1951 and has lead him to his current study of microbe screening of yeast cells in cancer research. He continued by saying that yeast cells are used in the study of cancer growth rather than animal tissues because of a time factor.

"Yeast experiments can be carried out in a week, where animal tests may take up to a year," he said. "Of course, after a theory has been tested on yeast it must be proven on higher animals."

Kleyn further explained that

Anthropologist Speaks

Dr. Melville Jacobs, Professor of Anthropology and Linguistics at the University of Washington will be the visiting speaker for UPS Anthropological lecture, Wednesday, April 19.

Dr. Jacobs, Fellow of the American Anthropological Association, will speak on the "Rich Anthropological Resources Among the North Pacific Coast Indians."

The general public and all students are invited to hear Dr. Jacobs at 8:00 p.m. Wednesday evening in room 106, McIntyre Hall. He will be on campus Thursday (April 20) to meet with students and faculty to discuss anthropology's role on a smaller liberal arts campus.

Baseball Today! (In Portland)

all of his finding with yeast experiments are sent back east to Dr. Moses Tendler for final evaluation.

As to further research and development in yeast, Dr. Kleyn said that he is waiting for expanded facilities at UPS.

Dave y Jones' Locker

Most of you must have been surprised as yours truly when my journalistic energies were rechanneled to the sports page about a month ago.

Until the switch there was as much chance of me writing sports stories as a chance to see Willie Mays shooting a foul shot — to court athletic terminology.

The last sports story I wrote was a shaky discription of a junior high school football game when I was a ninth grader. (We won 35-0).

After such a long break I expected to be a little rusty so I put in an extra hour trying to polish several golden insights into the first batch of Trail sports stories — just long enough to miss the deadline.

So all there was in that first issue was a basketball photo . . . There's nothing like missing the boat in the first stages of a new journey.

But things have been looking up in the past few weeks. Generally the deadline problem has diminished thanks to more rational lines of attack. The printers have generously accepted a number of last minute stories too.

Major credit for sports info in recent weeks goes to Mr. Douglas McArthur, UPS Alumni Director, who somehow finds time to cover the baseball and the track scenes for Trail in addition to his many regular duties. Until last month he contributed nearly all of the sports stories in this year's issues.

Participants in the sports themselves have proven invaluable also. Mike Harris has contributed the details on the tennis squad's victorious ways again this season. Sam Biddle has tentatively agreed to report results of the varsity golf matches. Dave Shannon frequently contacts me with the latest crew news.

On the picture front we have experienced some bad luck in recent issues but we still stand dedicated to getting photo coverage of action highlights from week to week. Gary Emmons is the main photographer.

Before you ask what I do let me reply that I cover the men's intramural scene and edit all the inflowing sports stories.

Affiliation with sports writing has proven a great informally educating experience. If you feel so inclined it is not too late to put down apathy by putting on a sports writing cap.

If you have a gripe about this page or if you have an unique perspective on any type of sports activity that deserves to be printed, contact the trail office or call my extension at 457.

Clay Loges, ASB President, said he has tackled the idea of making cheer and yell leading a one-credit hour course starting next year.

He has written letters to various administration officials and to the sports coaches to ascertain general consensus.

Loges and Nancy Doolittle, queen of the '67 cheerleaders, plan to put this idea into a proposal and present it to the Curriculum Committee for official action.

The handsome student president thinks it won't be adopted.

"One of the administration's criticisms is that cute girls would want to be cheerleaders for more than one year if credit were given. This would be O.K. with the students but apparently the administration feels differently," he said.

Spring has finally arrived! The plant department has erected a baseball backstop on the women's playing field . . .

Tracksters Lose; Peyton Takes Jump

Only Joe Peyton could claim a first place, winning the high jump, as the UPS track team was submerged by Portland State 129-16 in Portland last week. The victorious Vikings won 16 of 17 events.

Peyton and UPS freshman Phil Dawson both cleared the six-foot mark in the high jump but Peyton was awarded top spot by virtue of fewer misses. Peyton had topped 6-4 against PLU a week ago in the Logger track opener.

Logger performances were dismal on the rain-swept Portland State cinders. The Viks swept all three places in eight different events and Peyton's second place in the long-jump gave the Loggers runner-up honors in only one other event.

Other UPS points were scored by Kemper Righter (third place in the 440), Rick Stockstad (third place in both the 120 high hurdles, triple jump, and 330 low hurdles), and Joe Roundy (third place in the shot put).

UPS has a week off to lick wounds, being idle this Saturday, but the Loggers entertain Oregon College April 2 in a one p.m. meet at Baker Stadium.

Mural Slalom Race Sunday; Golf Comes on Wednesday

The Men's Intramural ski tournament will be held next Sunday. Each five man team must be at Crystal Mountain by 10 a.m. to pack the slopes for better skiing.

The tournament race will be two runs down a giant slalom course.

Points will be awarded on the basis of the best combined team times. Three members from each group must finish the race to gain entry points for their team.

Intramural golf will be played next Wednesday afternoon at the Allenmore Course. Living groups must get their five-man team rosters turned in by the next intramurals meeting.

Hugh Rupprecht, runner-up in this competition for the last two years, said he is prepared to do better next week after a "disappointing" round of 79 strokes last year.

The strokes will be broken down into the following point system this year:

bogey	.....1
par	.....2
birdie	.....3
eagle	.....4
ace	.....5

Participants must tee off at their scheduled time.

Despite any heroics by any old pros like Rupprecht, the combined team totals will determine final results.

BB Team Wins Doubleheader

Catcher Rodger Merrick and pitcher Kip Lange shared honors as the UPS baseball team made it seven victories in a row with 6-5 and 3-0 decisions over Lower Columbia Tuesday afternoon at Burns Field.

Merrick slammed a long home run in the second extra inning of the first contest as the Loggers came from behind for victory and Lange twirled a two-hit shutout in the second game, striking out seven.

Randy Roberts delivered three Logger hits in the opener and Merrick added a pair. Both players singled along with Rich Hill as the Loggers rallied for two tallies in the seventh, and final scheduled, inning of the game.

Hard-throwing Rich Hand took over in the seventh inning to notch his third pitching win of the season without defeat but his string of 17 innings without allowing a run came to a halt when right-fielder Gary Johnson tagged a curve ball for a long homer. Spencer Uhl started the contest but Lee Brooke was called to halt a fourth-inning uprising and pitched effectively the middle innings.

Lange was in command all the way in the nightcap and the big sophomore matched the entire Lower Columbia team with two hits of his own. He walked only two and faced just 26 batters.

The Loggers scored all their runs in the first inning when Jim Elliott singled, stole second, and scored on a single by Bill Farnell. Merrick walked and both runners advanced on a passed ball by the catcher. Then second baseman Bruce Edwards, who collected two hits in the game, rifled a single to centerfield to send the pair home.

The twin wins left the Loggers with a 4-0 mark against Lower Columbia this season. UPS topped Cascade College of Portland by scores of 6-2 and 6-0 to extend their win streak to five straight last Saturday.

The only UPS loss of the year came at the hands of Whitworth 2-1, in the opening game.

Crew Victorious

The University of Puget Sound crew stroked to victory in the junior fours—with coxswain event in an afternoon of collegiate rowing on Lake Washington last Saturday.

The Logger quintet covered the 2,000 meters in 8:20.5, beating Seattle University by three shell lengths.

Pacific Lutheran University's crew came in third, another length back.

None went away unhappy since both UPS opponents captured a win in other races. PLU won the two shell 2,000 meter sprint by three lengths and Seattle University came in first in the senior fours-with coxswain by a half length margin.

The UPS junior quintet included: Al Lawrence, bow; Rick Peterson, No. 2; Lee Hopper, No. 3; Al Campbel, stroke, and Dave Shannon, coxswain.

Meet a national resource named Steve

Steve is a cross-country track man, an artist, and an explorer of worlds that do not exist. That toothpick model is an attempt to study what lies beyond our three known dimensions.

At the 1966 International Science Fair, Steve won a ribbon for his theory of dimensions. But he didn't stop there. He believes the number of other dimensions is limitless, and is hard at work to prove it.

Why our interest in Steve? Because young people are our greatest national resource.

They deserve all the help they can get toward realizing their potentials.

Contributing to science fairs, providing scholarships and fellowships, refinery tours and geology tours, and teaching materials for schools, are just some of the ways our Company shows its active interest in today's young men and women.

Standard Oil is trying to help young people discover more about themselves . . . and the world they live in.
