REWARD.

'Tis not the child of luxury,
Reared in the palace halls,
That makes the most of fortune—
On whom distinction falls.

'Tis he, who, toiling, striving
Along the road to fame,
Persistently keeps at it,
That gains a living name.

He, when the strife is over,
Can lay his armor down,
And at the bar of justice
Receive an honor crown.

Then strive thou for the honor
That waits with garlands fair
To deck a brow victorious,—
Oh, what a blessing there!
—Cleveland Leader.

Our attendance grows.

Good equipment—able and experienced instructors.

The School of Oratory is flourishing. Miss Harriet E. Coughran, Director, has all the pupils she can possibly find time to instruct. Nothing succeeds like success.

"CONSOLIDATION!" Yes, indeed—a loyal, enthusiastic faculty, magnificent student body, our conference is a unit in sympathy and extends liberal financial assistance, the city of Tacoma appreciates and encourages her educational leader.

Puget Sound University has the largest and best equipped College of Music in the Pacific Northwest.

The interest manifested by the several conferences of our church in Christian Education and especially in Puget Sound University is a matter of much encouragement. We wish to acknowledge the many acts of kindness shown our representative at the sessions of the fall conferences and to especially express our appreciation of the resolution passed by the Idaho Conference, which is as follows: "RESOLVED, That we, as a Conference, declare our devotion to all the interests of education, and that we pledge our support to our institutions of learning in the Pacific Northwest, and especially to Puget Sound University, located at Tacoma, Wash., and that we take collections for this cause the ensuing year."

The members of Columbia River Conference also revealed great interest in our work, and have encouraged a number of students to attend our institution.

However, our own Puget Sound Conference, in a genuine and substantial way, clearly demonstrated what we had publicly announced to the other conferences, viz: that "Our Conference is now a unit in its sympathy and interest in Puget Sound University."

This was shown by an apportionment of $1,500. and by personal subscriptions of over $600. additional. Our special subscription fund has since grown to $1,500., most of this being secured in pledges of $1. per month for twelve consecutive months. The above is a true indication of a spirit which will bear good results. A man who will support the institution in a financial way will also become an active influence which will enlarge the number of our patrons and friends.

A DESERVED COMPLIMENT.

It is no secret in musical circles in the city of Tacoma or, for that matter, throughout this part of the state, that the Conservatory of Music of Puget Sound University has become a very strong and well established department of the university. Persons of high standing in the musical world have been free with their words of praise and commendation for the same. The choir of First M. E. church has been a special feature of Prof. Cozine's work for over five years, and the following words published recently in the Epworth Herald we consider a deserved compliment:

"Prof. H. J. Cozine, Dean of the College of Music, of Puget Sound University is the leader of one of the best church choirs in the world—that of First M. E. church, Tacoma. That city owes much to the genius and devotion of our Tacoma friend."

We feel that a word of recognition should be added here for our popular organist, Prof. F. S. Mendenhall, who for several years has materially assisted in this special work. Prof. Mendenhall is now Principal of the Instrumental Department of the College of Music, and we again feel that Prof. Cozine has been most fortunate in securing so efficient a man for this work.

NO SUCCESS WITHOUT LOVE OF WORK.

Sound Advice for Young Men Who are Beginning Their Careers.

"To win success in any vocation, the present day, requires hard, persistent, conscientious work, the best equipment that is possible, and the employment of every resource that can be commanded," writes Barton Cheyney, in a valuable article on "The Young Man and the Professions," in the September Ladies' Home Journal. "Even the young man's manner, his personality, is a factor that makes itself felt in his work. While executive ability and good, hard common sense are elements of genius that should never be lacking. The young man should clearly understand in advance that if he does not have the capacity or love for work there is no profession in which he can win success. But, having this, he will find great opportunities to make a name for himself and to earn larger pecuniary rewards than men have ever before been able to coin out of their brains."

Christian Education.

What is Christian Education, anyhow? We hear this expression used a great deal, but the probabilities are that a great many Christian people have no conception of its proper meaning. Christian Education is not something which has to do with Christianity merely and with the formation and development of character, not at all, that is but one department—one of the most important, to be sure—but that is not all. Christian Education means education in the very best possible sense. What is that sense? It is the moulding and the making of a true man and a true woman. This is brought about in three different ways, giving rise to three chief departments of instruction, through which every well educated boy and girl must pass. 1. Instruction as regards the body—Physical Department, 2. Instruction as regards the mind—Mental Department. 3. Instruction as regards the soul—Spiritual Department.

I know that a great many of you have heard this before, but have been somewhat skeptical as to whether every one of these departments of instruction received its just due in all of our Christian educational institutions. Other schools can speak for themselves, but we wish it clearly understood by everyone who may have any doubts, and especially if he is a Methodist, that the Puget Sound University will give your boy and girl a thorough and systematic training in every one of these three grand departments of instruction.

"Athletics, did you say?" Yes, that's the idea exactly. One of the first things we did when school opened two months ago was to organize a red hot athletic association, so you can rest assured that that department is being cared for and well managed.

"Intellects well trained, I suppose?" Why do you think we ever commenced business if we did not intend to give our youth the very best mental training to be had in the land? Intellectual development is one of our specialties, and we have A No. 1 men to attend to it, also. What does this department include—languages, mathematics, the sciences, music, elocution, business course, etc., etc.? Oh yes, it includes everything along that line and in abundance, but that is not all,

While the highest scholarship is demanded in these various branches there are other things in this department which we consider of equal importance and which cannot be overlooked by any first class institution. A knowledge of books, a love for literature, an acquaintance with the sciences, a gift for the fine arts, and all such things do not necessarily of themselves make a lady and a gentleman of a boy or a girl, although they aid exceedingly in this direction. So, in addition to these purely intellectual influences, we develop the social instincts of our students, so that they do not sail forth into the stormy billows of life a scholar and an ass, but a scholar and a gentleman. Our students are taught manners, whether they need them or not, the customs of polite society, table etiquette as well as parlor, and the various social usages which every one must know to become a refined and cultured lady or a polished gentleman.

Now we have a man! Look at him; gaze on his splendid figure; examine his well trained muscles; stand amazed at his mental achievements; be thrilled with his brilliant utterances; admire his social graces—yes, here we have a man at last, a fully developed human being, a magnificent specimen of the evolution of the missing link! No, my brother, we haven't any such thing; we don't turn out individuals of that semi-developed type; if we did, the Puget Sound University would have no excuse for living. We would be omitting one of the most important elements of Christian education if we did no more than this. Every boy and girl who attends this school, in addition to his mental training and physical exercises, is surrounded with the very highest kind of Christian influence, and it is this point, along with other things, that every parent who contemplates sending his children to college should keep continually in mind. The college has its Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. which keeps alive the best possible kind of Christian work. The regular college prayer meeting is held every Tuesday evening, special religious meetings are held from time to time, when special effort is made to save your boy and your girl. Look here, my brother, my Methodist brother in particular, do you know of any better school in this part of the country for the fullest possible development of your children? If you say "Yes," then write to us at once and give us full information in regard to such school, and we will do one of two things. If we find that what you say is true, we either will improve our school up to the degree of excellence alleged in this other institution, or else we will quit business entirely. But one word before we stop. It has been our experience that our Methodist people throughout the Pacific Northwest, who sometimes express fears in regard to Puget Sound University, are people who know absolutely nothing about their own institution. Now brother, wake up and do something. Support the Puget Sound University on general principles. It is a Methodist institution, and have you, as a Methodist, any right to refuse your support, or actually work against it? If you think you have, let us know on what basis your right rests. Come down and visit us and let us talk the matter over. Be honest and above board, for a change. In the next place, support the Puget Sound University because it is the most worthy of everyone's support. Send your children here, give us some money once in a while, and don't be afraid to speak well of us at all times. This is a first-class institution in every respect and you needn't be ashamed to advertise that fact thoroughly. Drop in and see us as often as possible and we will show you what we are doing and will make it pleasant for you in every way, WELLAND STRONG.

SOCIETIES.

THE CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATIONS.

"For ye are not your own," we read from the Book, "ye are bought with a price." And is that bondage? No, but deliverance from "the bondage of sin and death." We are made free if we accept the freedom he offers; and to us is given the privilege of joyfully, earnestly working with Him. "Thy kingdom come," we pray, but do we realize it can only come by His "will being done?"

Our association work must mean much to us, if we accomplish God's plan. So let us not falter, but grow more eager to be and do what He commands. Glorify God; pray for each other.

TAU KAPPA CHI.

The past month's work has been satisfactory work, and it rejoices our hearts to note the progress, plainly visible in all lines.

One feature, which has always been characteristic of the society, — the freedom and earnestness, with which all take part, is like electricity along the wires. "Let our interest stand the test of hard, honest work, so far as it may lay in our power," is what we intend shall be our ambition.

New members have been received at almost every meeting, but there's room yet. All young ladies of the school are welcome at any of our Friday afternoon meetings. Come, and see what we are doing, and perhaps you will join hands with us.

Every student should attend the stereoptican lecture given by Prof. Tillman, next Friday at the First Methodist Church. There will be a large and varied selection of mountain, river and cave scenery. Admission, students, 15c.

A delightful Hallow-e'en party took place at the home of the Misses Tozier, where some of the P. S. U. students spent the evening at "All Saints' Gallery," found their fortunes in nut-shells and listened to ghost-stories, while the Jack-o'-lanterns burned dim.

The fifth, sixth and seventh days of this month were days of intense excitement in Tacoma and Seattle on account of the return of the Washington volunteers. Many of the students went to Seattle on the sixth to attend the celebration, and reported a pleasant time.

"A Freshman can think for five minutes, a Sophomore may think fifteen, a Junior is expected to be able to continue the uninterrupted process for half an hour, while finally, a Senior—ah! a Senior can think as long as he will." [But the Preps—well it is not recorded that they ever think at all]

In last month's edition we called attention to the fact that P. S. U. would be well represented at our next General Conference, and mentioned the names of the representatives. In doing so we failed to include the name of Rev. Spencer S. Sulliger, D. D., pastor of First Church, New Whatcom. Dr. Sulliger has been an active member of our Board of Trustees for several years, and was elected to the General Conference on the first ballot taken. We learn that he is meeting with his usual success in his work. On a recent sabbath twelve persons were admitted to church membership.

enrolling with us are treated all alike; while we do not believe in prolonging the study of a subject we do believe in continuing it until the student has thoroughly mastered it. We endeavor to be as brief and as complete as is consistent with the rapid advancement and thorough instruction of the student.

REMEMBER students completing a course in this department will be permitted to enter the speed class at any time, free of charge. WHERE DO YOU LIVE? If you are living in a isolated place our methods are just what is required to meet your conditions. You may wonder sometimes how you can learn shorthand without seeing your teacher. It is not necessary for the teacher will write you every day giving you all the information he could if he had seen you in person. In order that the students in this department may have a choice three of the leading systems are taught, viz: Pitman, Graham and Barnes.

TYPEWRITING. Most people need instruction in any branch of study. You may be able to write a letter, after a fashion, on the typewriter, but that will not make you a good business correspondent. Experienced help is now demanded because business men have learned the difference between an expert and a bungler. Taking people for practice has had its day, but for the well-trained there are plenty of places and good salaries. Students will be taught to operate three of the standard machines. Persons understanding typewriting and wishing to use the machine can do so at the rate of five cents per page.
